THE HOUSE WHERE I WAS BORN.

(By J. A. Edgerton.)

It stands, as in the olden days,
A simple, plain abode,
Amid the firs and cedar-trees,
Back from the country road
'Tis old and weather-beaten now,
Deserted and forlorn;
And yet 'tis beatiful to me—
The house where I was born.

'Twas years since I had looked on it—
I wandered there alone:
The fence was sagged, the gate was gone
The path was overgrown.
I stood upon the creaking steps,
Where oft I'd stood before:
I stepped upon the long, low porch,
And passed the open door.

There lingered in the vacant rooms
A silence most profound;
My steps on the dismantled floors
Gave out a ghostly sound.
I dreamed the shadows of the dead
Across the gloom were cast,
But every footstep seemed to me
To echo through the Past.

I sought the little corner-room,
Where sat my grandfather;
Where oft my mother sang to me
In years that long had fled,
I sought the fireplace deep and wide,
Where in the winter days
We used to sit, a happy group,
Before the open blaze.

I sought the mantelpiece, from whence
The clock ticked on the wall;
I sought the old familiar forms.
But they had vanished all,
For some had gone I know not where,
And some were east and west,
And some had old and feeble grown
And some were laid at rest.

I've seen the mansions of the rich,
The palaces of kings;
And yet the picture of a cot
Unto my memory clings
'Tis old and weather beaten now,
Deserted and forlorn;
And yet 'tis beautiful to me—
The house where I was born.

ARE we advancing, or are we retrograding? This is a pertinent question at the dawning of the 20th century. History tells us of olden times when castles were built, and guarded by soldiers; of times when the clatter of arms resounded among the mountain fastnesses and when brave men were those who could call a home their own. Things changed; castles became ruins visited and wondered at by the inquisitive tourist, who found a means of expending his wealth in travel, and sight seeing; or the invalid in search of health. Men, women and children were safe to go from one end of their country to the other; or to visit foreign lands unmolested; soldiers in many places became curiosities. The weak were conceded the same rights and privileges as the strong; the poor and the rich could vote and have a voice in the government as potent as could the laboring man. The family was as secure under the laws, whether living in a hut or sheltered by a brown stone mansion. Recent events are opening the eyes of thinking people. A rich man's son has been kidnapped and a ransom of $25,000 asked, and the father rather than take chances of lossing his boy or of having him maimed paid the money. Threats have been made ta kidnap or to otherwise injure people. Some talk is already had of sending guards along with the children of wealthy parents, and even of the parents themselves being protected in a similar manner whenever they venture out. At the present rate residences will soon become fortresses again, the inmates prisoners and those outside exiles and enemies. Stringent laws will have to be enacted and rigidly and enforced not only against kidnapping children or older people, but against many other evils existing in the world today, before peace and happiness can be ensured. Our statesmen should exert themselves toward righting things; toward securing again the blessings of peace and happiness to our people.

Our country should take the lead in civilization, should set the example of good laws and an obedience to them that will redound to the benefit of all.

Ignatius Donnelly Dead.

On Tuesday January 2, at an early hour, at the home of his wife's father, in Minneapolis, Ignatius Donnelly, "Sage of Ninninger." Orator, Statesman, Author, editor of the Representative, died. Mr. Donnelly has been a prominent man in Minnesota. He was Lieutenant Governor and Congressman, in an early day, and a prominent man in politics since. His death was sudden being in usual health at supper time on New Year's day and soon after midnight dying of heart failure. He was 69 years old. He leaves a young widow and two sons by a former wife, Dr. Ignatius Jr. and Attorney Stan Donnelly, both of St. Paul.

Live issues.

Several important questions are before the people of this country, at the beginning of the new century. Election is over; the die is cast for the next two years, so far as Congress is concerned, and for four years as to the senate and chief executive of the land. Before election these great questions were, to a certain extent, made political issues. Now, it is so long before another chance for the people to vote their sentiments comes round, people more calmly survey the situations, more deliberately form their judgments as to the right or wrong of questions of importance to the entire country; and even to the peace and welfare of other countries. We find men who have been leaders in opposing political parties now agreeing on many of the most important questions. Our countrymen, as a rule, are democratic. They believe in the greatest good to the greatest number. They believe in no class legislation, putting one man, or a set of men, above another in previleges granted. They believe in equal rights for all and special previleges for none. They are not so narrow minded as to be blinded to the fact that our forefathers dearly bought liberty inherited by the present generation, is in imminn danger of being taken away. They are not slow to see that the very protective system that enables a few to pile up immense wealth is now threatening the peace of mind, the happiness, and the very lives of those hoarding the gains made possible by class legislation. They cannot now, when no election is pending, and the country said to be at peace, see the necessity of calling out, possibly drafting out, large armies to serve in a war of conquest.

Washington and his followers fought against being governed by an oppressive system; they refused to be taxed without representation. They fought for their freedom. They won it. Their descendants and successors in this land have not inherited alone the blessings for which they fought, but the spirit of freedom as well. Freedom not alone for their individual benefits; but for the downtrodden and oppressed of every nation. The spirit of liberty, of equal rights for all and special privileges for none permeates the people of America today. They believe in these doctrines. They donot desire to become parts of a monarchial government. They do not wish their sons forced into war. They do noa believe in selling bonds drawing interest, no matter how small, for 30 years for their sons to pay, repudiate, or otherwise get rid of. Now, is the time men are doing their own thinking on these things.

BRITISH detachments continue to suffer from the reversed Boer activity. A detachment posted at Helvetia, a strong post guarding one of the railroads, was captured last Saturday, the English losing about 50 killed and wounded and over 200 prisoners. These reports are very discouraging to the English people, and the jollyment usually prevalent during the holidays in merry England is displaced by a decided gloom. What can be expected as an outcome of an unrighteous war against a brave and liberty loving people?

THOMAS M. Perry, former editor of the St. Peter Journal, and father of Miss. Horace Greeley Perry is quarantined with smallpox at St. Peter. He was taken sick at the Tribune office where he was at work. He has our sympathy and best wishes.

THE report is that Pat Crowe the kidnapper of the Cudahy boy at Omaha, is an old hand at the business and was interested in trying to kidnap "Lord Gordon" from Canada a few years ago. That is the case in which "Your Uncle" Loren Fletcher gained a good share of his notoriety after scheme had failed by telegraphing home "I'm in a hell of a fix."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 28, 1900

If Senator Hanna was bluffing when he issued his edict that if the Ship subsidy bill was not passed there would be an extra session of Congress, the bluff has been promptly called. Senator Pettigrew said on the subject: "If it is necessary to put through a job like the shipping bill to enable Senator Hanna to pay his campaign debts, I think it would be well to have it done at an extra session of Congress, and thus invite attention more directly to it. It will not be passed if I can help it. Those of us who are most strongly opposed to it propose to fight it in every way we can." As to how the bill would be fought, Mr. Pettigrew said: "As long as they continue to force the shipping bill to the front I and those who agree with me will fight every bill that is brought up. If the appropriation bills are forced over into an extra session it will be because of the efforts to pass the shipping bill." That is about as plain as it could be made. The two Senators who have agreed to help Senator Pettigrew are Butler, of N. C., and Allen, of Nebraska. It is also probable that they will be joined by democratic Senators, all of whom are strongly opposed to the principle involved in the Ship Subsidy bill. Now, it is up to Mr. Hanna to say whether there shall be an extra session. He can easily avoid one by abandoning the Ship subsidy bill.

The latest move of the Panama Canal lobby is the announcement that England, Germany, and France had entered into an agreement to jointly complete and control the Panama Canal, regardless of Congressional action on the bill for the construction of the Nicaragua Canal. Not many Senators are spending their holiday in Washington, but, judging from opinions expressed by those who are, the Panama crowd has unintentionally helped the Nicaragua Canal. Said one of the Senators: "Were the people of the U. S. to wake up some morning and read in cold type the fact that England, Germany and France had taken stock in the Panama waterway, there would be a demonstration akin to that aroused by the destruction of the Maine. Then, if never before, would the construction of an American canal, fortified by American 12 inch guns, become assured. We must have the Nicaragua waterway and we will have it without regard to the Clayton Bulwer compact or any other." Other Senators were quite as emphatic, and it is very evident that if England attempts to meet the amended Hay-Pauncefote treaty, which will be in the hands of the English government before New Year's day, by any such scheme as this now being talked about by the lobbyists in Washington, she will hear a few old fashioned ear piercing screams that will mean business from the American eagle.

One more the War Department announces a delay in the return of the volunteers from the Philippines. This time no date is set for their return, and the blame is put on the Senate for not passing the Army reorganization bill before the holiday recess. The plain truth is that the administration doesn't expect to bring many of those volunteers home at all. They cannot, of course, be kept in service as volunteers after the first of next July, when their enlistment will expire, but Secretary Root expects that by offering a cash bonus equal to the amount required to bring each volunteer home and to carry each regular to Manila, the greater portion of the volunteers can be induced to enlist as regulars as soon as they are mustered out as volunteers. It is because of that expectation that the volunteers are to be kept in the Philippines until their enlistment expires.

According to a son of Senator Pettigrew, who has recently returned from South Africa where he served as a scout in the Boer army, the British soldiers are afraid of the Boers and their officers have to force them to fight by placing batteries of Maxim guns in their rear and threating to fire if they do not advance and fight. Young Pettigrew also says that the stories alleging that the Boers did not pay and properly treat Americans and others who volunteered to fight for them are absolutely without foundation: that the party he went and returned with, consisting of 24 Americans, were paid $10 a week in gold for the whole whole time and that the pay included the time consumed in returning to the U. S.

Although the substitute proposed by the Senate Military Committee, for the House Army reorganization bill, is radically different from the original bill, which was prepared under administrathan orders, the administration is so anxious to get the number of men, which is the same as it was in the original bill, provided for the regular army that it will pocket its chargin and help to push the substitute through.

Delegate Wilcox, of Hawaii, will draw more milage than any other member of Congress has ever drawn, for the same period of time. He has already drawn $1,000 for milage in coming to attend the present session, and he will get the same amount for his return to Hawaii, and $2,000 for each session of the next Congress, making $5,000 in all. The amount, direct and practicable route from his home to Washington and return. Hawaii is 5,000 miles from Washington. If Mr. Wilcox paid his fare and had the best accommodation to be had it did not cost him over $200 to come from Hawaii to Washington, but the chances are that he traveled on a pass.

Give Liberty To Filipinos.

CHICAGO, Dec 31.—Professor M. M. Mangasarian, a well known Chicago Congregational clergyman, last night delivered a lecture on "The Close of the Century" at the Grand Opera House. He said in part.

"Let the American people celebrate the birth of the twentieth century by a memorable act—give liberty to the Filipinos. Victor Hugo used to say that no festival or celebration was complete which did not bring amnesty or pardon to some people; let us pardon the Filipinos for rebelling against our sovereignty, if that is the crime we charge them with, and in addition, let us confer upon them liberty. Let America establish a divine precedent—that of giving freedom freely and without price to the people who prefer liberty to life. Liberty has hitherto been wrested from rulers at the piont of the bayonet; let us have liberty in the twentieth century without the bayonet. Our example, I am hopeful, will become a noble epidemic: Russia, Turkey, and Great Britain will go and do likewise, and Poland, Armenia and South Africa will once more know the sweets of liberty. Such an act on our part will deal a death blow to war which a great American has called "hell" and will usher in the thousand years of peace.

"Let us baptize the twentieth century in the name of peace, liberty and progress. Let us christen her the people's country. Let us ask of the new century a religion without superstition, politics without war, art and sciences without materialism, and wealth with out misery or wrong.—Duluth Herald.

The Rising Cost of Soldiers.

Gen. MacArthur has recommended the payment of a bounty of $250 to every soldier in the Philippines who re-enlists for another term. And so anxious are the men to return home that no certainty is felt that even this liberal bonus will suffice to keep our standing army in Asia up to the 30,000 mark at which Gen. MacArthur said it must be maintained. The terms of the great majority of all our soldiers out there expire on June 30 next, and if they cannot be persuaded to re-enlist the necessity for enlisting new men to take their place will have to be faced.

Almost simultaneous announcement is made that the British Government has been forced to multiply by four the per diem pay of its mounted troops in South Africa in order to recruit their constantly depleting ranks. It is thus made plain that to keep 60,000 American troops in Asia and 210,000 British troops in Africa, in wars which the commanders in each case have declared to be over, except as to guerilla and bushwhacking operations, bounties and greatly increased pay for the private soldiers are necessary.

As financial investments wars of conquest are doubtful, even for nations that get their soldiers by compulsory enlistment, as Germany and France do, but for the United States and Great Britain, which have to buy their in the open market, in competition with the peaceful industries, they are doubly dubious. And ahead of our own venture in Asia there looms besides the spectre of another heavy pension roll.—World.

ALOUETTE'S WARNING

By Gen. Charles King, U. S. A.

Jamieson-Higgins Co., Chicago, have recently published a charming little volume, entitled "Short-Story Masterpieces," in which they have combined 28 short stories written by 34 different authors, all of whom are among the most popular writers of fiction of the day. The list of authors include such well-known writers as Gen. Charles King, Mary E. Wilkins, Elizabeth Phipps Train, George Ade, Opie Read, etc. The following story by Gen. Charles King is one of the two which that well-known soldier-author has in the book.

"THERE was one thing about that Cheyenne business that never got into the papers," said the tall captain, knocking the ashes out of his pipe on his spurred bootheel and deftly refilling it from a long beaded buckskin pouch that hung next his holster at the waist belt. "I don't b'lieve there's a man here, 'cept Ray, and myself, of course, knows how we got the alarm at the agency."

"How was it, Blake?" finally asked his right-hand man—seeing that he wouldn't shove ahead until bidden.

But before "Legs," as the long troop leader was called, could begin, there came from the direction of the swift-rushing Laramie a long, low, moaning cry, rising on the night wind and dying away in a sob—a wailing, heart-broken sob that dominated every sound, that stilled at once the "champing" of the horses at their feed and startled the sedate "corral" of mules. Every quadruped in camp, some few with a low snort of alarm, turned erect ears to the east and stood quivering. Dead silence for an instant fell on the group about the camp fire. Then an uneasy shifting.

Capt. Ray, an agile, quick-moving little fellow, without a word sprang up at the sound and strode away through the dim moonlight in the direction of the stream. The sergeant of the guard, snatching his carbine from its rest at the hub of a wagon wheel, ran noiselessly after. Blake puffed meditatively a minute, then began:

"You know it was winter, and bitter cold. There had been bad blood between the Ogalallas and the Cheyennes ever since they killed Crazy Horse when he tried to skip from the guard. The Cheyennes were camped in the valley three miles above the fort and the agent heard, somehow, that they had it in for him, and induced Crook to order two troops of cavalry to take station close to his thieving old shop, and the detail fell on Billy and me. We were madder than wet hens, for we had to tent out there in the snow and stand guard over a swindler we'd rather see hanged any day. We knew he'd sold the hostiles ball cartridges by the wagon load the summer previous, and if they'd shot him as full of holes as a sieve it would only have served him right.

"Of course we hadn't been there 24 hours before old Two Moons, their chief, with a dozen feathered blatherskites, came riding down to inquire what our coming meant. The Indian is never so sensitive to the presence of soldiers as when he's planning hell-raising. He couldn't speak English, and no white man can talk Cheyenne without the sign language. So it was lucky he brought little Alouette along—his granddaughter. Her father was French Pete, the half-breed scout Red Cloud's people killed on the Rawhide three summers ago. Ray had ridden over to view old Spotted Tail at Sheridan that morning, so I was in command. We had our palaver, and it was short, I can tell you. Two Moons went off mad but dignified, and I thought I'd handled the thing in style until Billy got back 'long in the late afternoon. Then I saw I hadn't, for he looked grave when I told him the chief rode away without a handshake. We had only 70 men all told. They had 700 in the tepees, with a dozen in the guard-house at the agency.

"Baker would have sold his soul to get rid of that dozen by the time we got there, for Two Moons told him he'd have 'em out. He was afraid to hold them, and he didn't dare let 'em go.

"'I'll send Bat in to Laramie with dispatches the moment he gets in from Chadron,' said Ray. 'They would follow and kill any soldier they saw going.' But it was two days before Bat got back, and Two Moons struck before that—struck and got everlastingly trounced, for we were warned in time.

"It was the dark of the moon. The snow lay only in patches in the coulees and the valley was black as a hat by nine at night. Ray and I tented together, and as we lay with feet to the sibley, with our breath going up in steam, he made me go over Alouette's every word and gesture. He asked me if her baby were with her. She married Pierre Boisblane three years back, and he was employed as teamster on the Sidney route and had to be away much of the time. The kid got pneumonia the previous spring and Ray and his wife—with the doctor, of course—just did everything for them and really saved the little fellow's life, and Alouette's gratitude was something doglike. Next to that little brown pappoose, and Pierre, she worshiped Mrs. Ray and Billy.

"Next day we had a pow-wow that was a hummer. Two Moons, with 200 braves, all paint, feathers and firearms, rode into the agency and demanded speech with Baker. Baker barred his doors and signaled for help and Billy galloped over and asked Two Moons what he meant by all this dress parade business, with the mercury below zero. Two Moons said he wanted his brothers, whom the agent had boxed up behind the bars, and you could see their savage faces scowling out at the sunshine at the moment. Of course I had galloped after Billy as soon as I had got the men in saddle, and Dana out of bed and at their head. Ray asked for Alouette to interpret, and that old polyglot villain, Red Wolf, answered in Cheyenne English: 'She 'gone Laramie.' Two Moons presented Ray with a feather pipe—swore they were brothers — his soldiers and their braves were brothers—'no fight ever'—and wound up by shaking hands. Then he made a loud speech, echoed by grunts from his band and howls from the agency prison. Said their hearts were sore, asked if their great father's agent wouldn't release their brothers, wouldn't he permit them to go to Chadron to salute their other brothers—the Ogalallas, and his great chief brother, Red Cloud?

"This was flat against orders of the Indian bureau, and Baker poked his head out of an upper window and said so—then ducked in again for fear of a shot.

"'Then our great father's heart is flint,' said Two Moons, 'and his children will go to the Great Spirit's throne and dance all night to him.' That so-called throne was over on the Niobrara opposite the mouth of Old Woman's ford, and Baker had ordered to let the Indians go there to howl and dance and pray, as they called it. But whoever heard of their going in midwinter before? Yet our scouts came in at sunset and swore the whole village—tepees, lodge, poles, ponies, pappooses, pots, kettles and dogs—had moved off at noon and were out of sight toward the Rawhide. 'Good riddance to bad rubbish,' said I, but Ray was thoughtful. That night just at taps an Indian pony dropped exhausted in front of our tent and Ray picked Alouette up in his arms and toted her in by the stove. The sibley was red-hot, but it couldn't warm her. Her teeth chattered and her slender little body shook from head to foot as she told Billy her story. That move was all a bluff. They had sent her to Laramie to get her out of the way, but she suspected and stole away from her party, leaving her baby boy with her twin sister. Two Moons had camped the old men, the women and children in the sand hills and was even now on the way back with his braves. He would attack and burn the agency before dawn. She wept and urged Billy to mount his men at once and flee. What hope had he with 70 men against Two Moons and the braves of a dozen villages of the fiercest warriors of the plains?

"There wasn't a second to spare. We routed out the camp on the instant. We ran the horses, the supplies and ammunition over to the agency; stirred up Baker and his banditti—for once we had to fight with them for allies. We stacked up sacks of grain and sides of bacon for shelter—the ground was too hard for pick and shovel. We ironed the prisoners. We worked with the mercury at ten below zero till the sweat ran down our backs. We left the tents stand down by the stream and the wagons with a few God-forsaken old mules corralled alongside—heaped fresh fuel on the fire and then lay low and waited for Two Moons.

"Just at dawn they burst in from every ridge around us with a perfect pandemonium of yells, and we let 'em charge till they'd thundered down within a hundred yards, then let 'em have it as fast as we could work our levers. How they were piled up on the level!—bucks and ponies by the dozen—before Two Moons could draw them off! Our tents and wagons were all they got for their pains, and of course they saw some one had given them away, and weren't long finding who did it. We had Alouette where she was safe—but the devils dashed the brains out of her baby boy the very next day, killed Mazuska, the twin sister, and ten days later poor Pierre was found down at Platte crossing, riddled with arrows and awfully mutilated.

"What became of the Cheyennes? Oh, they got a new reservation, a new agent and a new outfit. What became of Alouette? Listen!"

Again that weird, prolonged, moaning cry uplifted through the faint, mystic light of the midsummer moon. Again that heart-breaking wail as of a soul in desolation and despair. Then, only the soft, soothing murmur of the Laramie rushing over its rocky bed. Then the distant voice of Capt. Ray calling through the peaceful night:

"Alouette! Alouette! Where are you?"

Eight men with green hair have been discovered by a Berlin professor among 300 laborers who constantly handle copper. The phenomenon is one that it takes years to produce.

The dryest place in the world is that of Egypt between the two lower falls of the Nile. Rain has never been known to fall there, and the inhabitants do not believe travelers when told that water falls from the sky.

This language of ours is becoming a strange conglomeration. The Indianapolis Press says a woman in Cincinnati has had a street car conductor arrested for making "goo goo" eyes at her after she had repeatedly given him "the frozen face."

A balloon fitted up with automatic instruments was sent up recently in Paris and came down safely. The instrument showed that it had risen 56,000 feet, or over ten and a half miles. At that height the temperature outside the balloon was 102 degrees below zero.

The best collection of Chinese coins to be found outside of China has been given to the archaeological museum of the University of Pennsylvania by Rev. E. W. Twing, a Honolulu missionary. The collection goes back to a time over 2,500 years ago, and includes those odd, early Chinese coins which were made in the form of spades, razors, keys, shirts and tools.

It is a popular impression that Alaska is a frozen zone, and that the soil is barren and worthless. This is a mistake. The sun is hot, the snow moistens and enriches the earth and the soil in valleys is fertile and productive. Wheat, corn, oats, barley, buckwheat, flaxseed and vegetables and forage plants can be successfully grown in many parts of the territory.

Between the towns of Los Angeles and Pasadena, southern California, there has been constructed an overhead path for the exclusive use of cyclists. The path is built of wood, varies from three to fifty feet in height and has an average gradient of one in eighty. The path accommodates four machines abreast and is lit thoroughly by electric light.

A half-forgotten state law in Maine permits the seizure of real or personal property of any inhabitant of a town which is unable to pay its debts. A Bangor attorney obtained a judgment against the town of Otis, and sent an officer to collect. Finding the town treasury empty, the officer proceeded under the statute mentioned, and seized a yoke of oxen belonging to one of the selectmen and a dozen cows belonging to other citizens.

Mrs. Tom Thumb is now 60 years of age, but is still bright and active. She is, however, Mrs. Tom Thumb no longer, having married again. Her present husband is Count Magri, who, it is said, was her first lover and was thrown over by her for the sake of Gen. Tom Thumb, whom she married in 1863. She was known on the stage as Lavinia Warren, but her real name was Miss Bump and she was born at Middleborough, in Massachusetts.

Dr. Albert H. Hoy, of Chicago, after patient research, says that exercise is positively unhealthful for men past 35 years of age. The doctor gives many youth needs exercise to build up muscles and growing tissues. But while you see puppies and colts scampering around, the old dog knows better and so does the horse. They rest. Dr. Hoy is a "specialist in hygiene." If you do not believe his conclusions, you may consult another specialist in hygiene of equal authority and get an opposite opinion. Then you will feel better.

A court at Norristown, Pa., has acquitted Miss Maggie Paul, a schoolteacher arrested upon a charge of assault and battery upon the eight-year-old son of William Krause. The boy had misbehaved in school and Miss Paul gave him an old-fashioned spanking. In charging the jury the judge said that when the child entered the schoolroom it was under the control of the teacher, and the jury decided that she had a perfect right to spank the child if he misbehaved. A spanking properly administered is good for any bad child.

Lizzie Engelbert, a girl of 22, was brought into court at Beloit, Kan., to aid in determining whether a guardian should be appointed to manage a moderate estate left by her father. It was then found that the girl had been brought up in absolute ignorance of the commonest things in life. All her days had been spent on a remote farm, wearing man's clothes and doing man's work, and, though she vaguely knew that there was something disordered in her existence, she did not know enough to protest. The court took measures to reform this deplorable condition.

Sing Sing's name is derived from "Sint Sics," the title of a former branch of the Mohegan Indians. The inhabitants of the town want to call it Ossining, which is the name of the township. There is so much in a name that the citizens are tired of being identified in the public mind with a big prison. They attribute the loss in population shown by the census to this fact. Manufacturers have avoided the place because the public would think they dealt in prison-made goods. It is suggested that every penitentiary should have a distinct name of its own.

IGNATIUS DONNELLY IS DEAD.

He Was Stricken With Heart Disease While Visiting With Friends and Soon Became Unconscious.

Minneapolis, Jan. 2, 1901—Ignatius Donnelly, "Sage of Ninninger," passed away at the home of his father-in-law, Martin Hanson, in this city, of heart failure, after an illness of three hours, shortly after 12 o,clock this morning.

Mr. Donnelly and his wife came up from Hastings New Year's Day to spend the day with Mrs. Donnelly's parents. About 9 o'clock last night he complained of feeling badly, and he thought he would retire.

He went up stairs and retired. About 10 o'clock he was found in an unconscious condition, and a physician was hastily summoned. Dr Murphy came, and he at once pronounced the illness as a serious attack of heart failure.

Mr. Donnelly was 69 years old, and his advanced age no doubt greatly lessened his chances of recovery. The doctor stated at almost first sight of the case that it was almost hopeless.

He proceeded to work over the sufferer, but his efforts were unavailing, and in two hours Mr. Donnelly was dead. He did not regain consciousness from the time he was first attacked.

Ingatius Donnelly was born in Philadelphia in 1831. He came to Nininger, Minn., in 1856, where he purchased land and laid out a townsite. Entering politics he was twice defeated as a candidate for senator on the republican ticket. In 1859 he was elected lieutenant governor, the first time the republicans carried the state.

In 1861 he was nominated for congress by the republicans. Within a month after his nomination the Sioux massacre occurred. He joined the volunteers and went to the front. He was elected to congress and took his seat in 1863.

Donnelly continued to act with the republicans until 1870. That year, on the written solicitation of 3,500 republicans, he consented to run for congress on a low tariff platform, with the democratic indorsement. In 1872 he supported Horace Greeley as a liberal republican. Some years later he was prominent in the organization of the state farmers' alliance. Later he became a conspicuous member of the people's party organization not only in the state but in the nation.

During the past 25 years he has served a number of terms in the Minnesota senate and house of representatives. In 1878 he was a candidate for congress on the greenback-democratic ticket. His republican opponent was W. D. Washburn. As a result of the close election there resulted a somewhat sensational but unsuccessful contest before the elections committee of congress.

Throughout his long political career Donnelly's pen had not been idle. He nearly always had some sort of literary venture on hand and was almost continuously the editor of some kind of a paper.

In 1880 and 1881 he wrote "Atlantis," which has been reprinted in England and translated in France and Germany. More than twenty editions of "Ragnarok" have been printed in different languages.

But Donnelly's greatest literary celebrity was due to his "Great Cryptogram," in which he endeavored to establish Bacon's authorship of Shakespeare's plays. Later on he wrote "Caesar's Column," "Dr. Huguest," "The Golden Bottle,. and other works.

Mr. Donnelly was never known to make a statement of his religious views. He never belonged to any church, but his friends say his books show profound respect for Christianity and unshaken belief in the immortality of the soul.

Mr. Donnelly's last appearance in politics was as a candidate for the vice presidency on the mid-road populist ticket.

Besides two sons, S. J Donnelly, an attorney of St. Paul, and Dr. Ignatius Donnelly of Butte, Dr. Donnelly leaves a daughter and a wife, formerly Miss Marion Hansen, a second wife, whom he married Feb. 22, 1898.

SEVERE BRITISH DEFEAT.

Boers Capture English Post at Helvetia Killing Fifty and Capturing Two Hundred.

London, Dec. 31.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener:

"Pretoria, Dec. 30.—Gen. Lyttleton reports that our post at Helvetia was captured yesterday morning by the Boers. About 50 were killed and wounded and 200 taken prisoners.

"Col. Kitchener reports that he is following with a small force in the track of the enemy, Helvetia being reoccupied by Reeves, who has been reinforced from Belfast.

"Helvetia was a very strong position on the Machadodorp-Lydenburg railway and was held by a detachment of the Liverpool regiment. Am asking for further information."

The troops which have borne the brunt of this latest disaster were a detachment of a Liverpool regiment which had several times figured in hard engagements during the summer campaign in the Transvaal. The size of the casualty list indicates that the fighting was bloody while it lasted.

While Lord Kitchener sends bad news for England on the closing day of the year, the press continues to take a surprisingly hopeful view of a grave situation and of revelations of an enormously wide field of Boer activity. Gen. De Wet is still at large. Kimberley is isolated. The Boers are in force enough to have captured a strong position at Helvetia, in the Lydenburg district, while judging from Lord Kitchener's very recent advices no progress is being made against the Boer invaders in Cape Colony. According to further telegrams Zeerust is practically besieged, but has provisions sufficient for five months. The garrison at Ottoshoop has been witdrawn to Lichtenburg. A dispatch from Carnarvon, dated Saturday, reports that the Boers who have been theatening that point were driven off and are being pursued.

London, Dec. 31.—Commenting upon the Helvetia disaster, the Daily Mail calls upon the government to send out at least 50,000 additional mounted men.

WILL SIGN NOTE.

Peking, Dec. 31.—The Chinese plenipotentiaries have been unexpectedly ordered to sign the preliminary joint note, and have notified the foreign envoys to that effect. The Chinese themselves were greatly astonished at receiving the imperial instructions. Neither Li Hung Chang nor Prince Ching have expected success in persuading the court under ten days.

The emperor's instructions are to agree fully to the note, but to endeavor to get the best terms possible, particularly in the matter of limiting the number of the legation guards and also as to the places where these are to be located. The plenipotentiaries are instructed to endeavor to limit the number of army posts along the line of railway to as few as possible, and finally to request the powers not to destroy the forts, but merely to disarm them.

Washington, Dec. 31.—The report that the Chinese plenipotentiaries had been directed to sign the joint note is a source of satisfaction to officials here as indicating a disposition on the part of the Chinese government to heed the desire of the powers that negotiations shall be entered on at once and the present unsatisfactory condition of affairs terminated. The emperor, it was expected, would instruct his agents to obtain the best terms possible.

PASSED AWAY.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—G. W. Northrup, D. D. LL. D., professor of theology at the University of Chicago, died at the home of his son, 5835 Kimbark avenue, Sunday. Prof. Northrup was 75 years of age.

For the last 43 years, during all but ten of which he was a resident of Chicago, Dr. Northrup was one of the most prominent Baptist educators in the country. He was president of the Union Baptist theological seminary at Morgan park for 25 years, and was a member of the faculty of the University of Chicago from the founding of the institution in 1892. He was the first to inspire John D. Rockefeller with an interest in educational matters in Chicago, and thus aided in making possible the University of Chicago.

Kidnaped Boy Recovered.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 28.—Sidney Miller, the seven-year-old son of Samuel D. Miller and grandson of Former United States Attorney General W. H. H. Miller, who was kidnaped by his mother Wednesday evening, was Thursday morning recovered. Mrs. Miller and the child were found at Lawrence, about three o'clock, asleep in the home of a man named Marshall, where they had obtained lodging for the night. Mrs. Miller gave up the child and was not placed under arrest.

Raiders Kill 2,000 Sheep.

Miles City, Mont., Dec. 31.—Masked and mounted raiders killed 2,000 sheep on the range of Tooney creek, a tributary of Tongue river, near the Wyoming line, at daybreak Saturday. The sheep belonged to Daupt & Selway, who are ranging about 5,500 head in the Otter creek country.

CLOSENESS PERSONIFIED.

Dreamed He Had to Pay a Dollar for a Cab and Was Afraid to Go to Sleep Again.

There's a good story told of a young fellow here noted for his closeness. He went to spend the night with a friend. During the entire night he betrayed much restlessness, which kept the host wide awake, and finally the slumberer betrayed signs of violent emotion. "He's going to have a nightmare," said the friend, "but he always grumbles so when you wake him up that I hate to disturb him." He waited awhile longer, sitting up in bed staring at the miserable sleeper, and, finally becoming alarmed, he roused him. He sprang up in bed, glared wildly around and said: "Where am I? I don't see the storm?"

"Why, here in my room," said his host, soothingly; "you remember you stayed all night with me? I beg your pardon for waking you up, but you carried on so I had to."

"Beg your pardon," gasped the guest. "I shall never be grateful enough to you. I dreamed I was out with Miss Bud and a terrible storm came up, and my shoes were new, and I was just ordering a coupe for two when you roused me. Old boy, you have saved me a dollar."

And the host says he was actually afraid to go to sleep again that night for fear the coupe would come, says the Louisville Times.

HER HEART WAS TOUCHED.

Folsom, Custer Co., South Dakota, Dec. 31, 1900 (Special).—Mrs. H. D. Hyde has given for publication a letter expressing her unbounded gratitude to Dodd's Kidney Pills for the double cure of herself and little daughter.

Mrs. Hyde has been troubled with pains in her heart for over three years, and for a long time her little girl suffered from weak kidneys. The grateful lady does not seem able to find words strong enough to express her gratitude. She has written the following:

I cannot say too much in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are the greatest kidney and heart medicine I ever used. I had been troubled for over three years with a severe pain in my heart, which entirely disappeared after I had taken a few doses of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I also gave them to my little girl, whose kidneys had been weak, and she commenced to improve from the very first dose. Dodd's Kidney Pills are certainly a wonderful medicine. I would be pleased to have this, my statement, published, as I feel it my duty to let others know just what the Pills will do for them.

MEDICAL EXAMINER

Of the U. S. Treasury Recommends Peruna.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan, Medical Examiner of U. S. Treasury Department, graduate of Columbia College, and who served three years at West Point, has the following to say of Peruna:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from your wonderful remedy. One short month has brought forth a vast change and I now consider myself a well man after months of suffering. Fellow sufferers, Peruna will cure you."

Catarrh is a systemic disease curable only by systematic treatment. A remedy that cures catarrh must aim directly at the depressed nerve centers. This is what Peruna does. Peruna immediately invigorates the nerve-centers which give vitality to the mucous membranes. Then catarrh disappears. Then catarrh is permanently cured.

Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. Peruna is not a guess nor an experiment—it is an absolute scientific certainty. Peruna has no substitutes—no rivals. Insist upon having Peruna.

A free book written by Dr. Hartman, on the subject of catarrh in its different phases and stages, will be sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

VICE REWARDED.

"The man who gave me that," said the conductor to the only passenger in the car, "must have thought I was a chump."

"You're stuck," he said, oracularly. "Unless," he added, unscrupulously, "you can pass it off."

"I wouldn't do that," returned the conductor, polishing the bogus coin on his coat sleeve. "Besides, no one would take it."

"Not alone, but you might slip it in among two or three good ones," suggested the passenger.

The conductor shook his head virtuously, as the car began to fill up.

An hour later the ex-passenger fished up some small change to buy a cigar, and the first thing he saw was a lead five-cent piece.

"I gave him a quarter," he mused, "and he gave me four nickels in change. The man," he added, still musing, "who gave me that, must have thought I was a chump."

Building of an Isthmian Canal at PANAMA

The French Project in Which the Government Is Offered a Controlling Interest

SO CLOSELY has the American public connected the Panama canal enterprise with the name of De Lesseps, and so familiar are we with the circumstances surrounding the failure of that great engineer and the scandal that followed him to his grave, that we are prone to look upon any project connected with the Panama venture as a swindle. When De Lesseps began the construction of the Panama canal we dreamed of a grand reality; when he failed we awoke to find our reality but a dream.

But in 1894 a new company took hold of the work where the De Lesseps company dropped it. Of that new company we have heard, or seemingly cared, but little, until now they offer to our government a controlling interest in their project if we will finish it. The first impression is that they have nothing but a concession and a vast amount of worn and antiquated machinery to dispose of, but that is wrong; they have a partially completed canal, a canal that is nearer completion than we probably realize, and, while it may not be good policy on the part of our government to buy, it would seem to be poor policy on the part of the French company to stop their work at the present time and lose the hundreds of millions that have been invested so far. The result may be two canals where we have so long wished for one.

At the present time about 4,000 men are engaged in the work of separating North and South America at Panama. Work is being pushed almost entirely from the Atlantic side, and of the 46½ miles that it is necessary to cut through before ships can pass from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans 15 miles are already completed. This channel completes the tidewater section of the canal on the Atlantic side—nearly one-third of the entire cut. It has been dredged to a depth of nine meters, or more than 30 feet, and 30 meters wide at the bottom.

A glance at the accompanying map shows the route of the canal, and also shows the Charges river. The greatest engineering difficulties encountered are occasioned by the crossing of this river in several places. While during the greater portion of the year the Charges river is but little more than a brook, there are times when it becomes a raging torrent. To control this torrent of water and store it as a supply for feeding the canal is the problem that has taxed the ingenuity of the engineers, and yet, now that they have solved the problem, it seems decidedly simple.

The Charges river rises in a series of deep ravines some miles to the northeast of the route of the canal. It is from these ravines that much of the water comes which produces the floods. To stop these floods the engineers have dammed the mouth of the ravines and by this means have formed a lake capable of holding back the greater part of the water that would carry destruction with it if permitted to go unobstructed and at the same time supply a feeder for the canal.

MAP SHOWING ROUTE OF THE PANAMA CANAL.

The Bohio lake shown in the map is another deep cut through which the river flows and which will become a part of the canal as well as a storage reservoir for the water needed to feed it. This is accomplished by damming the mouth of the cut and placing a lock at the lower end.

The difficulties of caring for the floods in the Charges river and providing a water supply for the canal overcome, the remainder of the work resolves itself into the digging of the big ditch and the building of the system of locks that will raise a vessel over the divide between the two oceans.

To accomplish this there will be a system of eight lockages, the first one in from the Atlantic side being at the outlet of the Bohio lake. The line of the canal, however, has been so selected that it will be possible to make it a tide water channel whenever conditions warrant the expense. Of the present canal the dividing reach will be about 21 meters above the mean level of the sea.

Towards the work of digging the great ditch itself great progress has been made. Not only has the canal been practically completed from Colon, on the Atlantic side, to the Bohio locks, but beyond that a great amount of work has been done. At San Pablo, 23 miles from the Atlantic, the canal is now large and deep enough to float an ordinary sized vessel, and at La Corosita, 28 miles from the Atlantic, the cut is rapidly nearing completion.

Of the work of excavating the Culebra cut presented the greatest difficulties. This cut carries the canal through the divide between the two oceans, and is some five miles in length. Some idea of the amount of work that has been done on it may be had from the accompanying engraving, which shows the cut as it is 34 miles from the Atlantic. The work of excavating has been carried to a point within eight miles of the Pacific, while some work has been done at Panama, the Pacific terminus of the canal.

From this brief description of the work that has already been accomplished it may be seen that the French company has something more than a plan to sell to us, even though it may not be a feasible proposition for this government to buy. At the same time, with so much accomplished it would seem to be almost a settled fact that the company behind the enterprise would push it to final completion, whether we build another waterway to connect the two oceans or not.

Of the machinery of which so much has been said, there are millions of dollars' worth of antiquated dredges, excavators and other expensive machines piled in heaps along the route of the canal just as they were left by the De Lesseps company. These are scarcely worth the expense of marketing as old metal, but many of the machines now in use by the new company are modern, and at least one-half of them are of American build. In a word, the new company has been administered with economy, and a desire to complete the work of construction with as little expense as possible.

MISUSE THEIR JEWELRY.

Women, a certain jeweler declares, ill-treat their rings to about the same extent that they do their watches, and are, herefore, really fit to possess neither.

Of course, it doesn't injure a ring to put it on a cold marble slab at night, nor to drop it occasionally to the brick pavement, but it does ruin the settings of the jewels, he says, to have a tight glove pulled on over them. Yet there is hardly a member of the sex, unless she wears so many finger ornaments that it's impossible to get a glove over them, who does not subject them to such severe treatment, and wonders and mourns when she loses a stone she values.

One young woman always ties her rings up in the corner of her handkerchief when she puts on her gloves, and then tucks her handkerchief up her sleeve, and she considered this a very good way until she lost the mouchoir with its contents of four the other day, when she began to believe she'd been a little thoughtless with her treasures, says the Kansas City Journal.

It is said by the porters of sleeping cars and the matrons of the various public places, however, that fewer rings are left now on washstands than was the case a few years ago, and this is probably because a large proportion of womankind seems to have made it a rule to keep such ornaments in their mouths while they bathe their hands.

A woman with a mouthful of jewels isn't a beautiful sight, but she's an illustration of a certain sort of care, and it is a very refreshing one, when one considers the number who are forever having to advertise some valuable mislaid through their own carelessness.

Caste Among Turkish Women.

It is not generally known that there exists among Turkish ladies of high class a kind of caste feeling similar to that prevailing among Hindoos. It takes the form of a fear of contamination from the outer world and is only observed by those who cannot afford to keep servants in sufficient numbers. Before meals ladies always wash their hands at a tap from which the water runs into a marble basin. They will turn on the tap when they are just going to wash, but when they have finished they let the water run till somebody shuts it off, as to do it themselves would make them unclean. They cannot open or shut a door, as the handle would be unclean, so a slave is generally kept handy for the purpose.—N. Y. Sun.

State Banks.

Public Examiner Pope has completed that division of his biennial report relating to state banks.

In the past two years forty-eight new banks have been established. This would have increased the number of state banks to 197 but for the fact that three liquidated, paying their depositors in full; three went into the hands of receivers at the request of the public examiner and four were converted into national banks. This made a loss of ten, and leaving 187 state banks in operation.

General Pope asks the legislature to give its attention to an amendment to the banking law to secure an improved method of arriving at the correct value of the assets of banks. The examiner is comparatively helpless when confronted with the note wallets of a bank. He suggests that examining committees outside of the management of banks might remedy the difficulty.

Buttermakers' Meeting.

From present indications there will be 4,000 visitors in St. Paul to attend the annual meeting of the National Creamery Buttermakers' association. E. Studendorf of Elgin, Ill., secretary of the association was in St. Paul making arrangements for the meeting, and announced that among the distinguished visitors would be Former Governor Hoard of Wisconsin. The number of entries for the butter contest indicates that it will be the largest in the history of the association. Several gold medals will be offered.

Will Vote.

Governor Lind has issued a proclamation providing that people of Polk county may vote at the general election in November, 1902, on the question of establishing Columbia county, with McIntosh as the county, seat. There was a rival petition, calling for the setting off of the same township in the eastern part of Polk county, but making Fosston the county seat. The Columbia county petition had 1,844 names and that of Nelson county 1,656, so Columbia and McIntosh won.

Free Bounties.

State Auditor Dunn issued 2,624 warrants to Minnesota farmers for the payment of bounties on tree planting for the present year.

The aggregate amount was $18,572.30. The total tree planting of the year covered 7,728 11-24 acres.

Thirty-eight counties share in the apportionment, but neither Ramsey, Hennepin or St. Louis where the large cities are located, is included.

A Centipede.

A centipede, captured in the corridor of the St. Paul city hall, could not withstand the mortification of captivity and about noon the next day turned his 30 legs to the sun and died.

In the afternoon he was subjected to a searching examination by Dr. G. A. Renz, in charge of the St. Paul bacteriological department, and he was pronounced a genuine specimen, although he did not come from Mexico.

Superintendent Carmichael of the hospital for insane at Hastings, has applied a method that is proving very effective. He is setting morose patients to work at the sawhorse, and it is reported that even in aggravating cases the demeanor undergoes a great change, as a result of the exercise.

The express car on the Minneapolis & St. Louis road caught fire a mile south of Searles, a small station seven miles south of New Ulm, and most of the contents were destroyed. The car was heavily loaded with Christmas goods. Traffic was delayed several hours.

An anusual sight was witnessed on the farm of W. K. Adams, a few miles east of Faribault, where the farmer was engaged in mowing hay. It was a second crop of clover, which he had not time to save during the fall, and and he concluded to get out his team and mow it down. It has been nipped by the frost, but will still make excellent food for stock.

Burglars robbed the saloon of N. H. Romould, of Fertile, and got away with $25 in cash and about $12 worth of goods.

Insurance agents are in receipt of a circular letter from the state association urging them to use their influence with the members of the legislature to secure the enactment of a fire marshal law similar to the law recently placed upon the statute books of Massachusetts.

Richard Walsh, a brakeman on the Northern Pacific, fell from the top of a freight train in St. Paul and received bruises about the head, and smashing one of his toes.

The loggers operating in the northern pineries are elated over the snow and hard freeze of the past few days. Conditions have been much improved in the Leech and Cass Lake district, the swamps being nearly all frozen hard while enough snow is on the ground to permit hauling.

A valuable horse belonging to August Meyer, a farmer living south of Easton was stolen while tied to a post on one of the back streets.

The Great Northern Railway company filed a resolution of its directorate with the secretary of state, increasing the capital stock of the system from 990,000 shares of $100 each to 1,000,000 shares. The increase was decided upon at a meeting of the directors Oct. 16.

State Auditor Dunn, in his forthcoming annual report, scores the present tax laws. He recommends that a tax commission be appointed and the laws revised.

William E. Lenz, serving a life sentence for the murder of John Swartz, has been granted an unconditional pardon by the board of pardons.

Although President C. H. Saulpaugh has refused to hand Perry Werden his release papers, the report comes from St. Paul that the "king" has signed a contract which will make him the future manager of the St. Paul Western league team.

Minnesota is to have its first match factory through an incorporation, articles of which were filed with the secretary of state. The company will locate at Duluth.

The Twentieth Century.

We now stand at the threshold of the twentieth century, and the nineteenth is a thing of the past. It will, however, be known as a century of invention and discovery, and among some of the greatest of these, we can truthfully mention Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the celebrated remedy for all ailments arising from a weak or disordered stomach, such as dyspepsia, indigestion, flatulency, constipation and biliousness.

Perils of Civilization.

If we are driven to the hard labor of opening oysters for the sake of avoiding preservaline and to milking cows to keep clear of formaldehyde it is evident that the highest civilization has not lightened our burdens, but rather added to them. By the way, embalmed beef has gone out of fashion, hasn't it?—Detroit Free Press.

BUFFALO GAZETTE

DELANO, FRIDAY, Sept. 4, 1900.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—Monday morning the thermometer registered 12 below zero. Pretty good for the last day of the year and of the century.

—Servies were held the last day of the old and the first day of the new year at the Catholic church.

—After looking the town over it seems the only possible place for a smallpox hospital has been secured: unless the village council, builds or buys one.

—The dance at the I. O. O. F. Hal Tuesday evening was enjoyed by our young people. Good music and an oyster supper added to the pleasure of the ocassion.

—We are now living in the 20th century. Nineteen hundred years have passed and gone, and January 1, last Tuesday, was the first day of the first month of 1901.

—Several of our merchants and business men have some nice calander and other advertising matter for the new year. If a man wishes to do business now-a-days he must advertise.

—Unless some new cases of smallpox appear in our midst, schools will doubtless, not be required to close, but on Monday next, when vacation is over, will open up for the next term.

—Considerable amusement was afforded those who awaited their mail at the Post Office on New Year's day or reading the notices posted in the windows that the office will be open from 10 to 12, January 1, 1902.

—The winter, so far, has not been an ideal one for the usual winter sports. Skating has been very poor all winter and sleighing or sliding down hill have been out of the question. Although both sports are usually indulged in here by Thanksgiving there is time enough yet.

—Rev. M. Savs has in this week's Eagle an interesting article on "The History and the present State of the Church of St. Peter, of Delano, Minn." There are 1537 people in all under the care of Rev Savs. He has lately completed a census as a preliminary to building a fine, new church.

—Among smallpox symptoms are chills, nausea or vomiting, headache pain in the back, fever, followed by an eruption. All may not have all the symptoms, but generally enough are present to create suspicion where the patient has been exposed. Everybody should be vaccinated. Especially the children attehning school.

—January 1 was an ideal day for the beginning of a new century. The sun rose bright in a nearly cloudless sky, and the day was warmer than can usually be expected at this time of year. The air was crisp and bracing in the early morning, and calculated to start one out in the new century full of life and ambition. All hail the 20th century.

—We were ushered into the 20th century last Tuesday with comparatively little of the exciting argument in evidence, that occupied the mental facilities of a great number of our citizens a year ago. They evidently concluded that they would live just as long if this was the 20th century or not, and that it was of no use to argue on the subject with one of an opposite opinion, because no amount of argument could lead them away from their opinion.

—The Y. M. C. A. Student Band closed their week here with a fine meeting Sunday night and left on Monday morning for Minneapolis Owing to several causes the meetings were not so well attended for most of the time as they deserved, but the last one showed what could be done in Delano. The band consisted of five young men of different denominations and from different schools. They were a fine lot of fellows and left a good impression. They will be kindly remembered by many who heard them.

—At the regular monthly meeting of the trustees of the M. E. Church, it was moved and seconded "That the President of the Board of Trustees extend the members of the Church an invitation to attend a special meeting to detreremine the best methods to pursue in our finnanical affairs.

In accordance with the above resolution the members of the M. E. Church are earnestly invited to be present at the church on Thursday evening, January 10, 7 P, M.

T. J. CATLIN,
Pres. of the Board.

—Some people have a habit of running in, and sitting for hours, with people who happen to be taken sick. It is a good plan to ask at the door if help is needed. Often times a neighbor can saw a little wood, go for a doctor, or a woman may cook, or bring victuals from home, many times most useful. Sitting around in the way, perhaps remaining to meals, putting people to more trouble and then going home to childern and friends or to some other neighbors, might when smallpox is abroad in the land help to spread the disease. Some people of crouse are a real comfort and help in time of sickness, but they should, at present, not risk themselves or children by visiting where they are not needed, sick people whose diseases have not sufficiently developed to preclude the possibility of its being smallpox or diphtheria.

—If you have failed to get comfortably fitting glasses; or if your eyes trouble you consult Dr. Walman. He empolves up to date methods for examining eyes. 1 t.

Minneapolis Tribune: It is reported that New York millionaires, since the Cudahy kidnapping, are employing strong body guards for their childern, and also erecting defenses around their residences. This is only natural.

THE END OF THE CENTURY.

We stand here at the closing of Earth's greatest 100 years,
Like the rush of many waters the billowy time sweeps o'er us;
A great wonderment falls upon our beating heart
As we look back at its mighty achievements and great progression,
That hath marked, through decades of measured time,
Days, weeks, months and years of the century.
Perfection, has seemingly been brought forward,
Perpetuating brain thought, and science of man.
Lo! he hath laid his scepter upon the stars;
He hath pierced the footstool of his God;
He readeth upon the face of the etherial blue,
And he perceiveth the signs of the coming storm.
He hath placed the wire of conducive in depths of the seas,
He speaks and the contents give back their answers.
He rideth the sea, in his wonderful grandeur,
He boareth upon the surface of the mighty,
And saileth afar in a little world of his own
The rumbling of his mechanism whistles from mountain peaks,
His wheels spin through listening valleys,
Earth hath oped to him her hidden vaults of gold and silver,
The stones remain silent; thereby publish their mystery,
He leadeth now, the millions that follow, to meet
The wonerful new Era, Nineteen Hundred and One.
God's hand is the dial upon the face for the clock
That speaks of the coming hour of midnight,
And the moment that the old century must pass down to countless ages
The great gate swings, within its portals that soon must ope.
And bid the new coming century in.
Her outstretched arms are lifted, in mighty strength,
To receive the countless millions that march to greet her.
Her robes are white, and unsullied; she knoweth no time
No sin hideth in her garments pure. Her pages her calendars, bear no date
And He, who holdeth in his hands all past decades,
That mark many ages, biddeth her in; the hour has arrived,
And the beautiful New Century is now upon us.

Duluth Herald: Gen. MacArthur has warned the Filipinos that they must respect the rules of war or take the consequences. Did not Gen. Otis or the president or some other high official connected with the administration at Washington say several weeks or months ago that the war was ended?

County Cullings.

Fifteen hundred dead soldier recently arrived at San Francisco from the Philippines. That is one of the practical results of our war with the people of those islands, and that, too, without any corresponding benifit that we know of up to date. Fifteen hundred dead soldier boys represent thousands of grief stricken friends, and an enormous amount of treasure. Gen. Sherman well said: "War is hell."—Wright County Times.

Growler Allen's Sarcasm.

Battle Lake Review: Jens K Grondahl writes us to use our influence with Gov Van Sant to have him appointed state librarian. We are sorry, but can do nothing. Years ago when Van Sant was unkown we used to devote considerable of our editorial space to the gentleman, and were one of the humble instruments that finally made him governor, and we were more or less intimately acquainted with him but that was before he was finally nominated for governor; since then we have had no influence whatever, and advise Mr. Grondahl (who was born in the right country and has held some office ever since he was twenty one years of age) to apply to Charley Whitney, Bro. Masterman and Tams Bixby. Get the county committee to endorse your application and send it to the above gentleman and if they O. K. it, it goes. Bro Grondahl is a blonde and this is a blond country, although through some error in voting, a brunette is governor.—Litchfield Independent.

The Irl R. Hicks 1901 Almanac

Whatever may be said of the scientific causes upon which the Rev. Irl R Hicks bases his yearly forecasts of strom and weather, it is a remarkable fact that specific warnings of every great storm, flood, cold wave and drouth, have been plainly printed in his famous Almanac for many years The latest startling proof of this fact was the destruction of Galveston, Texas, on the very day named by Prof Hicks in his 1900 Almanac, as one of disaster by storm along the gulf coasts. The 1901 Almanac, by far the finest, most complete and beautiful yet published, is now ready. This remarkable book of near two hundred pages, splendidly illustrated with charts and half-ton engravings, goes as a premium to every subscriber who pays one dollar a year for Hicks' journal, WORD AND WORKS. TURNING THE BABIES IN BED.

Women sho' is cur'ous critters, an' dey ain't no doubtin' dat,
"D'ain't a bit o' use to try to un'erstan' a woman's way."

I don' mean to be complainin', but I'a jes' a-settin' down
Some o' my own obserwations, w'en I cas' my eye eroun',
Ef you ax me fu' to prove it, I kin do it moughty fine,

I kin hyeah a so'tah rustlin' an' somebody movin' 'roun'.
An' I say: "Lize, what you doin'?" But she frowns an' shek huh haid;
"Heish yo' mouf, I's only turnin' of de chillun in de bed.

An' you' get to kind o' 'range him sev'al times befo' de day?
So de little necks won't worry, an' de little backs won't break;

So she shakes 'em, an' she twists 'em, an' she tu'ns 'em, 'roun' erbout,
T'well I don' see how de chillun evah keeps f'om hollahin' out.

W'en hits mos' nigh time fu' wakin' on de dawn o' Jedgment day,
Seems lak I kin hyeah ol' Gab'iel lay his trumpet down an' say:
"Who dat walkin' 'roun' so easy, down on earth ermong de dead?"

SOME of the newspapers are trying hard to make their readers believe that W. J. Bryan is out of politics and that Grover Cleveland is in. Don't you believe it. We don't.

THE St. Paul Dispatch invites Mr. Lind to the invocation of the law! If the Dispatch wants to law why don't it begin a suit for assault and battery? Guess it is not so anxious as it pretends to have a suit with John Lind.

NICOLA TESLA, claims that people of another world are trying to communicate with people on this sphere. Some are cracking jokes, others are disputing the posibility. Anyway he has not been burned at the stake nor made to recant, as discoverers not so very long ago were.

AFTER all the blowing about the Democratic legislature of Missouri going to make a doorkeeper of Frank James, it turns out that at the caucus, although Frank was present, some vigorous speeches were made, and on voting the ex-bandit got 15 votes out of 80 cast. And still the Republican Legislature of Minnesota fritters away the peoples time and money every two years trying to provide some special legislature whereby the James boys old associates in crime, the Youngers, may be released from the penitentiary at Stillwater.

A GROWING impression is fast gaining ground among the people of the United States, that the Chinese are not much to blame for trying to preserve their seaports and their lands; their homes, from the aggressive foreigners. Returned missionaries, and others, agree with Sir. Robert Hart, in saying that the late uprising of Native Chinese was a patriotic movement, to preserve their land and institutions and not of ill will to others who did not impose upon them. Think how we would do if other nations tried on us what they are trying on Caine.

PEOPLE are beginning to wander what kind of cadets and officers the United States government is paying to keep up West Point Military school. Are they hiring, cringing cowards or brutal bullies to represent the people in time of war. And which of them are liars? From recent developments in the hazing cases these are pertinent questions. The military school evidently needs rectifying in the eyes of the people.

West Point Hazing.

The congressional investigation into the Booz case is not bringing out much evidence in regard to hazing at West Point in addition to that given before the military board of inquiry, but it is far from concluded. One thing has been established by both inquiries, and that is that hazing is practiced to a reprehensible degree at West Point, and that not all of the "exercises" to which the fourth class cadets are subjected are quips and pranks within the bounds of reason and a proper regard for the the rights of the victims. The faculties, or some of them, say they know that improper hazing is practiced, but they cannot stop it.

As the Portland Telegram says, this is a curious confession: is it possible that the government, in its own great military school, cannot protect its raw cadets from brutal maltreatment and grevious indignities? Some degree of rough sport, and some discipline of new recruits by their elders in the academy, must be tolerated; but when these pass reasonable bounds and become ignominious and injurious torture, it would seem that such practices could be stopped after fair warning, by simply expelling in disgrace those who are guilty of such tryanny and cruelty. Doubtless this would raise a loud outcry, but is the great government afraid of a class of even senior cadets?—Duluth Herald.

Forest Destruction.

There is a strong movement in the northwestern States for Congress to make a national park at the headwaters of the Mississippi, in order to save from destruction very nearly the last virgin forest of pine existing in America. The movement finds voice in the February number of The Delineator in a description given of the work undertaken by the Women's Clubs of Minnesota. Their forestry work will have interest in the States of Wisconsin and Michigan; in fact the country at large.

Not Savages.

We notice in news from the Philippines frequent items referring to the return to our army of prisoners captured by the insurgents, and prisoners who have written of their experience generally say that they were kindly treated although of course often exposed to the hardships which their captors could not prevent. Surely such people are not savages. And for what are they fighting and dying and why do they see their towns burned, their churches and schoolhouses razed to the earth and their families rendered homeless? They must have heard about the wicked rebels, who under that boss rebel, Geo. Washington, laid the foundation for a country whose flag has been an emblem of liberty and whose goddness is supposed to be justice. The Hutchinson Independent

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 28 1900

How thoroughly Senator Hanna dominates the republican steering committee of the Senate is shown by the threats of a cloture rule for the Senate if there is any attempt to filibuster or against the ship subsidy or the Army reorganization bill, that have come from that committee since Congress reconvened. Whether those threats can be made effective will depend largely upon the backbone exhibited by the republican Senators who are opposed to both bills. It is expected that before the Army bill is voted upon a democratic substitute providing for a continuance of the present strength of the army for two years from the first of July will be offered

The reapportionment bill is being made the basis of a warm contest in the House, in which political lines are not drawn, but most of the democrats are supporting the substitute for the committee bill, which slightly increases the representation of a few States and reduces that of none.

General expression of suspicion of the motive in delaying action on the Nicaragua Canal bill was brought out a statement from prominent republican Senators that action will not be taken for at least a month, because of the desire to show England the courtesy of allowing it that much time to act upon the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. According to the same authority, the bill will be called up early in February and passed. That, however, doesn't seem to be the opinion of the president of the Panama Canal Co., who is in Washington, as he publicly said that he considers his company still has a chance to sell out to the U. S, which he pretends that it isn't at all anxious to do, as it can sell to England, France and Germany at any time. Whether this impudent Frenchman is bluffing or really has an hold on any considerable number or Senators sufficiently strong to hold up the Nicaragua Canal bill will shortly become apparent.

Not even a resolution of the Senate can get at that interesting document generally spoken of as the Lawshe report, being a detailed statement of the crookedness found in handling of Cuban moneys by an expert accountant. Instead of answering the Senate resolution calling for this report, Secretary Root went to Mr. McKinley for assistance in burying the report so the deep that Senate cannot dig up its contents to create a sensation. In order to render this assistance Mr. McKinley will take advantage of his authority to decline to make public any document which in his discretion would be kept secret. There is no way that the Senate could force the President to make public this document, even were a majority disposed to try. But the fact that so much trouble has been taken to suppress this report and that Mr. A. L. Lawshe, the man who made it, has been given a big place in the Philippines, apparently to get him out of the way, shows that the revelations made by the report must be many times worse than the publication of the Nealy stealings in Cuba.

There is an old time row among Ohio republicans. Senator Foraker has accused several members of his party of fixing upa conspriacy to put Representative Dick in Foraker's seat at the close of his term, by a deal with the anti saloon element and the use of the Ohio Republican Committee, of which Dick is chairman. Foraker is said to have given Dick a personal raking over that he will never forget and to have succeded in getting Hanna to break with Dick, who has been his confidential man ever since he tarted out to be a political boss. Whether Dick, derived of Hanna's support, will be strong enough to put up anything like a winning fight again Foraker, is doubtful, but the rumpus isn't going to increase brotherly love among Ohio republicans

Gen. Miles has a few facts in his possession about embalmed beef that have never been made public, but which may be included in the answer that he will make in his own time to ex-Secretary Alger's new attack on him. Speaking of the matter, Gen. Miles said: Mr Alger by publishing a book and by the use of the public press in dealing with facts connected with the Spanish war, has laid himself open to reply by any army officer who is in any way affected by the statement made. While I have not fully decided on the course I shall pursue in the matter, it is very likely I shall at some future time put on record a few facts which it will be impossible to whistle down." The administration has such a dread of what Gen Miles may say that veiled threats of removing him from the command of the army if he replies to Alger have been made. Mr. McKinley, as all the world knows, would welcome an excuse to humilate Gen. Miles, and since the Senate Military committee adopted the ideas of Gen. Miles on army reorganization, in place of what was called the Root plan - prepared by Corbin - Secretary Root would gladly help. For that reason some of Gen Miles' friends are trying to get him to wait until after his retirement to have his final say.

Dr. Colyin J. Pollock, of Kirksville, Mo., was the inventive early bird in the wee small hours of the new century. He desired to present the first application of the century for the U. THE HOUSE WHERE I WAS BORN.

(By J. A. Edgerton.)

It stands, as in the olden days,
A simple, plain abode,
Amidst the firs and cedar trees,
Back from the country road.
'Tis old and weather-beaten now,
Deserted and forlorn;
And yet 'tis beautiful to me—
The house where I was born.

'Twas years since I had looked on it—
wandered there as one:
The fence was sagged, the gate was gone
The path was overgrown.
I stood upon the creaking steps,
Where oft I'd stood before:
I stepped upon the long, low porch,
And passed the open door.

Through fingered in the vacant rooms
A silence most profound;
My steps on the dismantled floors
Gave out a ghostly sound.
I dreamed the shadows of the dead
Across the gloom were cast,
But every footstep seemed to me
To echo through the past.

I sought the little corner room,
Where sat my trundlebed;
Where oft my mother sang to me
In years that long had fled,
I sought the fireplace deep and wide,
Where in the winter days
We used to sit, a happy group,
Before the open blaze.

I sought the mantlepiece, from whence
The clock ticked on the wall;
I sought the old familiar forms,
But they had vanished all,
For some had gone I knew not where,
And some were east and west,
And some had old and feeble grown
And some were laid at rest.

I've seen the mansions of the rich,
The palaces of kings;
And yet the pleasure of a spot
Unto my memory clings,
'Tis old and weather-beaten now,
Deserted and forlorn;
And yet 'tis beautiful to me—
The house where I was born.

ETCHED WITHIN HER VIOLIN.

As sweeps thy bow its quivering strings
Thy violin sobs low or sings,
And softly rustle angel wings.

Meshed in the halo of thy hair
Those sweet notes seem to nestle there,
In gladsome praise or pleading prayer.

Lit by the love-lamps of thine eyes,
Within whose glow and gladness lies
The altar light of home I prize.

In its clear tones come back to me
Those happy evenings by the sea,
When I received love's claim to thee.

With sunset crimsoning the west,
A red light on each tossing crest,
The sea-bird hurrying to its nest,

O'erhead the kindly watching stars,
The sea all silver spears and bars,
The ships aglow like fairy cars,

I see us walking on the sands,
Close clasped our souls as were our hands,
God's peace enfolding lakes and lands;

The perfectness of all thy charms,
Within thy fond encircling arms
No place for ills nor rude alarms.

A magic circle lit with love,
With peace on earth and God above,
Thou nestling by me like a dove.

And now despite the world's loud din,
All hate shut out and love within,
These scenes etched by thy violin,

And blooming in each vibrant tone,
By thy soul in its music sown,
Some sounds for me and me alone.

Perhaps, when we are old and gray,
With life's sunset not far away,
Love of my life, thou still wilt play;

And life's last lingering deep twilight
Shall see us both contented quite,
God's peace upon us as to-night.

Sister Todd's Delegate

By J. L. Harbour.

(Copyright, 1900, the Authors' Syndicate.)

THE Widow Todd was making "pound for pound" quince preserves in her spotlessly clean and sunny little kitchen, and the aroma from the gently bubbling compound in her shining brass preserving kettle filled the kitchen and some of the adjoining rooms with a delightful fragrance. Mrs. Todd was about to begin the concoction of a Lady Washington cake she had promised to contribute to a church supper when her front doorbell rang. Hastily throwing aside her gingham kitchen apron and putting on in its stead a crisp and spotless white apron, she went to the door, where she found two comfortable-looking, middle-aged sisters of the church of which Mrs. Todd was a member.

"Well, I do declare, if it ain't Sister Brush and Sister Phelps!" said the Widow Todd. "Come right in! I'm real pleased to see you. It's been longer than it ought to of been since either of you darkened my door."

"We ain't come to make a visit now, Sister Todd," said Sister Brush. "I dunno as we ought to set down at all, for if we do we'll git to talkin' and land knows when we'll git away."

"That's true," said Sister Phelps.

"You come in, just the same," said Sister Todd.

"Well, you mustn't keep us long if we do. You see we are around getting places for the delegates who are comin' to the association meetin' in our church next week. You know that the delegates from other places have to be entertained, and Sister Brush and I have been appointed a committee to see who will take the delegates for the two days and nights the association is to last. We felt sure we could put you down for one delegate, anyhow."

"Why, yes, I don't know but you may," said Sister Todd. "I ain't got but the one spare room, but I'll take two ladies or a man and wife, just which you want to send me. I've felt real lonesome ever since my niece left me to be married and go to her own home, and mebbe entertainin' delegates will kind o' take my mind off my trouble and cheer me up some, speshly if they happen to be real nice people."

"La, you wouldn't expect our church folks to be anything else, would you?"

"Oh, of course I know they would be good folks, but then some good folks are pleasanter to entertain than others. But, as I say, it'll take my mind off my trouble to entertain any one."

Sister Todd's "trouble" was not of as recent origin as one might have supposed it to have been from her remarks. She referred to the death of her husband, which event had occurred two years before the time of the opening of this story. The fact that the departed Silas Todd had left his widow "well fixed," as her neighbors expressed it, had not consoled her for his taking off, and her references to her "trouble" were frequent and sometimes tearful.

"But just them kind of widders are the very kind that up and marry the soonest," said Sister Phelps to Sister Brush as the two women, having completed arrangements for the entertainment of the delegate or delegates, went on their way. "Mind you, I don't mean no disrespect to Sister Todd, and I'd be the last person to blame her if she took a second pardner. No one can say that she ain't mourned Silas Todd faithful."

"That's a fact, Sister Phelps. And that, too, when ev'rybody knows that he wa'n't all that he might of been in the way of a husband, but we'll let that rest, seein' that it ain't becomin' to speak ill of the dead. If the minister from Zion and his wife come to the association I think we'd better send them to Sister Todd's. It'll be a real nice place for any delegate, for Sister Todd is such a good cook and the best housekeeper in town."

It was about ten o'clock in the morning on Tuesday of the next week when Sister Todd heard her doorbell ring, and her mental comment was:

"There! I reckon that's my delegate! I do hope it ain't some fussy old maid, or, worse still, a pair of 'em like those I had to entertain the last time the association met here. They was a trial, even if they was sisters in our own church."

But a second trial of this sort was not in store for Sister Todd, for when she opened the door she saw on the little porch in front of her house a kindly-looking, bright eyed and smiling little man of about 60 years. He had a satchel in his hands, and Sister Todd was not surprised when he said, in a singularly soft and gentle voice:

"I suppose that this is Sister Todd? I am Mr. Matthew Rolfe, one of the deacons in the church over in Hebron. I have been sent as a delegate to the association and the committee have sent me here for entertainment."

Sister Todd said afterward that she had it "on the tip of her tongue" to say that she did not expect to entertain a man, but she checked this inhospitable remark and said, in some confusion:

"Well, come in and set down. I—I—I have friends in the Hebron church—the Tylers. Mebbe you know them?"

"Oh, yes, indeed. They are among our most useful and active members. I have known them for years."

That "broke the ice," and Sister Todd soon found herself chatting freely and easily with her delegate. When he had gone to his room her mental comment was:

"Well, he's a real pleasant person, and if he knows the Tylers so well he must be a real nice man. I'd no idee the committee would send me a man delegate, but I can't turn him out now that he's here, and I'm too well known in this town for anyone to pass any remarks about me entertainin' a gentleman delegate single or married. I wonder which he is?"

She found out at the dinner table, for when she referred to her "trouble" and explained the nature of the "trouble" the delegate said with real kindliness and sympathy:

"I know just how to feel for you, Sister Todd. I lost my own dear companion three years ago. I broke up housekeeping and went to live with a sister of mine, but she died in the spring and I have boarded since then, but boarding is mighty unsatisfactory to a man who has always had a home of his own. I am a real home body and I'll never be satisfied until I have a home my own once more."

"I shouldn't think you would be. I should fly if I had to go to boarding. There's nothing like a home of one's own."

"I feel just that way. I'm sorry I sold off my things. I planned to have a niece of mine come and keep house for me, but she died suddenly three months ago. I feel like a fish out of water without a home. And I ain't been able to find a good boarding place in Hebron. Hardly any one takes boarders there. Fact is I've been thinking of leaving Hebron and coming over this way to live. I have heard of a chance to buy a half interest in a shoe store over here, and I know all about the shoe business. If things are favorable I think I'll buy and settle here."

"You'd find this a real pleasant place to live, and you'd like our minister and all our church people here."

"I know I would. I don't know when I have been so taken with a place as I am with this place. What a pleasant little home you have here."

"Yes, it is real pleasant, but I have spent many a lonely hour in it since my trouble."

"I ain't a doubt of it. I know just how you have felt. But I have come to the conclusion that the Lord don't want us to dwell too long on any kind of trouble."

"No, I suppose He don't."

It was two weeks later when Sister Phelps hurried over to the home of Sister Brush in a state of manifest excitement and said almost as soon as the door was opened:

"What do you think, Sister Brush? I have been over to Sister Todd's to carry back a waist pattern she loaned me, and you'd never guess what she told me! She's engaged!"

"You don't mean it!"

"It's so!. And to that delegate we sent her! Did you ever! I guess she is going to do real well! Didn't I tell you that the wimmen that talked most about such 'trouble' as Sister Todd has had was the first to up and marry the soonest? Not that I blame Sister Todd none! I'm just glad she is to marry such a nice man! I reckon she didn't callate on takin' a delegate to entertain for life, but that's just what she's done. Don't it beat all?"

While singing a love song under the window of his sweetheart's home a New York beau shot himself, instead of waiting and letting some member of the family do it.

Horses will run away once in awhile, but they never blow up. The New York Sun tells of a "locomobile" that blew up in the streets of that city. Fortunately the operator was not badly injured.

To show how this country has emerged from the heel of the oppressor, it is only necessary to recall the fact that 100 years ago women were not permitted to appear in the congressional galleries.

It seems like an oversight on the part of the New York man whose cow ate a lot of dynamite that he has not thought to examine her milk for traces of nitroglycerin. He may have a fortune in her for all he knows.

The Philadelphia Ledger says that when congress succeeds in making a satisfactory and permanent adjustment of the relations of labor and capital the name of this country will be changed to the United States of Arcadia.

The distance from New York to Manila by way of the Suez canal is 12,706 miles, and by way of the Straits of Magellan 19,832 miles. When the Nicaragua canal is built the voyage via Honolulu and Guam will be shortened to 12,264 miles.

It has been a great century for the English-speaking people of the world. At the opening of the century 21,000,000 people spoke the English tongue, while the number is now 130,000,000. The English tongue will yet rule the world and be the universal language.

The world has progressed in some respects in every century, but no other century could show as great progress in as many important respects as the one just closed. "The nineteenth century" has become almost a synonym for progress in every field of human activity, and will probably remain so.

Sulphuric acid is made in England from iron pyrites obtained in Spain, which contains some arsenic. English brewers use the sulphuric acid to make grape sugar, and so the arsenic has found its way into English beer. The progress of chemistry at times is rather too rapid. Call them 'ops, if necessary, but use them.

A society is being formed by Dr. A. J. Austen Kelly, of Brooklyn, for the purpose of establishing colonies for consumptives in northern New York. Over 5,000 acres of land have been purchased in the foothills of the Adirondacks, it being the intention to divide it off into a number of small farms, with a home for each patient.

The modern custom of decorating churches at Christmas with mistletoe and other greens was borrowed directly from the Druids. Those mystic priests believed that kindly sylvan spirits sought out green and sheltered places and dwelt therein until spring, and with her magic wand made all the world beautiful once more.

As bullfights and cockfights are prohibited in Porto Rico, under American rule, it is not surprising to learn that intelligent natives are scandalized by a recent slugging match before a fashionable club, composed largely of Americans. In point of morals and refinement the Anglo-Saxon sport is no improvement on the Spanish.

Among 600,000,000 passengers carried only 206 persons lost their lives on steamboat vessels within the jurisdiction of the United States during the last fiscal year, of whom 44 were passengers and 162 members of the crews. During the same year there were 383 boiler explosions on land, which killed 298 persons and wounded 456 others.

Have you tried the new "process butter"? According to the testimony before the senate committee on agriculture the other day a manufacturer of oleomargarine defined "process butter" to be oleomargarine "washed with sulphuric acid" to remove rancidity. With "process butter" and "formaldehyde milk" the American breakfast of chickory and buckwheat cakes, with glucose maple sirup, becomes a thing to make the stoutest tremble.

Nikola Tesla, the wizard of electricity, is completely satisfied that attempts are being made by the inhabitants of some other planet to communicate with the people of this earth. "In some experiments I have been conducting for some time," said Mr. Tesla, "I have been noticing disturbances that had a peculiar effect on my instruments. What these disturbances are caused by I am unable to say at present, but I am firmly convinced that they are the results of an attempt by some human beings, not of our world, to speak to us by signals."

Prof. Loeb, of the University of Chicago, whose theory indicates that salt is the elixir of life and quickener of heart action, should investigate the action of kissing and its effect upon the heart. The Demorest W. C. T. U. of New York affirms that kissing is an intoxicant, and therefore prohibits it. If Prof. Loeb can demonstrate the incorrectness of the theory he can in all probability find a number of heroic youths and maidens in the university who, in the interests of science, will perform the experiment while the professor tabulates the results.

When the United States cruiser Olympia sails out of the Boston navy yard next June, thoroughly overhauled and repaired, she will be a better vessel than the day she led the way at Manila bay. On her bow, where before she merely carried the American shield in red, white and blue, she will bear the handsomest figurehead in the service, a 3,000-pound bronze casting of "the Winged Victory." The figure piece will be a life-size figure of a beautiful woman in flowing draperies holding over her head with both hands an American eagle about to take flight.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Paroled Prisoners.

Of the 212 prisoners paroled from the state penitentiary during the past two years, only 19 broke their paroles, and of these, 15 were returned to prison. Of the 259 prisoners discharged during the same period 86 had previously served sentences, although this fact was probably not made known to the courts in more than one-fourth of the cases.

These facts are made public through the reports of the officials of the prison. Consequently State Agent Whittier, who has visited 849 paloled prisoners during the past two years, advocates the indeterminate sentence, or a system of parole of prisoners until such time as they can prove their worthiness to be fully discharged. The report says that many men were released who were unfit to be at large, and yet under the present system these men are released after a certain period, as well as those practically free from criminal tendencies.

Mr. Merrill complains that insanity is greatly on the increase among the men employed in the shoe and twine departments, and he suggests that the ideal employment would be such as would afford both physical and mental exercise. But with the majority of the prisoners, he says, this would be impossible. He urges the legislature to make better provision for the care of insane convicts.

A Mink Farm.

While many residents of Minneapolis have been devoting considerable time of late to the raising of Belgian hares, they may be surprised to learn that a Wisconsin man, E. N. Harvey, Lake Mills, has dropped the hare industry for one he claims will pay him much better. This is the raising of minks, and he says he can dispose of the fur to manufacturer at a good price and have thousands of dollars while the Belgian hare people have only dimes.

The mink farm, which is the first one known to exist, is 34 feet long by 22 feet wide; the outdoor yard is 10 by 12. The shed is a spacious building, with small boxes for the little animals, and the open yard plenty large enough for them to run around and enjog themselves. They prefer to come out during the evening and receive their daily portions of meat at that time.

Nothing but meat and all kinds of game are given to them to feed on. "Whenever I have a sick chicken," said Mr. Harvey, "I take him right over to Mr. Mink, and he does the bleeding in the good old-fashioned manner."

P. D. ARMOUR DEAD.

Noted Chicago Packer and Millionaire Passes Away After a Brief Illness in That City.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Philip Danforth Armour—philanthropist, financier and 100 times millionaire, head of the vast commercial establishment that bears his name—died at his home, 2115 Prairie avenue, at 5:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon, aged 68 years.

A muscular affection of the heart known to the medical profession as myocarditis, was the immediate cause of death. He had been rapidly recovering from pneumonia that for three weeks had threatened his life. At nine o'clock Sunday morning his heart gave way under the strain of his recent illness, his pulse running up to 103. That was the beginning of the end.

Born in Madison county, N. Y., May 16, 1832.

Started with a party of argonauts from Oneida, N. Y., bound for California in wagons, April 10, 1852.

In 1856 returned to the house of his father in New York, with nearly $4,000—the foundation of his fortune.

In June of that year he went to Milwaukee and bought an interest in the PHILIP D. ARMOUR.

Married to Miss Malvina Belle Ogden, of Cincinnati, in October, 1862.

In May, 1863, having dissolved partnership with Miles, he became junior partner of the firm of Plankinton & Armour, pork packers.

In 1864 the Chicago house of his brother, Herman O. Armour, was affiliated with the Milwaukee house. Herman was sent to New York, where he opened an eastern branch, called Armour, Plankinton & Co., and Joseph F. Armour, a younger brother, was placed in charge of the Chicago house, which was known as H. O. Armour & Co. until 1870.

In 1865 Philip D. Armour made his first world-famous coup by anticipating the surrender of Gen. Robert E. Lee, and netting about $2,000,000 for his firm by selling pork from $60 down to $40 a barrel and filling the orders at an average cost of $18 a barrel.

Philip D. Armour moved to Chicago, and established his permanent home here in 1875.

In 1878 survived a fierce bull raid in pork, directed at him, employed $2,000,000 in "standing off" his opponents, and netted $1,500,000 by the operation intended to "squeeze" him.

Armour mission founded in 1886 upon $100,000 bequeathed for that purpose by Joseph F. Armour, and further endowed and sustained by Philip D. Armour.

Armour institute founded.

In 1892 an effort was made by leading Chicago wheat operators to corner Mr. Armour in a gigantic wheat deal. His chief danger of defeat and enormous loss lay in the fact that his opponents had secured all the elevator space. Within 30 days Armour had bought or built enough elevators to store his grain and disappoint his rivals.

Bought $500,000 worth of gold in London on his personal account, and used it to stave off disaster during the days of panic which threatened some Chicago banks in 1893.

STEAMER WRECKED.

The Iaqua Goes to Pieces on Reef Near San Francisco—Over Thirty Drowned.

San Francisco, Jan. 7.—The steamer Iaqua, which left this city Friday afternoon for San Diego with a cargo of general merchandise, was wrecked some time during the night on Duxbury reef, just outside the Golden Gate, and all on board with the single exception of Chief Engineer Burrill, who was washed ashore on an overturned boat, after being in the water two hours, are believed to have perished. Details are meager, but it is known that there were between 30 and 40 persons on board the ill-fated vessel at the time of the accident.

Eight Men Suffocated.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 7.—Eight men lost their lives in a fire at 115 Washington avenue at three o'clock in the morning, which had its origin in the rear of the Standard furniture store. The men were overtaken by an intense volume of smoke in the Harvard hotel, which occupies the second, third and fourth floors of the building, and death in every instance was due to suffocation.

Bank Tax Law.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The attorney general has rendered an opinion in which he holds in effect that congress, in taxing capital under the banking laws, meant to tax only the capital of the bank in its strict technical sense and that in taxing surplus it meant the fund formally set apart by the board of directors as surplus in its restricted and technical sense in banking.

Takes Oath of Office.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 4.—Chandler H. Dietrich was inaugurated governor of Nebraska before the joint session of the legislature in the hall of the house of representatives at three o'clock Thursday afternoon. The ceremony was short and simple, occupying but little over an hour, being limited to the retiring message of Gov. Poynter and the inaugural address of Gov. Dietrich.

Well Received.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Jan. 7.—Gov. Allen, who left San Juan Thursday to visit the towns in the western part of the island, has returned to the capital. He visited several places never before visited by any governor of Porto Rico. Everywhere he was most enthusiastically received. At Lares 250 mounted citizens turned out to provide him with an escort.

The New Cup Defender.

Now being built, is confidently expected to be the fastest sailing vessel ever built. Its construction is being kept a secret, but it is whispered that it will easily hold the cup. America is rapidly coming to the front. A good example of this is in that famous household remedy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has defended health for half a century past. It holds the record for the cure of dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, nervousness, biliousness and la grippe.

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

Is the most important period in a woman's existence. Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop for good, are symptoms of a dangerous, nervous trouble. Those hot flashes are just so many calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life.

MRS. JENNIE NOBLE.

It builds up the weakened nervous system, and enables a woman to pass that grand change triumphantly.

"I was a very sick woman, caused by Change of Life. I suffered with hot flushes, and fainting spells. I was afraid to go on the street, my head and back troubled me so. I was entirely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — MRS. JENNIE NOBLE, 5010 Keyser St., Germantown, Pa.

Insomnia Wrecks the Nerves. Dr. Greene's NERVURA Makes Health.

INSOMNIA is a forerunner of nervous prostration; what organism is strong enough to stand up under the strain of sleepless nights? It is plain that nothing in the world can possibly take the place of restful sleep, yet many try to eke out an existence without this sustaining power. Their nerves are in such a state of tension that sleep is an impossibility, or at best is a series of hideous dreams. It is not strange that physical and mental weakness, amounting soon to complete prostration, follows inability to sleep. There is no let-up to the strain. Vital forces are drawn upon, confirmed invalidism results.

The recuperative power of natural sleep is wonderful. Complete physical and mental exhaustion gives place, after a few hours of quiet slumber, to a full renewal of energy. The fatigue of body and mind disappears entirely while all the muscles are strong and the nerves absolutely calm.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA FOR THE BLOOD AND NERVES.

Sleep is the indication given by Nature as a guide to human plans to restore health. It shows that there are inherent in the wonderful human organism powers of recuperation which must have opportunity to assert themselves. Based on this clear demonstration, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy was constructed by Dr. Greene to help Nature combat the ills that attack men and women. What no amount of powerful drugs could possibly accomplish, can be successfully and promptly effected by healthy blood and nerves, the kind of blood which flows in strengthening flood to every portion of the body, the condition of nerves which permits awakened Nature to seize its opportunity to restore to perfect health.

MRS. FLORENCE TAYLOR, of 4 Courtland Place, Bridgeport, Conn., writes:

"For four years I was troubled with nervous debility and hysteria in a most aggravated form. It caused sleeplessness and mental depression, and for months I was confined to my bed. My constitution wasted and I totally lost my appetite. I had many doctors, but they failed to give me any relief. I was advised to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I was in a terrible condition when I began its use, and almost immediately there was a wonderful change came over me. I regained my appetite, the dizziness in my head departed; it renewed my interest in life and made me feel, in fact, like another person. After taking six bottles I thankfully proclaimed myself strong and well. Those six bottles did for me what hundreds of dollars and numerous physicians failed to do."

Dr. Greene's Nervura is the Remedy that Cures.

Full explanation of these matters given by Dr. Greene on request, without charge. Dr. Greene's address is 35 West 14th Street, New York City. Consultation with him either by call or letter is absolutely free.

New York, Jan. 4.—Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, who is now staying at the Waldorf-Astoria, has received information from secret sources in the Philippines to the effect that Aguinaldo is dead, and that his death occurred no less than six weeks ago. The news has been kept secret by Aguinaldo's followers, it is said, for the purpose of prolonging the rebellion. The occasion was the tenth annual banquet of the Jacksonian club held at the Millard hotel. It brought together a distinguished company of democrats from the city, state and western Iowa.

Mr. Bryan asserted that he was by no means out of politics and that each following campaign would find him arrayed on the side of democracy. "I would rather continue to lose," said he, "than to surrender any of the principles for which we have fought. The platform that was right when written in Kansas City is right now."

Mr. Bryan said the position of the democratic party on the money question was vindicated when the republican party decided that it was necessary to increase the money circulation. He predicted a regeneration of the party and victory in 1904.

WANT ACT REPEALED.

Business Interests Ask That the National Bankruptcy Law Be Wiped Out.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Urgent petitions are pouring in upon members of congress from commercial and mercantile associations demanding the repeal of the national bankruptcy act. Large commercial and jobbing houses in various cities are almost a unit in calling upon congress to wipe from the statute books this measure, which, they claim, places a premium upon fraud and allows unscrupulous debtors to make assignments.

The principal objection to the law is that successful applicants before the bankruptcy court may obtain freedom from debt obligations in one state and still hold valuable assets in another which are not liable to liquidation. There are many other defects in the law complained of by the officials authorized to administer it.

ORPHANS PERISH.

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Twenty-seven children are dead and 25 injured many so badly they cannot recover, as a result of a fire which wrecked the Hubbell orphan asylum in this city shortly after one o'clock Tuesday morning. There were 180 inmates and nearly all had to leap from the windows.

The asylum was a three-story building, located on the corner of Hubbell park and Exchange street. It was a frail structure with wings extending on either side.

The fire was discovered in the main building, the hospital section, of the asylum, at one a. m. by two men who were passing.

The fire originated in the furnace room, and it is believed the explosion was caused by escaping gas.

A Flour War.

Duluth, Minn., Jan. 4.—There is a flour war on in full swing here and all because the new local mill is getting the local trade. The old price, $3.90 per barrel, wholesale, has been cut to $3.50 to retailers, in spite of an advance in wheat that should be reflected by a rise of 25 cents in flour. There is practically thus a cut of 65 cents a barrel, or 32½ cents a hundred, in the price of flour.

Captured by Filipinos.

Manila, Jan. 7.—Private George H. Ray, of the engineer corps, his assistant, Private Lyons, of company K, Fifth infantry, five scouts and two native policemen have been captured, while on their way to Batac, by insurgents. On the receipt of the news an American column was dispatched against the Filipinos, but failed to overtake the party.

Another Boer Victory.

London, Jan. 8.—Gen. Kitchener reports another encounter, in which three British officers and 15 men have been killed and two officers and 20 men wounded. The list of killed includes Lieut. Col. Laing, whose brilliant services during the war make his loss especially grievous.

Are Satisfied.

Havana, Jan. 8.—H. B. Hawley, who has just returned here from the southern part of the island, reports that tranquillity and prosperity exist there, that the people are satisfied with the American government of Cuba, and that no desire is expressed for an experimental change.

Drops Divorce Suit.

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 7.—Mrs. Mary E. Lease has changed her mind about suing her husband, Charles Lease, for divorce. The suit, which was prepared two months ago, was never filed and never will be unless the Leases quarrel again.

INTERSTATE LAW EVADED.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The interstate commerce commission presented its annual report to congress Friday. The report deals at length with railway combinations, tariff rates, pooling, accidents and other matters. The report says there has been no attempt made by managers to conform their practices to the spirit of the law. On this point it says:

"It is evident that railroad managers generally have made no attempt to conform their practices to the spirit of this law. They may keep within its letter and succeed in avoiding its penalties, but they claim that they are virtually compelled to counteract its aim and evade its observance. Thus it happens that some of the most important and useful incidents of railway service are maintained by methods which are believed to be inharmonious with, if not in actual violation of, a federal statute."

During the year 639 complaints of unlawful rates and practices of railroads have been filed with the commission by shippers and shipping organizations. Many of these complaints refer to the increases in classification and consequently in rates, which have been made by carriers throughout the country since the last report was submitted. The others generally allege excessive and preferential rates and discrimination or prejudice in the provision of transportation facilities. These 639 complaints include informal as well as formal proceedings. Eighty-three complaints were satisfied as the result of investigations by the commission and 34 are still pending.

Speaking of combinations, the report says there were absorbed in various ways between July 1, 1899, and November 1, 1900, 25,311 miles of railroad. There are in the whole United States something less than 200,000 miles of railroad; and more than one-eighth of this entire mileage was, within the above period, brought in one way and another under the control of other lines. The report says this tendency to consolidation will in time work for lower rates to the shipper and be an advantage to both the roads and their patrons.

On June 30, 1899, says the report, there were 928,924 persons employed on United States railways. During the year ending that date 2,210 of such employes were killed and 34,923 were injured in railway accidents. The number of killed and injured in coupling and uncoupling cars was somewhat less in that year than in the year preceding. Tables given comparing accident statistics in 1893, 1897, 1898, 1899 and partial statistics for 1900 show on the whole some decrease in the number of accidents in 1899 and 1900. In 1893, in coupling and uncoupling cars, the ratio of killed and injured to the number employed was: Killed, 1 in 349; injured, 1 in 13. In 1899 these ratios were: Killed, 1 in 563, and injured, 1 in 22.

GOOD INDICATIONS.

Signs of Further Progress in Commercial Lines During the New Year.

New York, Jan. 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "In spite of the interruptions of the holiday and of the unusually heavy annual settlements in all lines of business, the new year opens up with indications of further progress. There is no lack of contracts offered at steady prices in the country's leading industry, and in some departments of cotton goods there is a better movement, though speculation has depressed the price of the raw material. Otherwise a decline in wheat is the only noteworthy movement in staples. It is explained by a reduction in the flour output at Minneapolis, some mills shutting down, while the foreign demand at Atlantic seaboard cities is not brisk. The ordinary measures of business continue to make gratifying exhibits. No alteration has yet occurred in quotations of iron and steel products, and this industry is on such a firm foundation that most large concerns have maintained wages at the old scale, instead of making the reductions anticipated.

Bradstreet's says: "Trade has been quiet in all lines, interest being concentrated largely in stock taking and contemplation of 1900 results. Colder weather has proved a slight stimulant to retail trade in winter goods, but stocks in retailers' hands are reported large. Cereals and provisions have advanced this week, while stocks have declined, but the upward movement has been one of those familiar of late, a short swing with small fluctuations, limited by feverish desire to bag profits. Railway earnings hold up well for the season, and the greatest dividend payments on record were reflected in the largest day's bank clearings ever reported at New York. Failures show the usual large crop of small disasters, a feature of the turn of the year, but the results for 1900 as a whole are not all discouraging. December bank clearings hold the record, although the 1900 total as a whole is 8.6 per cent. behind 1899."

Bishop Ninde Dead.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 4.—Bishop W. X. Ninde, aged 68 years, of the Methodist Episcopal church, was found dead in his bed at his home here Thursday. It is thought the cause of death was heart trouble. He attended a funeral Wednesday and caught a cold. The deceased had been a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church since 1884 and was known throughout the United States. Prior to his election as a bishop he was pastor of the Central Methodist Episcopal church here and was at one time a missionary in India.

La Follette Inaugurated.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 8.—The inaugural ceremonies for state officers held here at noon Monday were without display, but were impressive. Lieut. Gov. Stone, Attorney General Hicks and Insurance Commissioner Giljohann, re-elected officers who live out of the city, were met at the depot and escorted to the capitol by the governor's guard. The militia company then escorted Gov.-elect Robert M. La Follette from his residence to the capitol. The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Cassiday.

Leaders to Be Deported.

Manila, Jan. 8.—Gen. MacArthur has ordered the deportation of Gens. Ricarte, Del Pilar, Hizon, Llanera and Santos to the island of Guam. Nine regimental and four subordinate officers, with eight civilians, including Trias, Tecson and Mabini, notorious assistants of the insurrectionists, have also been ordered to be deported. It is Gen. MacArthur's intention to hold most of the active leaders of the rebels in Guam until the resumption of a condition of peace has been declared.

Center of Population.

Washington, Jan. 7.—If a man goes to Columbus, Ind., and walks about seven miles due southeast of that thriving town he will arrive at the spot which is the exact center of the population of the United States. So says the census bureau in an official bulletin.

Wants Part of Idaho.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 8.—Plans are being formed here to secure the annexation of the northern part of Idaho to Washington. State Representative Lorr will bring the matter before the Washington legislature.

WITHOUT THE FRILLS.

An editor who was thoroughly tired of the foolishness that goes on at a church wedding finally got even as follows, says the Atchison Globe man: "They were married in great style. All the elite of the town were invited, principally because it was thought that they would be more likely to bring elegant presents for the bride.

"Of course, the ceremony took place in the church, and the church was most beautifully decorated for the occasion. Potted plants were borrowed here and there, wherever they could be secured without making the owner mad enough to fight.

"The bride's young lady friends had the decorations in charge, and when they were not making nosegays they were chewing the rag about the trouble and work, and wishing that the bride had sense enough to get up her own wedding. The ushers wore claw-hammer coats, parted their hair in the middle and stepped high when they walked down the aisle. The coats were hired from a costumer, and their white gloves came from an undertaker's, who kept them on hand for funeral occasions.

"It was a ring ceremony. The ring was a monstrous gold band borrowed of the village jeweler. People called the bride lovely, but she was so homely that hollyhocks wouldn't grow in the dooryard where she lived. The bridegroom was dressed in conventional black, so called because his father once wore the coat to a democratic convention. The presents were simply elegant. They came from people who couldn't afford to hire the washing done or buy baker's bread. Then after a 'sumptuous wedding supper' the bride and groom went to St. Louis on their wedding tour, where they spent more money in 24 hours than both of them can earn in a month."

FOUR DOCTORS FAILED.

A Michigan Lady's Battle with Disease and How It Was Won.

Flushing, Mich., Jan. 7, 1901 (Special).—One of the most active workers in the cause of Temperance and Social Reform in Michigan is Mrs. P. A. Passmore of this place. She is a prominent and very enthusiastic W. C. T. U. woman, and one who never loses an opportunity to strike a blow against the demon of Intemperance. Mrs. Passmore has suffered much bodily pain during the last three years through Kidney and Bladder Trouble. At times the pain was almost unbearable, and the good lady was very much distressed. She tried physician after physician, and each in turn failed to relieve her, let alone effect a cure. Home remedies suggested by anxious friends were applied, but all to no purpose. At last some one spoke of Dodd's Kidney Pills as a great Remedy for all Kidney and Bladder Diseases, and Mrs. Passmore decided to try them. She did, and is now a well woman. She has given the following statement for publication:

At different times in the past three years, I have suffered severely with Kidney and Bladder Trouble, and after trying four of the best physicians I could hear of, two of them living in the State of New York, I found myself no better. I took any amount of home remedies suggested by kind friends, with little or no relief from anything. I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Less than one box has done me more good than all the other treatments combined. I am still using them, and can say from experience that they are an excellent Remedy for Kidney and Bladder Trouble. I would heartily recommend them to all those suffering from these ills in like manner.

MRS. P. A. PASSMORE.
Flushing, Mich.

When physicians and all other methods of treatment have failed, try Dodd's Kidney Pills. What they did for Mrs. Passmore, they will do for any one similarly afflicted.

WHEELER WAS TOO POLITE.

Embarrassing Dilemma in Which "Fighting Joe" Lately Found Himself.

At Washington the other day it was raining hard, and the street cars were crowded with passengers more or less bedraggled. Among them was Gen. Joe Wheeler. Next to him was a woman wearing a mackintosh, who rose to get off at Fourteenth and F streets. Gen. Wheeler noticed an umbrella leaning against the car seat.

He grabbed the umbrella, ran after the woman, caught her at the door and said: "Pardon me, madam, but you left your umbrella."

The woman looked puzzled, but took the umbrella. Gen. Wheeler resumed his seat. Then a woman on the other side of him gave a little scream and said: "Why, you nasty little man, you gave that woman my umbrella." Then she appealed to the conductor.

Gen. Wheeler apologized, but the woman said: "Now you just get right off the car and get it for me or I'll notify the police."

Meekly the veteran of three wars tumbled off into the rain and ran after the woman with the mackintosh. He made a hurried explanation, got the umbrella and rushed back to the waiting car.

As he handed it back to its owner he said: "I trust you will pardon me, madam. I assure you it was all a mistake."

The woman glared at him. "I don't know about that," she sniffed. "I don't believe you are any better than you ought to be."

Sold by all grocers.

Trick of the Trade.

"I—I think I would like to look at a diamond ring," said the young man as the jeweler came forward.

"Exactly, sir. A diamond ring for a lady?"

"Yes."

"A young lady?"

"Yes."

"A young lady to whom you are engaged?"

"What's the difference whether I'm engaged to her or not?" asked the customer, with considerable tartness.

"I probably do."

"Very well. We have diamond rings for $25 and diamond rings for $50, $75 and $100. If not actually engaged to the girl, take a $25 ring, and when she brings it in here to find out the cost we'll lie $50 worth for your benefit. If really engaged, take a higher price, and you can pawn it for two-thirds of its value after marriage. Now, then, make your selection."—Washington Post.

Grade Doses by Rank.

One Marshal Le Febvre fell ill of an ague, and his servant, an old soldier, caught the malady at the same time. The servant was quickly cured, but the fever clung to the marshal until it occurred to his energetic duchess that the doctor had blundered by giving the marshal the same doses as to a private soldier. She rapidly counted upon her fingers the different rings of the military ladder. "Here, drink this; this is suited to your grade," she said, putting a tumbler to her husband's lips. And the duke, having swallowed a dozen doses at one gulp, was soon on his legs again. "You've a great deal to learn, my boy," was the lady's subsequent remark to the astonished doctor.—Chicago Chronicle.

PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR PRAISES PE-RU-NA.

First Presbyterian Church of Greensboro, Ga., and Its Pastor and Elder.

THE day was when men of prominence hesitated to give their testimonials to proprietary medicines for publication. This remains true to-day of most proprietary medicines. But Peruna has become so justly famous, its merits are known to so many people of high and low stations, that no one hesitates to see his name in print recommending Peruna.

The highest men in our nation have given Peruna a strong endorsement. Men representing all classes and stations are equally represented.

A dignified representative of the Presbyterian church in the person of Rev. E. G. Smith does not hesitate to state publicly that he has used Peruna in his family and found it cured when other remedies failed. In this statement the Rev. Smith is supported by an elder in his church.

Rev. E. G. Smith, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Greensboro, Ga., writes:

"Having used Peruna in my family for some time it gives me pleasure to testify to its true worth. My little boy seven years of age had been suffering for some time with catarrh of the lower bowels. Other remedies had failed, but after taking two bottles of Peruna the trouble almost entirely disappeared. For this special malady I consider it well nigh a specific. As a tonic for weak and worn out people it has few or no equals."—Rev. E. G. Smith.

Mr. M. J. Rossman, a prominent merchant of Greensboro, Ga., and an elder in the Presbyterian church of that place, has used Peruna, and in a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, writes as follows:

"For a long time I was troubled with catarrh of the kidneys and tried many remedies, all of which gave me no relief. Peruna was recommended to me by several friends, and after using a few bottles I am pleased to say that the long looked for relief was found and I am now enjoying better health than I have for years, and can heartily recommend Peruna to all similarly afflicted. It is certainly a grand medicine."—M. J. Rossman.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

BUFFALO GAZETTE

DELANO, FRIDAY, Jan. 11, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—Fairday tomorrow.

—Tom Wolfenden has a new horse

—About three inches of snow fell on Wednesday night, and sleighing is now excellent.

—J. C Mc Donald is again at work in his shop, after his summer vacation on the G N.

—Quarantine at Smith Lake has been raised, and people are permitted once more, to do business with the out side world.

—The new Catholic Church to be built in the near future, in Delano will, doubtless be the finest, and the most costly building in the village, if not in the county.

—We are thankful to Earl Hoisington for a copy of the Oregonian, published at Portland Also to some kind friend for a couple of Hutchinson, Minn. papers.

—A good, old fashioned spell down, for our citizens, would be an interesting and profitable entertainment. Let some one start the project, and see what fun we would have.

—Two inches more snow, with the weather we have had this week, would make the finest of sleighing. As it is, there are a good many spots in the roads that are nearly bare,

—We received this week a fine Practical Specimen Book, and a book of cuts from our type house. We can now supply customers with anything in our line up to date on short notice.

—A very interesting letter appears in this week's GAZETTE from John J Catlin, who has been on a trip to Chicago. John evidently observes what is about him when he travels, from the tone of the letter.

—The principal trade for farmers this winter seems to be in stock and milk. The creamery makes a steady sale for milk, and cattle and hogs are being shipped every week in large numbers.

—Prosperity seems to have struck the Eagle Printing Company, and this week, in which the new Governor is inaugurated, finds most of the force out of a job for several days. Nothing like a good rest occasionally; except plenty to work at.

—John Mossberg of Willmar, who was braking on the G. N. fell between cars one day this week, and lost one foot and part of the other and received other injuries. At last accounts his condition was favorable for recovery. His sisters visited friends here last summer, and have sympathy in their brother's affliction.

—Watertown people are trying again to have the Delano road straightened, by changing it from the big hills to near the river bank as it comes out of Watertown. This would be a big improvement and make the time required for driving between the two villages several minutes less.

—During the year ending Nov. 31, 1900, the Delano Creamery Association took in 3,965,320 lbs of milk; and made 182,230 lbs of butter which netted $38,-218.07. Wm Zeibarth headed the list of large amounts with 73,931 lbs of milk (netting $591.73). John Muckenhirn, Jr. came in 2nd best with 60,345 lbs of milk, Frank Schaust following with close figures (59186) taking 3rd place.

—An orphan asylum at Rochester, N. Y. burned, last Tuesday, causing the death of 20 or 30 little people who were unable to get out. A boiler explosion blocked the way of escape for some of them. Our school house has but one place to get out and it has a boiler in the basement. If the boiler should explode and block the door or fill the hall way with steam and smoke how would the little fellows get out? There should be a back door made at once.

—Many of our modern graduates of High schools and other institutions of learning seem not to have time to spell or do not know how. This is one reason for the advocates of reformed spelling. They abbreviate, or leave out, or put in letters, and destroy the appearance, and sound of the word until there is no getting at the derivation, or meaning. More attention should be given to proper spelling Some teachers even, advocate making no deduction on account of bad spelling in examinations. This places spelling below where it should be, and it tends to produce in the minds of pupils the idea that there is no use to fool away time learning to spell A big mistake, found out later on, when the graduate wishes to write to friends or possibly for the press. Children should while young be learned to spell

Chicago, Ill. Jan. 5.—1901.

Dear father: I have put in another day in the great city of Chicago, and have been finding out that it is a good sized berg. Was over town only two hours today from 12 until 2 p. m. Visited the Dominion Co. and think everything O K. Have been up to the highest buildings I could find, Masonic temple, Great Northern building, Fisher building etc, also took in the Monadnock block, and Seigel Cooper's big store. You could put Olesson's and Donaldson's whole stores on one floor of it.

* * *

Saw the P. & S. school but hadn't had time to visit it. Visited Lincoln Park yesterday afternoon: may go and hunt up Bean's tomorrow.

Saw Ferris wheel near Lincoln Park. Saw statues of Lincoln, Grant, Franklin, and a couple of Indians. Was on the high bridge you spoke of. Could see several light houses, and one boat so far out I could hardly see it. but could see the smoke. Visited the animals, and went through hot houses. They are surely fine banana trees, date, palms, rubber trees, and in fact most any kind of a plant or flower you could think of and any amount you would never think of.

Got the best view of the lake from Great Northern buuilding. Went up as nigh as I could get in it and looked out through an open window. The lake is not frozen except for a few hundred feet or so near shore, and that is not very thick. I must have been able to see 20 miles out over the lake. From about a third of the way out to the horizon it was a beautiful blue color in appearance. Nearer the shore it had the characteristic no color at all, color, of any old lake.

Saw a number of three mast ships at anchor in the river: also one good sized steam vessel, probably a freight vessel, should judge the top of the bow was 18 or 20 feet above the water.

A fellow has to make the street car on the jump or he usually misses it. Haven't had one stop for me to get on yet, and only a couple stop for me to get off, and was when a number wanted to get off at the same place. Saw an old woman at least 60 years old board one like a brakeman this noon. I made the front and looked around in time to see her board the hind end in better shape than I did. I thought sure I was going to have a chance to get on once yesterday afternoon without raising a sweat; I was standing on the corner with three or four women waiting, one with a little boy, but no sir, when the car got pretty close I saw the women pick the kid up and get ready, so I buttoned my coat up and gritted my teeth and caught the front end all right but the women couldn't make it, so took the next car which was about half a block behind, and stopped, I think somebody had to get off or they never would have stopped.

The cars are fixed so they are easy to jump on, and are open at both ends, and have no wire floor like the ones in Minneapolis.

Going from Lincoln Park over town, I went through a tunnel for a couple or several blocks. Traffic is so thick at that point that there is a double line of cable cars under ground, three lines on the street and a double elevated road over this.

The main part of town strikes me as being worse than a row of Gaurantee Loans could make Minneapolis. While the Gaurantee Loan is only 13 stories high there are numbers here that go 20 and some over; take the Masonic temple for instance over 350 feet above street level. That would make over 20 15 foot ceilings. It is something like looking down out of a baloon to get up there and look down. Take it all through its a good sized town, and the people as a general rule don't look necessarily dangerous; havn't seen anybody murdered yet, and nobody has tried to rob me or dome the greengoods or confidence act on me yet, so can't run down their morals any yet. Took particular occasion to notice the women's feet and can't say that I notice any appreciable difference in size from females of other localities. See a great many automobiles, cabs, carriages and hotel hacks, but have only seen 3 or 4 bicycles since I came. A man that could ride one in the main part of town could get a life job in a dime musem.

Maple Plain.

We now write 1901, first year of the new century. All of the important events of the past century are recorded in history. Such as wars, pestilence, famine, earthquakes, etc.

Since the holidays business is not quite so active, but we expect it will improve as the days lengthen, and as Congress and our State legislature progress with their work.

Frank Shrewsbury, who is running a creamery at Long Lake, was up home yesterday, Frank is still in politics.

One night this week Will Peterson's house three miles south of Maple Plain was consumed by fire. Partially insured.

Our smallpox patients are able to be out. But they jumped the quarantine before they were ordered to.

At the beginning of this year, and century, let us give thanks for all we have, and all we are: for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. But to whom shall we give thanks for bloody wars; for waist of life and property; for dispoiling our country and filling a land like ours full of heart aches and tears?

We read recently that 1500 dead soldiers had been brought home from the Philippine Islands. This is the heritage we are to receive from a war waged for conquest, and subjugation. The government paid large sums of money to transportation companies, for carrying soldiers out to the Philippines, and now the government will pay a large amount of money for bringing their dead bodies back to the land of their birth or adoption. To one who does not believe in war unless forced upon us, this seems like a sacrifice of life uncalled for.

The head officers of this country now recommend furnishing the Filipinos with money as a medium of exchange. It is to be a Mixican silver dollar containing 52 cts worth of silver or a dollar fashioned after our old trade dollar and worth 45 cts. And yet they call it a dollar, after all they have said against silver. They called it "spurious", "pot metal", "old scrap iron", "old spoons, knives and forks", etc. Why not give them the single gold standard? What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Aguinaldo is again reported dead. This makes about the 40th time he has died since the beginning of the war. Surely the Devil must have a hard grudge against him. But no doubt Aguinaldo has telephone connection with the outside world. Knute Nelson said in a speech at Buffalo, just before election that Aguinaldo was the Democrats' George Washington. What authority he had for making such a statement we could not undergtand. We have no King but Caesar.

Some one wants to know if Bryan will put Aguinaldo on his subscription list. Yes he might, and also the Sultan of Sulo, including his plural wives and concubines, and under the protection of the flag and draw a stipend from the United States Treasury. No doubt Bryan's paper would be profitable reading for them.

AT THE COUNTY SEAT.

The editors of the county except Carlson, Saylor and Shmidt visited Buffalo to attend the meeting of the Wright County Newspaper Society. Bro. Saterlee, Secretary left the books and took first train for home. Those present after considerable preliminary exercises repaired to the jury room at the Court House, where Janitor Enhauser warmed things up for them The meeting was called to order and Mr. Charles elected Secretary, protem. On reading the minutes of last meeting, it was learned that the business meeting was to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January of each year, and, as nothing appeared in the minutes about a meeting on Monday, the members agreed to wait till Tuesday, to hold a meeting. Several went home.

The new officers were installed Monday. They looked more pleased with life generally, than did the outgoing officials. To John Nugent there seemed no difference. Attorney Pidgeon looked lonesome like. Judge Wooley is not feeling at all well and expects to look up a home for the present in a warmer climate. Judge Cochrane and his son were even more busy than when helping the Clerk of Court Charley Vorse is helping Jim Erickson decide what papers have to bear the official seal of the Clerk of Court. The new clerk insisting that the seal is to use, and it don't hurt to put it on all papers filed in the office. County Commissioners Bugbee and Reems were on hand. Auditor Reinmuth looks quite natural, a little the worse for wear perhaps, Henry Brasie is assisting him. Hudek and Junken take care of the money. Hafften is at the old stand; so is Joe Enhauser.

The new big telephone poles and wires give the main streets of Buffalo something of the appearance of a young Chicago, while the music of the wires reminds one of a swarm of bees overhead.

County Chairman Carpenter seems quite pleased since election, while Democratic Chairman Shannon, is not done yet, figuring up just how they did it. He claims abundant evidence of money making a change in votes. Such cases should be investigated and the officer not honestly elected should be made to give place to the one whose votes were honestly and honorably secured.

The county officers don't seem to be inclined to listen to everybody's tales of woe over the telephone and have concluded to let the Janitor attend to that part of the business.

The St. Paul Pioneer Press says that the well known Attorney Frank M. Nye has exprienced a change of heart and will hereafter devote a considerable portion of his time and energy to spreading the gospel. In this Mr. Nye follows in the footsteps of his illustrious professional brother, John W. Arctander, who a couple of years ago had a similar "experience" and has since been doing a great deal of preaching. Well, a little more religion wouldn't be a bad thing for the bar.—Minnesota Mascot.

The Iri R. Hicks 1901 Almanac

Whatever may be said of the scientific causes upon which the Rev. Iri R Hicks bases his yearly forecasts of strom and weather, it is a remarkable fact that specific warnings of every great storm, flood, cold wave and drouth, have been plainly printed in his famous Almanac for many years The latest startling proof of this fact was the destruction of Galveston, Texas, on the very day named by Prof Hicks in his 1900 Almanac, as one of disaster by storm along the gulf coasts. The 1901 Almanac, by far the finest, most complete and beautiful yet published, is now ready. This remarkable book of near two hundred pages, splendidly illustrated with charts and half-ton engravings, goes as a premium to every subscriber who pays one dollar a year for Hicks' journal, WORD AND WORKS. The Almanac alone is sent prepaid for only 25c

THE BOY WHO LIVES NEXT DOOR

The boy who lives next door
Has freckles on his face;
His ears are red and hang
Away out into space.
And when I hear a dog ki-yi
And see it flee in terror, I
Can quickly guess the cause—
'Tis merely that one more
Poor little victim knows
A boy resides next door!

He runs across the lawn
I've nursed with jealous care,
And, in the summer time,
Knocks down the flowers there!
And every week or so
A pebble finds its way
Against a light of glass
For which I have to pay!

He has no teeth in front,
His shirts are cracked and brown,
Twice he has nearly burned
Our summer kitchen down!
He calls to the people, "Hay! Watch out!"
And when they jump he whoops about—
I used to think if God
Would take him from below
Up to the sky I'd try
To bravely bear the blow!

The little child whose love
Is to me, one day
Was stricken suddenly—
When I was far away—
The boy who lives next door forgot
To yell around, but ran and brought
The doctor to the bed,
And when I came, at last
Shrank from me with a look
Of pity as I passed!

The boy who lives next door
Brought in his tops and gun,
And pocket's full of trash
To cheer our little one:
He played beside my darling's bed,
Turned cart wheels and stood on his head,
And God was good to me—
Let's wait a while before
We utterly condemn
The boy who lives next door."

—S. E. KAISER, in Chicago Times-Herald.

ENGLAND is hurrying to raise 5000 troops for South Africa. From all accounts they will need more than that to quiet the Boers.

THE University of Minnesota has a professor Peter A. Carcapine, organizing classes in boxing and fencing. Just before coming to Minneapolis he was athletic trainer at West Point military academy. Rather a poor recommend at present if he had anything to do with the hazers.

SEVERAL states have already elected United States Senators among them Massachusetts sends George F. Hoar; Maine, William P. Frye; Montana. W. A. Clark; Colorado, Thomas M. Patterson; Pennsylvana, M.S. Quay; South Carolina, B. R. Tillman; Tennessee, E. W. Carmack; New Hapshire, Henry E. Burnham.

Of The War in China.

A large audience assembled in Pilgrim Congregational Church in Dorchester, Sunday morning, to hear Rev. Charles E. Ewing, a returned missionary, speak upon the recent war in China and its causes.

From his long residence as a mission ary, Mr. Ewing has found the Chinese to be a peace loving, interesting, respective and almost child-like in their love of country, deeply sympathetic, patriotic and as a class, to be depended upon as regards honesty.—Boston Evening Transcript, Dec. 10.

Ministers And War.

We see that Mr. E. L. Godkin, the eminent editor, says in the New York Evening Post, that ministers should not pray for "the success of our arms,' etc., etc.

He thinks they might as well approached the throne of grace "with a petition that the enemy might have his optic nerve cut by a ball; that he might have his pelvis smashed; that he might be disemboweled; that he might lose one or two of his legs; that he might lie on the field 36 hours; mortally wounded; that he might die of enteric fever; that his provisions and water might give out; that his house might be burned and his family left roofless and straving. In this way the real nature of the war would be laid before the public carrying it on, and something would be done to disabuse the minds of the young men and their parents of the idea that war is simply a kind of diversion, of the nature of a football game, which will elevate their character, improve their health and increase their business.—Our Dumb Animals.

Hazing at West Point.

At the West Point investigation of the hazing of Cadet Oscar L. Booz, causing his death, we see in our evening paper of Dec. 20th that Cadet Herbert L. Krumm, of Ohio, testified that, among other things, he was compelled to eat eighty five prunes at one sitting.

If we were in charge of that institution we think we would have given every member of that hazing party his choice between expulsion and criminal prosecution or eating eighty five prunes at one sitting or having twenty lashes laid on his bare back. We want in some of our institutions of learning a little more of the spirit of Frederick the Great, who, when two of his young officers wanted to fight a duel, gave premission, but ordered a gallows to be erected on the duelling ground and a corporal's guard stationed there to immediately hang whoever survived the duel. GEO. T. ANGELL,

Agonchilo Revolts.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A serious disagreement has arisen between the Filipino representatives in Europe. Agoncillo, whom Aguinaldo ordered to Hongkong to direct the operations of the junta there, has revolted and refuses to go to Hongkong or give up his post in Paris to Dr. Apaciblo. The latter Aguinaldo ordered to go to Canada from Hongkong to watch the Unites States elections. He was then ordered to replace Agoncillo. The disputants have both cabled Aguinaldo and are waiting for his reply.

Filipinos Dread Deportations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The dispatches from Manila tell of the deporation from that island to Guam of several insurgent generals and leaders of the insurgents. The Filipinos dread exile more than imprisonment or even death. It is said that the natives are so attached to their land that emigration is unknown. Those familiar with the native character are confident that it will be more effectual than any other form of punishment, and when the leaders learn that they will be sent away they will be more ready to surrender and recognize American authority than when threatened with the ordinary punishment.—Times.

"List From The Tomb."

The Grover Cleveland end of the Republican trusts, combines and money syndicates comes forth to attempt to destroy the reform forces that snp ported that able, incorruptible and heroic leader, W. J. Bryan.

Grover, the fat, comes forth from the tomb and, with brazen front, insults the democacy, he so wickedly, betrayed, by announcing that—

"In 1900 the lessons of 1896 were contemptuously rejected and every hope of Democratic success was wil fully cast aside. Again our long suffering rank and file, whose loyalty and obedience deserved better things, were sacrificed in a cause theirs only, in name; and again it was demonstrated, but more clearly than ever before, that the only forces that can win Democratic success are adherance to the recognized Democratic principals and reliance upon Democratic counsels and leadership."

How strangely infatuated this man must be! Elected as a Democrat by an overwhelming majority, on certain issues, he violated every pledge, betraved every trust, and bankrupt the nation and its people by turning the national treasury over to money gamblers and bond speculators.

With millions of "coin" in the treasury, enough to pay every demand, Grover Cleveland, in violation of law, and of his own motion, without the consent of congress, plunged the nation into millions of bonded indebtedness.

All the great industries were paralyzed; the working man became a beggar; hundreds of thousands lost their all. And this is the man to now come forward, at the instigation of concentrated greed, to denounce such men as Bryan who have bravely marshaled the democracy and the country against the encroachments of the trusts and combines.

Over 6,000,000, voters have stood shoulder to shoulder in support of Mr. Bryan and the principles he stands for, and we venture that not one-sixth of that number have any use for Grover Cleveland's advice today.

No other man of all the reform forces of this country to-day could command the confidence and the votes of the masses as Bryan can. Not that there are not other men of equal ability and character, but there is none other upon whom the masses place such implicit confidence.

They believe him to be true.

They know him to be courageous.

They love him for the enemies he has made.—Waseca Herald.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11, 1901

Mr. McKinley has the grip, and if he is half as badly frightened as the leaders of his party are he is not to be envied. It isn't Mr. McKinley's present condition that has frightened the republicans, but the possibilities it calls to their minds. When Teddy was given the second place on the ticket it was not with any idea that he would ever be President. That is why even Mr. McKinley's slight illness alarms them. They know the grip is treacherous.

Some of the Senators worked themselves up into quite an angry mood during the debate on the "canteen" amendment of the Army bill which has been before the Senate all the week, and unparliamentary language has several times been used. It is a tempest in a teapot, which has been encouraged because the men responsible for the bill would rather have the "canteen" than the big standing army talked about. The Senate voted against the "canteen."

The $60,000,000 River and Harbor bill was taken up by the House and after a comparatively short debate passed without serious opposition. The "pork" was well distributed.

Representative Otey, of Va., amused the House and at the same time spoke plain truths concerning the objects aimed at by the Olmsted and Scatuck resolutions for investigations of the suppression of suffrage in the South. He said: The logical end of all such agitations is negro domination in the South. It means the reinstallation of carpet bagger agents in the demon of darkness and corruption. It means the coming of a buzzard gluttoned with carrion. It means the decendants of those who thirty five years ago, fastened their talons in the prostrate body of the South, like those pitiless birds who fed upon the vitals of Prometheus when his helpless form was chained to a rock. Yes, it means the return of those buzzards, gluttoned with carrion that are today following the calling of their diabolical daddies in Cuba, the Phillipine Islands, and in Porto Rico who exude such an odor that a mosquito shuns them Yes, they are so mean that the yellow fever germs die in their presence. They are so loathsome that the small pox microbes fly from them, and if a snake bite one of them it kills the snake. As for the Shattuck resolution, it seems that neither that nor the Olmsted resolution will pass. They will not pass until the fish-worm swallows the whale, not until the snail outruns the hare, not until Dutchmen stop drinking beer, and not until the billy goat butts from the rear."

Representative Champ Clark thus paid his respects to the I-am-better-than-thou element: "Yes, the mugwumps, or jugwumps as Sam Jones calls them, these fine-haired people who are too good to discharge their political duties. They stay at home in idleness and the hoodlum discharges not only his own political duty, but that of the fine-haired citizen."

Senator Morgan's credentials for his fifth consecutive term were filed by Senator Pettus. Senator Morgan is one of the ablest men of a body that has many able members, and one of the reasons for his prominence was well stated by the late Senator Davis when he said of Senator Morgan in a debate: "His memory and capacity to assimilate and store away all subjects are marvelous to contemplate."

Solicitor General Richards made an open slur at ex-President Harrison, in his argument before the Supreme Court this week on the cases involving the constitutionality of Mr McKinley's Colonial policy, that disgusted many persons. Mr. Harrison is a private citizen who has held the highest position within the gift of American people, and is entitled to respect, and it certainly was not respectful for Mr. Richards to refer to Mr. Harrison's recently expressed opinion in opposition to the McKinley policy in such language as "a distinguished lawyer and statesman affects to believe" etc. It was a gratuitous insult to Mr. Harrison, which shows how resentful the McKinleyites are toward members of their own party who dare to oppose their imperial policy. It is not probable that Mr. Richards acted without the approval of his superiors in office, Attorney General Griggs and Mr. McKinley.

By the way, speaking of the Supreme Court, the nomination of "Dick" Harlan, a son of Justice Harlin, who has been mentioned as entertaining doubts of the constitutionality of the McKinley colonial policy, if not actually believing it to be unconstitutional, to an important judicial position in Porto Rico, which is now before the Senate, has caused much talk, especially in view of the fact that McKinley refused to give "Dick" Harlan a judicial position in the District of Columbia, for which he was applicant. Mr. McKinley may not have made this appointment to make sure of the vote of Justice Harlan on the pending cases, but the fact that it has been made at this time has naturally bred gossip along that line. This isn't a pleasant sort of suspicion to entertain, but—

The House by a majority of 63 knocked out the committee Reapportionment bill and passed the Burleigh bill which adds 29 members to the House making the total membership after March 3, 1903, 386, the additional members being apportioned to 18 states, on a ratio of 194,182 of population for each Representative

THE KISS MUST GO.

Demorest Branch of the Organization at New York Declares That Young Women Kiss in Hope of Securing Husbands.

Promiscuous osculation is under the ban. The kissing habit must cease. The Demorest branch of the W. C. T. U. at New York has declared against it. The organization admits of no compromise. It does not urge temperance. It preaches prohibition, according to its principle. The kiss is an intoxicant, therefore the kiss, like the saloon, must go.

This decision was arrived at the other afternoon at the regular meeting of the Demorest unionites at the home of Mrs. Shirley, 448 West Twenty-third street. The matter came up in connection with the vice crusade, when Dr. Anna Hatfield interrupted a torrent of eloquence apropos of the saloon as the source of all evil to prove that the nectar quaffed from red lips was more fruitful of consequences than any alcoholic beverage ever distilled.

"I think kissing is the worst thing a young woman can do," said the doctor, "and the amount of bugging and kissing that some girls—of our best families, too—submit to is literally a menace to our morality. I know a young man well who declares that he rarely leaves a girl without kissing her good-night. He says that they not only eagerly accede to his request but that several have insisted upon being kissed.

"I have carefully inquired into the matter, and I find many young women imagine this is the way to get husbands. It is reprehensible. These are the supposedly well-brought-up daughters of rich parents. The girls must be taught that it is wrong, not only to kiss a stranger, but to kiss the men they are engaged to. Too great care cannot be taken."

"I should suggest that an excellent and efficient way to stop the impropriety," said Miss Thomas, "would be to instruct the young men in the evils of kissing."

"But they like it," said one woman, impetuously.

WEST VIRGINIA'S OIL QUEEN.

West Virginia developments of the last few weeks have produced what the operators are pleased to call an "oil queen." She is Mrs. Mary Ihrig, formerly of Sisterville, now living in the Tyler county field, where her venturesome spirit and good luck netted her an oil income that has been averaging about $7,000 a week for a month. Mrs. Ihrig was formerly engaged in the shoe business at Sisterville, and it was while living in that busy town, of oil and oil machinations that she developed the speculative fever.

Her shoe business was not successful, and she began to dabble in oil. Several small ventures are said to have netted her enough to make her confident and willing to undertake the development of the most uncertain "wildcat" territory in the state. She secured control of new territory in the upper end of Tyler county and went into the field for active operations. Several months ago she contracted for the drilling of a well on her land. A series of mishaps prevented the completion of the job until December 4, when the drill touched a pocket of oil, and a small gusher resulted. The flow was pretty heavy at first, but has since settled down to about 250 barrels a day, with every prospect that the output will be maintained. The strike is the opening wedge in territory that will prove to be valuable.

Mrs. Ihrig is preparing to put down other wells just as soon as rigging can be hauled to her property. The woman speculator has fixed upon several spots upon which her agents will begin drilling as soon as possible. She has purchased a handsome home at Parkersburg and will direct her new interests from that place.

RICH GIFTS FOR EMPLOYES.

R. E. Gardner, a St. Louis Merchant, Distributes $10,000 Among the Men.

Russell E. Gardner, a manufacturer of St. Louis, worth $250,000, made his employes a handsome cash Christmas present of $10,000. During the year his concern had earned that amount more than he anticipated. Not considering that he needed it in his business or for his personal wants, he determined to give to those who had assisted in making the money. It was prorated in proportion to the term of service and the degree of efficiency among the employes.

Gardner says that any man can earn enough money by the time he is 35 years old to keep him in comfort for the remainder of his days. He scorns great wealth, as he says it makes a man a slave to work when he should be enjoying what he has accumulated. He built his fortune in 14 years and says that money-making is the easiest thing in the world.

SCHOOL FOR POOR CHILDREN.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., son of the president of the Standard Oil company, has subscribed $250,000 for the founding of an institution of learning for poor boys and girls. The school is now in course of erection in Tenth avenue, between Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth streets, and will be completed and ready for occupancy by March 1 next. Not until the other day, when the announcement was made in a report of the 61 Baptist churches in New York was it generally known that young Mr. Rockefeller was building the big structure for a school and that it was to be supported by him.

The erection of the institution is in charge of C. M. Hill, whose knowledge of the sort of learning that will best benefit children of the poor has led Mr. Rockefeller to turn over the entire management to him. Mr. Hill will be assisted in his work by the Baptist ministers of New York. In connection with the school there will also be a relief station, where poor persons will be provided for.

The school is to be run on the same lines as Cooper union, except that Mr. Rockefeller plans to make it more of a school for the poorest of the poor. Others who want learning will be taught, but the school is primarily intended as a school for the poor. Scientific studies, it is expected, will be subordinated, though science will be taught in some of the higher grades.

The school will have night and day sessions. Not one cent will be charged the pupils. It is expected that it will be kept open during the summer months. Lectures by interesting speakers are expected to be one of the features of the school.

LEPROSY REPORT A SURPRISE

An appended report to Gen. MacArthur's review of the civil affairs of the Philippines for the last fiscal year gives some rather startling facts regarding the introduction and prevalence of leprosy in the islands.

According to the estimates of the Franciscan fathers, says Maj. Guy L. Edie, the writer of the report, there are no less than 30,000 lepers in the archipelago, the major portion of these being in the Viscayas.

Leprosy was introduced in 1653, when the emperor of Japan sent a ship with 156 lepers on board to the Philippines as a present to be cared for by the Catholic priests. Thus the seed was planted, and as no practical methods ever were adopted to eradicate the disease or prevent its spread, it has taken firm root. A house to house inspection begun last January found more than 100 lepers concealed in dwellings. These were sent to San Lazaro hospital in Manila, but many others escaped into the surrounding country. A commission is now engaged in the work of selecting a suitable island or islands for the purpose of isolating all the lepers in the archipelago.

WANT NEGROES IN HAWAII.

Colored Preacher Just Returned Says the Islands Are Suited for His Race.

Rev. John Henry Cook, a colored preacher of Mississippi, who recently went to Hawaii to inspect the sugar plantations and the opportunities they offered to negro laborers, has returned to San Francisco by the Zealandie. He says he is much pleased with the outlook, and the companion who went with him remained at Kohala and began work on a plantation. Cook says he will advise the people of his race to emigrate to Hawaii, and he will accompany them. He says the advantages that Hawaii offers over any of the southern states are higher wages, shorter hours of labor and no extremes of heat and cold. In addition he says the quarters provided free by plantations are better on the average than the negroes are able to provide for themselves in Mississippi. Then there are the free medical attendance and other advantages, which make the real wages much larger than the apparent ones. There is a good system of free schools and an absence of race antagonism. He is enthusiastic regarding the outlook for the negro in Hawaii.

WINS ON APPEAL.

Miss Smith, Victim of the Peking Siege, Gets Her Baggage Restored.

Assistant Secretary Spaulding has taken favorable action on the appeal of Miss Condit Smith from the action of the customs authorities at New York in seizing her trunks on her arrival from China.

It appears that Miss Condit Smith was at Peking at the time of the siege, a guest of the minister of the United States. Her entire wardrobe, with the exception of the clothes she wore, was either destroyed or used to clothe others who had lost everything. The clothing contained in the two trunks brought by her to New York are duplicates both in number and value of the clothing purchased abroad for the necessities of her journey and to replace that which she lost or charitably donated during the siege. As she was a guest of the minister and a member of his household during the siege the privilege of free entry of personal effects accorded to the immediate members of the family of a United States minister is accorded to her.

The secret of American industrial success is the superior skill and productive energy of the American working men and women. When these qualities are combined with inventiveness and the best mechanical appliances the economic development of the United States is no longer surprising.

Gen. John G. Parke, who died in Washington the other day, was the last officer to command the army of the Potomac. Meade was spending a few days with Grant at City Point, when Kyd Douglas, on the morning of the 26th of May, broke through the federal line, of which Parke thus had to take command. The battle of Fort Steadman, one of the most brilliant of the war, was also fought under him.

Beer-poisoning at Manchester, England, a few weeks ago, resulted in the death of 67 people. Examination traced these deaths to the use of pure sulphuric acid in making glucose. The laws are not half severe enough upon such offenders.

A cold wave has struck Europe, and in France, Germany, Austria and even Italy blizzards have made things unpleasant for people entirely unused to such things. Europe has had more severe winter weather during the last few years than in many decades before, while in this country the winters have been generally milder. It looks to observers as though the earth had become somewhat twisted on its axis and that the climate had also become twisted. That is a popular theory, at any rate, and it is by no means an unreasonable one.

While frequent appeals are being made in the United States for the preservation of forest lands other countries are giving the timber question serious attention. M. Melard, chief of the French forestry bureau, points out in a report that the consumption of timber in the world is greater than the production of the accessible forests, with the obvious result that the governments must soon take measures to preserve their timber lands. Sweden, Norway, Russia, the United States and Canada are beginning to feel the scarcity.

Theodore Cooksey Ward, aged 108 years, who resides with his son and daughters on a farm at Charlotte Hall, in St. Mary's county, Md., and who holds the distinction of being the oldest white man in the state, in speaking of the century that has just closed, said: "Well, it was a wonderful age, but with all the marvelous inventions I do not think the human race is any better off than it was 100 years ago. Too much greed for wealth these days, and people are not as honest as they used to be, and more confidence could be placed in them.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Declared Unconstitutional.

The sugar bounty law has been declared unconstitutional by Attorney-Gen Douglas. He handed down an opinion sustaining Auditor Dunn in his refusal to pay over the state's money. The decision is of far-reaching importance, involving not only the question of daying the bounty claimed by the Minnesota Sugar company, but the matter of encouraging the sugar beet industry in this state.

The sugar company has for some time been clamoring for a bounty of $19,000 under the legislative act which gives a bounty of 1 cent a pound, the purpose being to foster the industry is now in this, as in a good many other northwestern states, and farmers in every county are interested.

Some time ago the question of the legality of a bounty law arose in the state of Michigan, and there the attorney general decided against it. The decision called the attention of State Auditor Dunn and other state officials to the law in this state. The auditor decided not to pay the bounty until it was determined whether or not he had a right to do so. As a result the sugar company will have to go without the bounty.

Shot Trying to Escape

John Swanson, a lumberman, whose home is supposed to be in Michigan, was shot and instantly killed while attempting to escape from the Northern Lumber company's camp, three miles from Sparta, in an endeavor to flee from smallpox.

The disease appeared at the camp, in which are employed about 150 men, and the foreman at once armed 20 of the men with rifles, and instructed them to allow no one to leave the place, as he did not care to spread the disease.

Late in the afternoon, when it appeared that almost every man in camp might catch the smallpox, Swanson again ventured forth. He was ordered to return, but refused, and started to run. As he did so the rifle of one of the guards cracked and the fugitive fell dead, with a bullet in his heart. At the same instant, it is said, several other guards fired at him.

Lower Prices.

The board of prison managers fixed the prices for twine for the season of 1901. Sisal and standard twine will be furnished for 7 cents per pound; mixed twine, 8¼ cents, and pure manila, 9¼ cents. This is a large reduction from the prices which prevailed last year, being a 4-cent cut for mixed grade and a 3-cent for sisal. No pure manila was manufactured last year. The poard granted two paroles and and one discharge.

Warden Reeve reported the miscellaneous cash receipts of the prison for December to be $25,659.52. Of this the sum of $21,131-79 was from sales and collections on account of binder twine and $2,980.63 from the Union Shoe and Leather company for convict labor.

Year's Output of Flour.

The total output of flour in Minneapolis for the last year, according to the Northwestern Miller, was 15,082,725 barrels, as compared with 14,291,780, the total output of the year 1899. Of this amount 4,702,485 barrels were exported, as compared with 4,009,135 barrels exported in 1899. Wheat receipts during the year were 83,312,320 bushels, and the shipments, were 10,934,010.

MR. AYERS NOT DEAD.

Very Much Alive and Out with a Letter Telling How He Was Saved.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 14, 1901 (Special).—Few who knew how ill Mr. A. E. Ayers of this city had been with Bright's Disease and Diabetes ever expected he could live. Four doctors gave him but three or four days to live. He recovered through the prompt and continued use of a well-known remedy and has given the following letter for publication. It is dated at Bath, N. Y., where Mr. Ayers now resides.

Soldiers and Sailors Home, Bath, N. Y.
Dodds Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.
Dear Sirs:—

I wish to tell you what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me. As far as I am concerned they are the best in the world, for they not only saved my life, but they have given me new life and hope. I lived in Minneapolis for forty-nine years, and am well known there by many people. I suffered severely with Bright's Disease and Diabetes. Four well-known physicians gave me up to die. In fact, they gave me only three or four days at the longest to live. I had spent nearly everything I had in the effort to save my life, but seeing an advertisement of Dodd's Kidney Pills, I scraped what was nearly my last half dollar, sent to the drug store, and bought a box. I had very little hope of anything ever doing me any good, as from what the four doctors had told me, it was now a matter of hours with me. I commenced to take the Pills, and from the very first they helped me. I took in all about forty boxes. I doubtless did not need so many, but I wanted to make sure, and after all, $20.00 is a small amount of money to remove the sentence of death and save one's life.

I have since recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills to hundreds of people, and I have yet to hear of the first one that did not find them all that you claim for them. I can remember of two people to whom I had recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, and who afterwards said to me that they received no benefit. I asked to see their Pill boxes, and behold, instead of Dodd's Kidney Pills, it was ————'s Kidney Pills, an imitation of the genuine Dodd's, and not the real thing at all that they had been using. I gave each of them an empty pill box that Dodd's Kidney Pills had been put up in, so that they could make no more mistakes, and they afterwards came to me and told me that they had bought and used the genuine Dodd's Kidney Pills, and were cured.

I still continue to use the Pills off and on, and would not be without them if they were $50.00 a box. I think that every old gentleman in the world would be healthier and better if he would take one after each meal.

I wish I could think of words strong enough to express to you my gratitude for what your Medicine has done for me. It is not often, I suppose, that a man who is staring death right in the face, is permitted to live and tell of the means which saved him, and as that is my position, my heart is overwhelmed with thankfulness to God for His mercy to me in permitting me to see the advertisement of Dodd's Kidney Pills, when it seemed that I was beyond all earthly power to save, that I cannot express my real feelings.

If anyone doubts the statement I have made, they may write to me, and I will try and prove to them that all I have said in this letter is true, and more than true. There are hundreds of people in Minneapolis who know all about my case and the way Dodd's Kidney Pills pulled me through, when I had been given up by the four doctors, of Bright's Disease and Diabetes, and had practically lost all hope. You are at liberty to publish this testimonial which I give you from the bottom of my heart, and I sincerely wish that I could find the right words to express my feelings of gratitude to you and to Dodd's Kidney Pills, for my restoration to life and health.

(Signed) A. E. AYERS.

OVERCOME BY THE DEBATE.

"Oh, you were, were you? Well, what did you decide?"

"Thass it. What did we decide? Jim S-S-Smith says that flag don't f-f-follow anything. He says that f-flag always leads. Thass what Jim says. Joe Bangs says that cons'tooshun is mor'n hundred yearsh old and when it goes anywhere it ought t-to be t-t-taken in a hack. Jim says it couldn't by no possible means follow anysing. Good crack, wasn't it? Joe's got a g-g-great head."

"And what did you decide?"

"Who? Me? Mean me, my dear? Why, I jus' said that the best way to solve perblem was to wrap cons-tooshun tightly 'round flagstaff, an' then let 'em go into it togesser. Thass th' way. Watcher thing of it?"

"Well, I think if you don't pull off your shoes and follow them with the rest of your garments, and then wrap the blankets tightly around you, there'll be enough kinds of trouble raised in this family to wreck the best government that ever was formed."

"I am so Glad you are well, Dear Sister."

This picture tells its own story of sisterly affection. The older girl, just budding into womanhood, has suffered greatly with those irregularities and menstrual difficulties which sap the life of so many young women.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can always be relied upon to restore health to women who thus suffer. It is a sovereign cure for the worst forms of female complaints,—that bearing-down feeling, weak back, falling and displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, and all troubles of the uterus or womb. It dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus in the early stage of development and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. It subdues excitability, nervous prostration, and tones up the entire female system.

Could anything prove more clearly the efficiency of Mrs. Pinkham's Medicine than the following strong statement of Grace Stansbury?

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was a sufferer from female weakness for about a year and a half. I have tried doctors and patent medicines, but nothing helped me. I underwent the horrors of local treatment, but received no benefit. My ailment was pronounced ulceration of the womb. I suffered from intense pains in the womb and ovaries, and the backache was dreadful. I had leucorrhœa in its worst form. Finally, I grew so weak I had to keep my bed. The pains were so hard as to almost cause spasms. When I could endure the pains no longer, I was given morphine. My memory grew short and I gave up all hope of getting well. Thus I dragged along. To please my sister I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. Her answer came, but meantime I was taken worse and was under the doctor's care for a while.

"After reading Mrs. Pinkham's letter, I concluded to try her medicine. After taking two bottles I felt much better; but after using six bottles I was cured. All of my friends think my cure almost miraculous. I thank you very much for your timely advice and wish you prosperity in your noble work, for surely it is a blessing to broken-down women. I have full and complete faith in the Lydia E. Pinkham Vegetable Compound."—GRACE B. STANSBURY, Herington, Kansas.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

St. Paul, Jan. 9.—Yesterday was the opening day of the Thirty-second session of the Minnesota legislature and in view of the future contentions growing out of the death of Senator Davis it was the most tranquil opening in the history of the state. The republicans held their usual party caucuses the previous evening, and so well had matters been arranged that there was but one contention in the senate and none in the house. The one contest in the senate was between Rev. Chouniard of St. Peter, Rev. A. D. Stowe of Duluth and Rev. W W. Lewis of St. Paul for the position of chaplain, Mr. Lewis being the successful candidate. In both senate and house caucuses, the "slate" was presented in a body, and one vote nominated the entire set of officers.

The caucuses went a little further than was anticipated. A call was out for a joint caucus of both bodies last evening to nominate Senator Nelson for re-election, but the active Nelson men concluded it was just as well to finish it up Monday night, and each caucus separately and unanimously endorsed the senator. The election will take place on the 22d inst.

When the senate met Judge Brown administered the oath to Lieut. Gov. Smith and the roll call showed everyone present with one exception. Senator Johnson announced that the democrats had decided to make no nominations and the officers selected by the caucus were duly elected as follows:

Secretary—S. A. Langum.
First Assistant Secretary—A. D. Countryman.
Second Assistant Secretary—W. D. Smith.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Thomas Downs.
Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms—G. W. Geesey.
Enrolling Clerk—George D. Montgomery.
Assistant Enrolling Clerk—W. H. Alton.
Clerk Enrolling Committee—A. W. Bentley.
Engrossing Clerk—A. G. Myron.
Assistant Engrossing Clerk—E. A. Lewis.
Clerk Engrossing Committee—H. W. Brown.
File Clerk—Henry Burkhardt, Jr.
Assistant File Clerk—Frank Force.
Keeper Cloak Rooms—William Bateson.
Doorkeeper—N. H. Forsyth.
Second Doorkeeper—H. E. Plymath.
Sergeant-at-Arms, Committee Rooms—H. J. Knudson.
Sergeant-at-Arms, Gallery—J. J. Gjerness.

The clerks of the various committees had also been selected by the caucus, and the senate chose them by resolution, as follows:

Clerkships—Railroad committee, C. D. McKillip; judiciary, J. A. Martin; assistant clerk judiciary, W. B. Richardson; finance, James A. Stewart; banks and banking, corporations and legal expenses, agriculture, elections, L. M. Barry; state prison, Soldiers' Home, state training school, public schools, forestry and fire protection, H. H. Nixon; municipal corporations, drainage, education, claims, deaf, dumb and blind, federal relations, W. E. Verity; printing, public buildings, grain and warehouse, game and game laws, geological and natural history survey, immigration, S. W. Frasier; re-apportionment, rules, public lands, retrenchment and reform, public parks, trenchment and reform, public parks, public health, dairy and food, insurance, Max senger and fireman, A. O. Qvam; stenographer, Lillian M. Gridley; second stenographer, Pearl Putnam; stenographer judiciary committee, Marion Estes.

In the house the secretary of state called that body to order and a roll call showed but one absentee. Judge Collins administered the oath after which the election of officers proceeded. M. J. Dowling was the republican nominee for speaker and as a matter of form the opposition nominated Henry Plowman against him. All of the nominees at last evening's republican caucus were elected by roll call on each candidate as follows:

Speaker—M. J. Dowling, Renville county.
Chief Clerk—Julius Schmal, Redwood county.
Assistant Clerk—Geo. H. Spear, Crow Wing county.
Second Assistant Clerk—Jens Arneson, Grant county.
Enrolling Clerk—Frank Holcomb, Ramsey county.
Engrossing Clerk—W. W. Wall, Fillmore county.
Sergeant-at-Arms — Edward Fanning, Olmstead county.
Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms — W. F. Gray, Hennepin county.
Postmaster—R. W. Melendy, Hennepin county.
Assistant Postmaster—Mrs. Franklyn W. Lee, Chisago county.
Chaplain—Rev. H. W. Knowles, St. Louis county.

St. Paul Jan. 10—As was to be expected Senate File No. 1 appeared yesterday and was promptly passed. It appropriates $150,000 for legislative expenses, and as the committee on mileage will report in a day or two, the passage of this bill by the house to-day will enable the member of the legislature to begin to pay for their board and clothes and other luxuries. They do not draw their per diem until after serving ten days, but the mileage will serve to relieve the financial strain for the senators and members coming from a longer distance than the Twin Cities. A second bill was introduced in the senate which provides for a state tax commision of three to be appointed by the governor whose duties shall be to draft a complete system of tax laws.

The house practically did no business at all beyond receiving a report from Governor Lind favoring a revision of the laws regulating county auditors and county treasurers.

At 10:30 a. m. both houses met in joint session in the house of representatives to listen to the message of Governor Lind and the inaugural of Governor Van Sant. Standing room was at a premium while the messages were being delivered, Mrs. Lind, Mrs. Van Sant and other ladies being present.

Governor Lind criticised ex-Secretary of State Berg for his manner of collecting corporation taxes, and also censured the Duluth & Iron Range road for their ore rates. He also favored a law providing for contesting the election of a governor, though disclaiming that it had any personal reference.

For fear they might not be acquainted, Representative Dobbyn of Minneapolis introduced Governor Van Sant to Speaker Dowling, making a brief speech at the speaker in order to make the introduction more binding. This introduction apparently satisfied Chief Justice Start that Van Sant was the real thing, and he accordingly administered the oath of office.

Governor Van Sant's address was naturally much more brief that Governor Lind's, and was received with applause. Before he concluded he turned to Governor Lind and stated verbally that he, too, was in favor of a law contesting the election of a governor, stating that he wanted it to apply personally, and if it was at any time shown that he was not rightfully elected he would step down and out.

Both branches adjourned immediately after the delivery of the messages.

St. Paul, Jan. 11.—The senate was fairly industrious yesterday, six bills being introduced. One of them was the usual bill making eight hours a day's work on public works. The others related to legal matters. The point of most interest in the senate was the refusal to confirm the list of appointments made by Governor Lind, since the last legislature adjourned. There is a decided method in this refusal which reminds one of the celebrated remark of Flanagan of Texas, "What are we here for". There are some whose terms of office continue for some time to come while others have about run their course. The failure to confirm, however, will make all of the offices vacant at once and give Governor Van Sant an opportunity to fill their places with members of his party. It was evident that the senators were not fully decided on the best policy to pursue, as they contented themselves with adjourning the matter until next week, when it will be taken up in executive session, but the prospect of non-confirmation is quite favorable.

The house promptly passed the senate bill appropriating $150,000 for legislative expenses and spent almost the rest of the entire session in discussing measures of economy.

Mr. Jacobson of Lac qui Parle, who has been there before, made himself heard numerously but in the main was voted down. He won one point, however, which was perhaps the most important of all. The rules of the house were under consideration and a change was proposed in that relating to appropriation bills. As the rules have been, appropriation bills were scattered about in various committees according to what the money was to be used for, and after being reported back by the committees having them in charge were sent to the regular appropriation committee for further consideration. It was proposed to change this to send them to the appropriation committee at first, but a long wrangle the rule was allowed to remain as it was. While other changes in the rules developed a sufficient amount of wind to run a wind mill water tank for a railroad station, they were not of vital interest.

There is one lone contest case in the house, that of Blair, Republican from Le Sueur against Mahood, Democrat, the papers being filed yesterday. There was of course, some bumcombe talk about reducing the number of clerks for committees with the usual result that they were increased. It is necessary for political purposes to have these economical scraps as they read well in the newspapers.

Only two bills were introduced in house. One provides for a tax commission to be appointed to the governor to report a revision of the tax laws to the next legislature, and the other creates a board of control for all state institutions.

The committees on mileage were unable to report yesterday and both branches adjourned until Monday evening without having tapped the $150,000 they had provided for themselves. A good many will go home during the recess, but owing to the senatorial contest a larger number than usual will remain in the city to ascertain if possible "What they are here for."

St. Paul, Jan. 15.—After a recess since last Thursday both houses met last night. It was a mere matter of form to adjourn until Monday evening, because nothing was expected to be done, but it gives the appearance in the journal of a legislative day.

The senate, true to its traditions, simply met, called the roll and adjourned.

The house made a little more of a showing, seven bills being introduced. One bill was devoted to regulating elections. Another provides for mixing up the names on the official ballot, alternating the candidates in print according to polities. If it ever should become a law, it would mix the political children up to a degree that an intelligent man would require ten minutes to mark his ballot, and the unintelligent would not get through before the polls closed.

A third bill provides for the burial of honorably discharged soldiers at the expense of the state. The committees will be announced today.

No one expects that there will be any very serious attempt at legislation until the short term senatorship contest is settled, and no one knows when that will be. Of course there will be numerous bills introdueed and sent to committees, but the committees will not have time to consider them.

Since Mr. Lowry and Mr. Bixby have come into the senatorial race things begin to warm up, and the great topic is when to hold a caucus. No one expects a caucus will have any result, but some are anxious to have a show-down of strength. It looks very much as though the fight would have to be settled in the open legislature, and at this writing it is anybody's prize.

To Abolish the Whipping Post.

The law makers are wrangling over the abolition of the whipping post. The man who succeeds in passing such a bill, will prove as great a benefactor to the breaker of man's laws as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has to the breaker of nature's laws. If you've neglected your stomach until indigestion, constipation, biliousness, liver and kidney troubles are upon you, there's but one cure, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Don't fail to try it for la grippe.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is often ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. MISS FRANCES M. ANDERSON, daughter of HON. JUDGE ANDERSON, of Virginia, is at present in Washington, D. C., as Corresponding Secretary of the Higher Educational League, of that city. Cured of la grippe by Peruna.

MISS FRANCES M. ANDERSON, Corresponding Secretary of the Higher Educational League, writes from the "Astoria," Washington, D. C., the following:

"About two months ago I was taken very ill with la grippe and was obliged to go to bed. I took three bottles of Peruna with very beneficial results, and was able to leave my bed in a week and regained my usual strength very soon.

"I have nothing but praise for Peruna and recommend it to those similarly afflicted whenever I can."—Frances M. Anderson.

La grippe is, strictly speaking, epidemic catarrh—that is to say, a variety of acute catarrh which is so contagious and runs a course more or less definite, the same as scarlet fever, whooping cough, etc.

During the acute stages of la grippe it is not a very fatal disease, but the condition in which it leaves the system has caused the death of a countless number.

Indeed nearly every person who has had la grippe within the last three years finds himself more or less deranged by the pernicious effects of this disease. The majority of those who have escaped death find life scarcely worth living.

If this vast multitude of people could only know with what certainty Peruna would relieve them of all the bad effects which la grippe has brought upon them, what an untold amount of suffering could be averted!

Thousands have already heard how quickly this remedy will cure in these cases and have been saved; but tens of thousands have not yet heard, and continue to suffer on, dropping into the grave one by one.

Peruna cures catarrh in all stages and varieties, whether acute or chronic, and is therefore the most effective remedy ever devised for removing all the derangements which follow la grippe.

Samuel M. York writes from Union Grove, Ala., the following letter:

Dear Sir:—"Last week I was taken with la grippe and catarrhal deafness. I wrote you for advice and followed your directions. After taking two bottles of Peruna I found myself well of la grippe, and my hearing was fully restored. My health is better than it has been in five years.

"Three years I had la grippe and pulmonary trouble. I was very sick. I had hemorrhages of the lungs nearly evrey day for a year, and three bottles of your Peruna cured me. The doctor said I had consumption. I am now in better health than I have been for many years.

"I highly recommend Peruna to all my neighbors and friends. Peruna is my favorite medicine. I shall always have Peruna in the house."—Miss Caroline J. Kahl.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

DELANO, FRIDAY, Jan. 18, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—The Box social tendered by the St. Cecilia Club at the I. O. O. F. Hall resulted in a good social success.

—The Independence Quarette of Maple Plasn, will give a concert at Delano I. O. O. F. Hall, Wednesday night, Jan. 23.

—A few cases of grippe have appeared in town this week. It is the fashionable disease over most of the United States now, —There will be a poverty ball at the City Hall, January 18, 1901. Tickets 33 cents. Fines for fried shirts, stand up collars, or shined shoes 23 cents.

—Tuesday was a genuine January thaw day. Wednesday was cooler and the roads were hard and slippery with many bare spots spoiling sleighing.

—Dr. Catlin and O. L. Billings attended a lawsuit in Greenwood Town Hall, Wednesday. Justice Florda presided. Henry Dixon was defendant. Verdict for plaintiff.

—The sleigh riding party at John Dalgren's was quite an affair. On February 1. there will be an Epworth League business meeting and a dime social at the same place which will undoubtedly be a sucess.

—Mrs. J. D. Young has been looking up who can claim to be the oldest person in Delano in the 20th century. She expects sto urprise the oldest inhabitant by a linen shower some time in the not distant future.

—Smallpox is reported from many places in the state. But the diseese is so light that it no longer creates panics among the people. Dr. Bracken Secretary of the Board of Health savs less than two per cent of deaths have occurred from it in the state.

—It is but little more than a month till Washington's birthday comes around. The Delano Washington Birthday association should be arranging the programme for a more than usual celebration of this event in American history, and history of the world.

—Several of the boys in town have been collecting stamps for the past three years, and now have quite a large collections. Two of them have over 2000, and three have between 1500, and 2000, quite a munber under 1000.

This is a good idea.

Why not more start collecting.

—An innovation has been offered at the M. E. church for the past two weeks, instead of the regular sermon. two Sundays ago, C. S. Hawker gave a discourse. Last Sunday evening C. S. Hawker, Ed Farnham and F. H. Lindsley entertained the audience. The talks were interesting and instructive —Considerable harmonizing seems necesary before the new Catholic church is built here. There are Germans, Poles, aad Irish and Americans, each nation prefers its native tongue in church. It looks as if the logical solution of the disagreements would have to be that the sermons shall be in the English language. The language in this country in which all make their home.

—On Friday, last one of our oldest and most esteemed citizens broke the early record and took a cold bath in the raging Crow. It is a little early in the season, but the winter has been a mild one and spring may be coming earlier. The o. a. e. c. aforesaid was enjoyed in getting some ice for washing purposea, and slipped and went into the water head first. His name is well known. It is John Cunningham; and he is champion.

—William Ziebarth has been in communication with the State Board of Health concerning the cattle disease that has proved fatal to the flocks of several in the county. If any one has sick cattle they should notify the State Board at once. There is no use to visit the country to diagnose a disease unless the disease can be seen. If the symptoms are written to Dr. Brimhall, State Vetnarian he can say what the probable disease is. But the better way is to see the sick animals himself

Pres:	Mrs. Mary Dunn.
Vice Pres:	Mrs. Johanna Otto,
Sec:	Mrs. Emilia Otto,
Tres:	Mrs. Theresia Leudasher,
Marshal:	Miss Anna Otto.
Finance Com:	Mrs. Elizabeth Dunn, Mrs. Theresia Blank, Mrs. Mary Stotko.

V. Pres.	Mat. Schaust
Sec'y	Ernest Otto.
Treas.	Leonard Diedrich Sr
Marshal	Albert L. Stein

County Cullings

The Herald savs the Smith Lake quarantine has been raised, and business at Smith Lake resumed.

Ole Tetrud in the Cokato Enterprise suggests that teachers meetings would be a good thing in Wright County. They surely would.

One item of expense to the county that looms up pretty big, where the money goes outside the county for boarding prisoners. To P. Megaarden $488.91, would look better to some one in our county and the taxpayers would like it better. It is about time for Wright County to have a jail of its own.

If Wright County Democracy would get togather now, when there is no campaign on, and talk matters over and understand each other, perhaps they might accomplish something at another election. But for a good many years that have been sliding backwards rather than forwards. The county used to go Democratic, and would now on a fair square deal is the belief of many people.

St. Peter School Notes.

The scholars are having a great deal of fun snowballing this week.

The school is filling up with scholars now, and the attendence is large.

Quite a few scholars were absent a few davs this week.

John Ziemkowski was promoted into the eight grade in two studies, grammer and arithmetic.

Among those who were promoted into the seventh grade in geography, spelling and reading are John Reichal, John Boller, George Diedrich, Agnes Stein and Ida Lohmiller.

CHICAGO AND RETURN.

There will be no clinics of interest Monday and I had seen most of Chicago, and as we start out tomorrow morning with quizz here at 8:30 I thought I would save money and get here on time, which I couldn't have done if I stayed, besides would not have had time to study.

Sunday, I visited Jackson park, where the World's fair was held and saw the plan of the grounds besides some things of interest. Models of the three ships, natural size, in which Columbus and his crew came to America. They are still in the park, anchored in a small lake. They are exact models are very unique: Also saw a life saving station. One of the Fair buildings is standing and is occupied by Field's Museum. I went through the whole business. It is fine. A person could spend a week in there with a guide book. Also took in the Chicago Art institute on the lake front, down town, not far from the post office. It is also fine. Contains fine printings, and models of the finest production's of the sculptor's art and bronze work.

The weather was warm enough all the time I was in Chicago, never below 40. It rained about 4 o'clock there Sunday. It is quite a bite cooler in Minnesota,

Sunday night, the lady where I stayed took me to church. I heard the Rev. DeWit Talmage; and a Dr. Seymore, missionary, from China, also spoke a few minutes.

He said the trouble was not caused by the missionaries, but that it was the powers continually taking ports and land without provocation, that arousel the Chinese in a (patriotic to them) movement to expel all foreigners and of course as the missionary property was the most accessible, it suffered most. I went from church to the train and started on my return trip at 11 o'clock.

Minneapolis and St. Paul seemed like towns beside Chicago when I came in today. Had a couple rides on the eleyated cars. Went to Jackson park on one, only 5 cents. Part of the way I could see out on the three story buildings. Did not get time to visit Kellogg & Co.

The Prof. of Clinical Surergy was Christain Fenger, a Dane, I believe. He is a good operator, but a poor lecturer on account brogue.

Suppose you are all well at home. I expected to find the Gazette here when I came but it was not here.

Cokato Enterprise: The "handful" of Boers in South Africa seem to be giving the British more than their hands full.

Sherburne County Star Mews: Plain John Lind had only been an ordinary citizen for about two hours before he proceeded to slug the editor of the Dispatch. If the Dispatch editor should be slugged for every mean thing he has said he would soon resemble a piece of raw beefsteak.

Minneapolis Tribune: A Colorado legislator is making a desperate effort to abolish the tipping habit by making it acriminal offence to give a tip to a Pullman porter in that state. The porter is to be fined from $10 to $15, and the railroad company which permits the practice is to be fined $200

Star News: It is reported that Thomas Lowry, the Minneapolis millionaire, will announce his senatorial candidacy today. Now, see the fur fly. Mr. Lowery is a very estimable gentleman, but it would be very disastrous for the republican party to elect him U. S. senator under the present conditions.

Star News: The associated press man at St. Paul seems to be pretty rank partisan in the senatorial contest. The general impression that the associated press gave the news from a strictly impartial standpoint is another of those fake notions people get into their heads.

National Watchman: Morality and decency are shocked by the assault of Republican organs upon ex-President Harrison because he has had the temerity to give utterance to genuine American sentiment, and oppose the overthrow of the government of the fathers. They seem to forget that genuine American blood flows in Harrison's veins, that his great grandfather was one of the signers of the Deceration of Independence.

The Irl R. Hicks 1901 Almanac

Whatever may be said of the scientific causes upon which the Rev Irl R Hicks bases his yearly forecasts of strom and weather, it is a remarkable fact that specific warnings of every great storm, flood, cold wave and drouth, have been plainly printed in his famous Almanac for many years The latest startling proof of this fact was the destruction of Galveston, Texas, on the very day named by Prof Hicks in his 1900 Almanac, as one of disaster by storm along the gulf coasts. The 1901 Almanac, by far the finest, most complete and beautiful yet published, is now ready. This remarkable book of near two hundred pages, splendidly illustrated with charts and half-ton engravings, goes as a premium to every subscriber who pays one dollar a year for Hicks' journal, WORD AND WORKS. The Almanac alone is sent prepaid for only 25c

THE stories of the raids of Gen. Grant at the head of fifty men, in the Philippines, reads very much like some of Col. Tarleton's raids in America something over a century ago.

SENATOR KNUTE NELSON has been returned to the Senate. Moses E. Clapp has been elected to fill out the remaining term of C. K. Davis. Judge R. R. Nelson of St. Paul, and Senator Towne were the Democratic candidates.

CONSIDERABLE has been said about lynch law in the south. About burning negroes at the stake. Sectional strife is apparently the object with some. But Colorado, Kansas. Indiana, New York and even Ohio within a few miles of the president's home. have witnessed lynchings and burnings. And it has not been so very many years since Minneapolis people hung a white man for a crime, which calls forth burning at the stake in some places. It is not so much sectionalism that produces lynchings as the crimes committed.

IMPERIALISTS and mono metalists are busy trying to tell the Democrats who to nominate for President next time. They are suggesting good, bad and indifferent candidates. They will probably have enough to attend to to pick out a candidate for their own party when the time comes. At least the Democrats will attend to their own selecting. What Democrats want is a united party for democratic principles. They want pure politics; they want a "govern, ment of the people, for the people and by the people. They believe in the sovereignty of the people, and have no fear about finding acandidate when he is needed. It is an easy matter to agree on the natural leader of a political party in times like these if the party has principles worthy a leader.

Sherburne County Times: And in some quarters they are even talking about J. J. Hill for senator, totally obivious to the fact that Mr. Hill is a democrat; besides there are other reasons why that gentleman is not available.

Litchfield Independent: The U. S. senate unexpectedly ratified the anti-canteen law passed by the house a few weeks ago. Under this law it is believed the president and war authorities will be unable to find a chance to maintain government saloons at army-posts.

St. Cloud Times: Not long ago, it was reported that Aguinaldo had been killed by some of his treacherous followers. A Manila telegram of the 18th says he lately visited his mother in Cavite, and narrowly escaped capture. Aggy seems to be very much like the Irishman's proverbial flea.

Duluth News Tribune: From the moment he was appointed to the vacant senatorship, Mr. Towne has conducted himself in a most tactful manner and is reaping the rewards of it. He has been most cordially treated by the majority in the United States senate and is given every opportunity to make the most of his brief tenure of office.

Duluth Herald: The Congressional investigation committee which is prying into the secret places in and about West Point for the purpose of ascertaining whether the time honored custom of hazing is practiced in that institution is meeting with more than ordinary success. The fact that the committee is getting very near the bone was demonstrated the other day when a storm of hisses greeted the question put to a young blood which implied that he might be using a convenient memory to avoid giving testimony. The committee is making that divinity which doth hedge a West Point cadet a most pitiable thing to behold.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18, 1901

Senator Allen, just before the filibuster against the Army Reorganization bill was abandoned, made a red hot speech against the McKinley policy in the Philippines, which made a large army necessary - in his words: I am opposed to this bill, because its avowed purpose is to provide soldiers to be sent to the Philippines." He paid his compliments to Senator Hawley, who had denounced the petition signed by 2,000 Filipinos, presented to the Senate by Senator Teller as treasonable, by saying: "The flippancy with which the terms traitor and treason are being used these days is getting to be a strench in the nostrils of some of us." Incidentally he gave the West Pointers in the army a few side swipes and expressed the opinion that the officers who had never been to West Point were among the best in the army. Referring to the investigation now being made in West Pooint by a committee of the House, Mr. Allen said: "Look at this investigation going on now. This thing called hazing. Why, the prize fighter is a gentleman, the bull baiter is a gentleman when compared with the cadets at West Point. This hazing takes place within th knowledge of the officers at that institution."

It is understood that the republican steering committee has given Senator Hanna one week within which to pass the Ship Subsidy bill. If not passed in that time it is to be permanently sidetracked.

Representative Kitchen, of N. C., has no fear that a cadet appointed by him to West Point will suffer anything by hazing or fighting. He said on the subject: "I've been hoping to hear that my cadet had been "called out." I reckon he's able to take care of himself, and I reckon also they will give him a side berth. He's a graduate of one of our North Carolina colleges, played center rush on the football team, and was captain of the baseball team. Oh, he' sa peach! He stands over six feet high, weighs 180 pounds, and comes of good fighting stook."

The nomination of the son of Justice Harlan, of the Supreme Court, to be Attorney General of Porto Rico has not been confirmed yet by the Senate. At a secret session this week special efforts were made to get Senator Pettigrew to withdraw his objection to action, but he refused, declaring that he had no doubt of young Mr. Harlan's personal fitness for the position and no personal objection to him; that his opposition was based on higher grounds - the unfitnes of the nomination of a son of a justice of the Supreme Court at this time to sucha position. Mr. Pettigrew then said a few words concerning the recent nomination of a son of Justice McKenna to be major in the army, jumping him over the heads of 118 lieutenants and captains; also of the removal of a son of ex-President Harrison, because his father had dared to raise his voice in opposition to the McKinley policy. Mr. Pettigrew said: "I make no charge against the Supreme Court, but I do say that the appointment of the sons of the two members of that court to important positions under the administration at this juncture of affairs in the Supreme Court is, to say the least, indecent.

Senator Daniel, who objected when Senator Morgan asked the unanimous consent of the Senate to vote on the Nicaragua Canal bill February 11, says he objected because he thought the question had not been sufficiently considered in its latest phases, and from the present crowded condition of Senate legislation he was afraid that enough time would not be allowed for debate upon the canal bill if an hour was fixed for a vote. Later Senator Morgan offered a resolution declaring that neither the Clayton-Bulwer treaty nor the Hay Pauncefote treaty, as amended by the Senate, stand in the way of legislation providing for the construction of the Nicaragua Canal.

Tom Reed this week came out from under cover and appeared before the Senate Committee on Finance, which is considering the bill reducing war taxes that was passed by the House, as attorney for the "poor downtrodden" seller of corporation stock, who are crying for the taking off of the tax of 2 cents upon each $100 of the face value of stocks sold. Mr. Reed's principal argument was that the tax was in many cases more than the selling value of stock. It struck many as a poor argument, inasmuch as stocks which are sold at less than 2 cents for each $100 of their face value would seem to belong properly to what are known as "wild cats," and should not be sold at all.

The threat of the Ship subsidy press bureau to have the River and Harbor bill held up in the Senate until democratic Senators who are interested in appropriations carried by that bill allowed the Ship subsidy bill to be voted upon did not make a dent in the opposition of the democratic Senators to the Ship subsidy bill. Democratic Senators from States along the Mississippi River, who were the ones aimed at by the threat, say they can stand the failure of the River and Harbor bill as well as the Republican Senators can, and that no action toward that measure by the republicans will change their opposition to the Ship subsidy bill.

Secretary Root has again declined to furnish information asked for by a Congressional resolution. This time it is the action of Gen. Chaffee in regard to looting by foreign troops in China, information about which a resolution offered by Representative DeArmond, of Mo. asked, that was refused, on the ground that it was inexpedient to make it public at this time. Mr. DeArmond stated on the floor of the House that he was satisfied with the reason given for not making public the information.

The Irl R. Hicks 1901 Almanac

Whatever may be said of the scientific causes upon which the Rev. Irl R. Hicks bases his yearly forecasts of strom and weather, it is a remarkable fact that specific warnings of every great storm, flood, cold wave and drouth, have been plainly printed in his famous Almanac for many years The latest startling proof of this fact was the destruction of Galveston, Texas, on the very day named by Prof. Hicks in his 1900 Almanac, as one of disaster by storm along the gulf coasts. The 1901 Almanac, by far the finest, most complete and beautiful yet published, is now ready. This remarkable book of near two hundred pages, splendidly illustrated with charts and half-tone engravings, goes as a premium to every subscriber who pays one dollar a year for Hicks' journal, WORD AND WORKS. The Almanac alone is sent prepaid for only 25c. Order from Work and Works Publishing Company, 2201 Locust Street, St. Louis, Mo.

THE STATUE.

The marble waits, immaculate and rude;
Beside it stands the sculptor, lost in dreams.
With vague, chaotic forms, his vision teems.
Fair shapes pursue him, only to elude
And mock his eager fancy. Lines of grace
And heavenly beauty vanish, and, behold!
Glares the wild horror of a devil's face.

The clay is ready for the modeling.
The marble waits; how beautiful, how pure,
That gleaming substance, and it shall endure
When dynasty and empire, throne and king
Have crumbled back to dust. Well may you pause,
Oh, sculptor artist! and, before that mute,
Unshapen surface, stand irresolute!
Awful, indeed, are art's unchanging laws.

The thing you fashion out of senseless clay,
Transformed to marble, shall outlive your fame;
And, when no more is known your race, or name
Men shall be moved by what you mold to-day.
We all are sculptors. By each act and thought,
We form the model. Time, the artisan,
Stands, with his chisel, fashioning the Man,
And stroke by stroke the masterpiece is wrought.

Angel or demon? Choose, and do not err!
For time but follows as you shape the mold,
And finishes in marble, stern and cold,
That statue of the soul, the character.
By wordless blessing, or by silent curse,
By act and motive—so do you define
The image which time copies line by line,
For the great gallery of the Universe.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in Success.

THE PROFESSOR'S FOOTBALL STORY

By Howard C. Warren.

(From the New York Home Journal. Reprinted by Special Permission.)

THE day of the great football game was approaching, and all Kensington was wrought up to fever pitch. On the campus, at the eating clubs, and in the town the talk was of but one thing. "How are the men to-day?" "Is Travers' leg any better?" "Will he be able to play?" "Any signs of overtraining?" "Do you know what tricks they are working up?" And so on—generally, be it observed, in the form of questions—for at this season of the year the "inside" is very secretive, and outside gossip varies in detail almost with the number of speakers. In the absence of definite knowledge the suspense was terrific. A spirit of nervous unrest pervaded the university, and serious work was well-nigh impossible. Moreover, this spirit affected not only the student body, but many faculty circles as well. Instructors and younger professoars were under its sway, perhaps quite as much as any under-classmen.

At "The Cloister," where four of us, trainers of youth, live in contented bachelorhood, the electric tension of the atmosphere was obvious. Our conversation at meals and after was always about football; lectures were prepared without the usual care and thought; and I fear we all spent much time in reading the athletic columns of the daily papers which ought rightly to have been devoted to original research.

"I don't know why it is, fellows," said Mitford, one day at dinner; ""I don't care a rap about the smaller games; I don't take interest enough in them, even, to go down to the field when they are played in Kensington. But when it comes to the big ones, I get so nervous it breaks me all up; I can't work and can't sleep for thinking about them. The strain is fearful."

Prof. Mitford has a highly strung temperament, but we all felt that his particular words applied to our own cases, too. But this particular year Mitford had an added source of anxiety in connection with the game. Guild, the great half-back, whom everyone looked to to secure the needed touchdown, was conditioned in Mitford's subject, and that condition must be removed before he could play in the championship game. Mitford had sent him notice after notice, with no effect, and he knew the students might attempt to take advantage of the faculties sympathy with their cause, and get around the condition in some way. Now Mitford was a most conscientious man, and he had sworn by all that was holy that Guild must pass his examination regularly if he were to play in the game; and yet his heart was with the team, and he knew besides the unpopularity he must expect to incur, if anything he did should contribute to the defeat of Kensington in the great event of the year.

"What about Guild, Mit?" we asked him one day at table. Mit looked up with an expression of disgust, and what he said in reply is best represented by dashes and asterisks. After that the subject was dropped, as far as we were concerned. But certain things became plainer as the days passed by and the date of the game drew near. It was evident that the Pembroke team were improving wonderfully, and would give our men a tremendous fight. And it was also evident that our men relied on Guild, practically, to win the game for them. He was champion kicker, and runner, and tackler, all in one.

"If Guild is knocked out during the game we are lost," said some one at the Cloister once. We all agreed with the speaker in our inmost hearts, but as Mit was present we expressed no opinion, and the subject was deftly changed.

It was the second day before the game, and the team were to leave for Pembroke the next morning. Our anxiety could not longer be suppressed.

"Has Guild passed off that condition yet?" I ventured to ask Mit in the course of the day.

"Oh, go bury yourself," he answered, and my fears were confirmed. With carte blanche from the faculty as to time, Guild had put off his examination till the last minute, and a failure now would be irremediable. That evening we were to have a party of guests to dinner—Mit's friends, they were—and the talk could be of nothing but the game. About five o'clock the doorbell rang, and a party of students appeared. Mit was out after his guests, and it fell to me to receive the men.

"We have come to see about Mr. Guild's examination with Prof. Mitford," said the spokesman. They were all anxious and nervous, but I thought I detected a certain note of defiance in the speaker's voice. I consulted with my chums, and at last we found the examination paper which Mit had prepared for the occasion. The honor system is in vogue at Kensington, so they were allowed to take the paper to Guild's room.

While we were at dinner the bell rang at least a dozen times. The maid returned each time with the announcement: "Some students to see Mr. Mitford." She had told them, of course, that Mr. Mitford was at dinner, and they had left. It was a different party each time, come to inquire whether Guild had passed. And all this time Guild was in his room, presumably scribbling away for dear life. During the evening the bell-ringing kept up, and Mitford each time refused to see the callers. Our guests, who were out-of-town people, and, of course, deeply interested in the game, had been told of the circumstances, and plainly showed signs of curiosity.

"Why, you simply must pass him, Mr. Mitford," said the bewitching Mrs. Alton, the chaperon of the party, in her most enticing voice. "Just suppose we should lose the game on that account!"

"Madam," said Mitford, putting on a dignity which is unusual with him at home, whatever he be in the classroom—"Madam, if he gets 50 per cent. I shall pass him;" and the fair visitor saw at once that she had tried to carry her tyranny beyond its proper domain.

At length our guests departed, and Mit went with them to escort them to the inn. Soon after they had gone, a student came around with Guild's paper. He wanted to remain and hear the result, but we told him that Prof. Mitford was out and might not be back till late. He left in a state of obvious perturbation. As for us, words cannot describe our anxiety. We talked and talked, and walked restlessly about the room and waited; but Mitford still failed to appear. At last we went upstairs. Though I seldom read in bed, that night I thought I might profit by a few hours, which would not in any case be claimed by Morpheus. But what I read made no impression on me whatever. My thoughts were on the game, and Guild, and Mitford.

"Mit," shouted Jim, "the paper's on the desk in your study!"

"Right!" I added, involuntarily, and kicked myself immediately afterward for doing so.

There was silence above and below for about half an hour. And I know now that Mit spent most of that time with his eyes closed and his face in his hands, in agony. He had read the paper, and given liberal credit for all that was in it, and the figures summed up to a total of exactly 45. Should he waive his scruples and let the man through? If he did not, what would be his future in Kensington? He saw the sudden end of his popularity—the game lost and his fault! The conflict was long and terrible.

"No, I must do it, whatever the consequences," he muttered at last, and turned to write the fatal number on the paper. The room seemed suddenly dark and cold. As he turned the pages, suddenly his eye fell on a sheet of paper on the floor which he had overlooked. It was the answer to another question—and it was right!

He jumped up like a flash. Our ears had been straining to catch some sound below. He rushed into the hall and shouted triumphantly:

"He's passed; he's passed!"

Two days later Guild made a 40-yard run through the entire Pembroke team for a touch-down, and kicked the goal himself. And that run gave Kensington the championship.

A Pretty Japanese Story.

One of the prettiest of all the stories relating to mirrors is that which comes from the far east. In this a man brings as a gift to his wife a mirror of silvered bronze. Then she, having seen nothing of the kind before, asks in the innocence of her heart whose was the pretty face smiling back at her. And when, laughing, he tells her it is none other than her own, she wonders still more, but is ashamed to ask further questions. But when at last her time comes to die she calls her little daughter and gives her the treasure she has long kept hidden away as a sacred thing, telling her: "After I am dead you must look in this mirror morning and evening, and you will see me. Do not grieve." So when the mother is dead the girl, who much resembles her, looks in the mirror day by day, thinking she there talks face to face with the dead woman, and never guessing it is but her own shadow she sees. And it is added, by the old Japanese narrator, that when the girl's father learned the meaning of this strange conduct of hers, "he thinking it to be a very piteous thing, his eyes grew dark with tears."—Troy Times.

Alaska in 1901 is expected to yield $15,000,000 in gold, a sum which will be recalled as the country's first cost to the United States.

One burning question has grown cold and been laid away upon the historical shelf. Everybody is now agreed we are in the twentieth century.

An Iowa paper says the query nowadays is: Shall we send our boys to college to be hazed, or shall we let them hang around home and be kidnaped?

The safest way to use a folding bed is to close the thing up and sleep on the floor. Henry Bonn, a Chicago resident, was killed the other day by the accidental closing of such a bed.

A man is often given away by a smile. It is said that the new $5 counterfeit which is bothering the secret service officials can be easily detected by the fact that there is a smile upon the face of the Indian.

A Georgia paper thus sums up legislative work done at the session of 1900: "One solon blew out the gas, another stuck a knife into a fellow member and the entire aggregation succeeded in repealing a dog law."

What a Vancouver correspondent calls "a mild sensation" is the discovery of gold nuggets worth $12.50 in the crop of a wild goose in that vicinity. What did the correspondent expect? Does he insist on the nuggets being coined in order to regard it as a sensation not of the mild variety?

According to recent legislation in New York state a man is required to support his mother-in-law. Another legal arrangement provides that a woman need not support her husband unless he is incapable of labor or unless an agreement for mutual support has been made previous to marriage.

Many of the troops have left China, but the government reports show there is still a strong guard there for the winter. There are 7,500 Germans, 5,500 British, 5,000 French, 4,000 Japanese, 2,500 Italians, 1,750 Americans and 250 Austrians, making the aggregate strength of the allied forces 26,500 men.

A single presidental term of six years has been advocated by many prominent men for years. Andrew Jackson, when president, advocated the change in all of his messages. Henry Clay, was nominated on a platform demanding the change, and a proposition to so change the constitution was offered in the house in 1826.

It is the rule of the war department to grant honorable discharges from the army to soldiers who desire to get into business in the Philippines. A large number of officers and men in the volunteer regiments have already done so, and many others whose commissions or terms of enlistment expire in July next have made applications.

While doing a cakewalk in a Cincinnati theater an actress named Gertrude Swiggert wore a pair of heavy brogans. An unusually violent kick threw off one of the shoes, which hit the umpah man in the orchestra on the nose. The musician on the spur of the moment, threw it at the girl, landing it neatly on her right eye. The girl fled from the stage, and the audience cheered, thinking it was all part of the show.

When the New York school children were asked to give a penny each for the Galveston sufferers the school directors did not realize what a task they would have on their hands. The collection netted 26,750 pennies and weighed several hundred pounds. A check was sent to Galveston and then the officials wondered how they would ever get rid of the coppers. A department store has finally come to the rescue and bought them.

Astronomers are discussing the theory that the moon is in its glacial epoch. One telescopic expert calls the "craters" ice caps and the streams along their sides glacial weathering. Another insists that the signs of volcanic action are unmistakable. All agree that most of the moon's surface is intensely white. The dark regions are termed seas, but there is no evidence that they contain water. Some writers believe they are covered with the earliest forms of vegetation.

Gideon Young, of the maritime exchange, New York, has just completed a list of the fatal marine disasters of the world for the year 1900, and on this list we notice one American vessel about which little has been said. The steamer Pauillace, chartered by our government for carrying American exhibits to the Paris exposition, was sighted but once after she left New York on February 5 for Havre and it will never be known how she met her fate. Her cargo was worth several hundred thousand dollars, and her crew numbered 56 men.

At the beginning of the century statisticians are predicting the population of the United States when the next century shall begin, as if population were the real measure of the nation's greatness. China has population and little else. Some of our cities have so much of the worst kinds of population that they hold up cars full of people and demand their money, which the latter hand over without protest. The character of the country's population is of greater importance than the counting of a few additional millions which contribute nothing but crime.

The best place for revolvers is in the hardware store. The six-year-old son of Mrs. John W. Pennington, of Graham, Ga., was given a revolver to play with the other day, and as his mother thought it was empty she laughed when he pointed it at her playfully and said he was going to shoot her. He pulled the hammer, a ball crashed through his mother's head and in a few minutes she was dead. The child went into spasms as a result of the shock. If you have any revolvers in your house sell them to the junk man. They are poor playthings for children.

THE QUEEN IS DEAD

Beloved Ruler of the British Empire Passes Away at Osborne House.

Glorious and Long Reign of Victoria Ended by Death at 6:30 p. m.

London, Jan. 23.—The queen is dead.

London, Jan. 23.—A telegram from the prince of Wales to the lord mayor, timed at Osborne, 6:45 p. m., says the queen has passed away.

"Osborne—6:45 p. m.—My beloved mother has just passed away, surrounded by her children and grandchildren.

(Signed) "ALBERT EDWARD."

Bulletin of Doctors.

Bids All Farewell.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 23.—The queen is said to have bid farewell, in a feeble monosyllable, to her family assembled at her bedside at midday. She firse recognized the prince of Wales, to whom she spoke a few words of great moment; then Emperor William and the others present filed past and heard a whispered good-by. All those in the bedroom were in tears.

Prayers Were Read.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 23.—With the members of the royal family gathered at the queen's bedside, the bishop of Winchester and the rector of Whippingham read prayers for those in extremis. Happily the queen was able to recognize those around her. They came to her bedside, but the physicians had warned them against attempts to to speak to her. Naturally the family, while recognizing the claim for public information, insists that the details of the events around the deathbed shall be sacred for those present, and imposed the strictest secrecy on the whole household.

Plans of Emperor William.

Emperor William's yacht Hohenzollern has been ordered to leave Kiel immediately. She is expected to arrive at Cowes Friday. No arrangements have yet been made for Emperor William's return to Germany, which is dependent upon eventualities.

Recognized the Emperor.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—The correspondent of the press here learns from an official source that Queen Victoria recognized Emperor William, when the latter went to her bedside yesterday, by giving a sign of joy. She was unable to converse with him.

It is not known here how long the emperor will stay in England.

King George Starts for London.

Effect on Canadian Parliament.

New York, Jan. 23.—A special to the World from Ottawa, Ont., says: The death of the queen will not cause a dissolution of the Canadian parliament, according to Sir John Bourinot, the highest constitutional authority in this country. It is a maxim of English constitutional law that the sovereign never dies, the succession of the heir to the throne is instantaneous.

A Remarkable Scene.

London, Jan. 23.—There was a remarkable scene outside of the Mansion house early Tuesday afternoon. On the receipt of the alarming reports something resembling a groan was uttered by the hundreds of people assembled and then some one started to sing the national anthem.

All heads were bared and in a moment the crowds were singing "God Save the Queen" with a fervor proving how earnestly they wished for her recovery. The passengers in passing carriages, cags and omnibuses joined in the singing, the drivers reverently doffing their hats.

NEWS AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The news announcing the death of Queen Victoria was conveyed to President McKinley simultaneously with its receipt by the newspapers. Although he had been kept constantly advised of her condition since it became known that her case was hopeless, the news of her death was a great shock to him.

As soon as word is received from Ambassador Choate the president will send a message of condolence to King Edward VII. The official announcement is expected at any moment.

President's Message to Edward VII.

"Telegram sent from Washington, Jan. 22, 1901.—His Majesty the King, Osborne House, Isle of Wight: I have received with profound sorrow the lamentable tidings of the death of her majesty the queen. Allow me, sir, to offer my sincere sympathy and that of the American people in your personal bereavement and in the loss Great Britain has suffered in the death of its venerable and illustrious sovereign whose noble life and beneficent influence have promoted the peace and won the affection of the world.

"WILLIAM M'KINLEY."

Flag at Half-Mast.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The flag on the executive mansion was placed at half-mast at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. So far as any record goes this is the first time in the history of this country that this mark of respect has been paid to the memory of a foreign ruler.

Senate Adopts Resolution.

Swear Allegiance to the United States at Vigan and Also Near Malabon.

Manila, Jan. 23.—The oath of allegiance has been administered in a church at Vigan to over 1,000 persons, who acknowledged they had contributed to the insurgent cause. Chaplain Fitzgerald addressed the natives in Spanish. The parish priest translated his remarks into Ilocano and administered the oath.

Gen. Grant has made many captures and arrests. At present he is on a scouting expedition with over 50 men. Those who are proved to be insurgents are held.

Battery I, of the Third artillery, has captured 50 armed men at Muntintupa. Various other minor captures and surrenders have been made in southern Luzon.

MINERS ARE RETICENT.

Give Little Indication as to What Their Stand Will Be in Regard to Wage Question.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 23.—The second day of the session of the convention of the United Mine Workers was held in Tomlinson hall Tuesday. The surface indications as to what will be done with the all-important question, that of wages, are hard to figure out. Never before in the history of the organization's conventions have the delegates been so reticent. Few of the delegates will admit that they are going to demand an increase in wages. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is here for a conference with the miners. It is probable that whatever demands are made by the Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania miners will also be demanded by the Iowa and Michigan miners. Iowa operators are not in the joint movement, but the scale of wages paid is about the same.

Sustains Attorney General Crow.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 23.—The supreme court en banc Tuesday sustained the motion of Attorney General Crow, giving him, as attorney general of Missouri, charge of the ouster proceedings brought at the instigation of Joseph Flory against Joseph F. Rice, to oust the latter from the office of railroad and warehouse commissioner. Attorney General Crow at once dismissed the case against Rice and filed with the court an application for a similar writ of ouster against Joseph Flory, whose term of office, he asserts, ended January 2.

Charged with Kidnaping.

Sedalia, Mo., Jan. 23.—A warrant was issued by Justice Kinsey for the arrest of Albert Moore, of Clifton City, Mo., charging him with kidnaping the nine-year-old son of Mrs. Ella Bunch. Moore visited Sedalia and Mrs. Bunch says he took her son away with him. The motive for the alleged kidnaping is not apparent. Mrs. Bunch is in very moderate circumstances. Moore is a stock buyer and lives at Clifton City.

Shows Good Progress.

Washington, Jan. 23.—At the cabinet meeting Tuesday, which lasted about an hour, Secretary Root read extracts from reports which he had recently received from government officials as to the situation in the Philippines. These reports make careful comparisons with the conditions which prevailed one year ago and are said to show that very great progress has been made in all directions.

Ask for Federal Troops.

Muskogee, I. T., Jan. 23.—United States Marshal Bennette has requested that federal troops be sent to his assistance in an endeavor to suppress the warring Creeks. The white people are arming for self protection. The Creeks are led by "Crazy Snake," from whom the band takes its name.

EPIDEMIC OF GRIP WORST EVER KNOWN.

GRIP BACILLUS EVERYWHERE—IN THE AIR WE BREATHE, IN THE WATER WE DRINK, IN THE FOOD WE EAT.

Magnified 16,000 times.

Hundreds of car loads of Peruna are shipped in all directions to meet the extraordinary demand of the grip epidemic.

Everybody laying in a stock of this valuable remedy in time to meet the terrible enemy, the Grip.

The extensive facilities of the manufacturers taxed to their utmost to meet the urgent demand for Peruna.

Almost everybody has the grip. Almost everybody must have Peruna.

Taken at the appearance of the first symptoms of the grip, not only is Peruna a prompt cure for the grip but it prevents those disastrous after-effects so characteristic of this dread disease.

Taken in time thousands of lives will be saved in this present epidemic.

Every family should take the precaution to secure a supply of Peruna at once, for the retail and wholesale stock of the remedy may be exhausted by the enormous demand for it.

It is wisdom to have Peruna in the house even before the grip attacks the household.

It has been ascertained by a reporter that the following people of national reputation have given public endorsement and testimonials to Peruna as a remedy for la grippe:

Congressman Howard, of Alabama, says: "I have taken Peruna for the grip and recommend it as an excellent remedy to all fellow-sufferers."

Congressman White, of North Carolina, says: "I find Peruna to be an excellent remedy for the grip. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it."

Miss Frances M. Anderson, of Washington, D. C., daughter of Judge Anderson, of Virginia, says: "I was taken very ill with the grip. I took Peruna and was able to leave my bed in a week."

Mrs. Harriette A. S. Marsh, President of the Woman's Benevolent Association, of Chicago, writes: "I suffered with grip seven weeks. Nothing helped me. Tried Peruna and within three weeks I was fully restored. Shall never be without it again."

At the appearance of the first symptoms of grip people should stay indoors and take Peruna in small doses (teaspoonful every hour) until the symptoms disappear. This will prevent a long, disastrous sickness and perhaps fatal results.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 21, 1901.—(Special.)—"I used to have Heart Disease, but thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills I now have Heart's Ease.

"Five years ago, I was a continual sufferer of Heart Disease. Exposure during the war, and a tendency to grow over-fleshy had greatly aggravated this dread disease. I often had to sit up half the night, I had it so bad when I would lie down. Life looked pretty blue to me, as I thought there was no relief, until one day I read an advertisement of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought a box that same day, and it was the best day's work I ever did. Before I had used all the first box I could eat and sleep better than I had done for many years, and after three months faithful treatment my health was completely restored. I am an old man now, but my step is as elastic and my brain as clear as when I was thirty years of age."

These are the words of the Hon. Moses B. Crane, secretary of Odin Lodge, No. 123, I. O. O. F., of this city. The Hon. Mr. Crane is also Senior Vice Commander of G. A. R. Post No. 5, Tacoma.

Those who know Mr. Crane have the fullest confidence in his honesty and turthfulness, and know that he would not give this unsolicited testimonial unless he had actually experienced the relief which he indicates in his letter. Dodd's Kidney Pills are having a wonderful sale among Mr. Crane's friends—and their name is legion—in this part of the country. There does not seem to be a single case of Heart Disease, Kidney or Bladder Weakness, or Rheumatism, that Dodd's Kidney Pills do not permanently cure.

SHARES PUBLIC SCHOOLS' HONORS

Excellent Geographical Exhibit at Paris Largely Due to Union Pacific.

The Passenger Department of the Union Pacific Railway is in receipt of a letter from Superintendent C. G. Pearse inviting it to share in the honors bestowed upon the Omaha public schools at the Paris exposition. As is well known, the Omaha schools were awarded a gold medal for the excellence of the showing made by their methods of teaching geography. The most important part of the exhibit consisted of a set of illustrated publications and maps showing the sources from which geographical material and information are obtained. Superintendent Pearse acknowledges that great credit is due to the Union Pacific Passenger Department, which furnished many of the publications and maps for the Paris exhibit.—Omaha "Bee," Dec. 11th, 1900.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

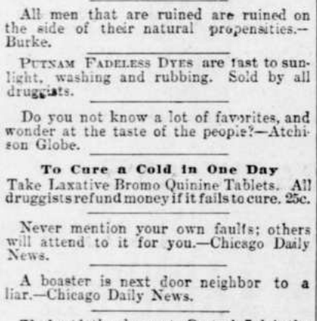
Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.



Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote Mrs. Pinkham in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—had headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swell, and was generally miserable. Mrs. Pinkham promptly replied with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularity.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

But Little Work Is Done---Everything Seems to Wait Upon the Pending Senatorial Struggle.

St. Paul Jan. 16.—The legislative session yesterday was brief, as it is likely to be until the senatorial question is over. Lieut. Gov. Smith announced his committees in the senate and Speaker Dowling in the house. The senate committees are very much the same as two years ago, as it is the same body of men. At that time the lieutenant governor took the position that men of experience like ex-Governor McGill and ex-Attorney-General Wilson had already been honored by the state and consequently should not be given much prominence in the legislatnre. His committees this year are made up on much the same basis. Speaker Dowling had, of course, entirely new material to work upon and, as usual some could not get just the position they wanted. Mr. Jacobson, however, is well satisfied with the chairmanship of the committee on appropriations.

The appointment of James Martin who was clerk of the judiciary committee to the position of executive clerk to the governor has brought forth a host of applicants for the committee clerkship. Among them is ex-Lieut. Gov. Yale formerly of Winona but now a resident of St. Paul. The position pays $10 dollars a day.

Among the bills introduced in the senate was one extending the primary election law of Hennepin county over the whole state. There were six other bills offered, but none of general importance except one which stops the pay of a judge who does not decide a case in ninety days after it is submitted, unless the parties in interest stipulate that he can have more time.

It was appointment day in the house and the speaker named a committee clerk, a janitor, seven door and cloak room keepers, two file clerks and seven pages. Representative Berg wants more pages and offered a resolution providing for their increase. Probably Speaker Dowling's appointments did not include Mr. Berg's favorites.

There were fifteen bills introduced in the house, nearly all of them amending the statutes and none of startling importance. No one is in frame of mind to legislate on anything important when each one feels that the destiny of the United States rests on his vote for the senator.

It has been agreed to hold a republican caucus Friday night, and if by any accident there should be a nomination (which is hardly likely) the legislature would then go to work.

St. Paul, Jan. 17—The sessions of both senate and house yesterday were short, as they will undoubtedly continue to be, until the weighty question of the senatorship is disposed of.

Ten bills were introduced in the senate and sixteen in the house, all of which went to appropriate committees where they will remain for some time before being heard from.

One of the senate bills authorizes county commissioners to employ experts, or perhaps detectives, to hunt up tax dodgers. It has grown to be a regular business for a class of men, experienced in that line of work, to go to county commissioners and offer to collect taxes on shares, the general charge being one half of all they collect. In some cases this arrangement has been carried out and in others some indignant tax payer has brought suit to prevent the commissioners from making the division and the courts have decided that it was an illegal act on their part. The bill offered in the senate authorizes the commissioners to make such transactions and one offered in the house the limit of 15 per cent the sum the county commissioners can pay the detectives.

A bill was introduced in the house to punish kidnapping, making the maximum penalty twenty years' imprisonment.

Another house bill abolishes the present board of charities and corrections and authorizes the governor to appoint three men as a state board of control who shall have charge of all penal and charitable institutions in the state. This board is to appoint wardens, superintendants and all executive officers of the institutions thereby taking much patronage away from the governor. The secretary is to have a salary of $2,000, and the office of state architect is created, with a salary of $3,000 attached.

St. Paul, Minn. Jan. 18.—There seems to be a disposition to put the state institutions under the charge of a board of control. A bill to that effect was offered in the house Wednesday and yesterday one came into the senate.

The senate bill provides for a salary of $3,500 for each of the three members of the board. They are to be appointed by the governor at first, as the railroad commissioners were, but probably in the end will be made a direct political issue by being elected by the people.

Senator Miller has never been satisfied over the fact that the express companies have escaped the payment of a tax on their gross earnings, and he moved for the appointment of a committee to find out the reason why. The bill as passed two years ago levied a tax of 4½ per cent on their gross earnings, but it was enrolled 5 per cent, and was so signed by the Governor. This enables the express companies to escape the tax. The investigating committee appointed yesterday has the power to send for persons, books or papers.

In the house Rukard Hurd of St. Paul introduced the usual bill to pay the oil inspector a salary and turn the fees in to the state. Such a measure has bobbed up serenely every session of the legislature for the past twenty years and is one of those spasms of reform that die a-bornin'. Mr. Hurd was elected from the Seventh ward in St. Paul. Eli Warner lives in the Seventh ward and opposed Hurd's nomination. It is reported that Eli Warner is to be the oil inspector. Hence these microbes.

The entire legislative session in both branches was dull and the members were thinking a great deal more about the caucus than they were about legislation.

St. Paul, Jan. 19.—Yesterday came the nearest to being a dies non of any day since the legislature met. The senatorial caucus last night engrossed the thoughts and attention of everyone, so that no one cared to engage in any serious business.

But few bills were introduced, and those not of a general character.

In the senate the most prominent thing was a proposed increase of the senate committee on reapportionment from seven to eleven. It is considered settled that Minnesota will gain two congressmen under the new census, and the bone of contention is whether the state shall be redistricted, making nine districts, or whether the two additional men shall be elected at large.

The appointments of ex-Governor Lind, made since the last legislature adjourned, still remain unconfirmed and the senate postponed consideration another week.

The only sensational matter in the house was the prayer of the chaplain, appealing to the deity for an honest caucus.

Fourteen ballots were taken at the caucus last night, but without definite result, and an adjournment was taken until this afternoon. The vote stood: Evans 53, Clapp 45, Tawney 29, Bixby 7, Lowry 3, McCleary 2.

St. Paul, Jan. 21.—Moses E. Clapp was unanimously nominated Saturday by the republican caucus to succeed the late Senator Davis.

When the republican caucus reconvened after its recess early Saturday morning the roll call showed 135 members present, the absentees being Senators Schellbach and Stockton and Representatives Galt, Miller and Bury, all of whom were represented by proxies.

The 15th ballot was completed, showing but one change of any significance, that of Representative Pugh from Evans to Clapp, and the secretaries were footing up the totals when Senator Lord startled the caucus by changing his vote from Tawney to Evans. Senator Thompson and Representatives Anderson and Burns followed his lead the excitement heightened.

Then Senator McArthur got the eye of the speaker and announced his change from Tawney to Clapp, amid cheers from the Clapp people.

Gilt's proxy was changed from Tawney to Evans and Representative Johnson and Senator Knatvold were also added to the Evans list, causing boisterous demonstrations by the Evans men.

Down the list the changes came, the few remaining Bixby men joining the Clapp forces, until it was up to Representative Bean, who put the finishing touches on the Evans' hopes by deserting his first choice and going to Clapp, with the sensational denouement in which Speaker Dowling played a conspicuous part.

When the last change was recorded the roll showed that Clapp had 74 votes, Evans 59, Bixby 2 Lowry 3 and Tawney 2, but the summing up was only an incident and was not formally announced. The nomination was then made unanimous.

St. Paul, Jan. 22.—The legislature does not seem to have recovered from the caucus which decided the senatorship on Saturday, as the session yesterday only lasted twenty minutes. No bills were introduced in the senate, and only two in the house, neither of them being of general importance.

WOMAN ROUTS A BURGLAR.

Jennie Griffith, who held up a burglar at the point of a revolver in her home at Trenton, N. J., made him disgorge and then run for his life, will receive a big sum of money from her father as a reward for her bravery. Mr. Griffith is a very much tickled man by his daughter's pluck.

"My, how that man did run!" remarked Miss Griffith, in telling of her adventure. "I heard him going through the drawers as hard as he could. He pulled everything out onto the floor. Had he worked quietly I might not have heard him, as the door between my room and the room he was in was closed.

"When I heard the racket, I got a revolver and quietly walked over to where he stood. He did not hear me until I was almost beside him. Then up went the gun and I said: 'Drop those things and get out just as soon as you can.'

"You should have seen him go. As he went out the door I fired over his head to see how fast he could run. That man is wasting his time as a burglar. He should be a track sprinter."

Flats at Railway Stations.

It is the intention of the London Central Railway company to erect handsome mansions over its stations, to be let out as residential flats. At some stations attractive business premises will be added. The company hopes in this way to get back some of the money invested for station sites. The station buildings are now only one story in height, although occupying some of the most valuable ground in London.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Prison Statistics.

In the eleventh biennial report of the managers and warden of the state prison recently issued and covering the two years ending July 31, 1900, some curious and interesting statistics may be found. In fact, so great is the variety of the occupations of the prisoners that a co-operative colony could be established and there would be no need of outside assistance in building and running a small town. In only one respect does there seem to be a scarcity, no clergymen of any denomination being confined there at present. In all other branches of commercial and industrial life a sufficient and in some cases an abundant supply is found.

Of cooks there are 7, bakers 1, butchers 6, confectioners 3 dairymen 1, millers 1, flour packers 1. These could take care of the commissary department.

In the line of mechanics there are blacksmiths 2, boilermakers 1, broom and brushmakers 2, carpenters 12, bricklayers 2, engineers, 13, firemen 11, glazier 1, lather 1, lithographer 1, printers 5, pressmen 1, masons 4, mattressmakers 1, miners 7, molders, 2, painters 16, paperhangers 6, plasterers 2, plumbers 6, shoemakers 11, stonecutters 4, tinsmiths 3, watchmakers 2, woodworkers 2, tailors 7, miscellaneous mechanics 15. These are backed up with 144 laborers who could be impressed into service, and sixteen gentlemen who confess to have no occupation.

The liquid refreshment department would be amply provided. There are two brewer, one saloonkeeper and three bartenders.

There are also several drummers, one druggist, five physicians, one lawyer, one journalist and several merchants, who, with the bookkeepers, the agents and the commission dealers, would probably start an exclusive set.

The nucleus of an amusement bureau is to be found in three actors and one aeronaut, but there is reason to believe that the latter has not been getting as much professional practice as he would like.

The religion of the prisoners also shows a wide variety. fourteen denominations being given, and in the list the Catholics are numerically by far the strongest. Of them there are 193, and then come, in order, the Methodists with 56, the Lutherans with 40, Presbyterians 26, the Episcopalians and the Baptists with 21 each. The other denominations do not reach two figures. Twenty-five prisoners claim to have no religion, and the solitary Chinaman confined there was probably one of these.

The table showing the nativity of the prisoners shows that 78 were born in Minnesota, the next largest source being New York state with 38. Canada is a close third with 33. One is given as born at sea, and Porto Rica, China. Mexico and Maryland contribute one each.

As to length of sentence, five years seems to be the favorite term, there being 68 in for that time. And, strangely, life sentences are the next in point of number, 58. On the reformatory plan there are 50, and 43 will be released after serving one year. Five men will not, unless pardoned, breathe a free breath for thirty years, and 20 will have to serve a third of that time.

Sixteen of the prisoners are over 60 years of age, and 26 are between 50 and 60; between 30 and 40 there are 119, and 233 are between 20 and 30.

Of single prisoners there are 301, married 167, divorced 7, widowed 11.

No Prize Fights.

Minneapolis will have no prize fights. In fact, no part of Minnesota will have any prize fighting so long as there is a state law prohibiting it, for Gov. Van Sant has set his seal of disapproval upon the sport.

The Cincinnati Post, realizing that the Jeffries-Ruhlin fight might be prevented in Ohio, wired the governor, asking if the battle could be pulled off in Minnesota. The governor was very prompt in sending his reply, which said:

"Jeffries and Ruhlin will not be allowed to fight in Minnesota. No prize fights in the state while I am governor."

Brief Notes.

Encouraged to action by the ruling of the supreme court upholding the constitutionality of the Jones wine room ordinance, the St. Paul people will begin at once to agitate for the adoption of a similar measure in that city.

APPENDICITIS

that dreadful fiend that threatens the life of rich and poor, can attack and kill only those whose bowels are not kept thoroughly cleaned out, purified and disinfected the year round. One whose liver is dead, whose bowels and stomach are full of half decayed food, whose whole body is unclean inside, is a quick and ready victim of appendicitis.

If you want to be safe against the scourge, keep in good health all the time, KEEP CLEAN INSIDE! Use the only tonic laxative, that will make your bowels strong and healthy, and keep them pure and clean, protected against appendicitis and ALL EPIDEMIC DISEASES. It's CASCARETS, that will keep and save you. Take them regularly and you will find that all diseases are absolutely

DELANO, FRIDAY, Jan. 25, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—The funeral of Mrs. John Kornek was held from the Catholic church on Tuesday.

Lost—A bracelet with three metal hearts two carrying the enitials of L. M. Finder please return to this office and be rewarded.

—In another place we publish a list of 500 words often misspelled. It will pay almost anyone to refresh his memory by looking over the list.

—Ice men are busy at work this week putting up next summers ice. The new machinery for cutting and handling ice makes the work much lighter for the men engaged in the work.

—Charles Zimmer received a serious injury on Tuesday. A load of wood was spilled onto him holding him by the ankle until help came. His leg was broken near the ankle. He will be laid up for some time.

—A new thermometer was discovered Thursday morning near the Post Office door. Its large enough for anybody to see how the mercury stands. It indicated 3 degrees above zero yesterday morning.

—On inspection of the river where ice is taken for refrigerating purposes it was decided by the Board of Health that the ice was unfit for domestic use. Most of our citizens are putting up Lake Houey ice.

—Owing to the prevalence of typhoid fever in Minneapolis for a few years it has been decided that no river ice shall be used. An ice house 80x400 feet is being filled at Big Lake for Minneapolis use.

—The smallpox scare is about over J. T. Hanna who has sufficiently recovered to be able to take care of himself is to be let out of quarantine soon, and the house where he has been confined for over o month throughly disinfected.

—We have heard that a movement is on foot to organize a night school for the advancement of some of our young people who feel now that a little more education would be a good thing. Let the movement mature. It should have the assistance of all who wish to seethe world made better.

—The cheifs of the fire companies were invited to meet the council on Monday evening. Considerable of a discussion was had as to the conducting of the fire in the Albietz furniture store on Sunday evening. It ended by the council passing a congratulatory resolution.

—Buffalo and other villages have improvement socieies. The object of village improvement societies is to look up and suggest and work for what ever tends to the betterment and uplifting of the place, and people. They might do lots of goods. Delano ought not to be behind in this work. Who will take the lead? Lets have a Delano Improvement Society.

—It is currently reported that the tax gatherers were doing business at the Gilmer Hotel Tuesday and Wednesday. We visited the place several times during the two days but were unable to even see the money takers for the crowd awaiting their turns to pay taxes. We heard they held a night session also. They must have been awfully busy men.

—On visiting the creamery Wednesday we were surprised to see the small stream of cream pouring out from the separators, and which only runs for about three hours. four days in the week. and yet helps make 188 customers better financially. If one man could own the stream and have it run constantly for a few amonths he would begin to think himself wealthy.

—The prohibition meeting held Wednesday evening at the I. O. O. F. Hall was fairly well attended and was pronounced a succes. The speaker Mr. Calderwood, of Minneapolis is loaded with facts and figures, is a lightning talker, and holds his audience in wrapt attention from first to last. The Armstrong Quartette sings well, and has some bran new songs that are quite pointed, especially at those who profess to be prohibitionists and vote for license to sell intoxicants.

Public School Notes.

The boys of H. S have started a reading club so as to get out of the speaking of declamations.

Oscar Eppel was absent from school Wednesday on account sickness.

Why not have a change of seats once? A splendid idea indeed.

The scholars of the High School have been making good use of the corners and organ stool lately.

The boys should not meddle with the girls ladder on the hills, and also let the sleds alone.

State examination will be held in the High School next week.

—Talk is indulged in of organizing a Teritorial Society in Delano. Membership to consist of persons who lived in the Territory of Minnesota. It would be an interesting society.

—A meeting of the Delano Washington's Birthday Association for the purpose of arranging for the usual celebration on the 22nd of February will be held at the office of Dr. Catlin, on Wednesday, Jan. 30, at 2 P. M.

County Cullings

At the republican senatorial Caucus Friday night, Senator Chilton voted for Moses E. Clapp, Representatives Alley and Swanson for R. G. Evans. Senator Chilton made at motion which was carried, pleding the nominee of the caucus to work for an amendment to the U. S. Constitution providing for the election of U. S. senators by a popular vote of the people.

Wright County Republicans as usual, are nearly all on the off side. Hons. Alley and Swanson were Evans men. Editor French advocated the cause of Tom Lowrey. Senator Chilton was for Moses E. Clapp from the first. Of course it looks as if Senator Chilton should have something to say about the distribution of the political plums, and he probably will.

Just how the Democratic County Commissioners figured to let the County printing to four of the staunchest republican papers in the county, at legal rates, when offers were made to do the work for 50 per cent of legal rates, after advertising to let it to the lowest bidder, don't appear to get through the skull of many Wright County voters, especially democratic voters. And there is some talk, we hear, of contesting the letting of the tax lists.

The foregoing list of words is being used for practice in spelling in the upper grades of our schools and in the high school. The list made up of words, frequently misspelled by the pupils, as reported to me by teachers, and from my own observation of their work.

No attempt has been made to make a hard or long list, or to introduce orthographical puzzles.

By the kindness of the Herald the list is published with a view of aiding the pupils in mastering this important branch of learning.

I hope that all our teachers above the fourth grade will secure copies of this list and drill their pupils on the same. Let us have a good old-fashioned revival in spelling. L. BLISS.

CLEAR THE WAY.

Men of thought! be up and stirring night and day:
Sow the seed—withdraw the curtain—
Clear the way!
Men of action, aid and cheer them,
As ye may!
There's a fount about to stream,
There's a light about to beam,
There's a warmth about to glow,
There's a flower about to blow;
There's a mid-night blackness changing
Into gray:
Men of thought and men of action,
Clear the way!

Once the welcome light was broken,
Who shall say
What the unimagined glories
Of the day?
What the evil that shall perish
In its ray?
Aid the dawning tongue and pen;
Aid it, hopes of honest men;
Aid it, paper—aid it, type—
Aid it, for the hour is ripe.
And our earnest must not slacken
Into play:
Men of thought and men of action,
Clear the way!

And all prizen wrong to crumble
Into clay.
Lo! the right's about to conquer;
Clear the way!
With the Right shall many more
Enter smiling at the door:
With the giant Wrong shall fall
Many others, great and small,
That for ages long have held us
For their prey.
Men of thought and men of action,
Clear the way!

CHARLES MCKAY.

SENATOR TOWNE, of Minnesota, delivered an able and patriotic speech in the U. S. Senate on Monday. He placed his views on the Philippine question squarely before the Senate and the people of the country. He favors the Independence of the Filipinos. A petition signed by 2006 Filipinos asking for a cessation of hostitilies, has been presented to the Legislative body of our government and the question is to be decided soon. It is about time Congress was heard from. It is not supposed to be within the power of the President of the United States to send troops beyond seas and conduct a foreign war for years, without war having ever been declared. Neither is he supposed to furnish generals with fifty or a hundred men apiece to chase people out of their homes and kill them off or deport them to distant islands. If the people of this country want thefe things done their representatives in Congress should say so, and if they dont, they should stop them.

FACE THE MUSIC.

Now comes Congressman Sherman, of New York, and asserts that hazing is as prevalent and odious at Annapolis as at West Point. He says the naval academy needs investigating. The country is sick to nausea of the West Point business. Put off the Annapolis investigation for a year or two.—Duluth News Tribune.

Such administration organs as the News Tribune should not cry enough, yet. It runs the risk of being classed with what they would have us believe Booze was. Face the music, News Tribune, and let all the corruption in high and low places be shown up and suppressed. If Annapolis cadets are as bad as West Point cadets their friends and others deserve to know it. Hazing should be stopped. If a young man can't be sent to a military academy without risking his morals, limbs, mind and life, he deserves to know the facts before he makes application. Perhaps hazing accounts for the many failures of applicants to remain at the institutions. Let the investigating go on, until things are right.

THE Lester Prairie News is a new paper published at Lester Prairie by O. B. Smith, who is a brother of our Waverly Editor. The paper is up to the standard and will doubtless give its patrons the news.

EDITOR Joubert of the Litchfield Ledger, has been appointed Post Master, at Litchfield. The office is said to be worth about $1700 a year. Quite a windfall for W. D. but he knows how to enjoy it.

OUR newly elected Senator, Moses E. Clapp, did a magnonimous thing in withholding his certificate of election from the Senate until his retiring predecessor Senator Towne had delivered his speech on the Philippine question. Senator Clapp has the reputation of being a man of broad and liberal views.

THE monometalists who voted for gold standard are now reaping their reward. They cried out that if free silver prevailed we would have no money but silver. So they advocated a gold standard so that we might have as much gold as silver; the silver being kept on par with the gold. At present it seems that both are rather scarce. Much of the business is being done by bank checks or drafts, or any other kind of paper that can be got into circulation. These drafts and checks are real handy; they can be folded up or laid straight in the big pocket-book. But sometimes they come a little high priced. For instance when an editor receives one for $3. on subscription, and on taking it to the bank learns he must put a 2 cent stamp on, which the sender has forgotten, or neglected, and then pay 10cts for collection, making an output of 12cts, after the check is in hand or a cost of 4 per cent to get the money into gold standard. If the people are forced to do business in this style some provision should be made for placing the paper money on a par with gold.

Lynch Law.

We live in the boasted land of the free and home of the brave, we have a constitutional government of the people, for the people by the people, At least that is the plan. Our people are supposed to be law abiding. They believe in the laws for the protection of all. But the trouble seems to be in a neglect to enforce the laws. Those into whose hands comes the power to make people observe the laws, and to punish those who disregard or break the law, for political or other reasons do not discharge their duties. Consequently lawlessness crops out and to suppress the crimes, criminals are dealt with in a summary manner.

Lynch law has been dealt out by infuriated crowds of people, to individuals whose guilt it was feared would go unpunished if the regular channels of law were to be followed. Many have been burned at the stake. If law was more readily and quickly brought to bear on these cases it would prevent the horrible scenes enacted before thousands of excited people. Saloons have been wrecked. If the laws of the land were observed, and not continually and constantly violated it would not be possibe for such mob violence to occur. But when, contrary to the laws of the land, boys, and husbands, and fathers are made drunk is it to be wondered at when no officials from the President, or the Governor on down to Constable dare touch the cases that mothers, wives and sisters of the land take the matter into their own hands, and wreck the places where their dear ones are made drunk?

Lynch law is not to be commended. Civil laws of the land should be enforced and lynch law will soon die a natural death.

GEN. MOSES E. CLAPP for United States Senator seems to meet with less unfavorable comment than any other man that could have been elected. But on the whole the Democratic press seems rather more pleased than the press of the G. O. P. does. Senator Clapp has an opportunity to show the kind of stuff he is made of. It is generally conceded that he is one of the people. May he prove true to that concession

THE idea of electing the two new Congressmen that our state is to have by the new apportionment, from the state at large instead of from new districts to be formed don't suit most people. If the new members are to be elected from the state at large, let the whole nine be chosen in the same way.

Capable of Self-Government.

In the Pioneer Press of Jan. 31, 1901, we find an article "Says Towne Told Untruths" which contains a quotation of Gen. E. S. Otis' that comeaces "Nobody of any degree of intelligence who will go among the Filipinos and live for three months will come away thinking that they are capable of self government." and further says: "The backbone of the rebellion was broken before I left Manilla. I notice that Senator Towne says that 90 per cent of the inhabitants can read and write. This is absolutely untrue and everybody who has been there will readily understand the absurdity of the statement."

As far as the backbone is concerned we know that General Otis always said he had the situation "well in hand" during the two years of his command in the Philippines.

And as far as the reading and writing are concerned, the General cannot dispute that in nearly all the territory, occupied by the American forces under his command, the people, as a general thing could talk two very distinct languages namely, Tagola and Spanish, and that in all or nearly all the houses books could be found in both languages, that had the apperance of being well read, and possibly you will find a diary, note book or account book, written in a very plain and distinct hand-writing, also letters from interior towns are to be found. If the General will not admit the possibility of the writing being done by the possessors of the books, will he kindly tell us "who did do it"? (Possibly this condition of affairs never came under the notice of the General, as it was some distance from the walled city.)

He also admits that "in and about Manilla, there are many natives who can read and write." This being true, I for one believe that the Filipinos could find enough smart men from the teritory mentioned to run a government of their own, and better adapted to the true conditions of that nation, than one imposed upon them by this or any other government ten thousand miles from the people to be governed and without their consent. Just go back in history, to the capture of Yorktown. Suppose our helpers the French had then taken the same attitude to us as we took towards the Filipinos at the battle of Manila, where would have been the United States?

Following the Golden Rule, and doing justice to man we should let the Filipinos form for themselves, a government, and extend a doctrine, similar to the Monroe doctrine, providing for their protection and welfare, when other nations try to dictate or interfere. Wouldn't they be more frendly than they will if we kill or banish most of them?

The Democrat: Kansas has burned a negro at the stake. Now that the north is beginning to realize that it has no exemption from such acts of savagery, will it not stop attacks on the south and co-operate with that section to in some way prevent the crimes that bring this punishment.

Minneota Mascot: A certain professor was once asked what the word periphrasis meant and the following is the definition given: "Periphrasis is simply a circumlocutory and plenastic cycle of oratorical sonorosity, circumscribing an atom of ideality lost in a verbal profundity."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 25, 1901

Democratic Senators are now called upon to decide whether the Ship subsidy bill, which is again the "unfinished business of the Senate, shall pass or shall fail to reach a vote. It is admitted by friends and foes of the bill that if the democrats choose they can easily prevent its being voted upon. The course of the democrats is not yet certain. There are two sides to the question. Some contend that on general principles it is the duty of the democratic and populist Senators, as representatives of the people, to defeat such a vicious bill, while others are equally confident that as as matter of party policy the democrats ought not to stand in the way of placing such a millstone around the neck of the republican party as this subsidy bill would be likely to prove, if allowed to become a law. There is some talk of a caucus to decide what shall be the democratic policy toward this bill.

Gen. Miles can thank his personal friends in the Senate for the discovery in time to defeat it, of a scheme to depose him from the command of the army, under the Army Reorganization bill as drawn by Adjutant Gen. Corbin, whose hatred for Gen. Miles is widely known, specially provided that the present Adjutant General should be retained and with the same rank, but in providing for the appointment of a lieutenant general who should have command of the army, the appointment was left wide open. The scheme first became known by the friends of Gen. Otis and of Gen. Brooke seeking senatorial support for the nomination of one or the other to be lieutenant general. Fortunatly nomination has to be confirmed by the Senate which would never have consented to such a low down trick being played upon Gen. Miles, even had it not been made impossible by an amendment added to the bill in conference.

It is customary for Senators who indulge in bad language toward each other to apologize to the Senate, if not to the blackguarded Senator, but Hawley has made no apology for having called Senator Chandler a liar at the secret session of the Senate that confirmed the nomination of Justice Harlan's son to be Attorney General of Porto Rico, several days ago. The incident was brought about by the reading from the pamplet written by Chandler, twenty odd years ago by Senator Pettigrew, of a statement that Justice Harlan was given his place on the bench for the work done as a member of a political commission sent to Louisiana by Hayes, and that Hawley was a member of the same commission, was to have received the appointment of the U. S. Commissioner to the Paris Exposition of 1878 as a reward for his work, but declined it because he didn't carry enough salary. Chandler's only reply was that Hawley's age and irresponsibility prevented his feeling any resentment, and that he stood by his original statement. Chandler's strong point is not resentment of personal insults. Joe Blackburn once tweaked his nose in a committee room, in the presence of seven or eight Senators, and he didn't even make an effort to resent the insult.

Inviting sons of ex Presidents to be assistant marshals of inaugural parades is an old custom, but those in charge of the coming inauguration are said to be afriad to invite Russel Harrison, lest he take advantage of the opportunity to say a few things-about his discharge from the army, for instance - in a letter declining to serve. Russel Harrison is in Washington. When asked if he had been invited to be assistant marshall in the inaugural parade he said he had not, and added: "I know I am persona non grata at the White House, and it would seem little strange for me to occupy a prominent position in the inauguration for that reason."

A review of the work of the U. S. Patent Office for 1900 shows the importance of the know how in soliciting patents. A single firm of Patent Lawyers, C. A. Snow & Co., of Washington secured for their clients during the year, 1497 allowances of Patent, many of which had been previously rejected.

Without in the sligtest detracting from the many good qualities of Queen Victoria, which are known and recognized by the whle world, especially those relating to her domestic life, many think it was unwise to make a precedent, as Mr McKinley did when he ordered that all the flags on the public buildings in Washington to be half-masted on account of her death, paying such unusual honors to the head of a foreign monarchy

Appropriation bills and private bills, including one for relief of that struggling shipbuilding plant maintained by the Cramps, have occupied the attention of the House all this week.

The Senate Committee on Finance, instead of reporting the Revenue Reduction bill this week as expected, seems to have got things awfully tangled up by amendments it has decided to make to the House bill and by what it has refused to do. The brewers are clamoring worse than ever and demanding that promises made to them when they were asked to contribute to the campaign shall be lived up to, and they have got some of the Senators badly frightened.

The reports from South Africa revive the stories of acient heroism. That a force so small should be able to hold the British army at bay and even to re-take some of the surrendered cities seems too wonderful to be true Millions here and throughout the world, who believe in self-government and deny the right of a strong nation cast its sovereignty like a net over a weaker people, are watching with intense interest the unequal struggle of the Boers in defense of their independence, If the succeed in forcing a recognition of their republics, their victory will mark the turning in the recent trend toward imperial ideas and their sacrifices will be of incalculable value to the human race. If however, they fail and are compelled at last to submit to the English yoke, their valiant resistance will have furnished innumerable themes for poetry and song, and the lovers of liberty for centuries to come will find inspiration in their courage and patriotism.—The Commoner.

GREAT PROBLEMS.

Father Cleary Tells of Those Before the Church.

Rev. J. M. Cleary spoke on the work of the Catholic church in the twentieth century, at St. Charles' church last evening. It was a continuation of his discourse of last Sunday evening on the work of the nineteenth century. A large audience was present, and Father Cleary gave an interesting sketch of the labors to be undertaken by the church in the new century. He said in part.

"The grand aim of the church in the twentieth century, therefore, as in all centuries, must be the betterment and the enlightenment of man. For the enlightenment of man she teaches him divine and supernatural truth. For the betterment of man she presents moral precepts for his guidance. Christ gave his church authority to command, as well as a commission to teach.

"Never in the history of the world did man stand in greater need of an authorized and reliable teacher than at the dawn of the century. Although we are accustomed to speak of our age as an age of enlightenment and culture, yet a shadow of darkness clouds the minds of men because of the widespread of ignorance of the great truths of religion. Greater ignorance has not darkened the world as to Christ and his mission to men since St. Paul enlightened the learned at Athens, than prevails in our own country today.

"Man must know the truth, in order to free his mind from the slavery of doubt and error. Speculative theories about religion have inflicted untold injury upon the minds of men. The church must confirm men's convictions about eternal truths by its lucid and authoritative teaching.

"Great social problems must find solution speedily, or the best interests of humanity will be blighted. The rights of labor, the duties of wealth, the rights of the rich and the duties of the poor, must be clearly defined, and intelligent, God-fearing men, must learn how to respect and honor them, if society is destined to advance on the road to progress. The religion of Jesus Christ is alone able to solve the social question.

"The blighting curse of drink cannot be vanquished by civil law. The church must regenerate human society by the saving leaven of its moral power A great problem for the church in our land in the twentieth century is the cure of the drink evil."—Minneapolis Times.

Belgian Hare Aftermath.

It is cruel to kick a thing after it is down or dead, but it is difficult to resist the temptation to reproduce the following from the San Diego (Cal.) Sun:

"Belgian hares, their haunts and habits, was the chief subject of discussion before the board of supervisors this morning. The Belgian hare fad struck southern California about a year ago. Los Angeles being the storm center. Six months ago the furor was at its height, fancy imported hares being bought and sold in Los Angeles and Passadena for as high as fifteen hundered dollars each. Soon whole avenues were lined with signs announcing Belgian hares for sale at prices from ten dollars up. Then it dawned on the fanciers that Belgian hares were great multipliers and that the market for rabbit meat was not unlimited. Then came the crash of a bursted boom, and the whole hare business fell to the ground with a dull, sickening thud. Now you can buy Belgia hares in Los Angeles at any old price, and if you don't want to pay you can have the hares for nothing. It is the same here in San Diego. Already many breeders are preparing to turn their rabbits loose on the country, as they cannot sell at any price, and the fear has become general that if this is done the country will be literally overrun within five years. Supervisor Griffin reported that one woman near Encinitas has three hundred which she intends to liberate, and several other examples were given. It appears that the favorable food of the Belgian hare is the tender bark of young fruit trees, and if the hares are not exterminated the fruit trees will be. The supervisors therefore passed an ordinance compelling all owners of Belgian hares to keep the animals strictly confined, fixing the penalty for turning them loose at not less than twenty dollars or more than one hundred dollars."—Farm, Stock and Home.

Lester Prairie News: Mr. Lowry had three votes for U. S senator from start to finish. There's no luck in odd numbers—especially when they are so small.

Waseca Herald: Wonder if Bob Evans, as United States district attorney, will now have time to investigate the burning of mail matter, in Waseca, last November?

Waseca County Herald: The Janesville echo says: "Boodle took a back seat in the senatorial contest." Is that so; and do you give that as a reason why Towney was defeated?

Willmar Argus: It is Ex-Senator Towne now. The spell was brief but Charlie enjoyed it just the same. Had he remained a Republican when in congress it might have been longer.

Long Prairie Leader: A gang of swindlers in school books is reported to be operating in this state. School district officers should therefore be on their guard. Don't buy of strangers.

The St. Cloud Times: Hello! Is Tom Reed meditating another dash into politics? In declining to be interviewed the other day, he said: "I have retired from politics, at least for the time being."

St. Paul Globe: Editor Rice, of Manila, made the charge that a certain military autocrat was filling his pockets by illegal means and was deported in-tanter. Were they afraid he might prove his charges if allowed to remain?

St Cloud Times: Slowly but surely the railroads of the county are traveling toward one mammoth trust. Every deal like those recently put through by Pierpont Morgan in the East and Hill in the West, brings the trust nearer.

Willmar Tribune: Russia had its Siberia to which its liberty loving people were banished, England has its St. Helena where brave Cronje, the south African patriot, is in exile; and not to be outdone, the United States now has its Guam where the brainiest and brightest of the Filipinos are to languish for the crime of fighting self-government.

Willmar Tribune: Ex-Speaker Tom Reed says: "If the United States can kill 10,000 Filipinos in ten months and call it benevolent assimilation, how many did Spain have to kill in three hundred years to warrant the United States in designating Spanish rule as barbarism?" No member of Reed's party has yet attempted to publicly answer his conundrum. Tom should be more careful. He will get into trouble. The trust gang will howl him down as a traitor.

St. Peter Free Press: Son-in-law of Mike Doran the Minnesota democratic war horse, Elmer H. Dearth, has been appointed insurance commissioner, much to the chagrin of D. G. Robinson, of Mankato, who at one time labored under the impression that he had a dead sure thing on the position. Mr. Dearth helps the office under Gov. Clough, but was let out when Gov. Lind took hold of the reigns. This made the old boss wrathy and he did all he could to compass Lind's defeat. He was unable to reduce Lind's majority in Ramsey to a great extent, but he landed the insurance commissioner's plum for his son-in-law and is of course correspondingly happy.

Anoka Herald: It may not be small pox, and it may not be a serious desease and vaccination may not be a positive preventive; but it don't cost much to get a charge of vaccine and it don't hurt much, and statistics seem to prove that the operation does not spread the contagion, so we would advise all our readers who don't know more than the doctors and who don't believe the vaccination is merely a scheme of medical men to get a few dollars on the side when business is dull, to have a competent surgeon give them a shot of the virus. Then, if you have small pox, you will at least have the satisfaction of feeling that you did all in your power to avoid it—and if you escape the desease, you can congratulate yourself either upon your sagacity or your luck.

During a century a total of about 10,000,000 people have come from foreign countries to make their homes in the United States.

According to Sir Robert Ball, a distinguished English, scientist, the sun lost five miles of its diameter during the century recently closed.

The Kiowa country, which is to be opened in Oklahoma for settlement this summer, contains 9,000 homesteads, and the Wichita country, which will be opened at the same time, contains 3,400.

Though storm and flood did their terribly destructive work in Galveston, Tex., only such a little while ago, the undaunted citizens of the stricken town have done much toward restoring it to its former good condition.

Hiram Cronk, of Dunbrook, N. Y., has lived in three centuries, and, according to the list of names published by the United States commissioner of pensions, is the only living soldier of the war of 1812. He has just held a little celebration in honor of the incoming of the new century.

The San Francisco papers say that John Farrell, a mining expert in Oakland, is soon to start for Africa, where he will enter upon a search for "King Solomon's Mines," made famous in Rider Haggard's story. The search for the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow will never cease as long as there remains a man upon earth.

In these days of wars and rumors of wars, of disintegrating empires and expanding republics, it is comforting to know that some scientists find time to discuss whether wasps have memories or not. This was done in Chicago at a meeting of the naturalists of the western and central states. The principal essayist of the meeting maintained the affirmative.

A large Dublin manufacturer has a room entirely furnished with Irish peat. The carpets on the floor, the curtains at the windows and paper on the walls are made from this substance. For years he has experimented with the material, which is now very largely exported as fuel, and he has discovered that from it it is possible to procure most any kind of fabric.

Authorities on forestry say that 75 years are required for the oak to reach maturity; for the ash, larch and elm, about the same length of time; for the spruce and fir, about 80 years. After this time their growth remains stationary for some years, and then decay begins. There are, however, some exceptions to this, for oaks are still living which are known to be 1,000 years old.

An authority on bacteriology says that many diseases may be traced to the eating of unwashed fruit, and particularly of unwashed grapes. After washing some grapes which had stood for a long time in a basket on a fruit stand the man of science found that the water contained tubercle bacilli in sufficient quantites to kill a guinea pig in two days. Two other guinea pigs which were inoculated with the germ-infected water died within six weeks.

The New York palisade commission hopes to be able to save the beautiful palisades of the Hudson, which are now being ruined by contractors who are rapidly tearing them to pieces with dynamite. The committee has secured a temporary stay in the blasting, and hopes the state legislature will pass a law making it possible to put a permanent stop to the vandalism. New York is a very wealthy state and certainly cannot afford to have this world famous grandeur destroyed for the lack of a few hundred thousand dollars.

The testimony which some of their members gave in regard to hazing seems to have convinced the body of West Point cadets that it is an indefensible practice, which they have voluntarily pledged themselves to break up. That the cruelty of some of the performances has not occurred to them before would seem strange if it were not taken into account that the custom has prevailed for years. Precedents are not often scrutinized as to their ethical bearings. But the action of the classes should be accepted as the end of a bad custom.

The United States senate military committee is made up of soldiers. Senators Bate and Pettus fought in the Mexican war and in the confederate army. Bate was a major general and Pettus a brigadier general. Cockrell was a brigadier general and Harris, of Kansas, an adjutant general with Wilcox's brigade. On the republican side Senator Hawley, chairman of the committee, was a brevet major general, Proctor a colonel, Shoup a lieutenant and captain of scouts, Sewell a major general, Warren a noncommissioned officer and Burrows a major.

THE NEW SOVEREIGN.

In Obedience to His Dead Mother's Expressed Wish He Assumes Title of Edward VII.—His Address.

London, Jan. 24.—At the meeting of the privy council the king took the title of Edward VII., king of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and emperor of India.

The king, at the accession ceremony, wore a military uniform. His brief speech was delivered with great earnestness and was quite extemporaneous. It is expected it will be published later, in official form.

Proclamation Signed.

The proclamation of the accession of his majesty was signed by the princes present, the duke of York first, then the duke of Connaught, the duke of Cambridge, Prince Christian, the archbishop of Canterbury, the lord chancellor, the lord mayor and the other representatives of the city of London.

The King's Speech.

"Your Royal Highnesses, My Lords and Gentlemen: This is the most painful occasion on which I shall ever be called upon to address you. My first and melancholy duty is to announce to you the death of my beloved mother, the queen; and I know how deeply you and the whole nation, and, I think, I may say, the whole world sympathize with me in the irreparable loss we have all sustained. I need hardly say that my constant endeavor will be always to walk in her footsteps. In undertaking the heavy load which now devolves upon me I am fully determined to be a constitutional sovereign in the strictest sense of the word, and so long as there is breath in my body to work for the good and amelioration of my people.

"I have resolved to be known by the name of Edward, which has been borne by six of my ancestors. In doing so I do not undervalue the name of Albert, which I inherit from my ever-to-be-lamented great and wise father, who, by universal consent, is, I think, deservedly known by the name of Albert the Good, and I desire that his name should stand alone.

"In conclusion, I trust to parliament and the nation to support me in the arduous duties which now devolve upon me by inheritance and to which I am determined to devote my whole strength during the remainder of my life."

Edward's Reply to McKinley.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Following is the text of the reply which the president received from King Edward VII. in answer to his message of condolence on the death of the queen:

"Osborne, Jan. 24.—The President, White House, Washington, D. C.: Am most grateful for your kind sympathy in the irreparable loss which the nation and I have sustained. I felt convinced that it would be shared by you and the American people.

"EDWARD, R."

First Message to Parliament.

London, Jan. 26.—Both houses of parliament, Friday afternoon, received identical messages from the king and voted condolence with his majesty on his bereavement and congratulation on his accession to the throne.

The lord chancellor, Lord Halsbury, and the speaker, Mr. William Court Gully, read the message in their respective houses. It was as follows:

"Edward Rex: The king is fully assured that the house of commons will share the deep sorrow which has befallen his majesty and the nation by the lamentable death of his mother, the late queen. Her devotion to the welfare of her country and her people, and her wise and beneficent rule during the 64 years of her glorious reign, will ever be held in affectionate memory by her loyal and devoted subjects throughout the dominions of the British empire."

Memorial Services.

London, Jan. 28.—Sunday throughout the kingdom all places of worship held services in memory of Queen Victoria. At St. Paul's cathedral there was an unusual scene. Before nine o'clock in the morning an enormous crowd, wholly attired in black, streamed from all directions to the vast edifice, and by ten o'clock it was packed. Thousands, unable to obtain admission, stood vainly waiting on the steps and around listening to the low organ strains and muffled peal. The service began at half past ten. Most Rev. Frederick Temple, primate and archbishop of Canterbury, preached a most touching sermon.

DEALS ARE HEAVY.

Good Business Reported in All Lines of Trade—Better Prices in Some Instances.

New York Jan. 26.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "Rarely has there been more business in staples and in manufactured goods at practically unchanged prices than during the period since November 1. This week seems to have marked the climax of enormous dealings at figures which have become familiar. The heavy trade in pig iron at better prices, the larger distribution of dry goods at a firmer range of quotations and the rush to secure prompt delivery of boots and shoes all indicate that business may have escaped one of those weary readjustments of prices which have proved often so trying in recent years. Jobbing trade in the interior is good and collections continue excellent. Bank clearings at New York gain 52.1 per cent. over 1900 and 1.3 per cent. over 1899 for the week, while at leading cities outside New York there is a gain of 9.9 per cent. over 1900 and 3.4 per cent. over 1899. Railroad earnings thus far reported for January show a gain of 11.4 per cent. over last year and 24.6 per cent. over 1899.

"Staple products have moved within narrow limits, little attention being given to widely varying estimates from Argentina or reports of damage in the northwest through insufficient snow. Despite the advance in prices over those prevailing a year ago, exports of wheat, including flour, from Atlantic ports for the week were 2,568,818 bushels, against 1,644,149 last year, and of corn 3,472,614 bushels, against 3,097,607 in 1900. Western receipts of corn were heavy, amounting to 4,315,450 bushels, against 2,911,035 last year, but there is complaint of poor quality.

"Failures for the week were 306 in the United States, against 231 last year, and 46 in Canada, against 38 last year."

Young Arnold Given Heavy Sentence.

London, Jan. 26.—At the Old Bailey Friday Julian T. B. Arnold, son of Sir Edwin Arnold, who was ordered extradited from San Francisco in October last, charged with misappropriating trust funds, was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude.

HONOR FOR WILLIAM.

Edward VII. Makes German Emperor a Field Marshal in British Army.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 28.—Sunday morning Emperor William received from the hand of the duke of Connaught his sword on his appointment as a field marshal of the British army, in the presence of the households of King Edward and the dead queen, as well as a number of British and German naval officers. His majesty has expressed great delight at the appointment. Sunday he celebrated his birthday at Osborne and received congratulations from members of the German embassy in London.

In addition to the sword of a field marshal, King Edward has presented to Emperor William, already a knight of the garter, the insignia of the order in diamonds. The fact that this gift was ordered by the late queen with the intention of presenting it on the kaiser's birthday gave a pathetic interest to the presentation.

Emperor William, on learning of the king's intention to appoint him a field marshal, sent the followilng telegram to Lord Salisbury:

"The king, my august uncle, confers upon me the rank of a field marshal in his army and informs me that my appointment will be published on my birthday. I hasten to apprise you of my deep appreciation of so signal a mark of his majesty's affection for me, and I rejoice to think that I shall be numbered among those of the highest rank in his majesty's gallant army.

(Signed) "WILLIAM R."

The emperor sent a fac simile of the dispatch to Lord Roberts. Lord Salisbury replied as follows:

"I beg with most profound respect to tender to your imperial majesty my thanks for your telegram and my sincere congratulations upon the anniversary of your majesty's birthday and upon the appointment to the exalted rank of field marshal, which my august sovereign the king has been pleased to confer upon your imperial majesty; and I am convinced that your acceptance of the office will give the liveliest gratification to all classes of the nation, who have been deeply touched by the consideration and kindly feeling exhibited in your gracious visit on this solemn occasion."

BOERS CAPTURE A TRAIN.

Make Soldiers on Board Prisoners, and Take Possession of Military Stores.

Kimberley, Jan. 25.—A train with troops and military stores on board was waylaid and captured by Boers at Slijpklijp, near Fourteen Streams (north of Kimberley), this morning. The republicans captured a small post of Dublin fusileers, then blew up a culvert and waited for the train. An armored train has gone in pursuit of the Boers.

London, Jan. 28.—The war office has received from the commander-in-chief in South Africa a dispatch dated Pretoria, January 26, reporting numerous engagements, the following being the most important:

"Cunningham was engaged at Middlefontein and Kopperfontein yesterday with De Larey's force. Babington, while moving north from Ventersdorp, threatened the enemy's flank, whereupon the Boers retired west. Cunningham's casualties were two officers wounded, four men killed and 37 wounded. In the engagement at Lichtonburg, January 17, some yeomanry were captured. These have since been released, with the exception of a major and three men. No details are yet at hand. Smith-Dorrien had a successful engagement of five hours while on the march from Wonderfontein to Carolina, where the Boers had lately been concentrating. The enemy was in considerable strength and held the river, but were driven out. Our losses were one officer killed and two officers and 13 men wounded."

THOUSANDS PERISH.

Victims of Famine in the Chinese Province of Shang-Si—Decree Against Discrimination.

Peking, Jan. 28.—Ther has been great distress in the province of Shang-Si owing to the famine, and thousands have died. The court has ordered rice relief to be issued in large quantities. A report reached the foreign envoys that native Christians suffering from the famine were to be discriminated against and to be punished if they even begged for food. Mr. Conger, Sir Ernest M. Satow and M. Pichon, the United States, British and French ministers, protested to Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang against such discrimination and the court issued an edict ordering all relief officials and Chinese soldiers to treat Christians exactly the same as others throughout the empire under penalty of decapitation. The foreign envoys consider this a most important decree if it is carried out.

THE ARMOUR MILLIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Fifteen million dollars is the estimate put upon the fortune left by the late Philip D. Armour in a petition for letters testamentary, filed in the probate court Monday. The will, which was filed for probate Monday, divides the estate between his widow and his son, J. Ogden Armour, except that two sons of P. D. Armour, Jr., are to be paid $2,000,000 each in installments. Armour institute, it is understood, was provided for by liberal donations of real estate before the death of its benefactor.

It is estimated that Mr. Armour has given away $30,000,000 during his lifetime and that the total value of the property held by the Armour family to-day is $40,000,000.

A Fatal Nap.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 29.—A special from Parkersburg, W. Va., to the Morning Herald, says: Five persons dead and one severely wounded, two engines and ten loaded cars wrecked is the result of the mistake of a train crew Monday afternoon between Petroleum and Volcano Junction, on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. It was the old story of the engineer being asleep at his post and mistaking the first section of a passing train for the second.

A Generous Offer.

Oberlin, O., Jan. 26.—It was announced in chapel Friday afternoon that John D. Rockefeller had signified through J. W. Cowles, of Cleveland, a trustee of Oberlin college, his willingness to give $200,000 toward an endowment fund of $500,000 now being raised for the college, provided the entire amount shall be raised by the first of next year.

CAUGHT BY THE GRIP.

Released by Pe-ru-na---Congressman Howard's Recovery---Congressman Geo. H. White's Case.

La Grippe is epidemic catarrh.—It spares no class or nationality. The cultured and the ignorant, the aristocrat and the pauper. The masses and the classes are alike subject to la grippe. None are exempt—all are liable.

Have you the grip? Or, rather, has the grip got you? Grip is well named. The original French term, la grippe, has been shortened by the busy American to read "grip." Without intending to do so a new word has been coined that exactly describes the case. As if some hideous giant with awful Grip had clutched us in its fatal clasp. Men, women, children, whole towns and cities are caught in the baneful grip of a terrible monster.

Pe-ru-na for Grip.

Mrs. Dr. C. D. Powell, President of Epworth League, also President of Loyal Temperance Legion, writes from Chehalis, Wash.:

"I have used several remedies in cases of severe colds and la grippe, but none I consider of more value than Peruna."—Mrs. Dr. C. D. Powell.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus.

After-Effects of La Grippe.

Miss Emma Jouris, President Golden Rod Sewing Circle, writes from 40 Burling street, Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"This spring I suffered severely from the after-effects of la grippe. As the doctors did not help me I bought a bottle of Peruna."—Miss Emma Jouris.

Congressman Howard's Letter.

Fort Payne, Ala.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio:

Gentlemen—"I have taken Peruna now for two weeks and find I am very much relieved. I feel that my cure will be permanent. I have also taken it for la grippe and I take pleasure in recommending Peruna as an excellent remedy to all fellow sufferers."—M. W. Howard, Member of Congress.

La Grippe Leaves the System in a Deplorable Condition.

D. L. Wallace, a charter member of the International Barbers' Union, writes from 15 Western Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.:

"Following a severe attack of la grippe I seemed to be affected badly all over.

"One of my customers who was greatly helped by Peruna advised me to try it, and I procured a bottle the same day. Now my head is clear, my nerves are steady, I enjoy food, and rest well. Peruna has been worth a dollar a dose to me."—L. D. Wallace.

Grip Causes Deafness.

Mrs. M. A. Sharick, chaplain G. A. R. Woman's Relief Corps, writes from Fremont, Wash.:

"When la grippe was the prevailing illness in this Western country I was laid up the whole winter, I partially lost my hearing, and had a very bad case of catarrh of the head and throat.

"I read of Peruna, tried it and had my hearing restored and catarrh cured. I cannot speak too well of Peruna."—Mrs. M. A. Sharick.

La Grippe Cured in Its First Stage.

Lieutenant Clarice Hunt, of the Salt Lake City Barracks of the Salvation Army, writes from Ogden, Utah:

"Two months ago I was suffering with so severe cold that I could hardly speak.

"Our captain advised me to try Peruna, and procured a bottle for me, and truly it worked wonders. Within two weeks I was entirely well."—Clarice Hunt.

Congressman White's Letter.

Tarboro, N. C.

Gentlemen—"I am more than satisfied with Peruna and find it to be an excellent remedy for the grip and catarrh. I have used it in my family and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy." Geo. H. White, Member of Congress.

Remained in Feeble Health After Cured of La Grippe.

Mrs. T. W. Collins, Treasurer Independent Order of Good Templars, of Everett, Wash., writes:

"After having a severe attack of la grippe I continued in a feeble condition even after the doctor called me cured. My blood seemed poisoned. Peruna cured me."—Mrs. T. W. Collins.

LIEUT. MABEL C. HUNT.

A Bright Salvation Army Lassie, Who Knows How to Keep Her Corps in Good Health.

Ogden, Utah, Jan. 28, 1901 (Special).—The Pacific Coast Division of the Salvation Army, whose noble work in the interests of fallen humanity has done so much for this western country, has its headquarters in this city. One of the brightest and most enthusiastic workers is Lieut. Miss Mabel Clarice Hunt. Everyone knows how these devoted people parade the streets day or night, exposing themselves to all kinds of weather, that no opportunity may be lost of rescuing some poor unfortunate from sin and suffering. In some cases, their recklessness in thus exposing themselves has been commented upon as almost suicidal. Their answer to such criticisms invariably is their unfailing faith in the Divine injunction to "do right and fear not." Lieut. Hunt explains one of the means she employs to keep her "Soldiers" in good health, as follows:

"I have found Dodd's Kidney Pills of great value in cases of Kidney and Liver Trouble and Diseases contracted from severe colds. Several of our lads and lassies have been repeatedly exposed to cold weather and rain, and have spoken for hours out of doors, often with wet feet and chilled to the marrow. As a consequence of this exposure, Pulmonary Trouble, Rheumatism and Kidney Disorders often ensue. In such cases, I always advise Dodd's Kidney Pills, for I have noticed better results, quicker relief, and more lasting benefit from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills in such cases, than from all other medicines I know of combined. They cleanse the blood, regulate the system, and destroy disease."

A medicine which can do what Lieut. Hunt says so positively Dodd's Kidney Pills do is surely worth the attention of all who suffer with any form of Kidney Trouble, Rheumatism, or Blood Disorders.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

The Senatorial Question Being Settled, the Members Are Rapidly Getting the Wheels of Government in Motion.

St. Paul, Minn. Jan. 24—The event of yesterday was the joint session of house and senate where the formal announcement of the election of the United States senators was made. Speaker Dowling presided at the joint session and after the roll call the journals of the senate and house of Tuesday were read showing that each had given the majority of their votes to Knute Nelson for the six year term and to Moses E. Clapp for the remainder of the term of the late Senator Davis, the speaker then declared both gentlemen duly elected for those respective terms. Senator-elect Clapp was in the building and a committee which was appointed to wait on him soon returned with him, the band in the gallery playing "Hail to the Chief" and the entire legislature rising and cheering as he marched up the aisle. He delivered an eloquent and impressive speech which was greatly applauded after which the joint session adjourned.

Immediately after the adjournment the band in the gallery played the air of the "Baby" song in "Wang" while the audience sang again and again the following verse:

Moses, Moses.
We are all for Moses,
Out they go, in he goes,
On a bed of Roses.

In the meantime an informal reception had been extemporized, Senator Clapp standing at the foot of the speaker's desk and the members of the legislature and the spectators, many of whom were ladies, filing past him and extending congratulations. The "Moses" song was continued during the reception.

A telegram was read from Senator Knute Nelson returning thanks for his election and its reading was greeted with hearty cheers.

At the regular session of the senate two bills were introduced regulating state banks and throwing greater safeguards around them. Several communications were received from the governor announcing that he had made the following appointments:

Dairy and Food Commissioner—W. W. P. McConnell, of Blue Earth County.

Insurance Commissioner—Elmer H. Dearth, of Ramsey County.

State Oil Inspector—Fred C. Schiffmann, of Ramsey County.

Labor Commissioner—John O'Donnell, of Hennepin County.

States Prison Board—R. H. Bronson, of Washington County.

Surveyors General of Logs and Lumber—First District: W. C. Masterman, of Washington County; Second District: A. B. Robbins, of Hennepin County; Fifth District: G. F. Stevens, of St. Louis County.

In the regular house proceedings a lengthy bill, was introduced revising the entire system of the state banking laws. Another bill provides for the codification of all the laws of the state except those relating to taxation. It authorizes the supreme judges to appoint a commission of three to do the work at a salary of $6,000 a year each, and gives them two years time to complete it.

St. Paul, Jan. 25.—The senate session yesterday was quite brief, only two bill being offered. One allows the city of Owatonna to accept a bequest of $20,000 for a kindergarten, the executors refusing to turn it over on the ground that no one was legally authorixed to receive it. It was voted to take up the nominations sent in by ex-Governor Lind next Thursday, after which the senate adjourned to 8 p. m. Monday.

The house had a considerable number of bills introduced and transacted more business than the senate. One of the bills was anti-cigarette and forbids the sale or giving away of cigarettes or cigarette paper. Another bill gives traveling libraries an appropriation of $10,000.

There are two contested election cases in the house, one being Blair (rep.) against Mahood (dem.) from Le Sueur county, and Deering (dem.) against Schurman (rep.) from Ramsey county. The Le Sueur county case has been taken up actively by the committee on elections and a decision will probably be reached the coming week. The Ramsey county case has not yet been reached, and may never be very seriously considered.

After the usual routine work the house adjourned to 8 p. m. Monday.

St. Paul, Jan. 29.—Both houses of the legislature held short sessions last night. The members of the house gathered in the hall at 7 p. m., and after Representative Umland had introduced a bill ordering the payment of John C. Devereux's claim of $495 against the state, adjourned to meet at 10 o'clock this morning.

Devereaux's claim against the state is for service rendered during the fall of 1861, when, acting under the orders of the then adjutant general, he performed the duties of drillmaster and teacher at the Fort Snelling military school.

The senators were called to order at 8 o'clock and listened to the reports of the judiciary and educational committees and adjourned.

THE SAGE AND THE PEASANT.

Tale Which Illustrates a Moral That May Be Counted as One That Holds Good.

One day as the Sage was strolling about the country he met a Peasant who complained that his Ass was dead.

"Then you will no longer have to feed him," replied the Sage, according to the Boston Globe.

"But my wife is also ill," continued the Peasant.

"If that is the case, then she will not wear out shoes so fast."

"And but two nights ago a thief stole half my corn."

"That is also a blessing, as you will have less to carry on your back to market."

"Hear me, O Sage," said the Peasant as he wiped away his tears, "when I say that a Wolf has carried off my only Goat."

"I hear you," replied the wise and venerable man, "and I wonder that you complain. The Wolf could have taken your Calf instead of the Goat."

"And the blight has fallen upon my oats."

"I observed that, but your wheat never looked so well. As a matter of fact, my dear man, you have nothing whatever to complain of. On the contrary, you should rejoice that things are no worse."

The Sage was about to pass on when he struck his foot against a stone and fell heavily to the earth.

"Alas," he cried, "but I have met with a grevious fall!"

"It was a fall certainly," said the Peasant, "but you might have been blown up on a steamboat, you know."

"I think I have sprained my ankle."

"But you might have broken your neck instead."

"Had you but warned me of the stone I could have passed it to the left."

"In which case you would have tumbled into the old well and been drowned."

"O, Peasant," groaned the Sage, "hear me when I say that I am so badly shaken I may not get out of my hut for weeks."

"I hear you," replied the Peasant, "and I wonder that you lament. The less you get outdoors the fewer corns you will have on your toes. Taken all in all, you have nothing to complain of and much to rejoice over."

FAVORITE NUMBERS.

The Various Nations Have a Wide Range of Preferences in Using Figures.

That all numbers are not used with equal frequency by the various nations of the earth is clearly shown by M. Delaunay, a French scientist, who has devoted a good deal of time to a study of this subject, says the New York Herald.

"A marked preference," he says, "may be found almost everywhere for the numbers 2, 3 and 5, as well as for the multiples of these numbers. The Mohammedan countries, however, form an exception to this rule, since the number 3 is not used in them. Neither in Turkey nor in Persia can any trace of this number be found, and there are very few places in Egypt where the people use it. The French and the other Latin races prefer the numbers 2 and 5 and rarely use the number 3, whereas, on the other hand, the English prefer 2 and 3 and the Germans 3 and 5.

"As for the Asiatic races, I find that the Indians are very partial to the number 2 and its various multiples, while the Chinese, like the Latins, use 2 and 5 more than any other numbers. In France, Germany, Sweden, Norway, India, South America and the United States the number 7 is more or less popular, but the countries in which it is used most frequently are Russia and the other Slavonian lands. In fine, just as a horror of 3 is a characteristic of the Turks, so a love of 7 is a characteristic of the Slavs.

"The higher numbers are rarely used, though they are found occasionally in certain countries, such as 11 in Salvador, 17 in Mexico, 19 in Spain and 31 in the Philippines. I learned to my surprise that the inhabitants of Hawaii are very fond of the number 13, a fact which shows that they know nothing of the prejudice against the number."

Probably Not.

Elsie—Yes, dear, my husband is a doctor, and a lovely fellow, but awfully absentminded.

Ada—Indeed!

Her Chief Alarm.

"It is so," agreed the old lady. "What with all the natives fighting we're just as likely as not to have a most distressing tea famine this year."—Philadelphia Press.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Growth of the State.

Director Merriam has completed the compilation of the population of Minnesota, and he has issued a bulletin which says:

The population of the state in 1900 is 1,751,394, as compared with a population in 1890 of 1,301,826, showing an increase since 1890 of 449,568, or 34.5 per cent. A part of this increase is due to the fact that there were 8,208 Indians and 249 other persons, or a total of 8,457 persons, on Indian reservations, etc., in Minnesota, who were specially enumerated in 1890 under the provisions of the census act, but was not included in the general population of the state at that census. The increase of 34.5 per cent, though materially less than that of earlier decades, represents in fact a large accession to the population of a state which has been distinguished for its rapid growth throughout its brief history. Attention is particularly arrested by the influx of population this territory during the decade from 1850 to 1860, when the number of inhabitants increased from 6,977 to 172,023, or 2,730.7 per cent.

The population of Minnesota in 1900 is more than 288 times as large as that given for 1850, the first census in which the population of the territory, now comprising the state, was enumerated.

The total land surface of Minnesota is, approximately, 79,205 square miles, the average number of persons to the square mile at at the censuses of 1890 being as follows: 1890, 16.4; 1900, 22.1.

All of the eighty-two counties in the state have increased in population during the decade, the counties showing more than 100 per cent of increase being Beltrami, 3,435.3 per cent; Cook, 726.5 per cent; Cass, 523.7 per cent; Itasca, 515.5 per cent; Hubbard, 365.9 per cent; Lake 258.3 per cent; Kanabec, 192 2 per cent; Pine, 184.9 per cent; Millelacs, 183.5 per cent, and Aitkin, 173.9 per cent. There are also twenty-four counties which have increased in population more than 50 per cent but less than 100 per cent during the last ten years.

A New Flax Grade.

Minnesota is to have a new grade of flax, and the board of appeals has sent the following general announcement to producers and grain merchants of of the Northwest:

No. 1 Northwestern Flaxseed—Flaxseed to grade No. 1 Northwestern shall be mature, sound, dry and sweet. It shall be Northern grown. The maximum quantity of field, stack, storage or other damaged seed intermixed shall not exceed twelve and one-half (12½) per cent. The minimum weight shall be fifty-one (51) pounds to the measured bushel of comercially pure seed.

No. 1 Flaxseed—No. 1 flaxseed shall be sound, dry and free from mustiness, and carrying not more than twenty-five (25) per cent of immature or field, stack, storage or other damaged flaxseed, and weighing not less than fifty (50) pounds to the measured bushel of commercially pure seed.

Rejected Flaxseed—Flaxseed that is damp, immature, field damaged or musty, and yet not to a degree to be unfit for temporary storage, and having a test weight of not less than forty-seven (47) pounds to the measured bushel of commercially pure seed, shall be rejected.

No Grade Flaxseed—Flaxseed that is warm, mouldy, very musty, wet or otherwise unfit for storage, or having a weight of less than forty-seven (47) pounds to the measured bushel of commercially pure seed, shall be no grade.

Saloon Lunch.

At first glance these figures seem large. There are in Minneapolis 328 saloons, and an average expense of $5 a day for lunches is not large. This means that the average daily expense for provender is $1,640. There are 312 "working" days in the year—the lunch does not run on Sunday. This brings the total expense for food up to $511,680. In addition, each lunch requires the attention of at least one man and the minimum wage scale is $10 a week, or $520 a year. Multiply this by 328 and there is the total of $170,560 paid for salaries. Then there are the ice man and the gas company.

Up in Arms.

Residents of Minnetonka are up in arms against the laws permitting the spearing of fish under certain conditions during the winter. They say that it removes the protection from the fish which other game laws had afforded, and predict that if continued, the finny tribe in the lake is in a fair way to become extinct. It is said that mercenary fishers have taken 15,000 pounds of fish out of Excelsior bay for the Minneapolis market this winter. "Tonka people blame the present deputy warden, and express a hope that the new game and fish commission will appoint a warden who will endeavor to break up the whoiesale ice fishing.

Brief Notes.

Clerk of Court Trippe has received the vital statistics of Winona county. They show 755 births and 383 deaths during 1900, compared with 790 births and 409 deaths during 1899.

The Hotel Buckman at Little Falls was completely destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock in the morning. The guests lost all their personal effects and barely escaped alive. The fire was discovered by the night clerk in the laundry in the northwest corner of the basement. The origin is unknown.

A. K. Teisberg, St. Paul, secretary of the Minnesota railroad commission, discussed before the industrial commission the transportation of grain in Minnesota. He stated that during the past few years there had been many reductions in the state freight rates, and in some cases the charges had been reduced 50 per cent.

The Farmers and Investors' Land company of Little Falls has closed a deal for 6,000 of land from the Northern Pacific and St. Paul & Duluth. This purchase includes all railroad lands east of the Missippissippi river in Morrison county.

There will be a new steamer on Lake Minnetonka next season.

Adjutant General Lambert has issued an order which relates to the reenlistments and to officers' reports. The contract of enlistments being purely voluntary, an order rescinding another for the discharge of a soldier unless based upon written application.

Result of a Prompt Reply.—Two Letters from Mrs. Watson, Published by Special Permission.—For Women's Eyes Only.

March 15, 1899.

To MRS. PINKHAM, LYNN, MASS.:

"DEAR MADAM:—I am suffering from inflammation of the ovaries and womb, and have been for eighteen months. I have a continual pain and soreness in my back and side. I am only free from pain when lying down, or sitting in an easy chair. When I stand I suffer with severe pain in my side and back. I believe my troubles were caused by over work and lifting some years ago.

"Life is a drag to me, and I sometimes feel like giving up ever being a well woman; have become careless and unconcerned about everything. I am in bed now. I have had several doctors, but they did me but little good.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been recommended to me by a friend, and I have made up my mind to give it a fair trial.

"I write this letter with the hope of hearing from you in regard to my case."—MRS. S. J. WATSON, Hampton, Va.

November 27, 1899.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to acknowledge to you the benefit that your advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me.

"I had been suffering with female troubles for some time, could walk but a short distance, had terrible bearing down pains in lower part of my bowels, backache, and pain in ovary. I used your medicine for four months and was so much better that I could walk three times the distance that I could before.

"I am to-day in better health than I have been for more than two years, and I know it is all due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I recommend your advice and medicine to all women who suffer."—MRS. S. J. WATSON, Hampton, Va.

This is positive proof that Mrs. Pinkham is more competent to advise sick women than any other person. Write her. It costs you nothing.

BUFFALO GAZETTE

DELANO, FRIDAY, Feb. 1. 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—The ice corp for this winter is about harvested.

—This morning's east bound train was about four hours late.

—A sleigh riding party visited Watertown a couple of days this week.

—The Epworth League will have a dime social at John Daigren's this evening. There is good sleighing.

The Wright County Newspaper association is to hold its next meeting at Annandale, on Monday, March 4.

—Speckel & Schaust lost a horse Saturday. He got over the manger and choked himself. Of course he was the best one they had.

—Complaint is quite general that the electric lights are not up to the full 16 candle power, by considerable. Maybe fuel is too high.

—January has been an unusually fine winter month for Minnesota. There has been a few cold snaps, but lots of sunshine and litte wind, making it quite agreeable.

—The Ladies Aid of the M. E. Church Sociable, at Mrs. J. D. Young's on Friday evening was well attened and, as usual at Mrs. Young's everybody had a good time.

—A down town politician handed us this morning, the following as a possible ticket for the ensuing election. For Mayor, C. J. Buckley; For Councilmen J. D. Young, J. M. Gott, J. W. Lindsley; Recorder, S. M. Ash.

—The new slot machines put in by several saloons this week seem, from accounts, to be good temperance workers. They have, already, taken most of the nickels in town and many a fellow sees his nickel go, and gets nothing. Nothing is much better than too much, sometimes.

—Spelling has not entirely gone out of fashion after all. We judge from the number who have mentioned the publication in last week's GAZETTE of 500 words often misspelled. Several have preserved the list, and one man says he intends pronouncing from it every evening until his boys can spell the whole number.

—The Washington's Birthday Association of Delano met on Wednesday and arranged a programme for the 22nd. It is proposed to have the doors open at 1 P. M. and have the exercises begin at 1:30 P. M. There is to be as patriotic a meeting as it is possible to have. The songs and speeches are to be on the line of patriotism.

—Quarantine of J. T. Hanna, who has just recovered from smallpox was raised Saturday. He is back at his old place, clerk in the Meister House. The pest house has been thoroughly fumigated and our village is once again free from smallpox, and can be thankful that one case was all we had. Though that was one of the most severe for this epidemic.

—Rev. M. Says visited St. Paul last week and examined the stock of microscopes kept by Noves Bros. & Cutler German, Austrian and English makes were thoroughly looked into and then the purchaser finally decided that an American instrument made at Syracuse N. Y. U. S. A., was the most preferable to own, and purchased one, which with appliances was held at $300. Rev. Says is bound to see things; even microscopically infinitesimal.

—Provisions should be made to secure a supply of good water for domestic purposes, for the village water system. The present water from the river is cleary unfit, and grows worse every year. For a town of this size sufficient water of good quality can be easily obtained to supply all who may need water; thus doing away with many shallow wells which every year become more and more a menace to the health of our village.

—W. H. Freeman received a letter from his son the Principal of the school at Pelican Rapids, a few days ago. Ed. said things are progressing fine. The school is flourishing; so is he. He was at a Bobby Burns banquet on the 25 of Jan. and sends home the bill of fare which reads as follows:

WHAT WE'LL HAE TAE EAT.

FIRST COURSE.

Bannocks Scones

SECOND COURSE.

Tay Salmon wi' Butter Broo Finnin Haddies
Tatties, buried i' cream.

THIRD COURSE.

Haggis, ..Great Chieftain o' the Puddin' Race
"Fair fa' your honest sonsie face."

FOURTH COURSE

Tripe in auds Sour Dock

A Cup o' Life n's Half a Croon.

—After consulting the State Board of Health it was learned that the local board has no power to enforce the recommendation as to cutting ice. The local board had already visited the river and decided to give no license for cutting ice inside the village limits But to license persons to bring ice from Lake Honey. The Lake Honey ice is fine, and several have secured their ice from there. The fact that some people persist in using the river ice is sufficent evidence of the need of a law in accordance with the recommendations of the State Board of Health. People who regard their health will patronize people who have purest to eat or drink. For refrigerator purposes alone, of course the impure ice will cool things; but for internal use it should not be used.

—Mr. Gutzwiller, a member of the Board of Education, who was so much in favor of freee text books, a few years ago seems, for some reason to have recently learned that they are dangerous to the healthof pupils, and that parents would prefer that their children would have their own books, to having some old wornout books that have been used for termafter term by others. But he clingsto the idea that it is better to "temporarily borrow" year after year, and,of course, pay interest at short rates, than to raise enough tax to pay as we go. Our district has not yet got out of debts caused by the propensity for making loans, possessed by Mr. G. (some of which have proved to be pretty long drawn out to call "temporary loans," and which were contracted and "refunded" years ago. The interest is no small item; and has beent he cause of higher taxes than would otherwise have been necessary.

MAPLE PLAIN.

Some say the latch string of prosperity is growing in length all the while. With the $68,000,000 Harbor and River appropriation bill, the Ship subsiby bill, the Philippine war as an accompaniement, there is no reason why the bankers, the millionaire and money loaner should not have prosperity and also much of this world's goods.

We are in need of more snow to make good sleighing.

J. W. Peterson has bought his old property back that he formerly owned in the village.

There was a surprise party at John Pagenkoff's last Friday night, and another at O. Styner's last night.

HAVE YOU GOT IT?

Oh! the grip is in the air!
Have you got it?
It is on the gripey tear!
Have you got it?
It has run from rocky Maine
To the great Sierrian chain,
And then doubled back again!
Have you got it?

If your nose burns when you sneeze,
You have got it!
If your wabbly in the knees,
You have got it!
If your mouth assumes a taste
That can mentally be traced
To a slaughter house's waste,
You have got it!

If your eyes seem dull as lead,
You have got it!
If they look post-jaggy red,
You have got it!
If the pan that holds your brain
Seems to house a mess of pain,
And from oaths you can't refrain,
You have got it!

If you're sour in every bone,
You have got it!
If your joints have turned to stone,
You have got it!
If your friends all seem as foes
And you wake from out a doze
With a bonfire in your nose,
You have got it!

If your back is filled with ache,
You have got it!
If you think that life's a fake,
You have got it!
If your stomach is in plight
That it seems inclined to fight
When your food is flashed in sight,
You have got it!

But you shouldn't worry so
'Cause you've got it!
There are others, don't ye know,
Who have got it!
You are not the only one
Keeping doctors on the run
And the druggist counting mon.
We've all got it!

"UNDER THE SUN."

The men that have gone before us
Have sung the songs we sing;
The words of our clamorous chorus,
They were heard of the ancient king.

The chords of the lyre that thrill us,
They were struck in the years gone by,
And the arrows of death that kill us
Are found where our fathers lie.

The vanity sung of the Preacher
Is vanity still to-day;
The moan of the stricken creature
Has rung in the woods alway.

But the songs are worth resinging
With the change of no single note,
And the spoken words are ringing
As they rang in the years remote.

There is no new road to follow, Love!
Nor need there ever be,
For the old, with its hill and hollow,
Love!
Is enough for you and me.

—Charles R. Bacon, in Century.

THE TYBURN TREE

By John D. Sherman.

(Copyright, 1900, by the Authors' Syndicate.)

WHEN Mistress Anne Bradshaw, my maid, had taken down my hair and got me ready for bed I sent her away. Then, slipping on a wrapper and stirring up the coals, I sat down before the hearth to think over my evil case.

But even as I set myself to the task I laughed to think of my father's words. "Molly," my Lord Overton had said, "whether it's sorrow or joy you'll have I know not, but you'll have plenty of one or the other. Most like 'tis sorrow, for you're a dangerous woman—dangerous to yourself as well as the men. You've the beauty, Molly, my girl, that drives men mad. And you've got a heart; that's a mistake. Worse still, you've got a man's brain. And worst of all you're getting into the habit of using it." And so, using my man's brain, I set out my case thus as I sat before the fire in my London lodgings:

First. I, Lady Mary Overton, had contrived and effected the escape of the king's prisoner, one Walter Selden, under escort to Newgate and thence to Tyburn Tree for execution, said prisoner being an adherent of the pretender and high in his secrets. The prisoner had been recaptured, to be sure, but full report of the matter had been made to the king, whereby the house of Overton was in strong disfavor and powerless to intercede in the young man's behalf, if not in actual danger of punishment, through my act. My father's appeal, made in response to my entreaties, had been denied and his connection was afraid to move in the matter, lest a bad job be made worse. Then I myself had come to London to ask the king's mercy. I had found my fine women acquaintances openly scornful and my erstwhile adoring servants among the men cold and cautious. This very day I had played my last card and lost—the king had refused me an audience. And the fatal day was but a week away!

Second. Having thus done my utmost, why should I further persist in so hopeless and dangerous a quest? True, I had boasted to Walter Selden that he should go free, even if he was recaptured; in fact, he had refused rescue at my hands until I had convinced him that Lady Mary Overton was set too high to take harm in the adventure. Was there nothing more in the matter than to make good an idle boast? Aye, there was the rub! What was Walter Selden to me?

Third. I had never seen the man but thrice in my life—twice in London and the night I had stolen him away from the soldiers billeted at our Dorsetshire manor house. In London the man was like any other dandy and fop to the outward seeming, yet when I looked into his eyes I knew what it was for the first time to be disturbed by a man. Why had I taken him from the soldiers? Because of the youth in my veins and something in my bosom that said he must not die. It was not love then; 'twas pity. But when, instead of falling on his knee and kissing my hand by way of thanks, he took me in his arms in spite of my struggles and kissed me full on the lips—then I was angry indeed, but I knew my fate. Did I, then, love this rebel prisoner, Walter Selden? Aye, even I, Lady Mary Overton, disdainful of a score of suitors, loved him—unasked. And what price would I pay for my love? Anything; everything.

Since I loved him and would pay the price of his liberty what could be done? Beauty, rank, influence—all had failed and would fail again. What then remained? But one thing—money. But how could money be used? No bribes could spirit the prisoner from Newgate; even my letters had come back to me unopened. No gold could save him from the hands of the sheriff and the hangman; they would be powerless though I loaded them down with shining guineas.

So it had come down to this—whispered half fearfully in my ear by Mistress Anne Bradshaw — "A rescue." Such things had been done and the prisoner taken from the very noose on Tyburn Tree. But could I bring myself to this? Aye, God help me, even to this—and more too.

I rang for Mistress Anne Bradshaw.

No need to set forth the devious ways by which I came to an understanding with the instrument—an outrageous little villain from Ratcliffd Highway against whom the powers of Bow street seemed to be helpless. He drove a hard bargain when we came to speech, cash down in advance. God knows I grudged him not the money, though it was the price of more than one fat farm, but could I trust him? But scarcely an inkling of his plans would he confide to me. And when at parting I felt my way towards offering to pay him as much again in case he was successful this strange creature stopped me with a certain real dignity. And so perforce I had to content myself with the bargain made and take the villain on trust.

Nor is there need to go over the agony of suspense and the alternating hopes and fears of those days and nights that followed. Sure, never a poor maid was more torn and distracted. Only once did I even smile, and that was when my Lady Kilmurry sent me word to join her party which was to see the execution from the second floor of the cook shop on Oxford street, close to Hyde Park. "All London has it that you are pining for love of the rebel; come and show London that it is wrong," ran my lady's note. And then I smiled to think how thinly veiled was her maliciousness and what she would say if she knew that the first floor of the cook shop was mine for that day, in obedience to a hint from my friend from Ratcliffd Highway.

The square was packed solid with humanity, intent and expectant. The spectators' galleries were jammed and every window full. Out of the midst of the crowd rose the scaffold, gaunt and horrible, the red-coated soldiers grouped about its platform. I laughed and chatted with the fashionable, malicious fools about me; no hint of my agony should they get from me. Then the clock struck ten. A church bell began to toll. The crowd began to sway and a cry went up: "It's coming."

Slowly the cart made its way down Tyburn road. About it were the prison officers, Chaplain Vickerstaffe and Gregory Brandon, the hangman. But I had no eyes for aught save the figure in the cart. The prison pallor was in his face and he was meanly dressed, but he bore himself with a fine fortitude and dignity that thrilled me to the heart with pride. The cart came to a stand beside the gallows, under the noose that dangled from above. The soldiers drew bayonets and formed a circle round. The sheriff, the governor of Newgate and the other officials took places on the platform. The chaplain got out his book. The hangman began to tie the prisoner's hands behind him. The vast crowd surged closer.

I sat in frozen horror unable to believe my eyes and yet realizing that I was looking my last on Walter Selden. The rescue? I dismissed it as an idle dream. My soul flew out to my lover over the crowd to help him meet his death like a man.

And then suddenly I saw that the crowd was surging in disorder about the soldiers. I heard the officers crying out commands. Then a red coat went down and another and I could see staves in the air. In another instant a crowd of men armed with cudgels broke through the ring of soldiers and swarmed around the cart. The hangman was swept aside, the chaplain knocked over, the prisoner freed of his bonds. Before I could realize it all the cart was empty, the rescuers lost in the crowd and the multitude cheering and laughing at the discomfiture of the soldiers.

Then I burst from my friends and rushed below stairs. The back door of the cook shop opened and let in the prisoner, the little villain I had doubted at his elbow and swelling with professional pride.

"You?" cried my lover.

"Certainly," said I, mighty cool and dignified. "You remember I told you you should go free."

"But," he cried, "I must know one thing before I go—or I do not stir a step. Will you marry me—when I come back?"

"What?" said I. "Me, Lady Overton, marry a rebel felon, fleeing for his life?"

"Even so, Molly," said he, with a smile on his lips and a sparkle in his eye, getting hold of my hands.

"Well," said I, "I suppose I must say yes. The best horse in London waits at the door, the Dover packet is engaged and the rescue must come off according to programme."

With that he caught me in his arms, smothered me with kisses and was gone.

Sight of Snow a Treat.

Some years ago in the month of December a jeweler of Sydney, New South Wales, Australia, paid a man to collect a freight car full of snow in the mountains and deliver as much of it to him as he could. On Christmas day in the jeweler's window was a huge snowball, resting on a deep iron tray, and when the news spread about the city traffic was blocked for several hours until the novel sight had melted. Men who had not seen snow for 40 years, when they emigrated from the "old country," hobbled out among the crowds and people swarmed and struggled to get a glimpse of what they looked on as a sort of eighth wonder of the world.

DUTY AND DESTINY.

(From the Commoner.)

When a people long for freedom
Grab their lands "because we need 'em;"
Hold 'em up and deftly bleed 'em—
Thats the new, the modern way.
Shoot 'em full of moral suasion;
Prate of love when you've occasion;
Start out right on each invasion—
But be sure you make it pay.

Shoulder arms and be preparing
For big slices when they're sharing
Lands of those who have the daring
To ask for freedom this late day,
Seize a piece and call it duty—
(Duty is one name for booty)—
If a victim speaks of loot, he Should be told "'Tis destiny.

Show the world you love your neighbor.
Take and keep fruits of his labor;
If he kicks, get the gun and sabre
And convince him though you slay,
But be kind while you are looting;
Be benevolent while shooting,
While at love of freedom hooting
And be sure you make pay.

THE Minneapolis Democrat is again in the hands of N. P. Olsen, as editor. He is bound to give the city folks a chance to read the Democratic ideas at all hazards.

A Filipino on The Philippines.

A native Filipino, Benito Ligarda, formerly secretary of the treasury in Aguinaldo's cabinet, has recently given an interesting interview in New York concerning the situation in the islands. He is vouched for as one of the most highly respected citizens of Manila and as a gentleman of unimpeachable veracity. That he is conservative as well as an intelligent observer is apparent in all his statements What he says will therefore have more weight than the hearsay reports of statements of irresponsible and comparatively unknown natives which the anti-administration press is continually under its tongue Of the drift of native sentiment since September, when he left Manila, he does not undertake to speak with authority, as he has had, like the rest of America, to depend on meager and contradictory press reports. He, however, has great faith in the tact and wisdom of the Taft commission and its ultimate success in winning the confidence of the natives.-Pioneer Press.

Why should the Pioneer single out the above man as a person of so much greater weight than his former superior officer, Aguinaldo? On the same footing the Pioneer Press would have taken Benedict Arnold in preference to George Washington, and yet, this month Americans celebrate the birthday of George Washington.

IT dont look just exactly right for the President to appoint two sons of judges of the Supreme Court to fat positions in the government employ, while an important question; one that may make, or undo the President's foreign policy, is pending before that high court. It it is pretty ticklish business for the judges, and for the young men, and especially so for the President, just at present. But "all is well that ends well" is an old saying and may prove true.

THE retirement of David B. Hill, of New York from politics is not meeting with any great effusions of sorrow in this part of the country. When a man at the hight of his glory comes all the way from New York to St. Paul to talk on political issues of the day at a time when the single or double standard is a leading question and deliberately winds up his speech with the remark that, I will not tell you where I stand on the money question, but I hope the discovery of the gold fields of South Africa will settle it, he is placing his hopes on rather too flimsy a foundation and deserves to retire. May he rest in peace.

"THE Boer War is over." was Lord Robert's story when he came home. It seems to be much more over now. Lord Kitchner is chasing the Boers all over. A lot of them have got into Cape Colony; some have gone into Portuguese country. Surely the Boer War is getting all over.

THE legislature could do a good job by fixing the mode of securing jurymen in the district court. The present system is open for objection. How would it be to elect men to act as jurymen. Their names to be placed on the ticket along with other candidates. It seems as if men would try to elect men for so important a position in whose hands they would not fear to trust their fortunes or their lives.

IT is claimed in Manila dispatches that a representative of the federal party has returned from the Island of Mandique with a role of 5,000 signaturer membership, and claims that it will result in the termination of insurrection in Marndique.

What a time he must have had making "his cross" to all those "signatures". Or are the smart people living in that Island? And if they are why not give them independence.

A GREAT man J. S. Vandiver. It is claimed he roped in a lot of St. Paul politicians to sign a petition to Gov. Van Sant to pardon Mrs. Mollie Morris, a shoplifter. She was pardoned. And the Gov. is awfully mad about it. Almost as mad as Ex-Gov. Lind was when he read that trash in the Dispatch which the same Vandiver was blamed with, and for which the court thought $600. ought to be paid.

WONDER if Gen. Otis really thinks his tirade against Senator Towne's speech has much weight with the people. Those who read the papers more than two years past place little faith in Gen Otis' statements about the Philippines and the war there. The famous reports "Gen. Otis has the situation well in hand" began appearing more than two years ago, and only last week we read of a lot of American soldiers being killed. It seems as if Gen. Otis didn't understand the situation perfectly.

SOME politicians mostly goldbugs are endeavoring to arrange the Democratic ticket for President and Vice President so soon. They announce "Olney and Towne;" others say "Dave Hill and Towne." Don't you believe it. Democracy needs to gather itself together in earnest for Democratic principles. Let the leaders express themselves on the various and numerous important questions as Towne has done; and not sulk in their tents and try to get into office over the head of those who have born and are bearing the brunt of the battle; and when the time comes the people know will who they want to head their ticket.

THE deporting business seems to be overdone by the authorties at Manila. Only low mumblings were herd when news came that former Filipino officers were sent to Guam. But when a native born American citizen Geo. T. Rice, editor of a Manila newspaper was torn from his business and deported to Minnesota, it excited comment that would not down. Senator Teller has called up a resolution in the U. S. Senate and spoken upon it asking the Secretaryof war for information concerning the affair. President McKinley always wants to know the public feeling on most matters. It will not be a difficult task for him to obtain it on the deportation business. It is un-American.

Don't be Discouraged.

Charlie Towne shot off his little speech in the senate and then made way for Senator Clapp. It is safe to say there will be no more speeches of the same tone from Minnesota senators for many years—Sherburne County Star News.

Probably no other man you could have sent to Washington would come as near to the same tone as Senator Clapp, and he has nearly four more years to serve yet. Don't be discouraged.

IT seems sort of curious to read in the telegrams from Manila that a leading Spanish Merchant, and an American contractor have been arrested for furnishing goods to the Filipinos, and this after two years of experience by the administration in opening up a market for our goods in the Orient. It also seems queer, that after two years of effort by our government's agents, in trying to civilize and enlighten and Americanize the Filipinos, that a young Minnesotian should be torn from his editorial chair, and transported across the broad Pacific's tranquil bosom. Don't we believe in free trade between subjects of own county any more? Don't we believe in freedom of press for our citizens? Do we believe in deporting people from their homes?

KANSAS' Governor is considerably wrought up over the actions of a woman Mrs. Carrie Nation. Minnesota's Governor is mad about the actions of some men in petitioning for a pardon for a woman, Mollie Morris.

THE daily papers are howling awfully about Towne's speech in the U. S. Senate. Nearly all call it a masterpiece. A few try to belittle it. One, Gen. E. S. Otis, has tried to deny some of the statements. As the boys who were in the 13th say they never knew of Gen. Otis getting outside of the walled city of Manila, his evidence of how much or how little the Filipinos know, is not much better than it was on the subject of their subjugation when he used to send word over that "the situation is well in hand."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb 2, 1901

The shrewdness of the Hanna-McKinley bluff in the Senate by antagonizing appropriation bills with the Ship Subsidy bill cannot be denied. Having determined that there shall be an extra session of Congress anyway, they could afford to make this bluff. If they succeed in getting the Subsidy steal through by it, they will dodge the charge of arranging for the extra session just to get it through; if the subsidy bill fails to get through, it may also prevent some of the regular appropriation bills from getting through, thus furnishing other reasons for the extra session than Mr. McKinley's sudden desire to have Congress provide a form of civil government for the Philippines and his anxiety lest the Cubans should have to wait a few months for Congressional action on the constitution they are now making. Unless all signs are wrong, there is some partisan deviltry behind this extra session plan. It is easily conceivable that if the republicans intend to do some partisan legislating in the Fifty-seventh Congress, for the purpose of perpetuating themselves in power, they would prefer doing it this spring to postponing it to the regular session, which will not close until a few months before the next Congressional campaign. The large republican majority in both branches of the next Congress will be a great temptation to a certain class of their leaders to indulge in partisan legislation.

There are indication that the republicans are going to try to do in the next Congress what they were afraid to do in connection with the Re-apportionment bill passed by the present Congress—poke their fingers into the internal affairs of the Southern States that have by constitutional provision curtailed negro suffrage. Enough was said when the credentials of Senator-elect Simmons, of, N. C. were presented to the Senate to show that an attempt is to be made in the next Congres to get the matter before Congress without objecting to the seating of Senators from the States that have restricted suffrage - N. C., S. C., Miss., and La. Whether the attempt will succeed will depend upon the support it gets from the conservative republicans, many of whom have said in private conversations that they were opposed to any agitation of this sort in Congress, and would have favored the suffrage restrictions had they lived in the States that have adopted them. Democratic Senators will to a man oppose any and every move to question the right of Senators from the four above named States to take their seats in the next Congress.

The Judiciary committee by a vote of 10 to 5 adopted a resolution declaring that Representative Richardson, of Ala., is only entitled to draw salary from Aug. 6, 1900, the date of his election to fill the vacancy made by the the resignation of Gen. Joe Wheeler. If sanctioned by the House, as it probably will be this dicision will serve as a precedent. It has been contended by some that Mr. Richardson's salary should date back to the day Gen. Wheeler resigned by others that it should date from March 4, 1898. the beginning of the Fifty-sixth Congress.

Senator Turner, of Washington, in a speech against the Ship Subsiby bill, characterized it as vicious in its principle and absurd in its extravagance: one quarter government paternalism and three quarters a lawless, piratical raid upon the public treasury, its principal purpose being to enrich a few private individuals, by giving $270,000,000, of public money to one favored industry. Mr. Turner called particular attention to the fact that instead of operating for twenty years, as generally supposed, at a cost of $180,000,000, the bill, if it it became a law, would be for thirty years and cost $270,000,000.

Although the Ship Subsiby bill is not before the House, Representative Thayer, of Mass., took advantage of the wide lattitude allowed in the discussion of appropriation bills to make a strong speech against it bristling with common sense arguments showing that the measure would not result in building up our merchant marine, and concluding with these words: "If the American merchant Marine is to be revived and rehabilitated so as to take a prominent and commanding position among the nations of the world it will be done in some other way than by the temporary intoxicant provided by the provisions of this bill, and we have no moral right, even if we were constrained by no other consideration, to tax 72,000,000 people that we may bestow a bounty upon seven companies or corporations."

It is now admitted by Treasury officials that the greater portion of the taxes imposed nominally to meet the expenses of the war with Spain, but really to make up the deficit that would have existed long before now on account of the prohibitive nature of many sections of the Dingley tariff act, will be permanent, because of the increasing public expenditures income from customs duties. Some prominent republicans are openly advocating the lowering of tariff duties to increase the revenue, but the rockribbed high protectionists, of whom Mr. McKinley is one of the chief priests, will not consent to that as long as they have the power to prevent it. So the people can make up their minds to pay the war taxes not cut by the bill now before the Senate for at lest four years more.

DISTRIBUTION OF SEED.

Delayed by the Failure to Work of the Filling and Sealing Machinery.

Considerable delay is being occasioned in the congressional seed distribution by the failure of the filling and sealing machinery to work as it was expected to do. The invention is a new one, and not yet in a state of perfection, but it is thought that the inventor, who spends his time in the plant, will be able to have it in good working order in the next few days.

Just now the work of filling, sealing and franking the bags is being done by hand as rapidly as possible, and some orders are being gotten out for the localities in which planting first occurs.

It is thought by the contractors that the plant, which is conveniently located near the post office, will be in full working order in the next few days, and that, even with the present delay and the extra appropriation, the work will be completed much more rapidly than ever before.

Some fear is entertained by some congressmen lest Secretary Wilson's test for germination is too high, and that he is paying too much attention to the scientific character of the supply, and thus materially retarding the distribution. The congressmen frankly confess that it is the quantity and speed of the distribution for which they care more than for the quality, and already they are making uneasy calls at the plant where the seeds are being handled and to the seed division of the agricultural department.

FAST BECOMING EXTINCT.

Sealing Industry on the Commander and Walrus Islands Not What It Used to Be.

The secretary of the treasury has been advised that during the ensuing month of February the farming out of the seal hunting on the Commander and Walrus islands, in the Arctic sea, will take place at Khabarovsk, in East Siberia, Russia, in which enterprise many English companies are said to be interested. It is doubtful, it is said, whether the proposed disposition of this crown property will bring the price it formerly did, in view of the enormous destruction of seal life during the past ten years, which has greatly decreased the catch.

The governor of East Siberia has reported that in 1896 the number of seals caught on the Commander islands was 54,591; in 1892, only 30,000 were caught; in 1893 the total was 25,000; in 1898 the number was 2,025, and last year only about 1,000 skins were secured.

The situation is said to be the same as regards the catch on Walrus island. At the beginning of the nineties the yearly catch was 4,000. It is now only about 300. The treasury officials believe the time is fast approaching when the fur seal will be almost extinct in the region referred to.

FOR WHOLESOME MEATS.

What the Bureau of Animal Industry Is Doing to Protect Animals and the Public.

Dr. E. D. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry of the agricultural department, reviewed before the industrial commission the work of the department in controlling contagious diseases of animals in the United States and the prevention of importation or exportation of contagion. To prevent this importation he said that quarantine stations have been established along the Atlantic coast at New York, Boston and Baltimore and along the Mexican and Canadian borders. Inspectors, he said, recently have sent to Great Britain and Canada to make tuberculon tests, so that diseased animals may be rejected before shipment. He pointed out that meat inspection has been established at the principal packing houses to guard against the interstate and foreign shipment of diseased meat. He recommended that the secretary of agriculture be authorized to order the cleansing and disinfection of stock cars and stockyards when necessary, and to prevent the shipment of uninspected meat from state to state or to foreign countries.

RICH ORE IN PIKE'S PEAK.

Mining Company Well Paid for Boring Nine Hundred Feet Into Mountain.

The first strike of any importance ever made on Pike's peak is the one just discovered in the tunnel of the Oil Creek Mining company of Cincinnati. The mountain has been prospected for years and is supposed by many to be the starting point of the rich leads found in Cripple Creek, but surface work has never disclosed any ore. By running a tunnel into the very heart of the mountain, however, the Oil Creek company has opened a three-foot vein of $80 ore and pockets carrying fabulous values. The tunnel is now in 900 feet under Pike's peak. Work was begun in March, 1896. At that time there was no ore in sight, and nothing but a theory to warrant the expenditure of money. George H. Bohrer, president of the German national bank of Cincinnati, is also president of the Oil Creek Mining company. George Kreis is secretary and J. R. Picton is treasurer.

The utmost secrecy is maintained by the interested parties.

A BAR TO PROGRESS.

Tendency in Army to Cling to Obsolete and Useless Traditions.

Louis Gathmann, the Chicago inventor, has a fund of funny stories, most of them dating back to the days when he lived in Germany. He tells one story in particular to illustrate why it is that army ordnance officers invariably discourage new ideas in gunnery instead of welcoming inventions, as persons in charge of any private enterprise would naturally do. "When I went to Holland as a boy," said the shrewd old inventor, "I had an experience with ordinary army methods I have never forgotten. It seems there was a guard posted at a certain corner for some twenty-odd years. The sentry was relieved every four hours or so without the slightest question during all that time.

"Finally some one began to question why a guard was posted at that particular corner at all. A laborious search was instituted among the old army records, and finally, to the amusement of everybody, the reason for that sentry was at last discovered. It seems that a fence was painted on that corner, and to keep the people from soiling their clothes some well-disposed officer stationed a soldier with a gun there. The paint dried on the fence and the fence fell down, and the corner was built up with another building, but the sentry still paced his beat there for 20 years or more.

"In this way some of our army traditions have been kept up, and officers who are both brave and intelligent have gone on doing certain things in a certain way because a method was initiated in the department long years ago for a particular contingency which has since entirely disappeared."

LAMB BREAKS UP A SCHOOL.

In 30 seconds a snow-white lamb, belonging to a flock that was being driven past the new schoolhouse on the Short Tract road the other day at Nunda, N. Y., routed the entire school, frightened Miss Alice Ray, the teacher, into hysterics, and forced the trustees to hold a special session to appropriate money to repair the damage the lamb had done.

"It's the sweetest little lamb, just the kind that followed Mary to school," Miss Ray said to her pupils as the lamb dashed into the room. The pupils thought so, too, until Miss Ray began to pet the lamb and show it toward the door. Then the little animal began racing around the schoolroom. It collided with the stove and knocked a leg from under it and it fell in a heap. The coals scattered all over the floor, starting a fire.

Miss Ray and the pupils broke for the door and escaped, followed by a blinding smoke. They carried snow and water and put out the fire. The lamb was extricated by John Bennett, who was driving the flock. Miss Ray went home suffering from nervous prostration and school broke up for the day.

NEW SIX-INCH GUN.

Decided at the War Department That an Effort Will Be Made to Secure a Better Weapon.

It has been decided that a new six-inch rapid-fire gun is to be constructed at the war department in an effort to secure a better gun of that type than has been purchased abroad by the navy department. The gun is to be built at the Bethlehem steel works and must give a muzzle velocity of 3,000-foot seconds and be capable of being fired at the rate of at least 8,000 pounds per minute at 2,300-foot seconds velocity. The distinctive features of this gun will be the breech mechanism, patented by the Bethlehem company. The navy department recently purchased the right to use the breech mechanism of the Vickers people in England, the sum paid being $250,000.

The Bethlehem mechanism is supposed to be an improvement on the Vickers. Some recent tests made with the Vickers device, it is said, resulted in a gun being fired as many as ten shots per minute.

The guarantee in the case of the Bethlehem mechanism is eight rounds in the same period, and there is a hope, of course, that the Vickers achievement will be surpassed.

SUBSTITUTE FOR BENZINE.

Germany Offers a Premium of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars for Such an Article.

Consul Hughes, at Coburg, Germany, reports to the state department that for years a substitute for benzine has been in demand. The objectionable points about benzine are its high inflammability and volatility, the danger of poisoning the atmosphere, etc. This was one of the chief topics of discussion at Hanover, and this fall the subject came up once more at the meeting at Cassel, when a premium of about $250 was offered for an effectual substitute for benzine, or for means of rendering it less dangerous. Here is a good chance for American genius.

The occurrence of President McKinley's fifty-eighth birthday recalls the fact that he is one of the youngest presidents we have had. His military service in the civil war, which was the foundation of his political career, began at an early age.

Niagara falls has claimed another victim, two duck hunters trying to cross the river in a boat being caught by the merciless current. One of them escaped by means of jumping from one block of ice to another and swimming part of the way, but the other went over the falls to his death.

Truly, "One touch of nature makes the whole world kin." The heart of every man or woman throughout the civilized globe who appreciates true goodness beats in sympathy with England to-day. It is no discredit to the most radical republican to pay tribute to the virtues of Queen Victoria.

A San Francisco dispatch tells of the sale in Chinatown of five Chinese slave girls in accordance with the Chinese custom. The five girls were exhibited and the auctioneer enumerated their good points, a large crowd being present to take part in the bidding. The girls brought from $1,750 to $2,500, "because of the fact that it is now so difficult to smuggle a pretty Chinese slave into the country."

A United States court in South Dakota has decided that Indians who hold land in severalty must pay taxes on their property. Soon the gentle red man will have nothing to mark him as a superior being. Taxation is a great leveler. It falls upon the just and unjust, but the unjust succeed in dodging it sometimes. The Indian who has land will be among the just and will have to pay, for real estate is visible and cannot be hidden.

The discovery of oil wells in Texas that surpass in flow the best producing wells in the Pennsylvania oil region calls attention to the fact that our knowledge of the mineralogy of the country is based entirely upon a little desultory scratching of the surface of the earth. Of what lies below the surface, except in a few scattered localities, we have no idea. Probably if we did know there would be no necessity of going as far as the Klondike to seek gold.

A new "get-rich-quick" scheme has come to light in New York. In this case the promoters "guarantee" 56 per cent. on all investments for the first year. That is a modest rate of interest compared with that promised by some similar schemes, but it is large enough to scare away all but those who proverbially are soon parted from their money. It is all right to punish swindlers who start these games, but it might be just as well also to commit the swindled to asylums for the feeble-minded.

Exports of the precious metals play an important part in the enormous sum totals of our foreign trade. In 1890 we exported domestic gold to the value of $20,654,960 and silver to the value of $16,098,189. During the last decade the exports of domestic gold have more than doubled, while those of silver have increased more than threefold. In 1900 we exported of domestic gold $52,787,523 worth, and of silver $59,272,668 worth. Of these metals gold now ranks fourth and silver second in the list of exported metals.

This new-fangled style of fastening three or four trumpery little bells to the shafts of a sleigh in lieu of the good old-fashioned strings of sleigh bells on the harness takes most of the romance out of sleighing. No sleigh ride amounts to a hill of beans without the tuneful jangle of the traditional sleigh bells, ranging in size from a hickory nut to an orange. And there are still plenty of sleigh bells in the rural districts, even though cities have abandoned them.

There is but one female ruler in the world—Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. There are more presidents than any other one kind of ruler. There are 22 presidents, 16 kings, 11 dukes, 6 emperors, 5 princes, 5 sultans, 2 khans, 2 ameers, 1 queen, 1 khedive, 1 shah, 1 bey, 1 mikado, 1 maharajah, and 1 rajah, making 75 males and 1 female. But two of these rulers have more than one title—King Edward being also Emperor of India, and William of Germany being a king as well as an emperor. The oldest of the rulers is Sidi Ali Pacha, bey of Tunis.

A New York paper remarks apppishly: "Mrs. Nation represents a type of women who can do no good in the world and whose suppression is as necessary to the maintenance of a proper respect for women as it is to the maintenance of public order." Mrs. Nation is not a woman whose methods can be generally admired, but her suppression is not necessary for the reason specified. On the same ground it would be necessary to "suppress" all the men who frequent saloons and get drunk, in order to maintain respect for the decent men of the community.

The official title of the new king of England will be Edward VII. This name has been borne by more English kings than any other one except Henry. Since the Norman conquest there have been four Kings William, three Kings Richard, two Kings Charles, two Kings James, four Kings George, eight Kings Henry and six Kings Edward, besides some other kings and three queens. The last King Edward, the sixth of that name, reigned from 1547 to 1553. Some of the Kings Edward were great men, and Edward VII. will be fortunate if he lives up to the name.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Whist Prizes.

The tournament play of the Northwestern Whist Association closed after a series of spirited contests.

The Northwestern Times challenge trophy was won by Minneapolis. The team from Minneapolis captured three straight games, winning from St. Anthony by 11 tricks, from St. Paul by nine tricks, and from Superior by nine tricks. St. Paul defeated Superior by four tricks, and St. Anthony won from the same team by two tricks, but these teams did not play further in the match, owing to the fact that the trophy had already been won by Minneapolis.

The St. Paul pair trophy was won by Trenholm and Holmes of Superior. The cup was won last year by Mrs. Paul and Mrs. Rankin, of Minneapolis, who stood well up in this year's contest.

The business meeting of the Northwestern Whist Association was held Friday afternoon, and the following officers were elected: President, C. H. Holton, Duluth; vice president, O. M. Metcalf, St. Paul; secretary, E. A. Montgomery, Minneapolis; treasurer, Harry Wheelock, Fergus Falls.

Millions of Fares.

During the year just closed the gray-coated conductors employed on the Twin City Rapid Transit company's system raised their hands higher than their heads, caught a leather cord, brought it down and "rang up" no less than seventy million "fares."

The aggregate of cash fares was, in round numbers, 56,300,000, and a high official of the company says that the number of transfers was about 25 per cent of the above number, or approximately 14,000,000.

These figures are astonishing, and show that the people of Minneapolis, St. Paul, Stillwater and White Bear patronize the cars quite liberally. Incredible as it may seem, the cars of the twin cities carried nearly as many persons as there are in the United States, and could have carried more.

Big Appropriation.

A big appropriation is asked of the state for the care of defectives. The institution at Faribault desires to build several new cottages at a cost of $25,000 each, and the school for feeble minded asks for an additional appropriation of $180,000 an increase of $20,000 over the regular allowance.

The school for the deaf asks $38,000 for support and $6,460 for improvements. The school for the blind needs $22,000.

Minnesota Beekeepers.

The Southern Minnesota Bee Keepers' Association met in annual convention at Winona and elected the following officers: President E. B. Huffman; vice presidents, John Turnbull of La Crescent, W. K. Bates, Fred Oech of Wilson, Fred Yahnke, J. M. Reitz of Fountain City; secretary, C. A. Gile; treasurer, Mrs. Fanny Berthe.

Brief Notes.

Postmaster Kaiser received notice from Washington to the effect that the five new rural mail routes which were laid out in different directions from Faribault last October will be operated regularly on and after Feb. 15.

The state game and fish commission has received the resignation of Superintendent Morgan of the Willowbrook fish hatchery, effective March 1. Assistant Superintendent Marti will become head of the hatchery in his stead.

State Auditor Dunn received a check from I. M. Birmingham, treasurer at the United Stated sub-treasury in New York, for $6,052, federal aid for veterans of the civil war at the Soldiers' Home.

The Winona County Bar association has decided to reorganize and has appointed W. D. Abbott and J. M. Shearddown and Judge D. E. Tawney a committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws.

W. D. Washburn states that 125 families in Minneapolis are now making a test of Washburn lignite coal from the senator's mines in North Dakota, and that the results are very satisfactory. No change in stoves or grates has been necessary. The mines are turning out 225 tons a day.

Because five good tenors cannot be found in a student body of 3,000, the state university glee club decided to temporarily discontinue rehearsals until such time as a careful examination of the male voices in the institution discovers more available talent.

The supreme court in a decision handed down by Justice Brown holds that the governor has no legal right to appoint election officers on the White Earth reservation. The action of the judges who were appointed is upheld. For a long time the state's executive has appointed officers on the Indian reservations. Last year the appointments for the White Earth reservation resulted in trouble which was taken into the courts.

THE LAST RITES.

Funeral of Queen Victoria—Remains Are Finally Interred in the Mausoleum at Frogmore.

London, Feb. 4.—With every circumstance of splendid pomp befitting the obsequies of so mighty and well-beloved a monarch, all that is mortal of Queen Victoria was borne through the streets of the capital and taken to the ancient fortress-palace of the sovereigns of England. The display of the naval and military forces in the solemn funeral parade reached the great total of 35,000 men.

The people fought for hours for a glimpse of the coffin and the kings and others following it. They saw a long procession of soldiers, a passing show of dazzling regalia, with a hundred royalties crowding after, and then dispersed, while all the church chimes of the city were ringing and muffled dirges were played.

The funeral cortege reached Paddington about one o'clock, and at 1:30 was off for Windsor.

The services at Windsor lasted about two hours, when the body was taken to the Albert memorial chapel, where the final honors to the dead were paid.

Windsor, Feb. 5.—The last honors have been paid to Queen Victoria. Her body now rests peacefully near that of her husband in the mausoleum at Frogmore. The final ceremonies were of a more pathetic character than any of the obsequies which preceded them. Shortly before three o'clock Monday, in the presence of the royal mourners, the grenadier guard of honor lifted the coffin from its temporary resting place in the Albert memorial chapel, placed it on a gun carriage, and started the last funeral march. Upon reaching the mausoleum a short burial service was read and the body of the dead queen was consigned to its last resting place.

ATTACK IN THE DARK.

Kitchener Reports Regarding the Boer Assault on Post at Moddersfontein.

London, Feb. 5.—Lord Kitchener, commander in chief in South Africa, reports to the war office as follows:

"Pretoria, Feb. 3.—Our casualties at Moddersfontein were two officers killed and two wounded. It appears that the post was rushed on a pitchdark night, during a heavy rain, the enemy numbering 1,400 with two guns.

"Campbell, south of Middleburg, engaged 500 Boers, who were driven back with loss. Our casualties were 20 killed or wounded.

"French is near Bethel, moving east and driving the enemy with slight opposition. Four of our ambulances while seeking wounded were captured. The doctors were released.

London, Feb. 4.—The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener, commander in chief in South Africa, dated Pretoria, February 2: "Our post at Medderfontein, on the Gatterrand, southwest of Krugersdorp, was attacked by a thousand Boers. The relief column sent out from Krugersdorp failed to prevent the fall of the post. No details yet at hand, but officers and men captured at the post are arriving at Vereeniging."

Cape Town, Feb. 1.—The Boer attack on the Boksburg mines resulted in damages amounting to £300,000.

SURPRISED BY INSU RGENTS.

Several American Soldiers Killed While Crossing River in Island of Cebu.

Manila, Feb. 4.—Lieut. Hicken and a detachment of 30, company M, Forty-fourth regiment, while crossing a river Tuesday night, were surprised by insurgents gathered at Fiesta San Lucia, island of Cebu. They were attacked in front and on both flanks by 100 rifles and more bolomen. Five Americans were killed, four were wounded and two are missing. The insurgent loss is believed to have been heavy. Capt. Malley, with a detachment, reenforced Lieut. Hicken. They recovered some bodies, which were mutilated.

Manila, Feb. 5.—Natives have reported at Batangas that a week ago the natives of the island of Mindoro rose against the insurgents and killed the insurgent governor. There are no troops at Mindoro.

Torn to Fragments.

Muncie, Ind., Feb. 4.—The Indiana gas belt, with a circumference of 300 miles, was given a thorough shaking up at noon Sunday with another nitroglycerin explosion on the Washington Painter farm, 15 miles west of Muncie, and only fragments of a team of horses and a man in charge can be found. Percy Fort, of Knightstown, was hauling 700 quarts of nitroglycerin to the magazine of the Painter farm for use in the oil wells, and the explosion occurred while the man was unloading the stuff from the wagon.

Placed in Commission.

San Francisco, Feb. 5.—The battleship Wisconsin, which was constructed at the Union iron works, was formally placed in commission Monday, Capt. Reider taking command for the government and Irving M. Scott acting for the Union iron works. The usual ceremonies were observed. About 300 marines were placed on the Wisconsin, and in the next two weeks she will leave for her first cruise under the flag, her destination being the Mexican coast, where she will engage in drill and target practice.

Leaders in Jail.

Muskogee, I. T., Feb. 4.—Chitto Harjo, or "Crazy Snake," the leader of the warring Creek Indians, and 17 of the minor leaders of that tribe have been landed in the federal jail here, where they will be held pending trial for treason. The Indians were brought here from Henrietta under escort of troop A, Eighth cavalry, and United States Marshal Bennett and his posse. It is stated that certain attorneys, who, it is asserted here, misled the Indians, may be prosecuted.

Not a Candidate.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 5.—Gov. Shaw has issued a statement declining to be a candidate for governor for the third time. He states that he has been urged by many friends to become a candidate, but he did not feel free to speak while the biennial amendment which would have extended his term one year was pending before the supreme court.

It will tone up the nerves, stimulate inactive kidneys, and as an appetizer, it is unequalled. If you want to get well and keep well, use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

POLICE OFFICER RESCUED.

Officer A. C. Swanson of the Council Bluffs Force Tells an Interesting Story.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Feb. 4, 1901 (Special).—Kind-hearted Officer Swanson, of the local police force, is very popular in this city. He has lived here for seventeen years, and has enjoyed many high offices in social and society work. He is now vice president of the "Dannebrog" Brotherhood, the largest Danish secret society in America, which combines benevolent with the social features. Owing to the constant exposure and many hours on his feet, which his duty as a Police Officer makes unavoidable, Mr. Swanson became the victim of serious Kidney and Liver Trouble. He was very bad, but has entirely recovered. He gives the story in his own words as follows:

"I have been a sufferer for many years with Kidney and Liver Trouble, and have tried many remedies, some of which gave me temporary relief, and others which were absolutely worthless. I began to think that there was no help for me, when my nephew gave me a part of a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills which he had left, saying that it would do no harm to try them, as they had certainly fixed him all right. What he gave me helped me so much that I felt justified in purchasing more, and I grew slowly better. It took almost two months to effect a complete cure, as mine was a very bad case, but I can cheerfully and truthfully say that I am a well man to-day, and I am very grateful that Dodd's Kidney Pills were thus brought to my notice."

The wonderful cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills in Iowa have created quite a sensation in some parts of the state. There does not seem to be any case of Lame Back, Rheumatism, Kidney or Bladder Trouble which these wonderful Pills cannot cure. They are certainly popular here, and the sale through the local druggists is very large.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

The Senatorial Question Being Settled, the Members Are Rapidly Getting the Wheels of Government in Motion.

St. Paul, Jan. 30.—The session of the legislature on Tuesday appeared to be preliminary to the taking up of actual work, and the sessions were short.

In the house eighteen bills were introduced and referred to committees. One of these was to abolish capital punishment for murder in the first degree, substituting life imprisonment. Another would make 6 per cent the highest rate of interest, forbidding more, even by contract.

The constitutional amendment, defeated last fall, relating to the investment of school funds, was again introduced.

In the senate two bills were passed as amendments to the insane hospital laws. The principal one provides that when patients are taken away by friends, before discharge, the expense of return shall not be paid by the state.

Senator Wilson introduced a bill requiring state and county officials to furnish surety bonds, the cost to be paid from public funds.

The tax commission's bill was somewhat changed in committee Tuesday. It will be recommended that five members be appointed by the governor, the chief justice and attorney general, each to be paid a salary of $3,000 per year, the commission to report its findings and recommendations not later than July, 1902.

The bills introduced in the house now number 116.

St. Paul, Jan. 31.—The daily sessions of the legislature are getting down to the accustomed pace, which is humdrum. In the senate, a bill introduced forbiding unhealthy people from marriage, was treated with some levity. It is, however, a serious bill and worthy of careful consideration, as the hosts of defective children born into the world demonstrates. It is somewhat of a travesty on legislation that the first bill through both houses is a semi-violation of the constitution. The constitution was amended a few years ago to forbid special legislation. The West Publishing company, of St. Paul, for many years published the supreme court reports. Two years ago another St. Paul firm got the contract, and in its publications has studiously avoided referring to the previous publication of the West company. The proposed law compels the present publisher to allude to the reports of his competitor. It has passed the senate and was unanimously recommended by the house. If this is not special, what is?

The author of the anti-cigarette bill has amended his new measure so that cigarettes may be imported into the state, though they cannot be made or sold in Minnesota. The law does not make it an offense to smoke cigarettes, so thas the dudes need not be alarmed. They can buy the deadly pencil in Chicago and smoke themselves to death with just as much freedom as ever. It is a proposed law which scratches but does not kill the snake.

St. Paul, Feb. 1.—The long suspended question of confirming or rejecting some appointments made by ex-Gov. Lind during the recess came up in the senate yesterday. The result was that Rev. Gustav Wahlund, of Isanti county, who has been serving on the state board of charities and correction, and A. H. Hendrickson of Todd county and John E. King of Nobles, both members of the state board of equalization, were rejected. The two former were rejected for alleged unfitness, and the latter, seemingly, because he is a democratic editor. At least no charges were made against him. A fourth appointee, Louis Welter of Clay county, a member of the state reformatory board, squeezed through and he was confirmed. This action gives Gov. Van Sant three new places to fill.

When the senate had filled all its committee clerkships it discovered that there were not enough offices to go around, and so an extra clerk was given to the reapportionment committee in order to make a place for J. S. Vandiver. Senator Miller offered a resolution declaring Vandiver's clerkship vacant, but it went over under notice of debate. There is a good deal behind this resolution, but that is another story.

W. H. Mahood (dem.) was elected to the house from Le Sueur county. H. E. Blair (rep.) contests the seat. The committee on election reported, by a vote of 5 to 2, in favor of Blair. As usual in such cases, the division was on party lines, there being five republicans on the committee to two democrats. As Senator Horton (rep.) defends the democratic sitting member a different result may be reached when the whole house votes on the question. The chances are, however, that it will be decided as usual by the party in power standing by their man and giving the seat to Blair. It is politics, and not the merits, which usually settles such matters.

Neither house passed a bill.

St. Paul, Feb. 2.—Yesterday was an off day in the senate owing to a good many absentees. Five bills were introduced of minor consequence, but no bills were passed. The resolution to bounce J. S. Vandiver from a clerkship was postponed until Tuesday, after some debate.

In the house the bill making the state oil inspection office a salary instead of a fee office was reported favorably from the committee. It is very doubtful about it becaming a law, as "the push" are against it.

Nearly all the time of the house was occupied in listening to arguments on the election contest from Le Sueur county between Mahood (dem.) and Blair (rep.) For once the house was above partisanship and allowed Mahood to retain his seat by a vote of 66 to 44. Now it will be in order to appropriate $500 or $600 to the contestants for expenses.

St. Paul, Feb. 4.—The senate intended to have adjourned Friday until Tuesday, but forgot it, and hence there was only a bare quorum present Saturday. One more absentee would have prevented any session at all.

Two bills were introduced. One provides for a sanitarium in the Cass Lake region, appropriating $150,000 for the building and $50,000 for its support. The other legalizes osteopathy.

The house was more industrious than the senate, ten bills being introduced. One of them provides for the sale of the state capitol lands in Kandiyohi county. Forty years ago it was the dream of a good many that the capital of the state would some time be removed from St. Paul, and this tract of land was secured, with provisos that allowed the legislature to remove the capital without submitting it to a vote of the people. It could not go anywhere else without a vote of the people, and St. Paul was never especially alarmed over that, but the possible removal by a legislative act was a nightmare which hung like a pall over St. Paul for 25 years. This passed away some years ago, and with the new capitol building the question is settled forever. The bill offered will simply dispose of what has become, for the original plan, worthless.

A bill regulating osteopathy was introduced in the house, as well as in the senate.

A political discussion occupied a good portion of the house session. A republican offered a memorial to congress for the regulation of trusts, and a democrat proposed an amendment putting all trust-made articles on the free list. The amendment was debated on partisan grounds and was finally defeated.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

Georgetown university, the first educational institution of the capital, was founded by Bishop Carroll in 1792.

Yale's football association last season paid out $1,294.95 for medical attendance and $749.30 for "shoes and repairs."

Bishop L. J. Coppin, of the African Methodist Episcopal church, is to take charge of the work of his denomiantion in Cape Colony, South Africa.

The membership of the Baptists in Brooklyn has steadily decreased during the past few years, according to figures published in the Eagle almanac. In 1897 there were 18,187 church members, in 1898 there were 18,098, in 1899 there were 17,430 and in 1900 there were 17,418.

The ministers of Newton, Kan., have just completed a religious census of that town. They found 5,353 persons in 1,453 families, and of these people 2,316, or less than half, professed to be church members. The leading denominations were represented by the following membership: Methodist, 561; Catholic, 390; Baptist, 212; Christian, 195; Lutheran, 101; Mennonite, 152; Presbyterian, 192; Congregational, 96; Episcopal, 82.

The members of the First Baptist church, Bedford, O., were greatly surprised recently by the reading of a letter from their former pastor, Rev. W. A. Perrins, D. D., withdrawing from membership in the Baptist denomination. Dr. Perrins resigned as pastor of the church some time ago because he could not subscribe conscientiously to all the doctrines of the denomination, but it was not known that his intentions were to withdraw from the church as well. Dr. Perrins is well known in Cleveland and has preached in some of the largest churches there, including Euclid Avenue church, where John D. Rockefeller is a leading member.

AMERICANS ARE FAR AHEAD.

Machinists of the United States Have No Equals in Any Other Land.

One of the greatest obstacles to the general introduction of American machine tools into continental Europe is the ignorance of the average European machinist. This is especially true of the higher classes of machine tools. The intelligence which enables an American mechanic to understand and operate a machine seems to be dormant or entirely wanting in his European brother. The American Manufacturer quotes the sales manager of one of the leading manufactories of machine tools in this country as saying:

"Install a fine machine in a shop on the continent, and unless the maker has sent with it from the works an expert to break the dunderheads into the using of it the chances are three to one that the perfect mechanism will be a wreck inside of 48 hours after the power is applied to it. Accustomed to work with tools that are crude and simple, compared with the ingenious and intricate American inventions, the operating machinists of Europe are slow to comprehend the latter and often do them a lot of damage by stupid handling. These facts are so well recognized by our machine tool builders that when giving an estimate on any considerable amount of work care is had to add enough to the price to cover the sending of a man, or men, to install the machines and stay with them until they have proved their merits."

WHEN WRINKLES COME.

Departing HEALTH and BEAUTY Called Back by

Dr. Greene's Nervura

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA Makes Health and Happiness

YOUR mirror will tell you the bitter truth.

Healthy women look younger than their age, but you look far too old for your years.

Time deals lightly with the woman in good health, but the wasting hand of sickness and disease spares neither your youthful looks, beauty, nor complexion.

The Creator has endowed every woman with beauty, and every woman in good health is beautiful and comely to look upon. A clear, fresh, wholesome look is the result of the possession of good health, and no woman can be beautiful and attractive without good health. The dull, dead, gnawing pain, the sense of nervousness, weakness, oppression, and discouragement, the tired, listless, languid feeling, the shooting pains, the aching head, the pain in the back, all these are symptoms of a disordered system, and all these are beauty-killers, producers of dull leaden complexions, unnatural flushings, dark circles under the eyes, humors, eruptions, blackheads, lustreless eyes, and other disfigurements which divest women of their natural gift of beauty.

Why be homely when you can be beautiful and attractive?

Get good health and with it those looks and attributes which attract, please, and fascinate. It is within your power to do so, for it is within every woman's power to be well and strong, and hence look her best, if she will use Dr. Greene's Nervura to give her strong, vigorous nerves, pure, rich blood, a clear complexion, and thus restore the energies and vitality of sound and perfect health.

Good health means youthful good looks to every woman, and it behooves women to restore and maintain their health by taking that greatest and best of all health restoratives, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will build up the health, cleanse and purify the complexion, restore brilliancy to the eye, make rich, red blood and strong, steady, and vigorous nerves. Dr. Greene's Nervura will make you look and feel young and restore your energies, vivacity, and enjoyment of life.

MRS. KATE AUSTIN, 40 Jenny Lind Ave., Somerville, Mass., says:

"I had a pain in my side for seventeen years. I also suffered with terrible backache and headache; such an awful headache, and I had not a bit of appetite. I cried with pain from womb trouble, and was as pale as a ghost. I was terribly nervous. I could not sleep for a long time, and had rheumatism in my shoulder and arm. I suffered everything; nobody but God knows how I suffered. I weighed 128 pounds. A friend recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and I commenced to take it. I was so weak and run down that the first bottle did not do me much good, but I kept on, and the second bottle did me good and I began to gain. After taking the Nervura I never had a pain in my side, nor any headache, and I sleep well and have a good appetite. I don't believe there is any medicine in the world so good as Dr. Greene's Nervura. It did me good right off and I have had no return of my womb trouble. I had leucorrhœa, but since taking Nervura that has disappeared. I feel strong, and last summer was able to do the work for fourteen in a family, and I weigh 163 pounds. I was so weak before, nobody knows how I worked, but I had to work for my children. I sent two bottles of Nervura to my brother in Nova Scotia, and it did him lots of good. I recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura to every one."

Ill Health Destroys Beauty and Happiness. DR. GREENE'S NERVURA Makes You Well and Restores Your Good Looks.

Women have absolute confidence in Dr. Greene's Nervura, more so than in any other remedy, because it is purely vegetable and a famous regular physician prepares it, which is a guarantee that it is perfectly adapted to cure. As an additional assurance of cure, Dr. Greene, 35 W. 14th St., New York City, gives you the privilege of consulting him without charge or cost, either by calling or writing about your case.

Made the Indian Real Mad.

Senator Stewart the other day related the story of an adventure with a big Indian when he was prospecting for gold. The Indian asked the future senator for a ride in a high wagon, and he was told to climb in. In less than a minute Stewart saw poor Lo signaling to another Indian behind a rock, who was sighting a gun at Stewart.

"I guess they needed my wagon and my mule and maybe my scalp in their business. My only chance was to grab that Indian around the waist and hold him in front of me. You bet I did that, and at the same time yelled at my mule. That critter had some sense, and in a few minutes we were out of range. But it was a close shave."

As the senator stopped the curious man in the party asked him what he did with the Indian.

"Why, I broke his gun, threw him out of the wagon, and then kicked him along on his hands and knees until I think he got real mad."—Washington Correspondence Pittsburgh Dispatch.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. Gall bladder; 6, 6, 6. Small intestines; 7. Cæcum; 8. Vermiform appendix; 9. Ascending colon; 10. Transverse colon; 11. Descending colon; 12. Sigmoid flexure; 13. Rectum; 14. Anus. The duodenum is continuous with the small intestines. The small intestine empties into the large intestine or colon at the cæcum. The arrows indicate the direction which the contents of the bowels must take in passing through the alimentary canal.

are packed away in your insides and must be kept clean, in order and doing business.

It's a long way, with many turns and pitfalls to catch the refuse and clog the channel if not most carefully cleaned out every day.

When this long canal is blockaded, look out for trouble—furred tongue, bad breath, belching of gases, yellow spots, pimples and boils, headaches, spitting up of food after eating—an all-around disgusting nuisance.

Violent calomel purges or griping salts are dangerous to use for cleaning out the bowels. They force out the obstruction by causing violent spasms of the bowels, but they leave the intestines weak and even less able to keep up regular movements than before, and make a larger dose necessary next time.

Then you have the pill habit, which kills more people than the morphine and whiskey habits combined.

The only safe, gentle but certain bowel cleansers are sweet, fragrant CASCARETS, because they don't force out the fœcal matter with violence, but act as a tonic on the whole 30 feet of bowel wall, strengthen the muscles and restore healthy, natural action. Buy and try them! (Look out for imitations and substitutes or you can't get results. Cascarets are never sold in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the long-tailed "C" on the box.) You will find that in an entirely natural way your bowels will be promptly and permanently

DELANO, FRIDAY, Feb 8, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—Saturday, Feb, 9, will be Fair Day.

—Don't forget the Blackville Serenaders tonight, the press exchanges report them fine.

—Muckenhirn Bros. have shipped a lot of bailed hay and straw to Minneapolis lately, For the hay they got $12. per ton.

—A Valentine Sociable by the Ladies Aid of the M. E. Church, at the City Hall on Thursday evening, is adverti e in the Eagle. Admission 10cts.

—The Grippe has been visiting Delano citizens this week. It is reported as being usually, much lighter, and as of much shorter duration, than on former visits.

—The Delano Cemetery officers met and held their regular monthly meeting last Monday evening. A couple of bills were allowed for lumber and work for making grave cover.

—As spring approches farmers begin to see that they have got more hay and wood to spare than they expected they would have, consequently prices are down a little.

—One man reports that the ice from the river when melted in a rainbarrel, even in this cold weather, produces such an odor that the barrel has to be emptied, and cleaned out every week.

—The Blackville Serenaders will appear at the City Hall tonight. This is a first class up to date show and is well recommended by press and public. Seats on sale at Wittman's Drug Store.

—Tuesday morning the big thermometer at the Post Office came very near not registering the degree of cold. It is only marked down to 20 degrees below zero and only had a couple more to make to come to the end of the count.

—Too much iron in the river water spoils it for laundry purposes. Possibly some enteprising citizen might establish a sanitarium at one of the iron springs near town and reap a small fortune.

—Saturday, Feb'ry 2, is called "ground hog" day. It is currently reported that if the groundhog saw his shadow on that day that he will retreat to his hole and remain while we have six weeks more winter. He could see his shadow last Saturday or any day since, and the cold has been the sharpest of the winter.

—Andrew Reider dug up an old photograph of a good looking soldier and and exhibited it about town Thursday, as a Filipino soldier. He afterwards explained that it was a picture of himself, taken 38 years ago at Pittsburg Landing. It is in a good state of preservation and shows well how Uncle Sam's boys looked in the sixties.

—While on his way to Delano yesterday the Rockord stage driver discovered that the shanty used for the chopping crew, by Tom Lanway and Perry Ball, was on fire. He gave the alarm to Tom who was near by. He succeeded in rescuing Perry's trunk. Every thing else burned, as the fire was well under way when first seen.

—A number of Territorial Settlers visited at J. D. Young's Thursday evening, Feb. 7. They found the latch string out, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. within, with a good fire and things generally comfortable. Mrs. Young was chosen president, and T. J. Catlin Secretary of the meeting, and a vote carried the motion to form the Delano Territorial Association. Officers of the Association were then elected as follows: President, Earl Hoisington; Vice-President, J. D. Young; Secretary, T. J. Catlin; Treasurer, Thomas Shaw; Historical Committee, Mrs. Emma Shaw, Mrs. Amanda Kerr. A meeting is to be held each week at the houses of the members, aphabelically arranged. The next meeting will be on Wednesday Feb. 13 at the home of Dr. Catlin. All residents of Delano who lived in the territory of Minnesota are to be members on signing the roll.

—At this time when reports come from so many places of the prevalence of smallpox everybody wants to know how to prevent or to lighten the force of the desease. It has been conclusively demonstrated that rigid quarantine of infected persons with thorough disinfection of persons and premises is the best means of preventing a spread of the disease. Next, vaccination, as statistics show, serves to ward off, or to lighten the symtoms, causing varioloid instead of smallpox where anything occurs. Prof. L. Emmett Holt, says: "The nature of the protection against small pox which vaccination affords is even now but imperfectly understood. The fact, however, remains one of the best attested in medical history. It is the imperative duty of the physician to see to it that every young infant is vaccinated, and no foolish sentiment or prejudice on the past of the parents should be allowed to stand in the way. It seems under our laws vaccination can not be forced upon people. But children who are not vaccinated can be kept from school. And if people are exposed to smallpox and have a good clear vaccination mark they can be disinfected and allowed their freedom, whereas one who has never been vaccinated must be kept in quarantine away from other people, for eighteen days. This makes it quite an object, sometimes to have a vaccination scar. It might save a person much trouble to be able to exhibit the evidence of vaccination to say nothing of the actual benefits to be derived from the prevention or amelioration of symtoms of smallpox.

Public School Notes.

The teacher in the grammar room is pretty good to the childern, she feeds them on soap.

A general change of seats took place in the High School, Wednesday morning.

The two Latin classes have been united forming a large class. There are prospects of a large Ceasar class next year.

A Physiology class still exists in the High School. Only five pupils passed the examination. The balance will have to worship the studies till the end of the term.

The Christimathion club (composed of boys) of the High School met Friday night at the school house, and had its first programme, which was voluntary. Every member took an interest, and all are confident that a good club will be built up.

Those who passed examination are taking up new studies, book keeping and Civic's are among the new studies Carrie Eppel is still absent from school.

Molly Maxfield was absent Tuesday morning.

The boys club will listen to an oration by Mr. George Borril on Friday night. He will speak on the subject: "How to educate animals".

County Cullings

Maple Lake officials have ordered the Marshal to see that the State law is strictly observed as to closing saloons at 11 o'clock at night and on Sunday.

The Court House ring is catching fits, all long the line, just about now. Several of the county papers have recently given them some severe jostles. These are all very well. But as Bro. Satterlee has it, "faith without works is dead." He proposes that the "Press can cure this state of affairs by running just one non-partisan county campaign." Possibly by the time the next election comes around it will see something of the kind in the field. Politics certainly needs purifying.

An effort is to be made, we understand to have the terms of the County Auditor and County Treasurer extended from two years, to four years for a term. We don't believe in any such a move. Two years is plenty long enough for a man to receive all the honors, and if he is uncommonly satisfactory he might be rewarded with another two years term. If a man was sure of a good fat salary for four instead of two years he might think himself justified in paying out more to get the office. The shorter the terms the less encouragement for _____ who believe in buying their w office. We believe the old fashioned way of holding an election every year as safe as any. Especially should the Legislators be elected every year, in order that they would be more nearly represent the people.

St. Peter School Notes.

Herbert Probst, John Zello and Peter Fonfara who had the mumps for the past week are back to school again.

Frank Fonfara is having the mumps this week.

Isadore Kanuith and Agnes Stein were absent all this week.

Frank and Charles Gotzian were absent Wednesday

JOHN ZIEMKOWSKI.

IT DOESN'T PAY.

It doesn't pay to fuss and fret when anything goes wrong.
Instead of wailing when you lose, just sing a merry song.
It's always better while you work to whistle than to whine,
And when luck fails, it never pays to sit down and repine.
The man who makes the best of things shows sturdy common sense.
The chances are that he will rise to fame and eminence;
But if he doesn't, none the less he'll make the most of life,
And women all will envy and congratulate his wife.

The Richest Prince.

Mr. Jefferson said that the best government was that in which the people were governed the least. Sumptuary laws are not agreeable to the people, and history shows that the best citizenship in peace and the best soldiery in war are obtained where men feel that they are part of the government and where men love its institutions because of their practical value.

A contented people is always a patriotic people. Apart from the correctness of the principle, "consent of the governed" is of intensely practical advantage to the state wherein that principle prevails It promotes contentment among the people, and consequently adds to the stgength of the goyernment. The government whose strength comes from the power of love must be mightier and more enduring than the government whose strength depends upon the sword. The object of good government is to secure the greatest good to the greatest number.

So long as selfishness exists the only way by which the attainment of this object may be assured is to keep the power with the people

If we could be certain that all kings would rule as well as "Wurtemberg's beloved monarch," of whom Kerner, the German poet, wrote so well, then we might be more willing to abandon popular government and rest our hopes for happiness upon the goodness of the crown, but the risk is too great The ends of government -the contentment and happiness of the governed—were well discribed in the splendid boast of the riches possessed by the German prince. Kerner wrote of "the richest prince" in these words:

"All the wealth and vast possessions, vaunting high in choicest terms, sat the German princes feasting in the knightly Hall of Worms

"'Mighty,' cried the Saxon ruler, 'are the wealth and power I wield; in my countries mountain gorges sparkling silver lies concealed'

"'See my land with plenty growing' quoth the Palgrave of the Rhine, Bounteous harvests in the valley, on the mountains noble wine"

"'Spacious towns and wealthy convents,' Louis spake, Bavaria's lord, 'make my land to yield me treasures great as those your fields afford.

"Wurtemberg's beloved monarch, Eberard the Bearded cried: 'See my land hath little cities; among my hills no metals bide; yet one treasure it hath borne me! Sleeping in the woodland free, I may lay my head in safety on my lowliest vassal's knee.'

"Then, as with a single utterance, cried aloud those princes three: 'Bearded Count, thy land hath jewels! Thou art wealthier far than we."—The Commoner.

Valley Herald: Senator Bacon was right when he said that giving the President the authority to regulate the size of the army was a long stride toward imperialism.

Waseca Herald: Mike Doran's son-in-law, Elmer H. Dearth, has been appointed state insurance commissioner. Do the people want any stronger proof of Van Sant's entire subserviency to the "gang"?

Willmar Tribune: Moses Clapp's election tickles the republicans, pleases the pops and is endorsed by the democratic press Then why should we not love each other? The rub will come when Moses good inclinations run counter to the republican par r-r-ty. Then first will we know what stuff he is made of.

May Contract Leprosy.

Here is a pointer for cigarette smokers: A cigarette smoker at Marysville, Kan., has broken out all over with small yellow spots, and the ends of his fingers and toes are sore. He is afraid he has caught the leprosy from the detestable cigarette. There were recently two cases of this dread disease in Chicago supposed to have been contracted from cigaretts. It is thought that the paper, which mostly comes from China, had been handled by a leper.—Ex

Swiss Railroads.

They have a very crule and oppressive way of handling the railroad business in Switzerland. About two years ago the government bought the entire railroad system of the nation and proceeded to show what it could do. After increasing the wages, reducing the hours of the employees, and reducing the tariff to one third of its former rate on both freight and passengers, the officials were not satisfied and put in a system of season tickets, by buying one of which for $16 you can ride on any railroad in the nation as often as you please, as long as you please, and at any time within its limit that you please. Did you ever hear of such oppression? Was ever tryanny more tyrannous? How thankfull we should be that we live in a free country where we have to pay three cents a mile to travel, have to use the ticket on the day of purchase or lose it, where we have to sign our names and prove our identity to every conductor, where we are looked upon with susmicion whenever we present a coupon ticket for fear we have patronized a scalper—you bet, how thankful that we live in a free country. And what is worse, the government of Switzerland receives enough returns to pay the interest on $100 000 a mile which it paid for the railroads and is laying by a sinking fund that will wipe out the debt in 50 years But the Swiss are heathens and don't know noth n' nohow.—Appeal to Reason

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU SAY.

In speaking of a person's faults
Pray don't forget your own;
Remember, those with homes of glass
Should seldom throw a stone.
If we have nothing else to do
But talk of those who sin,
'Tis better we commence at home,
And from that point begin.

We have no right to judge a man,
Until he's fairly tried;
Should we not like his company,
We know the world is wide.
Some may have faults—and who has not!
The old as well as young;
Perhaps we may, for ought we know,
Have fifty to their one.

I'll tell you of a better plan—
You'll find it works full well—
To try your own defects to cure.
Before you others' tell.
And though I sometimes hope to be
No worse than some I know,
My own shortcomings bid me let.
The faults of others go.

Then let us all when we commence
To slander friend or foe,
Think of the harm one word may do
To those we little know.
Remember curses, sometimes like
Our chickens, "roost at home."
Don't speak of others' faults until
We have none of our own

THE politicians trying to boom Dave Hill or some other back number, finding the booms proved to be boomerangs, are now giving out that Mr. Bryan has made himself solid for a nomination for the third time. They will find they can't boomerang Bryan. The people have something to say.

WONDER if Dr. Chilton's bill requiring a medical certificate of sound mind before a couple can be married, includes the strength of will power, to keep sober. It is claimed that a very large percentage of those found in asylums, prisons and other state institutions are there, as a consequence of the too liberal use of ardent spirits by their ancestors.

WE keep hearing that a few prominent Filipinos have surrendered. Also that an occassional Boer has given up to the English. Once upon a time Benedict Arnold gave up to the English. The American people always thought that he did so for position and pay.

SOME Minneapolis people are taking a wonderful interest in the trial of Frank Hamilton. The court house is crowded day after day. Still the saloon where the young men met at an early hour, on Sunday morning, drunk, contrary to the peace and dignity the state of Minnesota, and where young Day was killed, runs on. And after threatening to close up the hotel unless the lisence was renewed the chance to get drunk is still granted those who desire to drink. We understand some prominent in the professions, even the ministry, board in the house. Were they among those who would leave, if the bar was closed?

IT looks bad to smash up costly property. It seems terrible to take human life. Yet, when a man becomes a fobber, a murderer, an out law, and a price is put upon his head, is shot, people rejoice. Is it worse for Mrs. Nation to smash saloons where they have no legal existance?

A MOVEMENT is on foot to ask the legislature to appropriate money to build good roads. That is a move in the right direction. Most of the hauling is done in winter in this climate, consequently provision should be made for keeping snow on the roads and fixing up hard places in winter as well as in summer.

In the Holy Scriptures we read that the "seed of the woman shall bruse the serpent's head. In all civilized countries there is no law against the killing of ferocious and dangerous wild beasts. And in many places a reward is offered as an inducements for ridding the country of dangerous animals and reptiles Saloons run without license are called "blind pigs" and have no protection by law. Gambling debts can't be collected, and gambling devices are not lawfully run, nor owned. It is the duty of certain officers to see to it that laws are observed; that unlawful acts are not committed. That the youths of the land are not tempted by unlawful, games, blind pigs or other device for securing their hard earned cash. Officers elected by the people and sworn to discharge their duties by enforcing the laws should do as they agree. In case they do not, but neglect, or refuse to enforce laws whereby people are poorer in purse, injured in body and in mind, are led to gamble or drink up the money needed by their families, people, who help elect them, are led to look for other means of protecting themselves and their familie's against what the officers will not or do not protect them. If a burglar evaded the officers and broke into the house of any one to rob or steal he would be in very great danger of being shot. If other means of robbing and stealing are carried on evading the officers, or by being winked at by them, the guilty parties lay themselves liable to the tacts of an offended and enraged people, and if their devices are destoryed it looks as if they had, or should have no recourse.

Sacrificed to McKinley's Policy.

The Transport Warren arrived at San Francisco, on Saturday. She brought 465 disabled soldiers, and 107 bodies of dead soldiers, sacrificed to the new policy of colonial empire.

No more impressive speech against McKinley's policy could be uttered than comes from the mute lips of these dead Americans brought home 10,000 miles to be buried.—St. Cloud Times.

McKinley as George III.

History repeats itself not only in similarity of events but in similarity of thought. The thinkers, however, get strangely mixed. A century and a quarter ago, says The Public, British officers engaged in carrying out George III's policy of benevolent assimilation in the American colonies, wrote home that the majority of Americans would accept British sovereignty but for fear of [illegible] rebels. These docile [illegible] down to our patriotories. And now that [illegible]ish correspondence is narrated [illegible] Taft commission, which reports from Manila that a majority of the Filipinos would accept United States sovereignty, but for fear of the Filipino rebels. Even down to that detail the American attempt to subjugate the Philippines is identical with the British attempt to subjugate the American colonies The war in the Philipines is the American revolution down to date, with the Filipinos in the role of the American patriots and President McKinley playing the part of the royal George.—Minneapolis Democrat.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb 2, 1901

The latest scheme of the republican leaders is to take advantage of the popularity of the Nicaragua Canal project to push the Ship Subsidy bill through the Senate—they have only to issue orders to have anything put through the House at short notice. The scheme provides for combining the two by accepting the amendment to the Ship Subsidy bill offered by Senator Clay, of Ga., providing for the construction by this government of the Nicaragua Canal. and then to inform the democratic Senators that unless they vote for the two in one the Nicaragua Canal will not be legislated upon at all. Senator Hanna is credited with being the father of this scheme and it is further said that he claims to have promises from a number of southern Senators that they will vote for the bill so amended. Meanwhile the night sessions aided by the advice of Hon Arthur P. Gorman, whose success in heading off the Force bill some years ago has not been forgotten, are giving the Republicans about all the fight they can handle. A few days will show whether this scheme is really to be carried out or is only put out to make talk. The Senate passed the bill reducing war taxes this week.

Senator teller made a short but vigorous speech just before the Senate adopted a resolution calling on the Secretary or War for a statement of the facts in the case of G. T. Rice, the American editor who was banished from the Philippines for commenting upon the rules and regulations concerning pilots and pilotage, as inforced at Manila. Mr Teller read the editorial and then said: "The deportation of an editor is not a simple matter, to be whistled down the wind. I regard it as a grievious offense against the liberty of an American citizen that he can be taken, thrown into jail, and then deported under the pretense of the charge that he is a dangerous incendiary and a menance to the military situation. There are no such offense known to the laws of our country or in the criminal statutes of any State. It is not known in any republic, in any free country of the world. He is but one man, to be sure, but he is a citizen of the U. S. The offense against him is an offence against every citizen of the U. S. I do not make any apologies for pleading his cause here. I would feel justified if this was the last hour of the session of an extra session should ensue through failure of an appropriation bill, in standing here and calling the attention of the country to this outrage upon a citizen of the U. S."

The bill appropriatiating $5 000,000 for the St. Louis Exposition has been favorably reported to the House, and Speaker Henderson has promised that it shall be voted upon, which is equivalent to a promise of its passage.

Representative Griggs, of Ga., made the Post Office appropriation bill the text for a speech full of common sense against the tendency on the part Congress to increase the truth of which every one must acknowledge: "I undertake to say that there is not an employe of the government, who devotes his whole time to its service, who does not receive greater pay than he would for like service today who did not better his or her condition financially when he entered it There is no one who, if he could better his condition in other service, would not resign tomorrow. Then why this paternal interest in government employes? All of them are free men and women, and of full age. Why should we make them wards of the nation? How is this fatherly interest of legislators, so lately aroused, in what seems to me a cancerous growth eating its way to the very vital of the American body politic to be accounted for? "Mr. Griggs answered the last question by citing the growth of associations of various classes of government employes, organized ostensibly for other purposes but actually used to lobby Congressional increase of the salaries of their members.

Among those nominated to be brigader generals in the regular army were two captains—J. Franklin Bell, now serving in the Philippines as a brigader general of volunteers, whose promotion jumped him over 1,032 officers and Leonard Wood. Now serving as major general of volunteers and military governor of Cuba, whose promotion jumped him over 507 officers. Fred Grant, another one of them, who is serving in the Philippines as a brigader general of volunteers. owes his appointment to his name rather than to any distinguished service he has rendered as a volunteer officer. He has been a failure in every civil occupation he had tried and it was felt by some of his father's old friends that he ought to be provided with a lifetime job, where the salary was certain

Gen E S O is, who is in Washington, is said to be much disgruntled because he had been led to believe that he, and not Gen Nelson A Miles, would be nominated for lieutenant general of the army. It is said that one of the reasons why Mr McKinley took the unusual course of asking the Cabinet to decide by ballot which of the major generals should be nominated for lieutenant general was his desire to allow O is to think that his nomination had been prevented by a majority of the Cabinet. It is said that O is has been promised that Miles will be compulsorily retired by Mr McKinley when he reaches the age of 62, which will be next August, and that the place will then be given to him.

State Senator Hiler Horton is working for the appointment of Commissioner of war claims at Washington.

Martial law was declared in Madrid, Spain, yesterday and Gen. Weyler put in charge of the city, with soldiers.

The Hamilton case in Minneapolis drags along. The prosecution has rested, and the defense is now putting in its evidence. One thing has been made pretty clear, that several young men were in the West Hotel bar room when they ought to have been at home in bed.

From to days Pioneer Press we learn that saloon men, at Winfield, Kan., last night wrecked the United Brethern Church at that place one window contributed by Miss Ellen Gould having cost $500. A note was left threatening to demolish a church for every saloon wrecked.

FOOD VERSUS ENERGY

Experiment by W. O. Atwater at Wesleyan University.

College Athlete Placed in Respiration Calorimeter to Determine the Relation of Food to Muscular Energy.

Prof. W. O. Atwater has just completed an important experiment in the respiration calorimeter at Wesleyan to determine the relation of food to muscular energy. The subject was one of the college athletes, who was in the experimental chamber for nine days and ten nights.

Prof. Atwater, who conducts experiments for the government in connection with work at Wesleyan, has not completed his analysis and calculations of his latest experiment, and will not for several weeks. He authorizes the following general statement of the result obtained, withholding the name of the student who submitted to the test:

"He was in the respiration chamber nine days and ten nights, after a preliminary test. During eight days he was engaged in active exercises, riding a bicycle which was attached to a dynamo for measuring the amount of muscular work performed. One object of the experiment was to find the relation between muscular activity and the consumption of food and body material and the transformation of energy in the body.

"It was the idea to compare the efficiency of fats and carbo-hydrates for supplying the needs of the body in time of hard, muscular work. To this end the diet during four days contained large quantities of carbohydrates, sugar and starch, which in the last four days were replaced by fats in the form of fat meat, butter and the like. The experiment was very successful and promises results of decided interest. Several weeks will be required for completing the analysis and calculations."

In addition to these experiments at Wesleyan similar ones are being carried on at other colleges. The results of studies of the diet of the Harvard crew at New London last summer are about ready for publication.

Prof. Atwater has long conducted scientific experiments on the relation of food to muscular energy. He aroused a storm of criticism about a year ago, when he announced that 2½ ounces of alcohol could be consumed daily without injury to the human system, if taken in small doses.

CIGARETTES DECIDE A TRIAL.

Philadelphia Judge Holds Man Not Bound to Support Wife Who Smokes Them.

That a husband is not bound to support a wife who smokes cigarettes is the effect of a decision made by Judge Finletter at Philadelphia the other day. Herbert Stanlan was before the court charged with non-support of his young wife Marie, to whom he has been married only six months. The woman stated Stanlan had failed to provide either a home or funds for her.

The judge was about to make the usual order for Herbert to pay his wife so much a week when the husband's counsel asked the wife if it were true she smoked cigarettes.

"I smoke them," was the snappy reply.

Then the lawyer asked her to show the judge her fingers that he might see the nicotine stains on them.

"Is that a fact?" queried the court, as he tried to get a glimpse of the fingers which Mrs. Stanlan would not show.

"I will not make any order in this case and now declare it dismissed," he announced with emphasis.

CURIOUS OLD WATCH FOUND.

Antiquarians Interested in a Large Silver Timepiece Bearing Date of 1627.

Antiquarians are engaged in examining a watch found recently on Poverty island, at the mouth of the Connecticut river, by Hub Gillard, a clam-digger and vender. The watch is a large silver one, to which was attached a long, heavy chain, both ends of which are fast in the ring. Five inches above the fastening of one end the chain had been cut nearly in two.

The outside of the watch appears to have been nicely engraved, but on the side which lay uppermost, the design cannot be made out, as the action of the water and sand has made the plate as smooth as ice. On the inside of the outer case is engraved a name which cannot be made out, and the date, 1627.

Whether this really is an old relic and marks the scene of an accident or tragedy probably will never be known.

To Khartoum Direct by Rail.

According to a Cairo correspondent, a khedival decree has been issued sanctioning the extension of the railway to Wady Halfa. Thus two years hence travelers can reach Khartoum direct from Alexandria in 60 hours. At present there is railway communication from Cairo to Assouan, a distance of 547 miles. The distance from Assouan to Wady Halfa—the intervening country to be covered by railway—is about 230 miles. Wady Halfa and Khartoum are already joined by rail.

Slippery Individuals.

It is reported that Aguinaldo was nearly caught not long ago, but, exclaims the Chicago Times-Herald, they don't seem to be able even to give Pat Crowe a narrow escape.

Good Workers for Mills.

It is said that the New Englander makes the best mill hand.

BUILDS CURIOUS TOMB.

A San Francisco Millionaire Is Opposed to Incasing Bodies in Coffins.

Henry Root, a rich civil engineer of San Francisco, has had a curious tomb constructed in the village of Williston, Vt. In it the bodies are to lie uncased in coffins and are to be subject to a natural process of returning to dust.

The tomb stands on a large lot adjoining the village cemetery. The vault will hold 15 bodies, each compartment being a tomb in itself. The intention is to place a body on a marble slab; with the closing of the doors a dry, light chamber is secured, and the body, being surrounded with dry air, will undergo the natural process of decomposition. There are two doors to each chamber and when a body has been placed therein both are closed. There is a space between the inner and the outer doors and extending upward from this space is a passage. If it is the desire to permanently seal a chamber after burial this space is to be filled with cement or concrete, but in case the chamber is not to be sealed the space is to be filled with charcoal. Provision is made for the absorption of the gases of decomposition. The entrances to the chambers are made attractive with tablets and ornamental work. The structure is built of cement, but a short distance away it resembles granite.

People for miles about have thronged to the village to view the curious tomb and last week Mayor Robert Roberts and a delegation of aldermen from Burlington visited Williston and inspected the vault with a view of recommending the constructing of a similar one by the city of Burlington. Mr. Root designed the vault and personally superintended the work of construction.

TO FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS.

Large Sales Made by American Exporters—Marks Latest Development in Our Trade.

Large sales to foreign governments represent the latest development in American export trade. Among the latest shipments on government contract is one of 400 freight cars to Chili for use on the government roads. The American Car and Foundry company filled this order. This company has also recently sent 63 passenger coaches to New Zealand on a government order.

One of the great steel companies has just completed a contract with the Japanese government for 10,000 tons of 60-pound steel rails for use on the imperial railroads. The Baldwin locomotive works shipped 15 locomotives to Africa this month upon order from the Cape government. Another American concern has sent ten locomotives to the Cape government.

The demand for American pneumatic devices of all descriptions is developing in all parts, notwithstanding the high price maintained by manufacturers. Large orders from the German state railways have been placed and shipments are being made as rapidly as possible. Heavy contracts for the same class of goods have been placed by Japan for the equipment of new dock yards and arsenals.

A complete dredging outfit, purchased by a dredging company which operates on the west coast of Africa, 600 miles from Acera, has recently been shipped. The purchase price was $20,000, and the freight charges amount to nearly $4,000.

TO BE A DUCHESS.

Formal Announcement of Miss Astor's Engagement to the Duke of Roxburghe.

The engagement of the duke of Roxburghe to Miss Pauline Astor, daughter of W. W. Astor, has been definitely arranged, and the wedding will take place some time next summer.

Miss Astor is the richest heiress in England, but the young duke, to whom she is engaged, can by no means be called a fortune hunter. He is a manly young fellow of 24, and is the possessor of several ancestral castles, besides 65,000 acres of land. His name is John Innes Ker. Miss Astor is 21 years old, not a beauty, but attractive and accomplished. She and the duke were thrown together a great deal in the summer of 1898, and Miss Astor paid a long visit to Floors castle, one of the ancestral seats of the Roxburghes, just on the border of Scotland. Her father's wealth is estimated at $200,000,000. He is the richest of the Astors, and has become a citizen of England.

AUTOMOBILE BEATS TRAIN.

This Startling Feat Performed in Italy as the Result of a Dispute.

Sig. Marino Torlonia has just beaten the express train to Civita Vecchia on his automobile. The feat was the outcome of a friendly dispute between Sig. Marino Torlonia and Commendatore Silvestrelli. All the chaffeurs in Rome watched the result.

Sig. Torlonia started at the same time as the express, and, although greatly impeded by traffic, performed the 70 kilometers (43½ miles) in time to alight and greet Commendatore Silvestrelli on his descending from the train at Civita Vecchia.

An Unselfish Duke.

The duke of York has even gone so far in his desire to cement the new friendship between England and Germany as to have the German measles. As an exhibition of unselfish earnestness in promoting the cause of civilization, remarks the Chicago Times-Herald, this is almost unparalleled.

After 40 years of experience in dealing with criminals, Chief Justice Lore, of Delaware, declares in favor of the whipping post, but not of the pillory.

Tesla says great power will not be necessary to communicate with Mars. Possibly not, but it makes a pretty big draft to understand how the thing is to be done.

A contemporary asks whether one bonnet in nine years indicates insanity. No, but nine bonnets in one year often does—in the husband who has to pay for them.

A veracious news correspondent in Kansas affirms that a scared negro turned white in his town the other day. A man who can solemnly assert the truth of such a story as that has a great future before him—unless he reforms.

An appropriation has been asked of the New Hampshire legislature for the erection on the capitol grounds of a statue of Franklin Pierce, the only New Hampshire man who has been president of the United States. The body of Mr. Pierce rests in Concord in the Old North cemetery.

While a foreign member of the Jay Gould family is figuring in the courts as the representative of a rapidly diminishing fortune the American end of the name gains new luster from Miss Helen Gould's gift of $400,000 to establish a naval branch of the Y. M. C. A. The American way seems to be the better.

If the announcement had been made that Mrs. Busici was dead there is not one person in a million who would have known that it was Queen Victoria who was dead. Queen Vivtoria's full maiden name was Alexandrina Victoria Guelph, while the prince consort, her husband's name, was Francis Albert Augustus Charles Emanuel Busici.

The lack of imaginative ability in the newspaper correspondents at Sutton, Mass., is shown in the telegram relating to the discovery of "an ordinary-sized mantel clock" in the stomach of a cow that was sent to a butcher there. The clock was not running. A Chicago correspondent would have had the clock running, and on time.

The men who composed the army of the Cumberland have had a remarkable record since the war. Three of the army's generals have become presidents—Grant, Garfield and Harrison. Every commander in chief of the United States army, with the exception of Gen. Miles, served in the army of the Cumberland. Seventeen members have been in the cabinet, 38 have been senators and 300 have been in congress.

The latest invention for the benefit of those who have trouble getting up betimes in the morning consists of an electric alarm clock connected with a spring switch operated by the weight of the sleeper resting in his bed. At the appointed hour it rings and keeps on ringing until the sleeper gets out of bed and releases the spring, which is held down by his weight until he takes the courageous step of actually setting foot on the floor.

Movable schools is a new idea being tried in Boston with great success. It frequently happens that the demand for room in some particular district is greater than can be supplied, and it has been a great problem to furnish temporary quarters while new buildings of a permanent character were being built. The city now has nine schoolhouses built in sections, and a new schoolhouse can be furnished within a few hours notice.

In the latest contested will case in New York the heirs of a distinguished merchant, lately deceased, seek to show that he was of unsound mind, and in support of their contention they have brought out testimony to show that he made his wife wear the same bonnet for nine years, declaring that a new bonnet in ten years was enough for any modest woman. It is testified furthermore that he sought to procure legislation closing up all the show windows of the shops, for the reason that they attract women and make them spend money.

It was an excellent idea that led the bar associations of all the states to unite in celebrating February 4 as "John Marshall day." That date marked the one hundredth anniversary of Marshall's entrance upon the duties of chief justice of the United States. During the century the constitutional history of the nation has been more powerfully and beneficently shaped by his work on the bench than by that of any other jurist. To John Marshall more than to any other man is due the standing of the United States supreme court.

Douglas Story, an English writer who has been visiting in this country, in contributing to the newspapers a series of articles on American politics, of which he does not approve in the slightest degree. His words of scorn for American institutions surpass anything that ever came from the pen of Dickens. In short, Mr. Story declares that the American experiment with a republic has proved a failure. Of course we must now give it up and apply for annexation to Canada. Mr. Story has said it and, while practically none of us know who Mr. Story is, that settles it.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Lost on the Ice.

Lost for five days and nights on Little Turtle lake, one of the wildest regions in the northern part of the state; forced to kill his horse to keep from starving to death, and beseiged by timber wolves the greater portion of the time, was the experience of Bert Surtess, a teamster, who has just reached Mine Center, where his shattered nerves are being treated.

Surtees was on his way from Fort Francis to a lumber camp with mail and provisions when he was overtaken by one of the fearful blizzards that visit that section of the county without warning almost every week.

When on the ice in Little Turtle lake, it has since been learned, he was attacked by the wolves, and was forced to turn his sled into the barricade, under which he fought the wolves.

At the end of the fifth day the men at the lumber camp, nearly 30 miles away, went in search of him, having become alarmed at his long absence. They found him lying under his barricade, almost dead with exhaustion.

He was removed to Mine Center, where he is now being cared for. When he started on his trip his hair was coal black; now it is as white as the driven snow, and he looks more like a man of 60 or 70 than a man of possibly 35 years.

Big Business.

The St. Paul Union Depot company has issued its annual report, and large gains were shown in every way. Exactly $990,152.72 was taken in over the ticket counter, and the total revenue from all sources amounts to $1,250,000. Over 1,110,000 pieces of baggage and parcels were handled.

A total of 51,101 tons of mail was handed. The salaries in the baggage and mailing-room aggregated $[illegible]. The company collected $[illegible] excess baggage charges during the year, 24,983 passengers entered into the depot and departed, the daily average being [illegible]. A total of 271,627 freight cars was transferred. The showing of some of the roads was effected by the abandonment of suburban trains. There were 373,980 tickets sold, an increase of 18,447. During the year there was hauled into the union depot a total of 117,457 passenger cars, and hauled out 116,843, a total of 283,960, showing an increase of 14,174. The average cars out per day was 778.

Natural Gas.

There may be natural gas at Grand Marais, Cook county. In times past stories have been told of gas coming up out of the waters of the harbor there, but no tests or explorations have ever been made. Professor Jones of Grand Marais has written a letter to T. F. Upham of Duluth in which he submits matter that is food for reflection. He says that after the fire that destroyed the Mayhew store, which was a landmark there, they began to notice an odor of gas. They were unable to locate it. Later Mrs. Jones became unconscious from the results of this gas and others were affected by by it. It seems to have found an escape through the gravel under the Jones house, following the fire, the house being near the burned store. It may be only marsh gas, but the people of Grand Marais are wondering mightily.

Is it the Truth?

The Cudahy kidnapping was carried out according to plans laid in Omaha five years ago. This is the statement made by Adelbert Lawton, a Stillwater convict serving a term of fifteen years and four months.

Lawton wants a pardon and a portion of the reward for directing the officers to the place where the criminals are concealed. He is willing to retain but two-thirds of the $25,000 reward and will allow the state to keep the rest if he is given his liberty. Lawton told his story without mentioning any names. He says the plans were laid at Omaha in July five years ago, and that at first he declined to agree to the proposition on the ground that the boy to be abducted was too young. The prison officials are inclined to discredit the story.

Another Record.

Minnesota is to break another record this year. In connection with the state fair of 1901 there is to be an international live stock exhibition which will so far eclipse the great show of last year as to make it seem small in comparison. It will be simply stupendous.

After last year,s success with the great Hereford cattle exhibit it was hoped to make this year's fair even better, but until a day or so ago the matter was somewhat in doubt. The earlier days of the week were spent by Secretary E. W. Randall, of the fair, and H. F. Brown, a prominent Minneapolis breeder, in Kansas City, and when they came home they brought with them the assurance of something greater than they had dared to hope for.

Sudendorf, Elgin, Ill., will arrive soon, and open headquarters in the new auditorium, which will be completed in ample time for the convention. It is expected that there will be at least 1,000 exhibitors and 6,000 visitors.

The contract also provides that the queen shall allow the husband interest on 50,000,000 guilders and that he shall receive no income from the state except in the

CONGRESSMAN HOWARD.

A Remarkable Case Reported From the State of New York.

CONGRESSMAN HOWARD OF ALABAMA.

House of Representatives,
Washington, Feb. 4, 1899.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio:

Gentlemen—"I have taken Peruna now for two weeks, and find I am very much relieved. I feel that my cure will be permanent. I have also taken it for la grippe, and I take pleasure in recommending Peruna as an excellent remedy to all fellow sufferers."—M. W. Howard.

Congressman Howard's home address is Fort Payne, Ala.

MOST people think that catarrh is a disease confined to the head and nose. Nothing is farther from the truth. It may be that the nose and throat is the oftenest affected by catarrh, but if this is so it is so only because these parts are more exposed to the vicissitudes of the climate than the other parts of the body.

Every organ, every duct, every cavity of the human body is liable to catarrh. A multitude of ailments depend on catarrh. This is true winter and summer. Catarrh causes many cases of chronic disease, where the victim has not the slightest suspicion that catarrh has anything to do with it.

The following letter which gives the experience of Mr. A. C. Lockhart is a case in point:

Mr. A. C. Lockhart, West Henrietta, N. Y., Box 58, in a letter written to Dr. Hartman says the following of Peruna:

"About fifteen years ago I commenced to be ailing, and consulted a physician. He pronounced my trouble a species of dyspepsia, and advised me, after he had treated me about six months, to get a leave of absence from my business and go into the country. I did so and got temporary relief. I went back to work again, but was taken with very distressing pains in my stomach.

"I seldom had a passage of the bowels naturally. I consulted another physician with no better results. The disease kept growing on me, until I had exhausted the ability of sixteen of Rochester's best physicians. The last physician advised me to give up my work and go south, after he had treated me for one year.

"I was given a thorough examination with the X-ray. They could not even determine what my trouble was. Some of your testimonials in the Rochester papers seemed to me worthy of consideration, and I made up my mind to try a bottle of Peruna. Before the bottle was half gone I noticed a change for the better. I am now on the fifth bottle, and have not an ache or pain anywhere. My bowels move regularly every day, and I have taken on eighteen pounds of flesh. I have recommended Peruna to a great many, and they recommend it very highly. I have told several people that if they would take a bottle of Peruna, and could then candidly say that it had not benefited them, I would pay for the medicine."—A. C. Lockhart.

Mr. W. P. Peterson, of Morris, Ill., says: "I was nearly dead with catarrhal dyspepsia and am now a well man, better, in fact, than I have been for twenty years or more.

"Since I got cured by your Peruna I have been consulted by a great many people."

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Still More Counterfeiting.

The Secret Service has unearthed another band of counterfeiters, and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected for imitation, notably Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators, but few equals for disorders like indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. Always go to reliable druggists who have the reputation of giving what you ask for.

Just to Remind Her.

It was not one of those lovers' quarrels which are got for the sake of enjoying the sweets of "making it up again," but a real, genuine affair in which both parties felt thoroughly aggrieved. They parted in anger, and next day the lady wrote him the following note: "Herewith I return all your presents, with the exception of the diamond ring, which I shall keep to remind me of your meanness and horrid conduct altogether!"—Tit-Bits.

Try Grain-O! Try Grain-O!

Ask your grocer to-day to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c. and 25cts. per package. Sold by all grocers.

Nonsense.

"What nonsense!" exclaimed Mr. Meekton as he tossed aside the heart-to-heart talks page. "What utter nonsense!"

"To what are you referring?" inquired his wife.

"To the assertion that a woman need not expect a man to pay her as much attention after they are married as he paid her before. I am absolutely sure, Henrietta, that I mind quicker now than I ever did."—Washington Star.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. MRS. MARY GREGOVICH.

Of Philipsburg, Montana, Tells How She Was Cured of Dandruff.

Mrs. Mary Gregovich, of Philipsburg, Montana, under date of Nov. 26, 1899, writes: "I had typhoid fever this summer, consequently was losing my hair terrible, and my head in places was perfectly bald. Newbro's Herpicide had just come into use in Philipsburg, and the doctor strongly recommended it to me. After 3 or 4 applications my hair stopped falling out, and is coming in again quite thick. I used to be troubled greatly with dandruff, of which I am now cured." Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide.

Sure Signs of Age.

The writer of "Feminine News and Views" gives these sure signs of old age in woman: 1. When letters to girl friends are mostly addressed "Mrs." 2. When she begins to care a great deal about the supper at an entertainment. 3. When she feels a sudden interest in church and charity work. 4. When she is attractive to very young men. 5. When she realizes the folly of dressing in sober colors. 6. When she compares the new way of wearing the hair with that when she first put hers up. 7. When—most fatal of all—the gravity of youth gradually gives way to incipient kittenishness.

There Is a Class of People

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15 cts. and 25 cts. per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

The Senatorial Question Being Settled, the Members Are Rapidly Getting the Wheels of Government in Motion.

St. Paul, Minn. Feb. 7—An important insurance bill was introduced in both houses yesterday. It provides for the enlargement of the duties of the insurance commissioner, increase of his salary and the appointment of four additional assistants. The commissioners salary is raised from $2,500 to $3,500 and his deputy's salary is raised from $2,000 to $2,500. He is also given an actuary with a salary of $2,000, a chief clerk with a salary of $1,200, an assistant clerk with a salary of $900, a stenographer with a salary of $900 and an assistant stenographer with a salary of $600. The object of the bill is to enable the Insurance commissioner to scrutnize more carefully the responsibilities of insurance companies doing business in the state, and as the expenses will be paid from the fees collected from the insurance companies, it will not be burdensome upon the tax papers. As an offset for increasing the expenses, the bill provides that the usual lengthy statement which must now be published by law in either a St. Paul or Minneapolis paper, can be briefly sumarized and and printed in any county where the company's chief local office is located.

Senator Snyder offered a civil service bill applicable to cities of more than fifteen thousand population. It provides for the appointment of a civil service commission of five members who are to hold examinations and determine upon the qualifications of applicants for office. It is modled considerably after the United States civil service law, exempting heads of departments and principals of schools from its operations.

A resolution was introduced to dismiss J. S. Vandiver from his clerkship, but as the majority of the senate have gone on record in favor of the pardon of Mollie Morris, which he engineered, there seems no reason to suppose that they will vote to oust him because he did it.

The event in the house was the report of the committee on taxes and tax laws. Thew decided to clear the skies by reporting for indefinite postponement every bill they had before them, regardless of its merits. The excuse for this summary action was economy, as the bills allowed special taxes to be levied for certain purposes. Three of the bills were resurrected from the tomb to which the committee had consigned them.

One of the bills introduced is aimed to make the manufacture of process butter unpopular by requiring the label to be in such large letters that he who runs may read.

A bill appropriatiing $15,000 for a dining room and kitchen at the Soldiers' Home was introduced.

The old question of the age of consent was brought up by a bill increasing it in females from 16 to 18 years.

Senator Daily of Otter Tail offered the first anti-trust bill of the session. It gives district courts authority to restrain corporations of individuals from combining to restrict competition in trade and makes it the duty of county attorneys to prosecute such alleged combinations.

St. Paul, Minn. Feb. 8—For a good many years the question of a constitutional convention for the purpose of making a new constitution, out of the present patchwork affair, has been mooted and the senate judiciary committee declared itself practically unanimous in its favor. The friends of the measure were therefore greatly surprised when the bill was defeated by a vote of 29 to 27 as it required a two thirds vote to pass such a bill. The ground on which the negative votes were cast was the expense which the state would incur, and though Senator Wilson, who had drawn the bill, stated that the expense would be spread over a period of six years, he could not secure the necessary votes.

A bill for meat inspection was introduced in the senate which provides for the payment of losses incurred by owners of live stock ordered killed by by the state officials owing to the diseased condition of the animals. The fund for this purpose is to be created by fees charged for inspecting all live stock.

It was decided to continue the purchase of spring water for the senators so that they can return home without contaminating their constituents by microbes taken into their system through St. Paul water. It does not follow from this that the Senators will necessarily consume water in immoderate quantities.

The event of the day in the house was the passage of Representative Hurd's bill placing the state oil inspector on a salary and cutting off the fees. Notwithstanding the proper title of the bill should be "An act for the relief of the Standard Oil company" it passed by a vote of 97 to 14. Quite an acrimonious debate occurred before the bill was passed, its opponents claiming that it was unconstitutional and would result, as a similar bill did some years ago, in the failure to have oil properly inspected and the saying of fees to the Standard Oil company while the people will pay the same price for oil as before. There is a popular feeling that the bill will be defeated in the senate, but this remains to be seen.

One of the bills introduced in the house gives Mahood, the Representative from Le Sueur county, whose seat was contested, the sum of $807.74 for expenses. The 74 cents shows that Mr. Mahood has figured very closely upon what it cost him.

Of course there will be another bill introduced to reimburse Mr. Blair, who failed to secure the seat.

The Laybourne bill creating a tax commission was passed.

A bill is in process of construction which shows that more paternalism is desired. It will create a board of optometry, and its design is to protect oculists who make a specialty of that line of work. It proposes to punish those who practice in that line without a license, and requires those who sell eye-glasses and spectacles to pass an examination before they will be permitted to adjust those articles to the eyes of their customers. It also forbids the general practitioner from practicing as an oculist.

St. Paul, Minn. Feb. 9.—The senate cleared its decks yesterday by passing five bills, all that were ready for the third reading. One of them makes the wife equally liable for debts contracted in the purchase of household supplies. Another allows divorce suits to be conducted in a county other than the one where the original action was begun.

A good deal of the time of the senate was devoted to considering the resolution ousting J. S. Vandiver from his clerkship. A compromise was finally effected by passing a resolution appointing a committee of five to revise the entire list of senate employees and ascertain whether there are not others whose services can be dispensed with. This makes every employee of of the senate a champion of Vandiver's cause, as none of them want to let go, and if there really is to be a reduction, in the interest of economy, none of them know just where lightning is going to strike. The consequence is that Vandiver will probably hold his job and the pardon of Mollie Morris will be again endorsed.

The house was in session two hours, spending most of the time in considering two bills. The one most considered was a bill allowing telegraph and telephone companies to erect poles and string wires. As originally provided the bill allowed companies to erect their poles and wires without the consent of township authorities. The bill was finally amended so that if it passes it will simply encumber the statutes with a law which gives no more power to telegraph and telephone companies than they now possess.

The other bill was one allowing ex-Secretary of State Berg's county of Roseau to fund its indebtedness. This indebtedness was incurred, Mr. Berg explained, by the prosecution of criminals for murder and if it applied only to that county would undoubtedly pass, but the house hesitated about making such a bill applicable all over the state, as the constitution requires if Roseau county is to secure its relief. It was accordingly held up for future consideration.

Both houses are greatly torn up over the effort to redistrict the state, making nine congressional districts where we now have seven, as the new census gives Minnesota two more congressmen. Naturally the effort on the part of the republicans is to make nine sure republican districts, but as there are a few democratic counties in the state, the effort to mix the children up and scatter the democratic counties into the districts so that each district will be surely republican is perplexing. The result, possibly, may be the retention of the seven districts as they stand and the election of two congressmen-at-large. It is purely a matter of party politics which is involved and the interests of the state are not in any especial jeopardy, no matter what the result.

St. Paul, Feb. 11.—Both branches of the legislature held very brief sessions Saturday. The legislative mind is fearfully and wonderfully made. It has been understood all of last week that as Tuesday is Lincoln's birthday and a legal holiday, that when an adjournment took place it would be until Wednesday. The only question has been whether they would adjourn from Friday to Wednesday or make a show of a legislative day by putting in a few minutes on Saturday and then adjourning until Wednesday. The consequence was no one was in a frame of mind to do any business.

Two bills were introduced in the senate by Senator Wilson, one of which allows the salaries of all public officers to be garnisheed except those of school districts of less than 50,000 population. The other bill reduces the weekly wages exempt from execution from $25 to $9. When wages are paid monthly the amount exempted is $25.

In the house a bill was offered taking the appointment of state librarian from the governor and give it to the judges of the supreme court. A bill was introduced appropriating $100,000 for new buildings at the state university. It is understood that if it should pass $40,000 would be used to build a homeopathic medical school and $60,000 for a homeopathic hospital.

Outside of re-apportionment the subject which is attracting most attention in the legislature is the bill creating a state board of control which will have charge of all the public institutions of the state. As a rule the present members of the various state boards and the employees of the institutions are opposed to the new bill. They do not know what may happen under its provisions and are willing to let well enough alone. It will require a good deal of pressure to pass the bill.

THE NERVES OF WOMEN

"I am so nervous and wretched." "I feel as if I should fly." How familiar these expressions are! Little things annoy you and make you irritable. You can't sleep, you are unfit for ordinary duties, and are subject to dizziness.

That bearing-down sensation helps to make you feel miserable.

You have backache and pains low down in the side, pain in top of head, later on at the base of the brain.

If you had written to Mrs. Pinkham when you first experienced impaired vitality, you would have been spared these hours of awful suffering.

Happiness will be gone out of your life forever, my sister, unless you act promptly. Procure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once. It is absolutely sure to help you. Then write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., if there is anything about your case you do not understand.

You need not be afraid to tell her the things you could not explain to the doctor—your letter is seen only by women and is absolutely confidential. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with such troubles enables her to tell you just what is best for you, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

Mrs. Valentine Tells of Happy Results Accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It is with pleasure that I add my testimony to your list, hoping it may induce others to avail themselves of the benefit of your valuable remedy. Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I felt very bad, was terribly nervous and tired, had sick headaches, no appetite, gnawing pain in stomach, pain in my back and right side, and so weak I could scarcely stand. I was not able to do anything. Had sharp pains all through my body. Before I had taken half a bottle of your medicine, I found myself improving. I continued its use until I had taken four bottles, and felt so well that I did not need to take any more. I am like a new person, and your medicine shall always have my praise."—MRS. W. P. VALENTINE, 566 Ferry Avenue, Camden, N. J.

$5000 REWARD Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, which will be paid to any person who can show that the above testimonial is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission.—LYDIA E. Not a Bargain.

"Mr. Perkins, I rather dislike to take your last daughter away from you."

"Oh, that's all right; she is the last one, but I don't intend to let her go one cent cheaper than the others. What salary do you get!"—Detroit Free Press.

Six Million a Year.

Did you ever stop to consider what a million means? Multiply this six times and it shows you how popular Cascarets are and what great merit they possess. For, last year over six million boxes of this wonderful medicine for liver and bowels were sold in this country alone. The American people know a good thing. The sales of Cascarets prove it. The medicine is the best for the bowels, the price right, 10c, 25c and 50c a box, and a 50c box is a whole month's treatment for the worst kind of a case. It is a pleasure to advertise a medicine like this as well as to endorse the makers and ask readers to buy it.

BUFFALO GAZETTE

DELANO, FRIDAY, Feb. 15, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO

DELANO DIARY

—The Woodmen had a big masquerade ball Wednesday evening. People from a long distance were in attendance.

—The Valentine Sociable, at the City Hall, last nigh was well attended and a good time enjoyed The Ladies Aid made $10 70.

—Parotiditis continues to trouble many young people; and quite a number of older ones who have lived many years without having it.

—Mrs John Mayer has purchased a fine monument to placed at the grave of her husband the late John A. Mayer, in the Catholic Cemetery.

—Daye Pickett's troup played here Friday night. Dave is a whole team himself He is great on the banjo and impersonator, especially as an irishman.

—George W. Florida, Chairman of the executive committee, and his sister Carrie, of Rockford, were in town today, helping arrange for the celebration of Washington's birthday.

—We acknowledge the receipt of a valentine entitling us to the privileges of the St. Paul Commercial club for a year, bearing the compliments of H. A. Boardman, President Thanks, —People who complain that saloons are open, against the law, on Sunday, sometimes are found in their stores shops or other places of business. All ought to observe the laws of the land.

—Arrangements for the celebration of Washington's birthday are being perfected. It is expected that a big crowd will be at the hall promptly at 1:30 P. M. Friday, Feb'y 22, that exercises may begin on time. E. H. Farnham is to deliver the address.

—The Delano Territorial Association are discussing the propriety and feasibility of holding a grand meeting on the 11th of May, the 42nd Anniversary of the admission of Minnesota as a state, into the Union. This could be made an interesting and instructive occasion, by inviting all the old timers near enough, to attend and participate in the festivities and entertainment.

—Last week Joseph Muckenhirn who had been to Minneapolis a short time previously, was taken sick and Dr. O'Connor was called. The case has turned out to be smallpox, and Joe is quarantined at home. The St. Anthony society sent "Billy" Eppel out to attend to his needs and wants. Quite a number have been exposed to the contagion and should be on their guard and be quarantined as soon as possible to prevent the spread of the disease.

—We are informed that Mrs. Hattie VanEman has heard that her son Robert L's remains have been buried in the National cemetery at San Franscisco, as a premit could not be had to ship them east from that place. Robert died of smallpox in Manila, and the goverenment returned the body to San Franscisco This is quite a disappointment to many friends; but they prefer to have it so to having his body left in the far away Philippines.

—Monday morning at about 3 o'clock, the fire alarm called out the fire companies and citizens to find that the large frame store of Green & Co, was on fire. The fire companies promptly suppressed the blaze. There was considerable damage done to goods and building. The building was insured for $600, and the goods for $2800, which will, doubtless straighten up affairs so far as the proprietors are at loss. Had a strong wind been blowing it would have been harder work to save the house. Mr. Green and wife lived over the store and discovered the fire. It probably orignated from cigar stubs thrown in a spittoon containing sawdust.

—The Delano Territorial Association is the newest and livest association in town. They enjoy a meeting once a week and talk over old times; have some music, the President is a violinist; have a cup of of coffee and go home feeling considerably rejuvinated. The meetings are held at the homes of the members alphabetically arranged. Every body who lived in the Territory of Minnesota and is now a rasident of Delano is expected to attend, sign the roll, and be a full pledged member. Members of their families not eligible to full membership to be associate members. The next meeting will be on Wednesday evening at John Cunningham's. He says the latch string will be out.

—A big excitement took place on fair day. Numerous individuals had been playing the slot machines that were recently left in the different saloons in town. Several pockets had been emptied of all their small change and big inroads had been made on money of larger denominations. But finally one man turned up who "Bucked" the machine and got his foot into it, in one saloon. After that he thought he had a well be "huug for a sheep as a lamb" and proceeded to visit other saloons and freak the slot machines until he had four smashed and the fifth hie flew into a hiding place, with 24 hours notice to get out of town. If civil laws were enforced, such laws would not have so good an opportunity.

—Liveryman A. G. Jones lost a horse Wednesday. He was kicked by another horse breaking a leg and was taken out and shot.

—Henry Bisky purchased the old ice house, on 2nd street, of H. Dyer and has moved the lumber to his farm with an eye to building a house.

—The Stein boys got track of five big timber wolves, two or three miles south of town, Wednesday. They succeeded in killing one and severly wounding another.

—The body of John Craven, was taken through town yesterday, on its way from Omaha to Watertown for burial. Hon. Joseph W. Craven of Norwood and other relatives and friends accompanied the remains.

— People are beginning to think it best to be vaccinated, and to have their children vaccinated. Though it may not be possible to directly compel people to be vaccinated the laws are being made so inconvenient for those who are not vaccinated that they prefer to have the job over with. Most insurance companies have a clause making the insurance void if the insured is not vaccinated and dies of small-pox. Children are kept from school; persons are kept quarantined 18 days instead of one day, for lack of vaccination.

—Spring elections are drawing near. A Mayor, three councilmen, recorder, Justice of the peace, constable and assessor are to be elected. Every office should be filled by the best man possible to get. Men should be chosen who are residents of the village; who have homes and property here; and an interest in the vilage and it's welfare. Men who are capable and reliable. It is understood that several who have held the positions think they have served their time and are willing to give way to good successors.

A village park.

A bill has been introduced in this state providing for a raise of the salary of county commissioners to $5. a day. Of course, the "democratic" majority of Wright County board will lobby against the bill.—Waverly Tribune.

An amendment, to let out the job to the "highest bidder," might catch e'm, Bro. Smith.

The meeting of the Wright County Newspaper Association, on the 4th of March is looked forward to as one of the bright spots in the life of the newspaper men of the county. May peace and harmony prevail.

County Cullings

The Jepson anti-wine room bill was voted on vesterday, in the Senate. 28 voted to kill the bill; 17 against doing so; 18 absent or not voting. Wright County didn't commit herself.

A strife is going on between the 400 and the 500 of Buffalo to who can have the finest time. It is said there are some pretty fine times.

Telephones in the house must be fine things when a joking neighbor, well out of reach, at near midnight calls "Hello!" and when the question comes what do you want? retponds, "Oh, nothing only I wanted to know if you was going to the 500 sociable tonight.

Buffalo saloon keepers, it is said, resolved among themselves to live according to law, and close up up on Sunday and at eleven o'clock at night, in future. Law abiding people make the best citizens.

The Wright County Newspaper Association will hold its meeting of March 4th, in Annandale, and a royal good timeis expected. It is intended to hold ameeting in every newspaper town inthe county and to assist the local scribein duly elucidating the beauties andvarious attractions of the towns. Anumber of our business men have given assurance of interest and assistance in making the meeting a success. —Annandale Advocate Post

There seems to be something wrong about the letting of the contract for building a bridge across Clearwater River on Jan, 30. Stearns county papers are authority for the statement that when the bidders arrived on the grounds at the bridge they were informed that a certified check for $300 had to accompany each bid, and that no bid unaccompanied by a check for that amount, would be considered. As some of the bidders who offered to build the bridge for a less price than the firm to whom the job was let, had with them but $150, their offers were not considered. The advertisment for sealed bids should have stated that a check for $300 would be required We are informed the specifications were not even placed in the hands of the Auditor in time to be of use to bidders. It is about time this kind of business be explained. The people don't care to pay out a hundred dollars or so for looking up, advertising etc a ditch, and then learn that the proceedings were illegal and void. Neither do they desire to pay for printing twice what it could be done for. Nor do they wish to throw out bids of competent bridgebuilders in favor of larger or any other kind of firms, and pay more for the bridge than is necessary. If these stories are without foundation the Commissioners are entitled to a vindication. If things are as bad as they look they need an investigation. The business should be done on business principles. The people of Wright county deserve that it should be. as they have the bills to pay.

Star News: The Boers appear to keep the English army stepping sideways, notwithstanding the war was long since ended.

THERE IS NO WORK.

Many Persons Are Out Employment.

(Minneapolis Tribune Tuesday Feb. 12 1901.)

The urgent need that people who have employment to give should consult with the Associated Charities is becoming every day more apparent, for the reports from this source as well as from the Union mission show that for three years there has never been as many men out of employment as there are to day. Neither has there been a time when these societies have found such difficulty in placing people in places.

This condition of things, so the authorities report, is not due alone to the floating population which is probably, larger than usual, for by actual investigation they find that people who have been residents of Minneapolis for years, are in need of work, and can't get it. Many of them are without work this winter for the first time.

The Associated Charities would be glad if those having work to give would let them know. There are more men than woman out of employment, although both can be obtained at the rooms of the society.

Maple Plain.

MAPLE PLAIN, Minn.
February 12th, 1901.

Mr. Editor, you will see by this heading that it is the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, born 92 years ago, in the back woods of Ky. But out of his poverty and obscurity he became a stateman, a logician, president of the United States, and a Moses to four million slaves, bound to servitude not for a term of years, but during natural life. We believe there is none who do not revere the name of Lincoln.

His Emancipation proclamtion was, to the colored race of this country as was the edict of Moses to the children of Israel when he ordered them to take up the line of march from the land of Egypt unto the land of Cannan.

During the last week or ten days sleighing has been quite good, for this winter.

H. P. McCart is serving as juror an the Hamilton trial.

DIED: In Independence, Saturday, Feb 9, of old age and general debility, Mrs. Bergestrom, about 81 years old.

Teachers institute was held at Maple Plain on last Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Today Maple Plain is observing the anniversary of the birthday of Lincoln

Only a short time until Congress will have to adjourn this will end the 56th Congress Then comes the Inaguration of McKinley and Roosevelt.

About every body has finished putting up ice, for summer use.

The two creameries in our town seem to be doing a good business.

Most every body is glad the winter is so far spent and spring is near at haud—especially so with the farmer, on account of the scarcity of feed, etc

We hear of several who intend building barnes in the early spring. Lumber comes high under the present administration.

Roosevelt has been hunting lions, bears, panthers and tigers down in Colorado. He might start a zoological industry as an annex along with the vice-presidency. It would be a good amusement for him.

Mr. Marcus Alonzo Hanna is trying hard to omnibus the subsidy bill through Congress before the end of the 56th Congress. If he does not succeed perhaps there will be an extra session. Mark says it must go.

Some say Charlie Towne's speech in the United States Senate (which was three hours and ten minutes in length) was stale, but this is only their visionary imagination. The trouble was it had too much pepper and salt in in for the other fellows. Towne can get more grain out of an old straw stack that has been wintered over than many of them fellows can out of newly harvested crop. Towne will not be killed off rite away.

O, WHY SHOULD THE SPIRIT OF MORTAL BE PROUD.

BY WILLIAM KNOX.

(Lincoln's Favorite Poem.)

O, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?
Like a swift-fleeting meteor, a fast flying cloud,
A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,
Man passes from life to his rest in the grave.

The leaves of the oak and the willow shall fade,
Be scattered around and together be laid;
And the young and the old, and the low and the high
Shall moulder to dust and together shall die.

The infant mother attended and loved,
The mother that infant's affection who proved,
The husband that mother and infant who blessed,
Each, all are away to their dwellings of rest.

The maid on whose cheek, on whose brow, in whose eye,
Shone beauty and pleasure,—her triumphs are by;
And the memory of those who have loved her and praised,
Are alike from the minds of the living erased.

The hand of the king that the sceptre hath borne,
The brow of the priest that the mitre hath worn,
The eye of the sage, and the heart of the brave,
Are hidden and lost in the grave.

The peasant whose lot was to sow and to reap,
The herdsman who climbed with his goats up the steep,
The beggar who wandered in search of his bread,
Have faded away like grass that we tread.

The saint who enjoyed the communion of heaven,
The sinner who dared to remain unforgiven,
The wise and the foolish, the guilty and just,
Have quietly mingled their bones in the dust.

So the multitude goes, like the flower or the weed
That withers away to let others succeed;
So the multitude comes, even those we behold
To repeat every tale that has often been told.

For we are the same that our fathers have been;
We see the same sights that our fathers have seen,—
We drink the same stream, and view the same sun,
And run the same course that our fathers have run.

The thoughts we are thinking our fathers would think;
From the death that we shrink from our fathers would shrink;
To the life that we cling to they also would cling:
But it speeds for us all, like a bird on the wing.

They loved but the story we cannot unfold:
They scorned, but the heart of the haughty is cold;
They grieved but no wail from their slumbers will come:
They joyed, but the tongue of their gladness is dumb

They died, ay! they died: and we things that are now,
Who walk on the turf that lies over their brow
Who make their dwelling a transient abode
Meet the things that they met on their pilgrimage road.

Yea! hope and despondency, pleasure and pain,
We mingle together in sunshine and rain;
And the smiles and the tears, the song and the dirge,
Still follow each other, like surge upon surge

'Tis the wink of an eye, 'tis the draught of a breath,
From the blossom of health to the paleness of death,
From the gilded saloon to the bier and the shroud,—
O, why should the spirit of mortal be proud?

GOV. VANSANT has, most likely, had all he wants of the pardoning business for the present. The Mollie Morris matter was a genuine surfeit of pardoning. And the legislature has played its part of the drama by allowing Vandiver to step down and out of the fat dosition previously provided for him. And now the Gov. has got into a controversy with Mayor Ames, of Minneapolis over boxing bouts, and athletic sports generally. The wily Dr. is bound to give the Captain a solar plexus knockoutat that game. Too bad that the Gov. should get into such trouble, and so much of it, and such bad scrapes too, so soon in his administration. Almost as bad as the Gov. of Kansas has when he tries to suppress the National uprising.

Washington's Birthday.

Today, February 22nd. is observed throughout the broad expanse of land and sea over which floats the stars and stripes, the emblem of liberity, the flag of our country. as the anniversary of the birth of George Washington, the native born American patriot, Commander-in-chief of the Continental army, the first President of the United States of America, and whose patriotic principles, moral worth, whose life is today held up as an example worthy the emulation of every lover of his country in this or any other land.

George Washington was born in Westmoreland county, Virginia, on the 22nd of February, 1732. His father Augustine Washington died when George was only eleven years old, leaving George to the care of an excellent mother. The boy grew strong, was found of athletic sports, ne acquired a fair education. For a time was a surveyor, noted for the accurracy of his work. He became as most of his neighbors an Indian fighter. He was early arrayed among those favoring freedom from the tyranical yoke of England, was among the councelors for freedom, and commander of the forces which for 7 years fought for that end, finally gaining, with the help of French soldiers and sailors, a triumphant victory over Lord Cornwallis, at Yorktown. After peace was proclaimed he retired to his home, Mount Vermon, Virginia. In 1789 he was made, without solicitation and against his wishes, first President of the people for which he had fought. He was re-elected to a second term, after which he declined to longer be a public servant and retired again to his Virginia home where on the 14th December, 1799, at the age of 68 years. he died.

Though his body is dead, and returned to dust, the principles for which he strove, still live, and have been handed down, through trials and tribulations, through unequaled triumphs, by noble men and loving women from generation to generation, to us.

We observe the return of the birthday of this illustrious man, each year, in order to show our appreciation of the blessing we enjoy, and to keep alive the patriotism of the present generation. Will we continue to reap the rewards of valiant, honest, fearless men? Will we hand down to the coming generation the blessings of enjoying life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; The right to worship God according to the dictates of their own conciences, with none to molest or make arfaid? It is for us to say, we have the ballot in our hands. If we use it as our consciences direct, as our judgments dictate, without fear or favor, then are we worthy of the freedom, we now, and hope that comming millions may enjoy.

SOLDIERING IN LUZON.

Small pox is as Commom as Measles.

"Talking about Small-pox—why, I carried it right in my arms when I was in the Philippine Islands, and never suffered any inconvenience" says Gus Larson late of the Fifty-first Iowa regement. "I believe they give their children small-pox over there like we give our children the measles here" went on the young man, for every shack seems to have had a case of the small pox on hand. The incident I speak of occured when we were stationed about six miles below Manila. We were ordered to burn some shacks that were dangerously near our fireing line, and I went with some other soldiers to obey the orders of our superior officers. We found one place where a whole family was cooped up. One of the children was sick and I bundled him up in my arms, and carried him out. Later on, my hair fairly stood on end when I found the kid had the small-pox."

BURNING OLD FOLKS SHACKS.

"Speaking of burning shacks I had a mean experience one day in that business," Larson said. "Two old Filipinos, a man and wife both about 90 years of age, lived in a little hut right in fromt of our firing line. They were harmless old folks but they had a son who was a mean one. He would come home every night and hide near the hut and shoot at us all night long. Our captain got tired of this thing and said the only way to get rid of him was to burn the hut, and I was one of the men detailed to do the work. Well it was a nasty job to turn those decrepit old folks out into the world without a roof to cover them, but orders were orders and we were to obey. We bundled the dried up old people out, and piled their household goods out with them. They both whimpered and wailed but it was no use. Ugh! it makes me feel mean yet when I think about that experience."

GRIT OF AGUINALDO'S MEN.

"Those niggers are the slickest people I ever saw in my life. Why do you know they tied chickens up in the branches of trees and teethered their caribous near their houses so they would give the alarm when we drew near. The chickens would squawk and flap their wings like mad, and the caribous would bellow and thrash around. Then away would go the niggers like frightened quail. It was a strange thing about the way they would fight, too. They are a tenacious lot of little fellows. We had a man who did our washing for us and got good money from us every day One day we found him out in the brush with a hole in his head, He had been fighting against our men. Several for men who did work us around the camp were later found to be fighting against us when they were not working for us. When we were near Santa Tomas I found a little Filipino one day who had been shot seven times. I asked him in Spanish if he still wanted to fight, and the gritty little fellow said as "soon as he got well he would fight us like h—l."

GREWSOME DISCOVERIES MADE.

"We had a peculiar experience at Santa Thomas that makes my gorge rise yet," went on the young soldier, as he fingered his badge. "We came in there hot and thirsty, and the first place we struck was a big well. We filled our canteens, and later the Fourth cavalry came along and watered their horses, and also filled canteens and had a good drink. By this time the water was getting low in the shallow well, and there at the bottom were three dead Chinamen. Another time we were near the river we saw a dead Chinaman come floating down the river. One of our soldiers took a pole, pulled him in, cut off his queus, and then pushed the body back into the river and let it float on down. He wanted the queue as a souvenir. One day a lot of us went in swimming. Jerome Quigley of Desmoines swam acrosst he river, and when he came back he was all out of breath and said: 'I say, fellows, but I found a couple of swell fellows over there. Come on over and see 'em.' over we went and we found some swell fellows all right. They had been shot several days before and had been laying in the hot sun."

GREATER FACULTY FOR HIDING THAN CROWE'S.

"The niggers were sharp about hiding their chickens and poultry. When they heard we were coming lots of times they would put the fat fouls in baskets and bury them along with household goods. They had a quick way of getting out of sight, too. One day we went through a small village and we did not see a solitary person when we passed through. Later some of us sneaked back and the town was full of niggers. Were they had been hidden was a msstery we never solved. On the Maliaba road one day we met a little old man with two big baskets suspended from a stick acrost his sholders. In one were his household goods and in the other his wife, a little wizened old woman, and he toddled off with his burden, glad indeed to escape any molestation."—Sioux City Tribune.

Low Price Makers.

Huge importations of salt are coming to this country from Europe because the salt trust has put the price up so high that it is cheaper to go 5,000 miles for it than to buy it at home, in spite of tariff. Yet the salt trust, like all of its relatives, was formed on purpose to reduce the price of its products. But this trust evidently was not posted on the tariff when it made its raise of price. It will now be compelled to go to Washington this winter to get the duty increased. This recalls the press reports that the plow trust, long talked of, is at last organized, with a capital of two or three scores of millions The trust managers assert that it is formed to destroy competition so that plows may be sold cheaper—a bit of logic so tough that one of the trust's best plows can't cut a furrow slice from it. The time was when competition was depended upon to make prices low—but its different in the 20th century! If some plow maker wants a snap let him stay out of the trust and sell to the farmers direct! -Farm, Stock and Home

Commoner: It appears that the more peaceful the Filipinos become the more reinforcements McArthur must have. The Filipino commission seems to need the services of a first class occulist.

St Cloud Times: A ruling has been made by attorney General Douglas to the effect that where a county superintendent rejects an applicant for a teacher's position on the grounds of character or incompetency the state superintendent has no jurisdiction.

Commoner: A test has at last been discovered for determining when a paper is under corporate influence. If the editor becomes violently agitated when any reference is made to the common people the chances are sixteen to one that his paper is a defender of every scheme whereby the organized few seek to obtain an advantage over the masses of the people.

Duluth Herald: Another editor at Manila has been imprisoned and his paper suppressed. He is Senor Salas and his paper was the Diario, the oldest and most popular paper in Manila. It was established in 1848. He is described as a brilliant writer and recognized leader of the native Manila press. His crime was that he "violently criticised" the new so called Federal party organized in opposition to the so called Republican party. Mr. Salas also censured the policy of deportation which Gen. McArthur had adopted and enforced The American commander is enforcing a system of despotism on a par with the worst features of Spanish rule.

Sherburne County Times: The senate amended the military academy appropriation bill, which it passed last week, by providing for the expulsion of any West Point cadet who engages in hazing and making him ineligible to hold a commission in either the army or the navy. That will end the hazing business.

Willmar Tribune: One half of the money expended in a fruitless attempt to subjugate the Filipinos would have sufficed to build reservoirs and provide for the irrigation of millions of acres of Western soil, giving opportunity and homes for 10,000,000 additional American citizens. That would provide a far greater market for our manufacturers than a lot of tropical islands.

Broad Axe: When it is asked who exposed to the country the disgraceful maladministration of the prohibitory liquor laws of Kansas, Mrs. Carrie Nation can say with George Washington, "I did it with my little hatchet." Could there be a keener satire than Gov. Stanley's grandiloquent remark, "Madam I will not help you break the law by destroying property," when at that very moment and under his Excellency's very nose 120 saloons were running at full blast in his own little city of 35,000 inhabitants in positive violation of the state law! In disregarding his oath of office to enforce the statutes is not Gov Stanley already helping to break the law in more than a hundred instances? And now it is being proposed to resubmit the prohibition amendment, on which question not one woman in Kansas would have a vote.

Ha Hin, Chinaman

By G. R. Pattulo, Jr.

HA HIN lay on his back in his narrow bunk and scraped upon a wire strung violin a droning lullaby of the orient. With dreamy, almond eyes gazing into space, he thought of Yateesha and smiled. In the hollow wall within reach of his hand lay the precious American gold that four years of persistent toil had won him, and he laughed with a child's delight as he tapped gently upon the boards. The disturbing noises of the street reached him subdued and slumberous, and from all around the guttural voices of his brother orientals mingled in sleepy monotone. As in a haze, he saw the lazy Yangtse-Kiang flow murmuringly on to the Yellow sea, its reed-clad banks swept gently by a perfumed breeze that whispered of rest, and of love, and of languorous delight. Swift birds of heavenly plumage floated by on noiseless wings, and Yateesha's soft laughter rippled silver-chiming as music of paradise. With gentle undulating motion they were sailing on, he and she, through the realms of night, and the great golden moon in the white radiance of starry heaven sent wide beams of light over the bosom of the waters. The poppies drooped their graceful heads, and from afar shone fairy lights. A continuous murmur of life was borne upon the passion-breathing air and they two watched alone in the high arch of sky the intense stars shoot like arrows of fire.

Ha Hin closed his eyes and saw before him a long life of dreamful ease; heard the deferential voices of many slaves and the respectful salutations of his countrymen as he respondeu to their low salaams. And the queen of it all was Yateesha. He placed his head upon his arm and sighed tremulously. He was going back to Yateesha and his happiness.

The big Mantchoorian lay opposite and watched with sullen eyes the bright dreams reflected upon Ha Hin's countenance. He kicked viciously at Yo Te sunk insuporbeside him, his brass-tipped opium pipe hanging from loose lips that babbled incoherently of the strange fantasies of his sleep. The low ceilinged room was heavy with the many odors of a Chinaman's sleeping apartment, and the forms of three sons of the sunny east showed dimly from bunks about the walls through a blue vail of smoke. From the next room came the thud and swish of the busy irons where Lee Hing and two assistants were finishing up the week's consignment of linen. The Mantchoorian arose, cautiously pulled a bottle from beneath a pile of clothes, concealed it under his coat and went through to the street door. He picked up a parcel of linen as he went.

"I'm going to take this," he said, and Lee Hing nodded in pleased surprise.

Twilight was falling over the city and the streets were filling with the crowds that nightly thronged them, seeking relief from the stifling heat in vain. Square white sheets of paper, with strange characters upon them drew groups of people to office windows, and the Mantchoorian wondered idly what it all meant. Many boys accosted passers-by, holding aloft the evening papers and yelling the contents of a hastily issued extra.

"The legations butchered in Peking. More missionairies killed and outraged," they shrilled. "Tientsin—"

The Mantchoorian pondered dully upon the cause of the excitement as he passed out of hearing and turned into a densly populated alley where the air reeked with foul smells and the houses huddled close in squalor and wretched disrepair. He stopped at a night of steps leading to a brightly illuminated cellar, from which came sounds of revelry run wild and the thick accents of helpless drunkenness. The Mantchoorian pulled the bottle from beneath his coat and descended.

Ha Hin slept; and little Lee Fee, as he swung the polishing iron in the workroom, sang contentedly in Shanghai Chinese a ballad of a lady and a sedan chair. He had reached the thirty-third verse and was folding the shirt to be wrapped up, when he paused with eyes wide with terror Through the open door sprang the Mantchoorian, his clothes torn and saturated with blood. He clutched a knife, dark with ruddy stains, in his right hand and the look of a hunted animal glared from his bloodshot eyes. He swung the door to and bolted it. Then with a curse he hurled the boy from his path, rushed past the chattering Chinamen into the next room and into his bunk. In a second he was out again and had thrown his soiled coat over the sleeping Ha Hin. Quickly drawing on a tweed vest from a nail in the wall, he uttered a rapid warning to the questioning group that watched his movements in consternation, and disappeared stealthily by a side door into the darkness of a deserted lane.

Lee Fee crept to Ha Hin's bunk and gently shook him into wakefulness. He was shivering with vague alarm and his eyes looked a pitiful appeal for protection that banished from Ha Hin's features the smile that his slumbers had left upon them.

"What is the matter, little Lee Fee? Who hurts you?" he asked hoarsely.

"Listen, they're coming," whispered the boy, and buried his face upon his friend's breast.

"Who are coming, little one? Be quick, what is it?" cried Ha Hin, tenderly raising the boy's face.

"There, you can hear them howling. Big To Ko, the Mantchoorian, he ran in one second ago and ran out again. He was all blood and had a knife. And his eyes—oh, his eyes. Somebody had torn his clothes, and he cursed at me with the terrible cath. He had drunk the strong waters again, and now we will be killed."

Ha Hin listened with a growing fear, and there burst from the head of a neighboring street, wild, frenzied cries. He jumped to the middle of the floor, and swung Lee Fee onto his back.

"Out of this, all of you. To Ko has got into trouble, and must have hurt some one. Hark! they are coming for him, and to them it will matter little—Mantchoorian or us. We must get out of this for to-night, anyway. Come on, little Lee Fee, thou and I will risk it together."

A heavy stone came crashing through the glass of the front entrance and rolled to Lee Hing's feet. Ha Hin stooped and picked it up. The rush of a score of feet rattled the crazy windows in their frames and the door broke inwards. As it flew torn from its hinges, Ha Hin raised the stone high above his head and hurled it at the oncoming tide of humanity that surged in. It caught a fat German full upon the chest, and he sank to the floor with a choking gasp that sent the blood welling from his mouth.

"Up again, Lee Fee," he cried, and the boy sprang into his arms.

The Chinese had slipped out by the side door, and Ha Hin threw himself after them. With the raging crowd of roughs yelping at his heels, he ran for his life and prayed to the gods with a fierce despair for strength to elude them. Lee Fee hung tightly to his back and closed his eyes to the swollen, angry faces racing behind. An iceman's assistant in the rear stopped and threw a wooden mallet.

Little Lee Fee gave a gurgling groan of pain and his head fell forward upon Ha Hin's shoulder, while a gush of warm blood spattered Ha Hin's face. He stopped and laid the boy tenderly upon the ground. The pursuers uttered a yell of triumph and were upon him.

With all the might of wild passion and lost hope let loose, Ha Hin struck blindly out. An Italian fruit vendor went reeling back senseless upon his companions, and as he fell dropped the glittering stiletto that he had raised to deal the death stroke. Ha Hin's claw-like fingers closed upon it, and his eyes narrowed with a hideous joy as he sent the cold steel home into the shoulder of the nearest assailant. A maddening joy was pulsing through his veins and he leaped forward to meet them. Twice, thrice he struck, and the knife came back dyed deeper with each thrust. A lead pipe was swung upon his head, and earth and sky rocked horribly as he staggered backward out of reach of a second blow. A swarthy figure bounded to his side and a sinewy arm encircled his neck. Ha Hin grasped the uplifted hand and strained with fast failing strength to tear the Italian from his hold. His brain was throbbing dully and the ring of brutal faces that encompassed and strove to reach him, blurred red and indistinct. With a jerk the Italian freed his wrist and the knife was buried to the hilt in Ha Hin's breast.

He saw the Yangtse-Kiang rolling dreamily on, and upon the reed-clad bank Yateesha spread her soft arms to welcome him. Ha Hin sighed tremulously and sank his head upon his arm. The murmur of many voices sounded faint and far away, and he smiled; he was going back to Yateesha and his happiness.

The moon rose over the city blood-red and the air was suffocating with oppressive heat. A huge uniformed figure stood sentry before the laundry and saluted with easy familiarity the sergeant upon his rounds.

"I was afraid there would be trouble, Lane," said the sergeant. "That Chinee, To Ko, didn't do for Casey, but he did for his countryman. It's unfortunate we didn't arrive in time to stop the gang, for the affair will look ugly. We've got To Ko, and the Italian's next to him in No. 3. What about the others?"

"They're all back again and lying low, scared to death," replied the policeman. "And that is in there too."

"Hark, what is that?" asked the sergeant, holding up a hand.

The policeman looked uncomfortable.

"Oh, that's only little Lee Fee crying over the body. He liked Ha Hin."

And in the room above six Chinamen were wrangling over the division of the American gold.—Canadian Magazine.

One of the important developments the last year in Y. M. C. A. work has been the introduction of library privileges to the men at the army posts. Through the generosity of friends 55 traveling libraries have been secured, each containing from 60 to 100 volumes. One of these libraries is sent to a post or to a regular camp, and remains there for four weeks, when it is moved to another post and is in turn replaced by a new library.

Few persons have any idea of the amount of capital and labor now being devoted to the electrical industries of this country. An expert says that 600,000 persons are employed and he divides up the investments in this fashion: Street railways, $1,800,000,000; lighting, $1,200,000,000; telephony, $300,000,000; telegraphy, $250,000,000; mining, power transmission and plating, together, $250,000,000; manufacturing apparatus, $150,000,000, and automobiles and storage batteries, $25,000,000. This is close to $4,000,000,000, and the industry is young.

Andrew Carnegie purposes to give away $1,000,000 a month for some time to come for the purpose of endowing and supporting libraries. This is at the rate of $33,333.33 a day, or, allowing ten working hours to each day, $3,333.33 an hour, or $55.55 a minute. Now, of course, man is naturally avaricious and grasping, but the modest man will be contented to wish that his fairy godmother would come along and turn him into a circulating library for any period from ten minutes to half a day. Mr. Carnegie's name will live forever.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

No Release.

The supreme court decided several important cases, among them the case of the state against J. R. Clement, the Filmore county banker.

Clement was convicted on one indictment in connection with the insolvent bank, and sentenced to five years imprisonment. The charge was that the institution was fraudulent concern, and on this point Clement appealed and won.

The supreme court finds that the indictment was faulty in not being more specific, and reverses the verdict.

Clement will not be released, however, as there was another indictment on which he was found guilty and sent to prison for 10 years.

The supreme court finds that this sentence was all right.

Another case decided was that of Christian Bongard, the defaulting treasurer of Carver county. The verdict of the lower court was against Jacob Towne and the other bondsmen, and they appealed. The supreme court sustains the judgement.

Desperado Killed.

They had had trouble before, when Sullivan drew a gun on Randolph, who took it away and thrashed him. Sullivan saw Randolph driving across the ice and he got a Winchester. It was taken away from him and then he got a revolver and shot Randolph through the abdomen.

He shot again and the bullet went through Randolph's ear.

Randolph calmly turned about in his seat, reached for his shotgun, loaded it with buckshot out of the back of his wagon, took careful aim and shot the top of Sullivan's head off and he fell dead.

Randolph then drove 12 miles to Noochyng and sought a surgeon, who cared for his wounds. He will live.

DEALING WITH CRIMES IN CANADA.

From the Chicago-Times Herald on January 18th, 1901.

"The citizens of the Dominion of Canada have just cause to be proud of their record as law-abiding people. The annual report of the criminal statistics of the Dominion, which has a population of over 6,000,000, shows that there were only twenty-five indictments for murder in 1899, of which only two were left without final action. Eleven of those indicted were hanged, nine acquitted and three confined as insane.

"Canada is a country of vast proportions. Its people are scattered over a wide stretch of territory, making police surveillance particularly difficult and in many districts impossible. Yet a city like New York or Chicago alone furnishes a far greater criminal list every year than the whole vast stretch of territory from Quebec to Vancouver.

"The Canadians ascribe their immunity from crime to the promptness with which punishment is meted out to offenders. When a man is caught red-handed in the act of robbing another he is not released on straw bail by some justice of the peace from the slums, to go out and repeat the offense. Sharp and sure justice is meted out to criminals of all kinds, the result being that when the guardians of the public peace succeed in bringing a thug to the bar they are seldom called upon to hunt him a second time.

"Furthermore there are few court delays in Canada when a criminal is brought to book. They have no Dreyer cases over there. There are no methods whereby Canadian criminals can have the proceedings stayed from month to month and from year to year or after being convicted, appeal from one court to another until witnesses die of old age or opportunities for corruption can be found.

"Nor does this swift method of treating with wrong-doers in Canada leave the innocent unable to properly defend themselves. They have all the opportunities and privileges that our own laws extend to them. The extent to shield the guilty is lacking—that is all."

The above taken from the editorial column of the Times-Herald gives some idea of the immunity from crime that exists in Canada, and this is one of the many inducements held out for Americans to settle in the district known as Western Canada. The season of 1901 will see a few sections of the country opened up for settlement. They are attractive in every respect. It is understood that one of the best Indian Reserves in the famous Valley of the Saskatchewan will be opened up this year, and an invitation is extended to those desiring homes to make inquiries. The price of the land is said to be nominal. Besides these lands, the several railway companies have lands to sell; also the Government. THE WORLD'S BEST KNOWN TRAIN.

The Empire State Express—What It Does Daily and How It Does It.

"There is only one train in the country that exceeds fifty miles an hour in speed for 100 miles run, and that is the Empire State Express."—Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

The Ledger might have added that this great train averages fifty-three and one-third miles per hour for the entire distance from New York to Buffalo, 440 miles, including four stops and twenty-eight slowdowns; that it does this each business day of the year. The attention which the Empire State Express has attracted in every country of the world has proved one of the greatest advertisements for American machinery and American methods that has ever been put forth, and that the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company is entitled to the thanks of not only the entire State of New York, but of every person in the United States from one end of the land to the other for placing before the world an object lesson without an equal.—From the Syracuse Post-Standard.

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scales, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide.

"I am surprised at you litlte boys, for when I was like you I never told lies." There was silence for awhile, until one of the boys shouted: "Hand him up the dog!"—London Labor Leader.

WOMEN OF THE UNITED STATES

MRS. BELVA A. LOCKWOOD, LATE CANDIDATE FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

Mrs. Belva Lockwood, the eminent barrister, of Washington, D. C., is the only woman who has ever been a candidate for the President of the United States. She is the best known woman in America. As the pioneer of her sex in the legal profession she has gathered fame and fortune. In a letter to The Peruna Medicine Company, she says:

"I have used your Peruna both for myself and my mother, Mrs. Hannah J. Bennett, now in her 88th year, and I find it an invaluable remedy for cold, catarrh, hay fever and kindred diseases; also a good tonic for feeble and old people, or those run down, and with nerves unstrung."—Belva A. Lockwood.

Mrs. T. Pelton.

Mrs. T. Pelton, 562 St. Anthony avenue, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"Peruna has done wonders for me. It has cured my headache and palpitation of the heart; has built up my whole system. I cheerfully recommend Peruna to all sufferers afflicted with catarrh. My mother is never without Peruna. When one is tired and generally out of sorts, if Peruna is taken it immediately removes that tired feeling."

Dr. Hartman, the compounder of Peruna, once said, in a lecture to women:

"A great number of women consult me every year. I often have occasion to say to these patients, 'I fear you have catarrh, madam.' They will generally reply, 'Oh, no, I never had catarrh. My nose is perfectly clear and my breath is not bad. I am not troubled with coughing or spitting or any other disagreeable symptoms of catarrh.' But, my dear madam, you may have catarrh all the same. Catarrh is not always located in the head. You may have catarrh of the lungs, or stomach, or liver, or kidneys, and especially you may have catarrh of the pelvic organs."

Mrs. Julia C. Brown, of Pecatonica, Ills., says: "I have used Peruna in my home for the past four years and am thoroughly convinced that it is a reliable family remedy."
Julia C. Brown.

The doctor went on to say: "I have been preaching this doctrine for the last forty years, but there are vast multitudes of women who have never heard it yet. Catarrh may attack any organ of the body. Women are especially liable to catarrh of the pelvic organs. There are one hundred cases of catarrh of the pelvic organs to one of catarrh of the head. Most people think, because they have not catarrh of the head, they have not catarrh at all. This is a great mistake and is the cause of many cases of sickness and death."

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

The Senatorial Question Being Settled, the Members Are Rapidly Getting the Wheels of Government in Motion.

St. Paul, Feb. 14.—After a three days' vacation the legislature resumed work yesterday. The senate, at last, definitely decided that it did not approve the pardon of Mollie Morris by voting to relieve J. S. Vandiver from a clerkship, on the ground that there is nothing for him to do. A bill was introduced in both houses which practically appropriates a million dollars more for the state capital. It provides for the continuance of the tax which raises $200,000 per annum for five years more. The original bill provided for a levy of $200,000 for ten years. As the capitol is a state and not a local affair, it is probable that the bill introduced yesterday will pass.

The mania to create new boards still exists. A bill was offered in the senate creating a new board of education, to be composed of a member of the faculty of the state university, a member of the normal school board, a superintendent of a high school and a county superintendent. This board is to have general charge of the educational interests of the state.

A new libel law was introduced which compels a man sueing for libel to elect whether he will make it a civil or a criminal process, confining it to one only, and not allow both, as at present.

Roseau county is now liable to be a dangerous place for law-breakers. Representative Berg's bill was passed, allowing Roseau county to bond her indebtedness so that she can have money to prosecute criminals.

The Carrie Nation temperance spirit invaded the house in the shape of a bill which forbids all window screens, wine rooms or other devices in saloons to conceal the business carried on.

St. Paul, Feb. 15—Senator Buckman has introduced a bill for the better protection of the forests of the state, which provides for the office of fire warden, with a salary of $2,500 a year. This is an advance in the salary now paid to Fire Marshal Andrews, and is believed to be more nearly commensurate with the need of the office and its important duties.

The Pan-American exposition at Buffalo was recognized in both houses by the introduction of a bill creating a commission of eight members, one of whom shall be the governor, and the other seven appointed by him, and making an appropriation of $50,000 for a state exhibit. The treasurer of the commission must give $25,000 bond.

Senator Roverud introduced a harmless looking bill to require the presence of county attorneys at corner's inquests, and Senator McNamee put in two more bills in the interest of osteopathy.

Senator Jepson, of Hennepin, scored a victory and suffered a defeat in committee of the whole yesterday. When the judiciary committee's bill as a substitute for Jepson's measure to prohibit the recording of legal instruments with a typewriter came up, he moved its indefinite postponement, which carried. Then when the Hennepin senator's measure to prohibit all enclosures in saloons came up, his colleagues took a hard fall out of it, with the result that it was reported back with the recommendation that it do not pass.

The house committee on crimes and punishments took a more charitable view of persons marrying after divorces have been secured by either one of them than did Representative Umland when he introduced a bill prohibiting such marriages within a period of one year. Representative Johnson, of the committee, moved to have three months fixed as the limit, and the bill was recommended to pass with such amendment.

The judiciary committee killed the bill introduced by Representative Stark, providing for the appointment of a state librarian by the judges of the supreme court. The bill was clearly unconstitutional, as the appointive power rests with the governor.

The standard central time will be adopted for Minnesota if the committee reports favorably, as the senate bill to that effect was agreed to.

Representative Sweet's bill asking that a constitutional amendment be submitted so that the terms of judges of probate be fixed by the legislature was recommended for passage.

St. Paul, Feb. 16.—Senator Horton introduced a bill appropriating $10,000 for the purpose of placing a statue of the late Senator C. K. Davis in the National Statuary hall in the capitol at Washington. The governor is to appoint a commission of three to carry out the provisions of the bill.

Another bill offered forbids liquor dealers in the Twin Cities from shipping liquor to consumers in the country without securing a license in the place where the liquor is sold. This is a temperance measure in favor of the local saloon keeper.

The senate committee of the whole recommended for passage the bill requiring judges to render their decision within four months after the case is submitted. Only two bills were passed in the senate, and those of minor importance.

If the legislature keeps on, the barbers' profession will reach the dignity of the ministry or the law. Two bills were introduced in the house yesterday regulating the license of barbers and also regulating the conduct of barber schools.

The larger portion of the house session was devoted to discussing Speaker Dowling's bill increasing the pay of county commissioners from $3 to $4 per day. A bill to indefinitely postpone was lost, but the bill was finally left in committee of the whole.

There is a good deal of agitation over the fact that the committee on reapportionment sits with closed doors. So many members of the legislature hope to see the new congressional districts so carved out that they will have a chance to go to congress that they want to know what the committee is doing. It now looks as if the committee would make the districts so that they can all get elected to congress and leave the rest of the legislature to take its chances. When the bill is finally reported to the open legislature things may be different.

St. Paul, Feb. 18.—There was a little attempt to introduce politics into legislation Saturday, but it came to naught. Senator Stockwell introduced resolutions against the ship subsidy bill and against retaining the Philippines. Both were promptly laid on the table, and as a motion to table is not debatable, there was no opportunity for flights of oratory.

Among the bills introduced was the one creating a board of opteometry, which is to regulate opticians, preventing physicians who are general practitioners from treating the eyes, and requiring parties selling eye glasses and spectacles to pass an examination and secure a license. The bill is evidently based on the theory that none are so blind as those who won't see, and it proposes to make them see whether they will or not. It is quite evident that the eye specialist who invented the bill can see a hole through a skimmer with the naked eye.

Senator McGill introduced a bill creating a fund to pension school teachers in districts having over 5,000 people. It sets apart 1 per cent of the salaries paid to create the fund. It is a sort of enforced savings bank provided for the teachers by the teachers themselves, and if the same set of teachers remain in the same district 40 or 50 years they will have laid up quite a bank account for their old age. It will make the young lady teachers independent of marriage to secure a home.

Another bill prohibits marriage of feeble-minded persons, or those affected with epilepsy or hereditary insanity.

The house was greatly wrought up by a petition from the old soldiers at the soldiers' home. As it is now, the pensions of the old soldiers who are inmates of the homes are collected by the institution and devoted to its maintenance, only a small fraction being given to the pensioner. They either want it all or a good deal larger proportion than they receive. There was a contest over printing it in the journal of the house, but the old soldiers scored, and it was ordered printed, so that they can see their grievance. This publicity may lead to some legislation later.

The tombstone industry encountered a loss by the defeat of the bill authorizing the probate judges to erect $50 monuments over neglected graves.

And still they come! A bill offered Saturday provides for a state art commission to pass upon the architecture and plans of all public buildings. The commission is to consist of five persons appointed by the governor and they are to be paid $5 per day for every day actually employed. If this thing keeps on there will be nothing on earth not regulated by a commission, not excepting the bills of fare at hotels and restaurants.

St. Paul, Feb. 19.—The senate passed the anti-cigarette bill, with only five opposing votes. The only argument made against it was that the Russians who have come to Minnesota are addicted to cigarettes and it was an injustice to prevent their using them. As the Russian vote is not very large, this argument did not cut much figure and the bill went through.

Senator Wilson's bill requiring district judges to render decisions within four months after the cases are submitted also passed.

A bill was introduced in the senate making it a misdemeanor for a man to accept transportation from his employer and then refuse to work it out. It has become quite a custom for men seeking employment in the lumber camps in the woods to accept transportation and, when they arrive, go to work in some adjacent camp and refuse to work out the amount of money paid by the intended employer for their railroad ticket.

The civil service bill for school teachers was indefinitely postponed in committee of the whole.

A bill was introduced in the senate making the salary of probate judges in counties of 9,000 population or less $600 per year, and for each additional thousand an increase, up to 23,000, a total of $1,200, and $50 for each additional thousand until $4,000 is reached, which is to be the maximum.

All the road and bridge bills which have been introduced in the house were sent to a common grave yesterday. This was on the ground that the constitutional amendment of 1898 created a state highway commission, which alone has authority to disburse the road and bridge fund.

The expected happened when Representative Jacobson introduced again the bill which was fought over so vigorously two years ago, increasing the gross earnings tax on railroads from 3 per cent to 4 per cent. The bill provides that it shall be voted upon at the general election in 1902.

The omnibus appropriation bill for the normal schools at Winona, Mankato, St. Cloud, Moorhead and Duluth was introduced. The amount appropriated is $214,000.

Another bill of importance offered in the house transfers $75,000 from the general revenue fund every two years to the road and bridge fund.

A joint session of the senate and house was held to pay a tribute to the late Senator C. K. Davis. Eloquent eulogies were pronounced by Lieut. Gov. Smith, Senators Snyder, McGovern and McCarthy, and Representatives Roberts, Hurd, Riley and Pennington.

No Place Like Home.

An Atchison man took sick Saturday and decided to stay home till he got rested. He was back at work Monday. His wife had asked him within a few hours to take care of the baby, to chop onions for pickles, to grind the coffee, to dress the children, and to milk the cow "while he was resting."—Atchison Globe.

An Atchison man has been refusing for years to get any new furniture, because the old was not worn out. His wife stopped coaxing, and invited his three nephews to spend the summer. The new furniture had to be bought the day they left.—Atchison Globe.

True to His Promise.

Mrs. Synnex—When Tom asked me to have him he promised me that my lightest wish would always be law with him.

Mrs. Sauer—And, of course, that was all the promise amounted to—mere empty words.

"No; I won't say that. Tom always respects my lightest wishes. It is in matters of importance where he is bound to have his own way.—Boston Transcript.

"They say," remarked the philosophic man, "that the darkest hour is just before the dawn." "Jimminy!" exclaimed Lazibones, "that's one of my brightest hours, for I'm always sure to be asleep then."—Philadelphia Press.

RAISES HER TARIFF.

Russia Hits Back at Alleged Discriminating Duty of United States—Gage Explains.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 18.—The Russian government has taken prompt steps to counterbalance the United States' recent alleged discrimination against sugar from here. An increase in the tariff in the principal imports from America, that practically is prohibitory, will take effect on March 1. This advance in the rates of duty on imports, whose value last year amounted to $30,000,000, was announced Saturday in a decree by M. de Witte, minister of finance. It strikes at no country except the United States, and by many here is looked upon as the beginning of a tariff war. The decree is based upon the first paragraph of article 628 of the customs statute.

The German press naturally is elated, believing the measure will transfer American commerce to Germany. The ordinance requires that the articles affected be accompanied, upon importation, by a certificate of origin.

The ordinance affects the articles named in paragraphs 150, 151, 152, 153, 161 and 167 of the second part, including all sorts of iron and steel goods from unworked iron castings to sewing machines. Locomobiles, with complicated thrashers attached, and steam plows, and fire engines are excepted.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The news that Russia had struck back at the United States government because of the recent ruling of Secretary Gage in regard to the tariff on Russian sugar, while not altogether unexpected, came sooner than anyone had believed probable. The exports to Russia covered in the decree are on machinery and tools of every kind, manufactures and products of cast iron and steel. Of these the chief articles are farm machines. It is considered that the increase in the duties is practically prohibitory.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Secretary Gage has received many letters regarding the recent order imposing a countervailing duty on Russian sugars. On Monday he sent answers in which he denied that the duty placed on Russian sugar discriminated against that article, and explaining the reason for his action.

KILLED TWELVE LIONS.

Col. Roosevelt Returns to Meeker, Col., After a Most Successful Hunt.

Meeker, Col., Feb. 18.—Col. Roosevelt and John Goff rode into Meeker from the Keystone ranch Friday afternoon at three o'clock. When asked for interviews the governor referred the correspondent to Mr. Goff.

Mr. Goff said that 17 lions were killed during the hunt, and that the governor himself killed 12, four of which he killed with his knife and eight with his rifle. Mr. Goff further stated that Gov. Roosevelt Friday killed the largest lion that has been killed in this section, weighing 227 pounds and measuring 8½ feet in the flesh. Mr. Goff states that Roosevelt killed it with his knife.

One of the most exciting experiences of the hunt occurred during Thursday night, when Gov. Roosevelt killed with his rifle his second to largest lion. In order to get a shot at the unsuspecting beast the governor leaned the larger portion of his weighty body over a perpendicular cliff 40 feet high, John Goff holding him by the leg while Roosevelt aimed and fired and instantly killed his game.

DEAL IS FINISHED.

Carnegie Is to Receive $152,000,000 for His Stock in the Old Steel Company—Schwab Is President.

New York, Feb. 16.—"The Carnegie Steed company as such has ceased to exist except by courtesy." This statement was made Friday by a high official of the American Steel & Wire company. By this it was implied that all details for the transfer of control of that company to the Morgan syndicate have been finished and that the only delay in making final announcement is due to matters affecting the other companies which it is believed will be taken in. Charles M. Schwab, of the Carnegie Steel company, has been formally selected as the head of the big steel combination. In addition to a cash payment of $22,500,000 made Friday to Mr. Carnegie, he will receive $1,500 for each of his 86,000 shares of stock, making a total of over $152,000,000 for his interest, from which the income will be nearly $8,000,000 a year.

Severest Winter Known.

Port Townsend, Wash., Feb. 19.—The steamer Farralon, arriving here from the north Monday, brings word that southeast Alaska is again being swept by severe snow and windstorms and that on February 13 the Yukon & White Pass railroad was again blocked. Twenty-five feet of snow on the trail is recorded at White Horse, while at Skagway it was six feet deep. The present winter in Alaska is said to be the severest ever known since American occupation, over 30 years ago.

Would Honor Sampson.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The president Thursday sent a special message to congress, nominating Sampson to be a rear admiral and ranking Schley, and urging that the same recognition that had been given Dewey and his officers and men for their services in Manila bay should be given Sampson, commander of the North Atlantic fleet, and his men for services in and about Cuba. Many senators are opposed to the nomination, believing that the honor should go to Schley.

Electrocution Knocked Out.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 19.—Senator Barlow's bill providing for the use of electricity in legal executions was amended Monday by the house after it had passed the senate by substituting morphine for electricity. After this amendment had carried a motion to strike out the enacting clause carried. This leaves the rope the legal mode.

Milwaukee Sentinel Sold.

Milwaukee, Feb. 16.—The Milwaukee Sentinel has been sold, the first authoritative announcement being made Friday. The controlling interest passes into the hands of Charles F. Pfister and others of this city. The terms of the sale have not been made public.

HIS WORK ENDED.

Maurice Thompson, the Famous Author, Passes Away After a Long Illness, at Crawfordsville, Ind.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Feb. 16.—Maurice Thompson, the author, died at 3:25 Friday morning, after an illness of many weeks. He had been kept alive for several days by the use of stimulants. Mr. Thompson became unconscious about 9:30 o'clock Thursday night, and there was no sign of pain when the end came. His family was at his bedside.

[Mr. Thompson was one of the best known literary characters of the country. He was born in Fairfield, Ind., September 9, 1844, but spent his early life in the Georgia mountains, half-way between Chattanooga and Atlanta, where his father was an extensive planter. He entered the confederate army in 1862 and did hard scout duty. After the war he became chief engineer of the L. C. & S. W. railroad, and while engaged in this work met Alice Lee, of Crawfordsville, whom he married. He lived with the Lees at their home, beginning the practice of law. In 1867 he explored Lake Okeechechee, Florida, listing its birds, animals and plants. From his Crawfordsville home Mr. Thompson sent forth the literary work which was to win him distinction—first, a book of poems, "Hoosier Mosaics," then "Sylvan Secrets," followed hard by "Bird Notes." From this home came "The Witchery of Archery," which caused a revival of this fine old sport. Mr. Thompson began writing for publication first in 1873. He had written before this, but he considered the publication of his poem "At the Window" in the Atlantic Monthly as his beginning. "The Witchery of Archery" was written in 1877 and his first novel, "A Tallahassee Girl," in 1881. His other works have been: "Stories of Cherokee Hills," "Ethics of Literary Art," "Toxophilus in Arcadia," "His Second Campaign," "At Love's Extremes," "A Fortnight of Folly," "The Ocala Boy," "King of Honey Island," "Hoosier Mosaics," "Songs of Fair Weather," "Byways and Bards' Notes," "Sylvan Secrets," "The Story of Louisiana," "Lincoln's Grave" (poem), "My Winter Garden" and "Alice of Old Vincennes."]

CHEERFUL REPORTS.

Story of Existing Conditions in the Commercial World Is Very Encouraging.

New York, Feb. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "Business continues of good volume in nearly all parts of the country, and reports from the west and southwest of a satisfactory distribution of merchandise by jobbers begin to have a familiar sound. Heavy orders come from agents on the road. There is no important change in prices in any department of manufactured goods, and some staples rise while others decline, but the longer the situation remains as at present the surer the business world feels about a rise in prices in the future, for the demand for merchandise for prompt consumption does not decrease. Some progress has been made in the direction of settlement of labor differences in the far west and the temper of soft coal miners is more amicable, while there is little concern among steel interests over the sensational stories of organization at the mills to enforce demands for higher wages. The standard measures of business make favorable comparisons. At some points there are evidences of an inclination to delay operations in iron and steel until something definite is known regarding the proposed combination, but this applies only to small undertakings, which are insignificant in comparison with the urgent dealings that cannot be postponed. Purchasers find difficulty in securing even approximate estimates for delivery of goods in many products and mills are so far behind orders as a rule that no new contracts are sought. Structural material and railway supplies are in greatest request, numerous heavy orders being accepted this week at full prices. There is no inclination to shade quotations of finished forms, and pig iron at Pittsburgh again advanced.

"Failures for the week numbered 237 in the United States, against 218 last year, and in Canada 40, against 42 last year."

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED.

Gen. Weyler Placed in Command to Maintain Order in Province of Madrid.

Madrid, Feb. 15.—The authorities, disturbed by the serious conflicts Wednesday night, decided no longer to permit the populace to have free rein. When Madrid awoke it found itself under military rule. A proclamation was posted announcing the enforcement of martial law in consequence of the inability of the civil authorities to cope with the disturbances. Mounted troops patrolled the city and occupied every strategic point, and a demonstration toward the palace on account of the wedding was thus nipped in the bud. Immense crowds surrounded the palace during the ceremony, but not a word of disrespect was overheard. The public did not participate in the wedding in any way. There was no public fete of any character connected with it.

Madrid, Feb. 16.—Friday afternoon all signs of disturbances had disappeared. The city has, apparently, resumed its normal condition. Martial law continues and may be maintained through carnival week, when it is feared the fetes will give an opportunity for renewed disorder.

Mrs. Nation in Jail.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 19.—Mrs. Nation is now in the county jail as a result of her trial on a peace warrant before Judge Hazen Monday. The warrant was sworn to by the Moeser Cold Storage company, whose plant Mrs. Nation entered Sunday morning. Mrs. Nation acted as her own attorney in the trial. Judge Hazen placed her under $2,000 bond to keep the peace, and ordered her to appear before him at the next term of court. Mrs. Nation refused to give the bond, and said she would go to jail. She is now detained in the hospital room of the county jail, where she will probably remain for some time.

Boy's Terrible Fate.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 16.—Albert Nielson, a 17-year-old curly-headed boy, employed at the zoo in this city, was torn and chewed to shreds Friday morning by Rajah, a vicious Bengal tiger, one of the largest in captivity. The lad's duty included the care of a den of cub lions and a cage of quaggas, which were on either side of the tiger's den. It is presumed that Nielson, either in absent-minded fashion or in a spirit of bravado, entered Rajah's cage.

A Royal Marriage.

Madrid, Feb. 15.—In the chapel of the royal palace, in the presence of the royal family and all the aristocracy and officialdom of Spain, Dona Maria de las Mercedes de Bourbon y Hapsburg, princess of the Asturias, was Thursday wedded to Prince Charles Bourbon.

Father and Son Killed.

Amboy, Ill., Feb. 15.—William Kreiter and his five-year-old son were both instantly killed by a north-bound Illinois Central express Thursday evening one mile south of here, at Pettigrew's crossing. They were crossing the tracks in a cutter.

World to End This Year.

This is the recent decision of one of the prominent societies of the world, but the exact day has not yet been fixed upon, and while there are very few people who believe this prediction, there are thousands of others who not only believe, but know that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best medicine to cure dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, biliousness or liver and kidney troubles. A fair trial will certainly convince you of its value.

Rather!

"By the way," asked the stranger, "are women permitted to practice at the bar in this country?"

"Permitted!" snorted the other man, who happened to be a retired saloon keeper from Kansas. "You can't keep 'em from doing it when they take a notion, begosh!"—Chicago Tribune.

WHAT IS OVARITIS?

A dull, throbbing pain, accompanied by a sense of tenderness and heat low down in the side, with an occasional shooting pain, indicates inflammation.

On examination it will be found that the region of pain shows some swelling. This is the first stage of ovaritis, inflammation of the ovary. If the roof of your house leaks, my sister, you have it fixed at once; why not pay the same respect to your own body?

You need not, you ought not to let yourself go, when one of your own sex holds out the helping hand to you, and will advise you without money, and without price. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and tell her all your symptoms. Her experience in treating female ills is greater than any other living person. Following is a letter from a woman who is thankful for avoiding a terrible operation.

MRS. ANNIE ASTON.

"I was suffering to such an extent from ovarian trouble that my physician thought an operation would be necessary.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound having been recommended to me, I decided to try it. After using several bottles I found that I was cured. My entire system was toned up, and I suffered no more with my ovaries."—MRS. ANNA ASTON, Troy, Mo.

THIS AND THE OTHER THING.

In 1840 Europe produced four-fifths of all the grain in the world. Now she grows barely half.

Twelve hours bright sunshine is the average for December in London. In 1880, and again in 1890, no sunshine at all was registered in December.

In all the cities of Arabia, even at the present day, dried locusts, strung on threads, as dried apples used formerly to be treated in this country, are exposed for sale as an article of food.

A NURSE'S STORY.

A Graduate of Lakeside Hospital, Lake Geneva, Tells an Interesting Experience.

Peshtigo, Wis., Feb. 18, 1901. (Special).—One of the most popular nurses that ever graduated from the Lakeside Hospital, Lake Geneva, is Miss Lillian Dreese, of this place. Miss Dreese is the Vice Templar of the Independent Order of Good Templars, and Organist of the Rebeccas of Peshtigo. During her twelve years' experience as a trained nurse, she has had many opportunities for observation, and her opinion in all medical health matters is held in very high esteem by the thousands who have learned to know and love her. In speaking of her experience she says:

"During my twelve years as a trained nurse, I have often observed how many different physicians give their patients Dodd's Kidney Pills in cases of Diabetes and Kidney Trouble. About three years ago, I myself suffered some months with a weakened and continual congested condition, and I decided to try what the Pills would do for me. I soon found that they built up the affected parts, and restored harmony to the entire system, and although I often lose much sleep and rest while attending severe cases, I find that I was never in finer health nor had more endurance than since I have used these marvelous Pills."

Clergymen say they are good. Senators and Congressmen have added their evidence as to the wonderful curative properties of this Medicine, hundreds of physicians recommend them and use them in their daily practice. The most skilled trained nurses advise their use and use them themselves, while tens of thousands of sick and suffering people are being cured every day by Dodd's Kidney Pills. They should cure you. They will cure you. Try them.

Sore Hands

Red, Rough Hands, Itching, Burning Palms, and Painful Finger Ends.

One Night Treatment

Soak the hands on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of CUTICURA SOAP. Dry, and anoint freely with CUTICURA, the great skin cure and purest of emollients. Wear, during the night, old, loose kid gloves, with the finger ends cut off and air holes cut in the palms. For red, rough, chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, with shapeless nails and painful finger ends, this treatment is simply wonderful, and points to a speedy cure of the most distressing cases when physicians and all else fail.

Cured by Cuticura

I WAS troubled with hands so sore that when I put them in water the pain would near set me crazy, the skin would peel off, and the flesh would get hard and break, then the blood would flow from at least fifty places on each hand. Words never can tell the suffering I endured for three years.

I tried at least eight doctors, but my hands were worse than when I commenced doctoring. I tried every old Granny remedy that was ever thought of without one cent's worth of good and could not even get relief.

I would feel so badly mornings when I got up, to think that I had to go to work and stand pain for eight or nine hours, that I often felt like giving up my job, which was in the bottling works of Mr. E. L. Kerns, the leading bottler of Trenton, N. J., who will vouch for the truth of my sufferings.

Before I could start to work, I would have to wrap each finger on both hands, and then wear gloves, which I hated to do, for when I came to take them off, it would take two hours and the flesh would break and bleed. Some of my friends who had seen my hands would say, "If they had such hands they would have them amputated"; others would say "they would never work," and more would turn away in disgust. But thanks to Cuticura, the greatest of skin cures, it ended all my sufferings.

Just to think, after doctoring three years, and spending dollar after dollar during that time, Cuticura cured me. It has now been two years since I used it and I do not know what sore hands are. I never lost a day's work while I was using it or since, and I have been working at the same business, and in acids, etc.

DELANO, FRIDAY, Feb. 22, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—Dr. Niven Waverly Feb. 24 & 25.

—Call on Dr. Niven at Waverly, Feb. 24 & 25.

—Lent began Ash Wednesday, this week.

—Joseph Muckenhirn is improving in his spell of illness

—Dr. Niven, Dentist, will be in Waverly Feb. 24 & 25. All kinds of Dentistry.

—A bill has been introduced into the legislature allowing County Commissioners $5. per day.

—The Castle store containing the Post Office and Mr. C's residence, at Lyndale, burned Thursday morning.

—Two cases of smallpox are under quarantine in the village Edna Cooper and Miss McKee, from Brown's Valley.

—Mrs. F. A. Woolford's father, mother and family of Delano drove up to make her a short visit.—Clearwater item, Sherburne County Times.

—Peter Church, of Buffalo was in town todday. He di in't look as if he had any use for that obituary notice that has circulated about, even if he willed $15,000, to an orphan asylum. That city editor must have been off.

—The idea of cutting bills in two in the middle without any explanation is a poor way. If a doctor's bill is too big the maker has a right to know whether the price is too high per visit, or whether there were too many visits made, or both. In either cases a good consciencious physician should be the best judge.

—There is no need of people being so much alarmed over smallpox if they obey the laws of the State and notify the proper authorities and are strictly quarantined, when the first symptoms make their apperrance. The disease is not so fatal as diphtheria and several other diseases. If people are vaccinated many escape entirley, or have it in a modified form The most trouble is where people try to hide the cases and allow it to spread —At the regular monthly meeting of the Village Council on Monday evening most of the bills for expenses in the case of quarantine for J. T. Hanna were acted upon, a few smaller having not been presented. Several mostly for nursing, attending, and medical services were cut down, and "order" as one man argued, "that the people may have a chance to protest against their payment" a resolution was passed that they be not paid for 30 days.

—Clark Sturman, of South Franklin, was in town yesterday. He shows scars, resulting from the attack of the prevailing epidemic yet, though it has been several weeks since he and his family were afflicted. He says he hired a man who came from Iowa, and after he had been with him about a week he broke out, after which Clark, his mother and his baby and his brother Jim were taken. His hired man also had it. Mrs. S and her sister did not have the disease and were the only members of the family that had been vaccinated.

Pioneer Press: The anti-vaccination crowd don't seem to be eager to embrace the opportunity offered them by Dr. Ohage for a friendly discussion of the question. So far they have not responded to his invitation. They are quite active in endeavoring to persuade people who know nothing about the matter that vaccination is not only no protection against smallpox, but that it is a vehicle of a catalogue of dangerous and even mortal diseases But when the health officer of the city, who in common with the medical profession in general regards vaccination as a necessary and effectual protection against the smallpox infection, invites those who are endeavoring to thwart the measures he has instituted for safe-guarding the public health to give him a hearing in an open public discussion in reply to their assertions and arguments, they decline to accept the challenge. This is not to be wondered at But it should modify the assurance with which these men, who are not physicians at all, pit their vagaries against the general verdict of the medical profession,

St. Peter School Notes.

Today we are having a holiday for it is Washington's Birthday.

Lula Roy a scholar of our school went to her home at Long Lake to see her parents there, and was absent from school all week.

Rev. Father Savs, principal, was in school Tuesday and taught catechism class,

The boys are still playing marbles Some of the boys have emptied their pockets and have no more marbes to play with.

John and Joseph Ziemkowski, John Reichal, Marv Boller, Tillie Stotko, Hedwig Yantos and Gertrude Kobanka, are among those who were absent this week.

John Boller and Edward Weldele are having the mumps this week. Most of the scholars have had the mumps

Which Ulrich Hanseman was walking on the seats Wednesday morning He steepped on a loosened seat, which tumbled over with Ulrich and he got his foot through the window and fell between the seats He made such a noise that the children in the lower rooms thought that the teacher up stairs was running after some mischievous child.

There are so many boys in our school now that they are taking away the girl's seats. This makes some of the girls angry.

JOHN ZIEMKOWSKI.

Public School Notes.

Mollie Maxfield has been absent from school part of the past week.

Miss Carrie Eppel is still detained from school on account of the sickness of her little sister.

The girls of the High School have organized a club which meets every Monday evening. Its purpose is to make the girls more acquainted with the literature of the standard Authors.

One of the pupils of the High School prefers getting his lessons on the reading table in the hall, and therefore puts in most of his time in the hall.

Oscar Eppel has been absent from school on account of having to stay home with the "mumps."

The members of the "Basket Ball Club" presented the High School with a life size bust of Lincoln.

The Prof. is now able to steal upon us, owing to the fact that he has new rubber heels on his shoes.

One of the pupils of the eighth grade must be preparing himself to enter the German class as he spends a good share of his time in practicing on the German alphabet.

We would be glad to have a few write ups from the teachers to help us along.

Miss Gould is getting quite a collection of stamps from the boys.

Ray Borrill has been expelled from the club on account of abscency. We don't care for such boys in the club who cannot attend to the meetings and prepare his part of the program.

Next Friday is Washington's Birthday.

Why not have a change of program for the morning exercise, since the grammer room is not coming in.

Seeing the Boys Club (C. O. D. H.) is organized and has a good start, why don't the School Board put in the light. If it takes many more meetings to get the question settled there will be no more use for them this year.

Our book keeping class is progressing rapidly, they will soon be ready for starting in business.

Let us have some new magazines on the reading table.

One of the pupils was reported asleep the other day and the teacher out and called him to his class.

Mr. Hightone: "Mr. Lazybones had something to eat today."

Mrs. Hightone: "Why, how do you know."

Mr. Hightone: "I saw his wife shaking the table cloth."

As the big lazy boy crossed the threshold he muttered: "I will not break up the ice on the porch," but just then his foot slipped and the ice was broken.

Mother to boy: "Did you saw the wood today?"

Boy: "Yes mother as the man throwed it into the yard."

Fond parent: "Was the man good on a bandjo?"

Little boy who went to the show: "Yes he was alright imitating music"

Friend: "Did you see the fight?"

Sport that was in it: "No he closed my lights."

BOARD OF HEALTH NOTICE.

"That it shall be the duty of every person knowing of any person sick of any contagious disease dangerous to the public health, and the duty of every physician hearing of any such sick person who he shall have reason to think requires the attention of the local board, to at once report the facts to the board in regard to the disease, condition and dwelling, place or position of such sick person"

And notice is hereby given that if the requirements of the above section are not fully observed the penalties imposed by section 7074, same laws, imposing fine and imprisonment will be strictly enforced.

The Board of Health, by,
CHAS. A. BRUNKOW,
Secretary.
T. J. CATLIN, M. D.
Health Officer.

BOARD OF HEALTH NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that SMALL-POX prevails in this village, and that it is nesecary for the protection of the citizens of this village and of the public at large, that the most vigorous measures to prevent the spread of the disease be taken, and that the citizens of the village and vicinity cheerfully acquiesce in such measures, therefore the Board asks that the notices of quarantine upon the houses of William McRoberts and Joseph Cooper be strictly observed during the continuance of such quarantined and notice is hereby given that said houses and the inmates thereof are quarantine untill the further order of the Board of Health, and all persons are forbidden, to enter said houses, or if residing therein to leave the same, or to introduce or carry to or from either of said houses any articles whatever without the written order of the Health Officer, and the attention of the public is called to sections 7059 7063 7068 and 7074 of Vol 2. Statutes of Minnesota as to the duties of all persons, and the penalties attached for any violation of said sections.

The Board of Health, by,
CHAS. A. BRUNKOW,
Secretary.
T. J. CATLIN, M. D.
Health Officer.

The diagnosis of smallpox is sometimes difficult. Mild cases may be mistaken for chicken-pox. Physicians in attendance upon cases which they may class as chicken-pox should remember that the law of Minnesota requires the reporting of all contagious diseases. This includes chicken-pox.

The law reads as follow: "Every physician shall report to the localboard of Health, in writing, every person having a contagious disease, and the state of his or her disease, and his or her place of dwelling, and name, if known, which such physician has prescribed for or attended for the first time since having a contagious disease, or since the discovery of the same to be contagious, during any part of the proceeding twenty-four (24) hours; but not more than two (2) reports shall be required in one (1) week concerning the same person; bu every attending physician thereat must see that such report is or has been made by some attending physician.

"SEC 21. It shall be the duty of each and every practicing physician in this state to report, in writing to the local board of health the death of any of his patients who shall have died of contagious or infectious disease within twenty-four (24) hours thereafter, and to state in such report the specified (specific) name and type of such disease."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb 15, 1901

Senator Hanna is the maddest man in Washington, He knows that the Ship Subsidy bill is dead for this session, but refuses to allow the corpse to be buried and is indulging in all sorts of threats of what he is going to do to get even with those Republican Senators tried who to help him jam the bill down the throats of the minority. Senator Spooner who has been classed as one of the republicans who would prefer seeseeing the Subsidy bill fail, but would vote for it if a vote was reached, publicly put himself on record this week by saying: "I am against this bill, but as it is in no danger of becoming a law, I see no need in working up useless fears," and Senator Elkins, who has been classed as a supporter of the bill, said: "The Subsidy bill is dead. There can be no question about it now. I might say it died a-borning." Senator Jones, of Ark., to whom no little of the credit for killing the viscious bill, is due, said of its present status: "The republicans know themselves that it would be impossible to get the measure through at this session, and hence their indifference. The bill is dead." One of Hanna's threats is that the River and Harbor bill shall fail, but whether he can make it stick remains to be seen.

Representative Bell, of Colo., a member of the committee on Appropriation made a telling speech against the unprecedented extravagance of the present Congress, in which he said it was time for the people to become alarmed at the rapid increase in public expenditures, which had grown in a single decade from $4.75 per capita to more than $10. per capita. He said that Congress had become so callous to vast increases in appropriations that it was considered almost disreputable to call attention to the extravagance of the government. Representative Cochran, of Mo., made a speech along similar lines.

Doubtless the reason why some of the republican Senators are not actively supporting the Ship Subsidy bill is that they have heard from some of their constituents and that they wrote something like the editor of a Michigan republican paper did to his Washington correspondent who had sent him some favorable comment on the attempt to pass the bill—"We don't want any more such gush. We are not running an administration paper but a republican paper from an honorable standpoint. There is no more damnable steal before Congress than the Subsidy bill, and we will bet you a new suit of clothes that it will never become a law.

Just before the House passed the Army appropriation bill, carrying a little less than $118,000,000, Representative McClellan, of N. Y., in a short speech presented some figures that are worthy of the county's most thoughtful consideration. He stated that the annual cost of each soldier to the U. S excluding pensions, would be $1,288, and including pensions $2,828, while the annual cost of each German soldier, including pensions and the expense of past wars, was only $227, and that of each French soldier, including pensions and the cost of the Franco-Prussian war, was only $232. He said the total cost of our army would soon reach $300,000,000 a year, to say not thing of the expense of the navy, which is now more than $100,000,000.

Perry Heath has not attempted to reply to the challenge of Representative Sulzer, of N. Y., in connection with the anony mous letter Mr. Sulzer had read as part of his speech, which charged Heath with guilty knowledge of Neely's stealing and other crookedness Mr. Sulzer said on the floor of the House: "I am responsible for every word in that letter. If Mr. Heath thinks there is anything libelous or scandalous in that letter I will not plead my constitutional privilege. I will plead the truth of the statements. But I serve notice that I am going to say everything in that letter, and I want Perry S. Heath to answer. If he does truthfully he will be fit for the penitentiary. I want him to understand that I am responsible in damages for what I say. The House has no com unctions of conscience when he attacks me, but when I attack him he squeals like a pig under a gate. I got that letter in the Record. That was what I was after. I am now content o have it stricken out." The House without a division ordered the latter expunged from the Record, but it had already been printed in the Record as well as in newspapers throughout the ocuntry.

When Mr. McKinley saw that the opposition to the nominations of Wood, Bell and Grant to be brigadier generals in the regular army was strong enough to be serious, he made a shrewd move by sending the nominations of Fitz Lee and J. H. Wilson to be brigadiers to the Senate, thus giving his friends a chance to dicker for the confirmation of the whole bunch—a chance that was at once taken advantage of. It is expected that Gen. Lee and Wilson will both be retired at once, now that their nominations have been confirmed, as they have both passed the age limit for active duty.

The sugar trust scored another profitable triumph when Secretary Gage ordered a retaliatory duty of nearly one cent a pound placed on Russian sugar, that, too, in the face of the rather clearly implied threat of the Russian government that it would meet such action on the part of this government by putting the maximum tariff on all American goods. The short-sightedness of this policy on the part of the administration is made plain by the figures of our tarde with Russia. Russia sells us annually about $300,000 worth of sugar, while Amer can exports to Russia arenearly $30,000,000 Protests from great business interests are pouring in to Washington against Secretary Gage's action.

St. Cloud Times: Sixteen dollars a month isn't much inducement and there is no glory to be had in preforming such service as our soldiers must do in the Philippines

Sherburne County Star News: There is a suspicion afloat that the republicans in Minnesota who have the temerity to criticise party politics are marked for slaughter by the organization.

Pioneer Press: Senator Chilton's marriage bill has been improved by striking out the provision requiring the physician's certificate should state that the immediate relatives of the candidates for matrimony, their parents and grandparents, were not afflicted with insanity or imbecility. It might be still further improved by striking out the physician's certificate altogether, but simply prohibiting the marriage of persons either one of whom was insane or imbecile. To require all the many thousands who are married every year to get a physician's certificate that they are not insane or imbecile in order to make an effectual preventive against the very rare and isolated cases in which one of the parties is insane or imbecile is an unnecessary burden upon the wedlock.

THE Senate has passed the St. Louis Exposition bill with the amendment that the gates shall be closed on Sundays.

AMONG the more than a hundred drowned by the sinking of the Rio De Janero, by the striking of a rock, while trying to get into the San Francisco harbor during a fog, were United States Consul General at Hong Kong, Rounseville Wildman and family.

WE received this week from the Minnesota State Grange, a copy of a letter to the members of the thirty-second legislative Assembly of Minnesota, by the Minnesota State Grange, on Agricultural education in Minnesota. The Grange people are at work.

SOMETHING should be done by law abiding citizens to induce officials in different capacities to enforce the laws which it is their duty to enforce.

With many individuals of different positions it has apparently come to be the practice to disregard laws, or to evade them; rather than to observe, or obey them. This state of affairs is responsible in many instances for the lawlessness being practiced in many places. Why do we read of property being destroyed; of men being burned at the stake; of family quarrels; of homicides and suicides? If people who do wrong and whose wrong doings are known to the peace officers and others whose businesss it is to complain, to prosecute under the law, were dealt with promptly, and in a vigorous manner, there would not be sufficient excuse for impetuous individuals to take the law in their own hands and deal out mob law.

Trusts And Tramps.

"The love of money is the root of all evil." If people were content to make a respectable living for themselves and families, to work for good wages, and to save, and use what they get, judiciously, not to covet, and try too hard to get what belongs to others, they would be more happy. But restless spirits, see opportunities and, sometimes, rapidly acquire quite a bank account, occasionally in a manner not open to public gaze. They get promoted in business, and their "tact" and "thrift" rushes them far ahead of most of their competitors for riches. They, because of their "business qualifications," are given positions as a part of the firm, corporation, trust. Some such individuals grown from poverty to affluence, are the hardest task-masters laborers have. Business men get together and with an "eye to business," that is, to filling their individual coffers they agree to do things that no private house alone could do and exist. They form plans for gathering into their control all smaller concerns, all poorer people, and of using them to enrich themselves. Thus individuals form firms, firms are incorporated, corporations combine large wealth to form trusts. The latest of which the United States Consolidated Steel Company formed of eight big corporations will, it is said, have a total capitalization of One Billion One Million dollars. Think of that amount of money invested in the manufacture and sale of steel and kindered articles we have been in the habit of using. Is it not terrible to contemplate? A few years ago an awful howl went up about a billion dollar congress, our Nation appropriating a billion dollars to run this great government in all its branches. Now we are to have a steel trust alone with a bigger capital, and possibly with more employes than Uncle Sam, and think of the consequences, along about election time, want they all have to fall in line and march, and shout and vote for their employers interest, protection to home industries, Even though their wages are cut down soon after election?

If the government is powerless to suppress the trust, the people have it in their power, they can if necessary use wooden pegs for nails, as did their forefathers, and other things accordingly. This is not what the people prefer to do. But in order that competition, the life of trade, may be again permitted in our land they can for a season if need be get along with a very small amount of steel in their business. This will give the alumnium fellows a chance; they can get to work and manufacture this metal to take the place many times, of steel. They will have to be bought off by the steel trust, or froze out. The people shauld see to it that neither is done, even though they are obliged for a season to hang their hopes on the wooden peg. Peg out the trusts they are more dangerous to our free institutions today than are the "tramps", and if the trusts are fewer the tramps will be less numerous

School of Agriculture.

Editor of the GAZETTE: Some time ago you asked me to write an article about the School of Agriculture for the GAZETTE, but I have neglected to do so until now.

A week or so ago I read an article in one of the county papers in which the writer told of a conversation he had with a farmer who did not believe in such schools as the School of Agriculture, and saying, that he had always made his living in the old way, and he thought his boy could do so to, seemingly forgetting that conditions have perhaps changed, during his lifetime, so that a young man, to be a successful farmer, or business man, must keep abreast of the times, and, above all, have as perfect an understanding of his business, as possible. So I thought I would write this article in the hope that it might help some young man to get a better start for his life work by attending the School.

The School of Agriculture is located at St. Anthony Park, almost midway between Minneapolis and St. Paul, on the Como Interurban car line. The school opens about Oct. 1, and closes along the last of March. To be admitted a student must pass an examination in the common school branches, or else have State Board certificates in them. The complete course is four years, but a student having had part or all the High School work is often able to finish in less time.

The girls take much the same course as the boys, except that in place of carpentry and blacksmithing they take cooking and those things which are essential in making a farm home, or any home for that matter, nappy and comfortable. Among the subjects taken by both girls and boys are study of breeds, (cattle, sheep and hogs) dairying, fruit growing, vegetable gardening, agriculture, forestry, poultry, entomology and zoology, etc. All subjects are studied in their relation to farm life. The boys taking breeding, feeding, carpentry and blacksmithing. The carpentry and blacksmithing taught is such as would be the most useful on the farm. The object is not to make expert mechanics of the boys but to give them a general knowledge that they may be able to mend any common breakage of machinery, and know how to handle the tools.

The girls take sewing, cooking, laundrying, home economy, hygine, etc. Perhaps some one says, what is the use of going to all the expense and trouble of going away from home to learn about those things they can learn at home just as well. But can they though? If so why do they not? Many is the time I have heard a young man telling of what value some point brought out in a recitation would be to him when he got back to the farm. That is one of the strong points of the school. It gives the students a chance to put in pratice each year what they learn and if they make failures they are able to find out the cause and remedy, the next fall.

I had a room mate at school who was nearly forty years old that I have heard say more than once that he figured on making enough each year from being able to use better methods learned from the teachers and scholars to more than pay his way each term. I don't doubt but what he did either, as he was there with a determination to get all out of it he could.

He and his brother own a large farm, and are doing well. If it paid him to put in his winters at the school it certainly ought to pay younger men to attend.

Besides the regular studies the students have chances of attending lectures by the noted men of the country that are given each year in the cities, and once a month a lecture is given in the assembly room by some prominent lecturer. There are some four or five literary societies, all doing good work, and who will welcome a student who wishes to work with them.

There is also a Y. W. and a Y. M. C. A. Each Sunday morning there is a Sunday School in the chapel room which many of the students attend.

There are also class parties during the year. These things all tend to give the school a good wholesome moral and social atmosphere which has made better citizens of all of us who have attended.

Now I have not in this letter the space to say all I had intended or would like to say, but if it has moved any young man or woman to have a desire to attend the School of Agricuture I shall be satisfied; and would say work this summer with a determination to attend next fall.

Any person interested should send to J. A. Vye, St. Anthony Park, for a bulletin describing the school and school work or the writer will cheerfully answer any enquires in regard to it. As for me I am glad I attended and would like to take a year of post graduate work.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb 15, 1901

There is a chance that the democrats of the House may duplicate their triumph in the Ways and Means committee and defeat the republican scheme to have the bill for the reduction of war taxes, now deadlocked in conference, fail. As the matter now stands, the House conferees refuse to agree to the Senate amendments and the Senate conferees refuse to recede. It is believed that if the matter can be got before the House again all of the democrats and a sufficient number of republicans to make a majority would vote to accept the Senate amendments and the bill could be sent to Mr. McKinley, who would not dare to veto it, much as he would like to see it fail. That would be as marked a truimph as was ever acieved by the minority in either branch of Congress. The democratic leaders are striving to bring it about, not because of any special love for the Senate bill but because they think taxes should be reduced, and it is well worthy of their best efforts.

Is there a deal on between the administration and the Panama Canal gang? Several things are calculated to justify the suspicion that there is. One thing, is the presence in Washington of Senor Silva, Minister from Colombia, who has openly stated that he is here solely for the purpose of offering to transfer to the U. S. Colombia's rights in the Panama Canal, and will as soon as his task is completed, go back home and resume the office of Minister of Foreign Affairs. Another thing, is the republicans show down that Senator Morgan forced by insisting upon action by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations on his resolution declaring that neither the Hay-Pauncefore treaty nor the Clayton—Bulwer treaty should be allowed to stand in the way of legislation by Congress for the construction of the Nicaragua Canal. By a strict party vote Senator Morgan's resolution has been adversely reported, thus showing the republican members of the committee to be opposed to the Nicaragua Canal.

Senator Morgan has got his fighting blood up, and says he intends to put the Senate on record by demanding a vote on his resolution.

Democratic Senators may make a fight on the nomination of General Shafter to be major general in the regular army, sent to the Senate this week by Mr. McKinley, not only because they do not think he has done anything to deserve the promotion, but because of the extraordinary method taken to give it to him. It will be remembered that although Gen. Shafter is doing duty as a major general of volunteers, he went on the retired list sometime ago, under the age limitation, as a brigadier general To confirm his nomination will be simply to present him the difference between the salary of a retired brigadier general and that of a retired major general for the rest of his life.

Some very vigorous protests have been lodged with Mr. McKinley by western republicans in Congress against the proposed appointment of P. C Knox, of Pittsburg, the attorney for the Carnegie steel trust, to succeed Attorney General Griggs, although it is difficult to see why they should object to one trust lawyer succeeding another in the Cabinet.

Mr. McKinley still keeps extra session talk on tap for his Congressional callers. He tells them that he intends to issue the call for an extra session just as soon as he gets the Cuban constitution. Some of them are hoping that he wont get the Cuban constitution for some time.

As a sop to the kicking against extravagant appropriations the River and Harbor bill was reduced about $10,000,000 before it was reported to the Senate.

Mr. McKinley's recommendation that Congress vote its thanks to Sampson is hung up in the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs and is likely to remain there. All of the Naval promotions sent to the Senate except those of Sampson and Schley will be confirmed To cover their cases a compromise was reached under which a bill reviving the grade of vice admiral and authorizing ahe appointment of two was favorably reported to the Senate but unless some assurance is given Samipson, as he is now, there is no certainty that the bill will be allowed to go through. There is a very determined feeling in the Senate against allowing McKinley to jump Sampson over the head of Schley as a reward for a victory won by Schley.

An active New York democrat—Mr. L L Gregory, of Albany - said to a group of friends in a Washington hotel: "If I could name the democratic ticket it would be Richard Olney, of Mass, for President, and Senator Daniel, of Va for Vice President There's a combination that would be hard to beat. Olney is the strongest man in the East that could possibly be named, and he is also popular with the South, with an inconsiderable following in the Western States. In the South Daniel is almost worshiped, and his popularity in the West is second only to that of Bryan"

A Congressional delegation, representing both branches and both parties called on Mr McKinley this week and requested that Representative John Allen, of Miss., who will retire from Congress at the close of this session, be appointed one the Commissioners provided for in the bill appropriating $5,000,000 for the exposition to be held at St. Louis to commemorate the Louisiana Purchase. It was an unusual compliment, and Mr. Allen's appointment is regarded as certain A petition in his favor signed by all the Senators except three was filed with Mr. McKinley.

Latest-News!

Last night's Dispatch news from London claimed that Gen. Botha has surrendered. But the war office had no news to that effect.

William M. Evarts, Ex-Secretary of State, in the Hayes' administration, died at home in New York on Feb. 28, aged 83 years.

He Was One.

Mr. Krank: No, I won't take that horrible stuff.

Mrs. Krank: But the doctor has ordered it.

Mr. Krank: I don't care. Why, that stuff would kill a mule.

Mrs. Krank: If you really think so, John, don't take it.—Philadelphia Press.

THE FOUR GUESTS.

A knock at the door—but he
Was dreaming a dream of fame;
And the one who knocked drew softly back,
And never again he came.
A knock at the door—as soft—
As soft—as shy—as a dove.
But the dreamed dreamed till the guest was gone—
And the guest was Love.

A knock at the door—again
The dreamer dreamed away
Unheeding—deaf to the gentle call
Of the one who came that day.
A knock at the door—no more
The guest to that door came.
Yet the dreamer dreamed of the one who called—
For the guest was Fame.

A knock at the door—but still
He gave it no reply;
And the waiting guest gave a cheery hail
Ere he slowly wandered by.
A knock at the door—in dreams
The dreamer fain would grope,
Till the guest stole on, with a humbled sigh—
And the guest was Hope.

A knock at the door—'twas loud,
With might in every stroke;
And the dreamer stopped in his dreaming thought,
And suddenly awoke.
A knock at the door—he ran
With the swiftness of a breath;
And the door swung wide, and the guest came in—
And the guest was Death.

MR. THOMPSON GETS HIS PUNISHMENT

Scene: The reception room, which the head of the house will persist in calling the front parlor. Dramatis personae: The Regular One, familiarly known as Jim. He is discovered solus, walking nervously to and fro and looking from time to time at the clock to see whether it has not stopped. Maid appears in the hall before the doorway with a feather duster, whereupon Jim clears his throat to attract her attention.

JIM—Er—did you say that I was here, Ella?

Maid (with a sympathetic smile)—Yes, sir; I told her. She said that she would be down in just about a minute.

Jim—Oh, thank you very much, Ella.

(Looks at the clock again and notes that ten and a half minutes and some odd seconds must have elapsed since he was announced. Six minutes more are marked off on the dial and then there comes a rustling sound from the stairway. Jim throws himself with great agility into a chair, grabbing a book from the table in mid flight, which book, when he has seated himself, he appears to read with feverish interest. The Object, called Lisette, enters and seems to conceal a slight surprise.)

Lisette—Oh, it's you.

Jim (rising, with one finger holding his place in the book)—Yes; it's me. Good evening. (Shakes her extended hand limply. There is a slight pause.)

Lisette (politely)—Won't you sit down?

Jim—Thank you. I've been sitting here almost long enough to make standing agreeable as a change, but I suppose I might as well.

Lisette—I am sorry if I kept you waiting, but I was dressing to go out.

Jim (rising, and with a pronounced chill in his voice)—Oh, in that case—

Lisette (with the same sweet politeness)—Please don't hurry away. I have plenty of time—only I thought I would dress early—because I don't like to keep people waiting.

(The Regular One hesitates, makes a step toward the door, stops, hesitates some more, and then returns to his chair. There is another pause.)

Jim (con expressione)—"People?"

Lisette (raising her eyebrows)—"People?" I beg your pardon, but I don't quite understand.

Jim—You said "people"—you didn't like to keep people waiting.

Lisette—Oh! Why, no. I don't. I know that, as a general thing, people don't like to be kept waiting, and I consider other people's feelings.

Jim—I am glad to hear you say that. To tell the truth, I hadn't suspected it.

Lisette (airily)—No?

Jim—No.

Lisette (coldly)—Thank you. You seem to be trying to make yourself agreeable this evening.

Jim (with equal coldness)—I am only too conscious of my deficiencies. I know that I am not as agreeable as—well, other people.

Lisette—To be perfectly frank with you, you are not, just at present.

(The Regular One rises, says "Good-evening" and strides toward the door with savage energy. The Object takes notice that there is obstinacy expressed in the set of his shoulders and no hesitation in his walk.)

Lisette (calling)—Jim—Mr. Thompson!

(In the hall the Regular One lays down his hat and stands in a listening attitude, biting his mustache. Then, as there is no second summons, he returns to the young woman and stands before her with his arms folded. She is interested in a hole in her handkerchief, but she presently raises her eyes in an effective way that she has.)

Jim—Well?

Lisette—Well?

Jim—You called me, did you not?

Lisette—Oh, yes; you were leaving your gloves. On the table there.

(He makes an impatient movement and, taking up his gloves, turns to go again.)

Lisette—You are rather abrupt this evening, aren't you?

Jim (bitterly lapsing into vernacular)—Well, I can tumble without a ten-story building falling on me.

Lisette—What on earth do you mean?

Jim—Well, I don't care to stay where I am not wanted—and I am perfectly willing to give "other people" a chance.

Lisette—You are— Oh, I see! Because I said that you were not agreeable. Well, do you consider that you are?

Jim—Good-evening.

Lisette (with quiet dignity)—Sit down a moment. Mr. Thompson. No, not if you are anxious to go. I wouldn't keep you for anything in the world. (Laughs ripplingly.) I didn't mean it at all. You are most agreeable—positively charming—delightful. I don't know when I have been entertained so much. How do you do it?

Jim (with concentrated bitterness)—I am glad that I amuse you.

Lisette (with cheerful assent)—Oh, you do. (Laughs again.)

Jim—When you can control your amusement perhaps you will be kind enough to tell me what you have to say to me.

Lisette—Did I tell you I had something to say to you?

Jim—I inferred that you had or you wouldn't have asked me to sit down again.

Lisette—Well, I haven't. If I had I have changed my mind. I will not be treated in this way. You may go if you choose, and you may be perfectly sure that I don't wish to see you again. Good-evening, Mr. Thompson.

Jim (emotionally)—Lisette!

Lisette (angrily)—Because I said that you were not agreeable. You are not. You act like a savage. You are absolutely ungentlemanly. I wish you would go—and please take your gloves with you.

Jim—Lisette!

Lisette—Then why do you behave yourself like this? Get up and take your hat and march out of the room like that!

Jim—You know what you said.

Lisette—I probably did at the time that I said it.

Jim—You said I wasn't as agreeable as some people, and particularly at the present time—meaning, I suppose, my call was particularly inopportune.

Lisette—I am not responsible for the construction that you put on what I say, and I didn't say "particularly."

(There is another pause.)

Lisette (sweetly)—There is quite a good deal of snow on the ground, isn't there?

Jim (moodily)—Quite a good deal, and one might imagine that there was some of it in this room.

Lisette—Perhaps the heat isn't turned on. Won't you please look and see?

Jim (suddenly and fiercely)—Lisette, who is it that you expected to see when you came down?

Lisette—Why! You made me jump.

SHE IS INTERESTED IN A HOLE IN HER HANDKERCHIEF.

Well, it could hardly have been you, considering that you said yesterday that you would never look upon my face again, could it?

Jim—Are you going out with him this evening?

Lisette—With whom? Oh, I don't know, I'm sure. Perhaps. Suppose I am?

Jim (with Spartan fortitude)—Oh, nothing. He's a nice fellow enough, I suppose.

Lisette (enthisiastically)—He is, indeed. I have sometimes thought you hardly did him justice. Yesterday, for instance.

Jim (with continued heroism)—I was a beast yesterday. I knew it, and I came here this morning to beg your pardon . . . hoping . . . to get it, and . . . And you care for him, Lisette?

Lisette (dropping her eyelids modestly)—I—I'm afraid that I do, very much.

(The Regular One makes a despairing gesture of farewell, and is turning away, when The Object suddenly twists him by the shoulders and does her best to shake him.)

Lisette—Here! here! What are you looking like that for? Jim! Look at me. Who did you think I was talking about, you foolish boy?

Jim (dazed)—Smith?

Lisette (in accents of deep disgust)—Smith! Because I was commonly and ordinarily civil and decent to him yesterday you make all this trouble for yourself. There! There! There! Does that sat— Jim, dear, stop! Oh! You won't leave any . . . breath in my body. Stop! Now listen. I suppose you thought I expected him. That I was dressing and trying to make myself look pretty for him—keep away from me, now!—I was talking about you, and I was expecting you. Do you suppose I didn't know that you would come and— Well, then!

Jim (rapturously)—Oh, Lisette!

To Preserve Game in North Dakota.

Sportsmen in North Dakota are much interested in proposed legislation for the preservation of game and will make recommendations on the subject. Deer are growing fewer year by year and antelope, which a few years ago abounded on the western prairies, are almost driven out by the onslaughts of the hunters. A bill to protect the latter animals has been presented, prohibiting their killing for a period of ten years.

Cracked corn and corn dough resulted in fewer eggs, but larger ones and of better flavor.

Arguments in favor of the whipping post as a punishment for a certain class of crimes do not attract much attention, yet the sentiment seems to be gaining ground. In Delaware, where the whipping post prevails, wife's desertion is a rare crime.

It is the theory that the oil comes from the bed of the gulf, and now it is the intention of the company to put down wells, if any anchorage can be secured for drilling machinery.

The official flag of the Pan-American exposition to be held at Buffalo, N. Y., this summer was selected from 300 designs, and is the production of Miss Mildred U. Thorpe. WORK OF CONGRESS.

Brief Resume of the Important Legislation Enacted.

The Total Appropriations Amount to $1,457,269,457—Gold Standard Fixed by Law—Congressional Reapportionment.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The record of the Fifty-sixth congress is now practically completed, and although a few important measures are still in the balance it is possible to take a survey of the wide range of legislation considered and enacted within the two sessions.

Aside from the Porto Rican and Hawaiian acts this congress has passed a financial law establishing a permanent gold reserve of about $150,000,000, fixing the ratio between gold and silver and reorganizing the bonding and the banking systems of the treasury; reorganizing the United States army on a basis of 100,000 men; reapportioning the representation in congress on the basis of the twelfth census; giving "free homes" on the Indian lands; providing for government participation in the Louisiana purchase exposition in 1903, as well as many other measures. But the congress draws to a close without final action on the Nicaraguan canal bill, the shipping subsidy bill, the Pacific cable bill and the oleomargarine bill.

Appropriations.

The appropriations of the present congress will reach an unusually large figure, aggregating for the two sessions approximately $1,457,269,457. This is about $110,000,000 less than the aggregate appropriations of the preceding congress, which, however, covered the period of the Spanish war, when the appropriations ran in a single year up to $893,231,615. The totals for the last two sessions, as summarized by Chairman Cannon, of the house committee on appropriations, is as follows: Appropriations, first session, including the sinking fund, $710,150,862; appropriations, second session, including sinking fund, $747,118,595.

Army Reorganization.

The act reorganizing the army and placing the military establishment on a permanent basis probably is the most important piece of general legislation enacted during the present session. Instead of planning for a temporary extension of the volunteer system, Secretary Root devised a measure for a complete reorganization of the army on modern military lines, with a maximum force of 100,000 men and a minimum of about 63,000. As finally enacted the army bill provides a standing army to consist of 15 regiments of cavalry, a corps of artillery, 30 regiments of infantry, one lieutenant general, six major generals, 15 brigadier generals and the usual staff corps. The old regimental organization of the artillery is discontinued. Authority is given the president to enlist natives of the Philippines, when necessity requires, not to exceed 12,000 men. A provisional regiment of Porto Ricans also is provided. A feature of the act is the prohibition of the sale of beer, wine or any intoxicating liquors in any post exchange, canteen or transport.

Gold Standard Fixed.

The financial legislation has been of unusual importance and has placed on the statute books the law establishing the gold standard, providing for the redemption and reissue of the interest-bearing bonded obligations of the United States, establishing a permanent gold reserve of $150,000,000, regulating national banks and making numerous provisions respecting circulation and the tax on circulation. This measure was drafted by leaders of both houses prior to the meeting of congress and became a caucus measure. After its passage some question arose as to the maintenance of the parity of the metals under the terms of the bill. At the present session bills to rectify this feature have been reported, specifically requiring the exchange of gold for standard silver dollars. No action has been taken on them, however.

Reapportionment.

The act apportioning to the several states their representation in the house of representatives followed as a result of the twelfth census. The census disclosed various increases in the states, and a new basis of representation was prepared based on the changed condition of the population. As finally enacted the total representation is fixed at 386 members, or 29 more than in the present house.

Hazing at West Point received attention, with the prospect that strong restrictive legislation will be enacted. The senate adopted anti-hazing provisions in the military academy appropriation bill, but it will remain for the last days of the session to determine just what restrictions on hazing are to be imposed.

Defeat Anti-Trust Bills.

Besides the anti-trust bill, passed by the house and not acted upon by the senate, a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment giving congress more power to deal with trusts was defeated in the house. Another measure defeated in the branch where it originated was that defining the power of injunction and limiting the authority of the federal courts to issue this process.

Negroes Lynched.

Lake Charles, La., Feb. 22.—Thomas Vital, a negro, who criminally assaulted Nora, the 13-year-old daughter of Estieve Miller, was taken from his home near Fenton by a mob and lynched. Samuel Maddox, who attempted to defend Vital, was shot to death. Vital had previously been shot in the leg by the girl's father and was not yet under arrest.

Senate to Meet in Extra Session.

Washington, Feb. 25.—President McKinley has issued the usual proclamation calling a special session of the senate for executive purposes, immediately upon the dissolution of the present congress, on March 4. This session is necessary in connection with the inauguration for confirmation of appointments and other routine work.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

After Many Years.

The dream of years with many Minneapolis dealers in corn and coarse grain is about to be realized, and attempts in earnest are soon to be made to persuade the railroads to give Minneapolis a show in the way of making it a distributing point for corn.

Until the present time the bulk of the corn trade has gone to Chicago, and stringent efforts have been made by the exchange of that city, as well as by the railroads, to curtail as much as possible the development of corn trade at this point and Duluth.

Corn has for some time been selling in Minneapolis from three to three and one-half cents under Chicago, and from two to two and a half cents under Duluth, and it is now the object of the local exchange to demonstrate the fact that the railroads will be warranted in making special rates to Minneapolis as a distributing point for corn.

The Deadly Folding Bed.

James Stewart, a lnmbering man, residing in Minneapolis, was killed by the closing of a folding bed, and Mrs. Stewart had a narrow escape from a like fate.

An investigation showed that the bed has not been properly set when the couple retired. At 3 o'clock in the morning Mrs. Stewart arose to attend to some household duties, and as she returned to the bed the head piece, which consists of a heavy sideboard arrangement, fell forward on the pair. Mrs. Steward leaped from the bed in time to escape with her life, but her husband, who was asleep had no warning. Although he was promptly extricated it was found that he was dead.

He was instantly killed, and an autopsy conducted by Deputy Coroner Kistler showed that his neck had been broken.

More Room Needed.

C. McC. Reeve, warden of the state prison, has submitted a report to the legislature in which he states that 159 prisoners are now employed in the shoe plant and that the number ranges from 136 to 242. As all the men are at piece work he was unable to estimate the value of their output. Warden Reeve reported that it would be quite feasible to enlarge the twine plant so as to occupy the space taken up by the shoe plant, but that a change of this kind would necessitate an expenditure of $400,000 for new machinery.

Is the Dog Mad?

South St. Paul stockmen are stirred up over what appears to be three cases of rabies. A strange mastiff strolled into the stockyards a few weeks ago and bit two horses and a steer. The dog was shot, and one of the horses and the steer developed such unmistakable symptoms of rabies that they had to be shot.

One of the horses is now under surveillance, and the city health department is experimenting with virus taken from the brain of the steer.

County Fairs.

The annual report of the State Agricultural society has just come from the printer. There were forty county fairs held in 1900. The receipts averaged in the neighborhood of $1,000. Chippewa county heads the list with $4,660.36. Freeborn county comes next with $4,637.47. Most of the counties received from the state $245.61. Chippewa county paid the largest amount for purses, $1,888.75. Kittson comes next with $1,096.32.

Burned.

The new $70,000 normal school building at Duluth was gutted by fire. The origin of the fire is a mystery. Although the interior was not quite completed, the building was kept heated all winter, but the flames did not originate in the boiler room, where fires had been carefully banked late in the afternoon. Considerable uneasiness is felt as to what action the legislature will take towards rebuilding at once.

News Notes.

Judge Bazille of St. Paul ruled that a saloon keeper cannot collect a bill for drinks and cigars sold to a man on Sunday and charged. The question arose out of the settlement of the debts of Frank B. Cooley, incompetent.

The city council of Mankato has accepted Andrew Carnegie's offer of $40,000 for new public library building provided the city will donate a site and guarantee $4,000 a year for maintenance.

Blackduck, is now an incorporated village, three having been 48 votes cast for the proposition to incorporate, and none against.

Some months ago the Crookston high school through Supt. Hitchcock applied to Wellesey college, the leading school in the country for the higher education of women, for the right of certification. Word has just been received that this right has been granted to the high school, and hereafter its graduates may enter Wellesley without examination.

At Perham Bennie Benewiez, aged 2 years was killed by the explosion of a pistol he had secured and was playing with.

Negotations are now under way for the purpose of getting a game between the university football team and some representative team of the East. It is probable that a game can be arranged between the Brown university and the locals on Northrop Field No. 2, as Brown has already signified a willingness for a contest with the champions of the West.

George P. Flannery, the well-known Minneapolis attorney, has been appointed a director of the Minnesota Institute for Defectives, which includes the three state institutions at Faribault. Mr. Flannery succeeds the late H. D. Stocker.

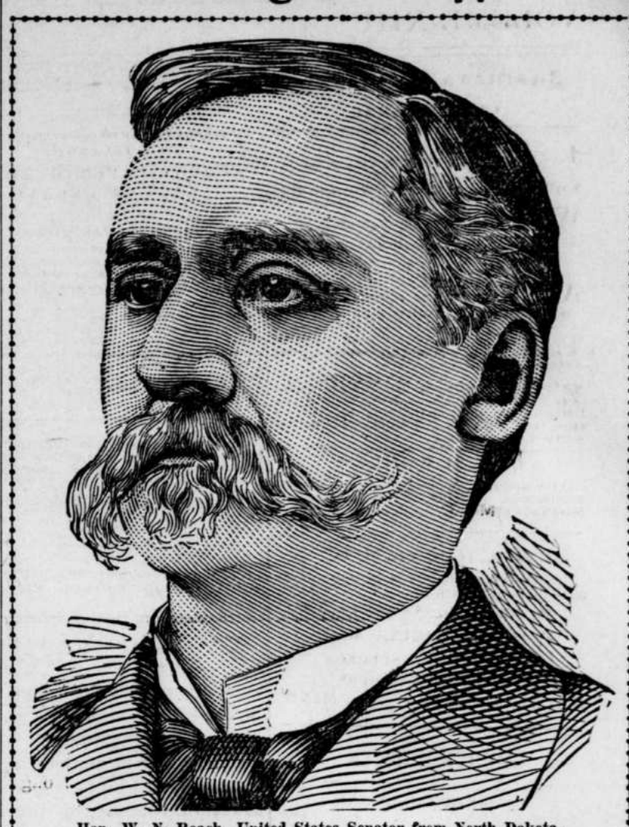
Jealousy was the motive which prompted Everett S. Richards to shoot his wife with murderous intent, in his rooms in the Richards block, in Minneapolis.

The Children's Home Society of Minnesota is rejoicing over the news that Peter Church, a wealthy man of Buffalo, Minn., has remembered the home in his will to the extent of $15,000. The home had the choice of a small sum now or a large sum when he died, and took the latter.

The University of Minnesota won out over the Fargo college at the basket-ball game by a score of 26 to 5.

A UNITED STATES SENATOR

Says Pe-ru-na, the Catarrh Cure, Gives Strength and Appetite.



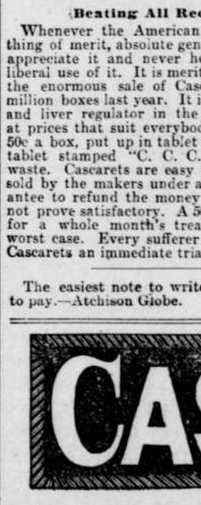
Hon. W. N. Roach, United States Senator from North Dakota.

Hon. W. N. Roach, United States Senator from North Dakota, personally endorses Peruna, the great catarrh cure and tonic. In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Company, at Columbus, Ohio, written from Washington, D. C., Senator Roach says:

"Persuaded by a friend I have used Peruna as a tonic, and I am glad to testify that it has greatly helped me in strength, vigor and appetite. I have been advised by friends that it is remarkably efficacious as a cure for the almost universal complaint of catarrh."—W. N. Roach, Larimore, North Dakota.

No other remedy can take the place of Peruna.

Mr. Ed. J. Makinson, contractor and builder, 610 Grand Block, Wabash Street, St. Paul, Minn., says:



Mr. E. J. Makinson, Contractor and Builder.

"Many doctor bills can be saved by the use of Peruna. I have all my friends taking Peruna, and I have heard nothing but praise from them. Last fall I had a bad cough. I took four bottles of Peruna and it cured me. I am inclined towards consumption, as all my family have died with it. I weigh 185 pounds, and I believe it is Peruna that has given me such good health."—J. Makinson.

As a result of the changeable climate, catarrh has become one of the most prevalent and universal diseases known to man. Nearly one-third of the people of the United States are afflicted with catarrh in some of its many phases and stages. Add to this the fact that catarrh rapidly tends to become fixed or chronic, also the further fact that it is capable of producing a great many other diseases, and we begin to realize the true nature of this dread disease.

So formidable has catarrh become that in every city or town of any size numerous doctors are to be found who make the treatment of catarrh a specialty. Of course a great deal of good is accomplished in this way, but as yet a comparatively small number of the people can avail themselves of this treatment because of the great expense necessarily attached to it.

To all such people Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, comes as a great boon. Not only is it more successful in curing catarrh than the treatment of the catarrh specialists, but it is within the reach of every person in this land. Peruna can be bought at any drug store, and is a remedy without equal for catarrh in all forms, coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption, and all climatic diseases of winter.

Peruna is not a guess, nor an experiment; it is an absolute, scientific certainty. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. Peruna has no substitutes—no rivals. Insist upon having Peruna. Let no one persuade you that some other remedy will do nearly as well. There is no other systemic remedy for catarrh but Peruna.

Byron J. Kirkhuff, Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Mr. Byron J. Kirkhuff, attorney, counsellor at law, writes from 691 Gates avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., the following:

"I have used your Peruna for catarrh and find its curative powers all you recommend. It cured me of a very bad attack and though I suffered for years I feel entirely relieved, and if it will benefit others, I gladly give it my endorsement."—B. J. Kirkhuff.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, president of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Beating All Records.

Whenever the American people find a thing of merit, absolute genuine merit, they appreciate it and never hesitate to make liberal use of it. It is merit that counts for the enormous sale of Cascarets—over six million boxes last year. It is the best bowel and liver regulator in the world and sells at prices that suit everybody—10c, 25c and 50c a box, put up in tablet form, and every tablet stamped "C. C. C." There is no waste. Cascarets are easy to take and are sold by the makers under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if Cascarets do not prove satisfactory. A 50c box is enough for a whole month's treatment for the worst case. Every sufferer is urged to give Cascarets an immediate trial.

PRESIDENT OF PRESIDENTS.

A Distinguished Lady Indeed, Is Mrs. Mary E. Poole, of Whiting, Ind.

Whiting, Ind., Feb. 25, 1901 (Special).—The Presidents of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic have an association composed exclusively of the Presidents of the different State Associations. This Presidents' Association chooses a President, and to this very high and distinguished position Mrs. Mary E. Poole, of this place, has been elected. Mrs. Poole is thoroughly deserving of this great honor. Her devotion to the interests of the Association is very marked, and her experience with the old soldiers of the G. A. R. is wide. Mrs. Poole is never slow to take advantage of anything that may benefit the veterans, and her zeal has resulted in much that is good to these grand old men. She writes of her experiences: "Honor to whom honor is due, and having seen the numerous cures effected through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, I gladly endorse them as being particularly effective to cure that dreaded disease of so many of our old soldiers, Bright's Disease and Kidney Disorders of different kinds. Kidney Disease soon poisons the entire system, and as a result the vital organs are attacked, and I have found that no remedy so surely, completely and quickly finds the weak spot and heals it as Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used them myself in slight attacks of biliousness and indigestion, and usually find that from three to four pills do the work."

Such evidence from a lady of so much distinction and experience should convince any sufferer from Kidney Trouble that Dodd's Kidney Pills is the remedy that never fails. 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50. LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

Bills are Being Rapidly Introduced and Sent on Their Way by the Committee of the Whole. But Few Have Become Laws.

St. Paul, Feb. 20.—The bill offered at the instance of the State Grocers' association was the leading feature in the session of the senate yesterday. The bill allows a man's wages above $9 per week to be garnisheed. This does not really reduce the amount which was before exempt, but allows the garnishee to be made weekly. There was a good deal of opposition to it, on the ground that the workingmen should be protected, but the bill was finally recommended to pass by 32 to 26.

The other bone of contention was the bill cutting down the fees of county clerks. The bill has been having pretty plain sailing, but the clerks have seemingly rallied to protect their interests, and the bill went over without any vote indicating its strength.

The house spent its entire time in committee of the whole and almost all of that time was devoted to discussing Speaker Dowling's bill raising the pay of county commissioners from $3 to $4 per day. The bill itself was not directly acted upon, but a motion to indefinitely postpone was defeated by 59 nays to 34 yeas, which indicates its probable passage.

A bill was introduced putting all the employes of the grain department under civil service rules. A civil service board is created by the bill, which is to examine applicants for positions, having a fee of $10 a day while on duty and charging each applicant $7 for being examined.

The greater portion of the legislature went to Red Wing in the afternoon to visit the state training school.

St. Paul, Feb. 21.—The senate passed the bill creating a tax commission by a vote of 50 to 4. The negative votes were cast by Senators Knatvold, McGovern, Viesselman and Schaller. The commission is to consist of three members with a salary of $3,000 each and appropriates $12,000 to pay the salaries and expenses. If the bill should pass the house it would probably end Representative Jacobson's bill increasing the gross earnings tax on railroads from 3 to 4 per cent. If that bill should pass the house, the senate, which killed a similar bill two years ago, would probably refuse to pass it on the ground that they had already passed the tax commission bill, which is to report a law covering all kinds of taxation. A possible deadlock between the two houses may occur and both bills be lost, but at present the chances seem to favor the tax commission bill.

Another commission was created by the senate by the passage of the joint resolution providing for the appointment of one senator and two representatives to meet a similar commission from Wisconsin to agree upon a plan for taxing the shipping interests on Lake Superior.

The senate passed the house bill punishing the crime of kidnapping, making the maximum penalty twenty years' imprisonment. It only lacks the governor's signature to become a law.

A bill was introduced which requires railroad stations, where the receipts are $8,000 or more per year, to be kept open between trains and during all business hours.

Rather an odd bill was offered by Senator Thompson, which allows a man who has served four consecutive years in the legislature to practice law after he has read law a year, six months of which must be in the office of a reputable attorney. The bill is supposed to be in the interest of Senator Knatvold.

Another bill introduced allows manufacturing corporations to own more than 5,000 acres of land in the state. At present all corporations are forbidden owning more than that amount of land, but the Grass Twine company of St. Paul needs a great many thousands of acres of swamp grass land to manufacture twine.

Senator Du Toit introduced a bill appropriating $10,000 for the purpose of erecting monuments on the positions occupied by Minnesota troops in the attack on Vicksburg in 1863.

Another bill appropriates $7,600, to give to each high school in the state $100, to make up for a deficiency in the last appropriation, which gave them $800, but only $700 were paid.

There was quite a contention in the house over the bill for a constitutional amendment allowing the legislature to fix the term of probate judges at any number of years it may see fit. After a long debate the bill was indefinitely postponed.

The bill making an eight-hour day on public works was passed, after being amended excepting work done for towns and counties and on county roads.

The bill allowing country merchants to indulge in auctions was indefinitely postponed.

A bill was introduced increasing the fees of grand and petit jurors from $2 to $3 per day and making their mileage 10 cents a mile.

Speaker Dowling's bill increasing the pay of county commissioners from $3 to $4 per day was passed.

There is evidently to be considerable temperance agitation this winter, as a bill was introduced in the senate extending the local option law of 1899 to all cities in the state.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 22—The retail grocers received a black eye in the senate yesterday, as the bill reducing the amount exempt from garnishee proceedings lacked five votes of being passed. As a little salve to the grocers the bill allowing city and county officials, other than school teachers, to be garnisheed was recomended for passage.

The "Bill for the relief of the Standard Oil Company" was sent to the committee on illuminating oils. It has been recomended to pass by the committee on illuminating oils. It has been recommended to pass by the committee on retrenchment and from there went to the committee of the whole. After that it will have to go to the finance committee and it may be some before a vote on its passage is reached. This is the bill placing the state oil inspector on a salary and some of the senators are suspicious that there is a method in its delay.

A bill was offered in the senate making two publications all that is necessary for articles of incorporation and allowing them to be printed in a paper in the county where the corporation is organized instead of at the capital. The senate passed ten bills, all of minor importance.

The bill abolishing court commissioners provoked the most discussion in the house and was finally recomended to pass. The most important bill introduced puts all live stock commission merchants under the supervision and control of the railroad and warehouse commission.

Representative Peterson wants every second class postoffice in the state to have a building and a memorial to congress in favor of a federal buildings for such offices was passed.

Speaker Dowling introduced a bill taxing chattel mortgages and seed grain notes.

Another bill offered abolishes the chief grain inspector and gives the duties to the railroad and warehouse commission.

As today is a legal holiday, owing to Washington's Birthday, and Saturday is the next day, a day on which no one likes to work (when working for the state), both branches of the legislature adjourned until Monday evening. Monday evening nothing will be done, so that it is practically an adjournment until Tuesday.

St. Paul, Feb. 26.—There was nothing in the senate proceedings last evening to indicate that the members were seriously considering the suggestions to expedite business and adjourn at the end of the allotted time. So but 15 minutes were devoted to business. Stockton, president pro tem, occupied the chair. Two bills were introduced by Senator McCarthy, legalizing the indebtedness of certain counties in his district, and the appointment of Robert H. Johnson as boiler inspector for the St. Paul district was received, when a motion to adjourn was carried.

The house members, on their return from the long adjournment, met and remained in session 30 minutes.

Among the bills introduced was that by Representative Hickey permitting school trustees to set aside a sum each year equivalent to 1 per cent of the salaries paid the teachers, to be used as a pension fund for the retirement of teachers incapacitated from duty owing to old age or mental disability. A similar measure was introduced in the senate last week.

Representative Deming seeks to reduce the price paid for the official legal notices, making it 50 cents for the first and 30 cents for the second insertion, whereas, as the law now stands, the sums of 75 and 35 cents respectively are paid for such work.

In the belief that the state should own what is known as the Schroeder Museum of stuffed birds and animals, Representative Umland introduced a bill calling for an appropriation of $7,500 for such purpose. After passing the bill introduced by Representative Schutz, placing farmers' mutual insurance companies on the same basis as those of other township companies, adjournment was taken.

A PET FLAMINGO.

Queer Favorite of an Army Officer That Resented All Attentions.

"When I was down in Cuba," said Delegate Flynn, of Oklahoma, to a writer in the Washington Post, "I heard a good story about an army officer and a flamingo. A flamingo? Why, it is a bird of beautiful red plumage which abounds in the tropics. Well, to continue, I heard of a post commandant who, like all other post commandants, was not popular. He had two fads. First, he believed in whitewash and plenty of it, asserting it to be the most effective preventive of tropical diseases ever discovered. His second fad was an apparently unreciprocated attachment to a pet flamingo, who resented being kept in captivity and who showed his resentment by nipping at every soldier who passed his way. On the part of the soldier there was nothing to do but swear under his breath and wait for revenge. On a certain Monday morning an order was issued from headquarters that all articles pertaining to the camp which were not sheltered from the weather should be whitewashed. No one who knows the American soldier," added Mr. Flynn, "needs further information. When I saw the flamingo he was as white as the driven snow. The chances are that the bird will survive the operation, but he will hardly outlive the post commandant's wrath."

Wonderful British Dogs.

A delightful story is told of a sportsman who was boasting of the intelligence of his dog. "Would you believe it?" he said. "When I was walking into the city he suddenly stopped and pointed at a man by a bookstall, and nothing I could do would induce the dog to move. So I went up to the man and said: 'Would you oblige me with your name?' 'Certainly,' said the stranger, 'my name is Partridge.'" Another dog's "tail:" A suburban gentleman, who was in the habit of giving his dog some small delicacy on leaving for the city each morning, forgot to do so on one occasion. As he was going out of his house the dog caught his master's coat tails in his teeth, and, leading him into the garden, stopped at a flower bed. The flowers growing there were "forget-me-nots."

Resenting an Insult.

Mars, searching among the stars for one who would love him for himself alone, had assumed a modest disguise. Thus he wooed Venus, and told her of his love.

"Are you serious?" she asked, cautiously.

"Madam," he cried, "you insult me."

An Accretion.

"Well, sir," said the slangy man, "he made me look like 30 cents."

"You ought not to complain about that, for it is an improvement."

"What do you mean?"

"Ordinarily you look like a nickel."—Detroit Free Press.

Made Her Hair Curl.

"Since marriage I have had no need of curling irons," said Mrs. De Tanques.

"But still your hair is perfectly dressed. What's the reason?"

"Well, when you've got a husband you'll find that he can come home at any old hour in the morning with an excuse that would make your hair curl."—Kansas City Star.

The Trust Problem.

To a thoughtful mind, the trust problem is one of serious import. It must be firmly grappled with, for it creeps upon society before you are aware of its existence, in this respect much resembling the various disorders which attack the stomach, such as constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia and biliousness. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will cure all such ailments, and prevent la grippe, malarial fever and ague. Be sure to give it a trial.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases of of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Getting a New Crop of Hair, and Has No More Dandruff.

Everybody in the Northwest knows Col. Daniel Searles, the veteran journalist and publicist of Butte. Jan. 10, 1900, the Colonel writes: "I used a couple of bottles of Newbro's Herpicide with marvelous results. The dandruff disappeared; a new crop of hair has taken root, and the bald spot is rapidly being covered." Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ that digs up the scalp in scales as it burrows its way to the root of the hair, where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out. Kill the dandruff germ, with Herpicide.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

THANKFUL TO MRS. PINKHAM

Letters Proving Positively that there is No Medicine for Woman's Ills Equal to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

MRS. ANNIE THOMPSON

(ALL LETTERS ARE PUBLISHED BY SPECIAL PERMISSION.)

"I cannot say enough in regard to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has done me more good than all the doctors. I have been troubled with female weakness in its worst form for about ten years. I had leucorrhoea and was so weak that I could not do my housework.

I also had falling of the womb and inflammation of the womb and ovaries, and at menstrual periods I suffered terribly. At times my back would ache very hard. I could not lift anything or do any heavy work; was not able to stand on my feet long at a time. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for doctors but they did me no good. My husband's sister wrote what the Vegetable Compound had done for her, and wanted me to try it, but I did not then think it would do me any good. After a time, I concluded to try it, and I can truly say it does all that is claimed for it. Ten bottles of the Vegetable Compound and seven packages of Sanative Wash have made a new woman of me, I have had no womb trouble since taking the fifth bottle. I weigh more than I have in years; can do all my own housework, sleep well, have a good appetite, and now feel that life is worth living. I owe all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I feel that it has saved my life and would not be without it for anything. I am always glad to recommend it to all my sex, for I know if they will follow Mrs. Pinkham's directions, they will be cured."

CHANGE OF LIFE.

MRS. M. A. DENSON

"I was taken sick five years ago with 'The Grippe,' and had a relapse and was given up by the doctor and my friends. Change of Life began to work on me. I flowed very badly until a year ago, then my stomach and lungs got so bad, I suffered terribly; the blood went up in my lungs and stomach, and I vomited it up. I could not eat scarcely anything. I cannot tell what I suffered with my head. My husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken half of it I began to improve, and to-day I am another woman. Mrs. Pinkham's medicine has saved my life. I cannot praise it enough."

M. A. DENSON, Millport, N.Y.

PROFUSE PERIODS.

MRS. L. D. HODGE

"I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound about 3 months ago, and cannot express the wonderful good it has done me. Menstruations were so profuse as to leave me very weak for some time after. Was also troubled with leucorrhoea, tired feeling, bearing down sensation, pain across the back and thighs. I felt as though there was a heavy weight in my stomach all the time. I have taken two bottles of the medicine, and now have better health than I have had for four years."

BUFFALO GAZETTE

DELANO, FRIDAY, MAR. 1, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—C. M. Conzet has one of the finest teames for driving in the neighborhood now.

—Some of the fast youths, who have traveled too fast lately are now regretting their speed.

—Ed Ziebarth has built a machine house, on the lots lately bought near Schaffer's store. He expects to sell farm implements this spring.

—The Eagle says the annual town meeting will be held on Friday, March 9. We don't know where she got her information.

—Our neighbors in Independence are to vote on the question of whether or not they will license saloons in their town, at the coming spring election.

—Oscar Ball, does the the soliciting and delivering for Green & Co's grocery store, on a bicycle, in the dead of winter. Pretty good for Minnesota.

—Augus McEchern is building a house near his father-in-law's, Valentine Eppel's. He expects to move in soon and afterwards enlarge his quarters.

—Herbert Bronkow, who gave a violin solo, at the Washington's Birthday Association celebration, on the 22nd, is pronounced one of the finest violinist in the country for one so young.

—Mr. and Mrs C. G. Halgren drove over to Delano last Friday afternoon, to visit relatives and friends, and to witness the Washington's Birthday exercises. They report a very pleasent time. Carver County News.

—T. J. Jarmon, representing the Furniture Companies came to town Tuesday morning and made a settlement with W. D. Albietz whereby Albietz turned in accounts and furniture amounting to 112 5 on the dollar.

—Guy Redmond went down town recently, purchased a five cent package of cough drops at the confectionary store, paid one cent down and had the other four cents charged to his father. Quite an eye for business for a five year old.

—Provision should be made to haul a few loads of snow onto the bare spots in the roads in winter, as well as to put gravel in the mudholes in summer Many times two or three loads of snow put onto a little bare spot or two would save much hard pulling, breaking of harness and sleds, waste of time and many swear words. If properly done the patched roads would last for weeks, and cost little.

—In another column appears an interesting letter from a Wright County boy, LeRoy Cady, of Buffalo, who has attended the Minnesota Agricutural School and is not sorry. We have been at Mr. C. for years to write just such a letter for the GAZETTE, but he has heretofore persisted in being bashful: we are glad we persisted The letter should be read by every boy in the county. We hope our readers may hear more from LeRoy Cady.

—Dr. E. E. Shrader will leave here next Monday morning for Europe for the further advancement of his medical studies. His brother Dr. J. S. Shrader, of Delano will accompany him. They intend to leave New York on board the Patricia, on Saturday, March 9. He expects th be away three or four months, after which he intends to return to Watertown and resume his practice. The News wishes him a safe, pleasent and profitable trip.—Carver County News.

—If Delano's Grandmothers had a tenth of the bravery and persistence that Grandmother Nation has they wouldn't premit their male relatives to be found in saloons on Sundays, after hours on week days, nor in a drunken condition. Neither would they let them gamble, and do other unlawful things. But so long as the men tell them that the village can't run without saloons, nor with saloons run in accordance with the law, the women seem to think they can't help it. If they would demand that the officers see to it that saloons, and gambling devices are run as the law directs, if at all, we think we would at once note a big change in Delano, and not for the worse either. How happy many families would be to have the husband and father at home evenings without the fumes of liquor eminating from his breath, and the degrading language of some from their liquor fired brains.

—The meeting of the Washington's Birthday Association on the 22nd. was well attended considering a cold day, the small pox scare, and other festivities going on at the same time a few miles away, the programme was well carried out and several additional numbers volunteered. The meeting was highly patriotic and will long be remembered as a bright spot on the pages of Delano's history. The hall was artistically decorated, with flags, pictures and oth r arrangements, not to forget boquets of flowers which were distributed among the ladies taking part in the exercises and the officers of the society. Officers for next year were elected as follows:

President.	E. H. Farnham,
Vice President,	J. D. Young,
Secretary,	T. J. Catlin,
Treasurery.	William C. Lewis,

Executive Committee: Chairman, John H. McGary; George W. Florida, John Cunningham, William Ziebarth, Mrs. Katherine Kelly Green, Mrs. Eb. Brandon.

—The Delano Territoral Association is gathering numbers and is now in good running order. Last week's meeting was held at John Cunningham's. This week they met with President Holsington. Next Wednesday evening they expect to spend at William Lewis.

—The village of Delano and the town of Franklin have each petitioned the Legislature for aid in defraying quarantine expenses for smallpox.

—Some of our citizens are anxious to know if the Eagle's assertion that "If the treasury had been properly guarded and the village funds expended" refers to work on Oak street near Third.

Blow to Phonetic Spelling.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—A heavy blow was dealt the proposed system of phonetic spelling today when the department of superintendency of the National Education association in session in this city, refused by a vote of 105 to 77, to allow the question to be taken into consideration by a committee of the best known educators in the country. A heated discussion preceded the vote.

St. Peter School Notes.

A "club" is just what the boys of our school need. They ought to organize one soon.

Washington's Birthday was enjoyed by all the boys. Another holiday wouldn't hurt them.

FARMERS!

Do You Sow Wheat?

Certainly, but you don't wait until harvest time to do so.

Then why wait until harvest time to build a granary or corn-crib? Why not build now before the rush of spring's work begins? Come and talk it over with us, no matter how large or small your building may be, we are always ready and willing to show goods and quote prices.

A MUSCULAR MUSICIAN.

Our Jane has always had the craze
To play as Paderewski, plays,
And that she has acquired his ways
We've evidence bombastical,
For our piano wildly quakes
With daily epileptic shakes
The while she thereat lourly takes
Her exercise gymnastical,

No sooner doth she get her pose
Than she each trained extensor throws
Upon the keys with blows on blows
Surpassingly Herculean;
She pivots here, she pivots there,
Lands knock-out punches everywhere,
Till tonic forces fill the air
E'en to the vaults cerulean,

Crescendos on crescendos chase
Forzandos o'er the keyboard's face,
And when with tutti forza brace,
She climbs the heights vociferous,
We mount our wheels and ride away
Ten miles beyond her muscles' play,
Yet do we hear at close of day,
Her volleying soniferous.

Conzet and Darrow have another shipment of 300 of those fine Deer hair sweat pads on the way from E. L. Mc Lain, Greenfield, Ohio, they take no pains in finding the best factory and have them made to order to suit their trade. Don't buy a poor pad when you can get the best for a trifle more it is far the cheapest.

C. M. Conzet has a nice piano harp will sell, trade or give it to the right party. Call and see it.

Long Prairie Leader: Another bill in the interest of Youngers is before the legislature. It is one to parole life convicts after having served thirty-years, less good time. If the bill becomes a law the Youngers would be given their freedom at once, for they have already served twenty-three years.

County Cullings

The Daugherty plan for Congressional reapportionment has been accepted by the committee This leaves Wright County in the Sixth District.

Annandale people seem to be gathering thtmselves together to give the Wright County Newspaper Association a warm reception at their meeting next Monday. The editors know when they have a good time and, usually appreciate it when it does come.

Judge Giddings is to hold a term of Court at Buffalo on Monday, March 4 He may be there for several days owing to how he gets along with the cases to be heard in special term. It might be a good time for those who have not yet secured citizen's papers to be there, and attend to the matter then.

Atty. Madigan has out-done us by his deep silence; we refer to his daughter who arrived at his home nearly two weeks ago of which we know nothing of. Even the correspondent of the Buffalo Journal was in the dark. When will wonders cease?—Maple Lake Messenger.

If there was no report in the Health Officers office, (in which case the editor could have known it) the Attorney should be prosecuted under the law which is printed on the blanks for making reports of births. He, if neglecting to report within 10 days would be liable to a fine of from $5 to $25, and ought to pay it, as an example.

Bro. Satterlee of the Annandale Advocate Post advises us "next time we see a doctor who is an outlaw because he has not contributed to the state for a license just go after him, shoot him full of holes, and you will be a Nationalized Saint of the same breed" as Mrs. Nation "Wrong never makes right". If there are any doctors of that kind officers of the law have not discharged their duties and if the license law is wrong, the people who made it must be to blame; or those who elect men to office to make license laws.

What does it mean? Wright County one of the large and prosperous counties of the State can't pay it's debts! It won't accept its own orders for taxes. Is not something wrong? A man receives an order on the Treasurer for services rendered, has it stamped "Not paid for want of funds" and is told to hold it, it will draw interest. But at the same time he must pay his personal tax before the end of the month or be subect to the penalties. This is poor financiering. Like some other business, orders must be sold to the "highest bidder."

Things financial look serious when those who have bills against the village must have them cut in two and wait 30 days for pay; those in the township are told that the treasury is empty; those holding county orders must continue to hold them, or sell them to "the highest bidder." This higest bidder business is getting to numerous altogether. Even the school district is short. People want their pay when they have worked, and they want it right now, and in money good anywhere, and ought to have it. Is it a scheme to get some laws made by the legislature to "relieve financial pressure?" Or is it only "prosperity" come home to roost with the people who favor turning money matters over to the banks, and having the government go out of the banking business? Anyway itis inconvenient.

Chairman Victor E. Lawson of the Peoples Party State Central Committee has called a meeting of the committee to convene at the Merchants Hotel at St. Paul on Friday evening, March 1, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of discussion and taking some action in the matter of the work of party organization. He expresses the hope that every county in the state will be represented. It is believed that some action for a more compact and close organization is neccessary before the next State campaign.

Frank T. Hamilton, of Minneapolis formerly editor of the Maple Lake Messenger was a Delano visitor Saturday in the interest of the St. Paul Dispatch. Frank is looking well and is as much of a hustler as ever.

Litchfield Independent: A dispatch from Clinton, Iowa, states that one Thomas Burke was last Saturday given a verdict of $1,000 damages against the Modern Woodmen lodge of that city for injuries received while being initiated into the order. The judgement was against the lodge, the team in charge of the ceremony being released from liability. The order should not keep such frisky goats.

Commoner: It seems after all Mr. Roberts, director of the mint, is not infallible when it comes to figures relating to the gold supply. Mr. Maurice L. Muhleman, who is himself something of an authority on figures, has discovered a serious error in the government figures relating to the supply of gold. Mr. Muhleman claims that there has been duplication in the foreign gold, coin imported being registered on arrival at the custom house and then re-registered when minted into United States coin. Mr. Muhleman has traced these errors up to the year 1898 and he estimates that the gold stock has in this manner been exaggerated to the extent of $125,000,000.

St. Peter Free Press: The deportation of Editor Rice of Manila for pointing out a few discrepancies in the official transactions of the port captain, concernining the collection of customs fees, may possibly be excusable upon grounds of military expediency. At the same time it will hardly be claimed that the American people are not entitled to an accounting, by military officers, of the details of receipts and expenditures of a purely commercial nature, ordered and administered by them in consequence of the existing war and which, in the nature of things, must be placed under the control of civil authorities as soon as conditions will permit this to be done with safety.

New Jersey Mrs. Nation.

MILLVILLE., Feb. 25.—Mrs. Emma Hughes of this city, created great excitement in this city tonight by emulating Mrs. Nation in smashing a saloon which her husband frequented. Armed with a hatchet she entered the place and smashed every bottle of beer, after when she took her husband by the arm and hustled him home. The temperance people indorse the action of Mrs. Hughes and a reform movement will be started tomorrow night.—Globe

Freedom of The Press.

The deportation of Editor Rice from Manila because of his criticism of American officials ought to give the American people some idea of what is to be expected under colonialism. Free speech is not consistent with military rule or carpet bag government. Men who exercise authority without responsibility to those whom they govern cannot tolerate criticism, and any suggestion of malfeasance becomes incendiary and dangerous. Human frailty makes public officials liable enough to error even when restrained by a free press and when that restraint is taken away the people have no protection whatever. There is a love of justice to be found in every human heart, and when justice is denied, those who are responsible for the denial never think it wise to have the matter discussed. Benevolent assimilation is too tender a plant to withstand the frost of criticism.—Commoner.

GLORIES OF FOREIGN WAR.

How Our Soldiers Come Home —Gastly Sights at San Francisco—Scenes That Men Should Witness When Anxious to Enlist in the New Army.

San Francisco Argonaut: People in Atlantic cities do not see the reverse side of the war medal. In San Francisco the returning transports from the Philippines are weekly laden with wounded, sick, insane, dying and dead soldiers. The number of corpses is so great that the Presidio military cemetery is becoming a large city of the dead. The effect of seeing hundreds of coffins stacked up near the wharves has a most depressing effect upon the new recruits arriving from the east. Therefore the authorities moved the deadhouse to a less conspicuous point upon the military reservation. A curious fact is that relatives of the dead soldiers are now ceasing to claim the bodies. Corpses are held for a certain time and then, if unclaimed are buried. Over 400 corpses arrived recently on the transport Grant, ninety eight of which were smallpox corpses. The state of California refuses to allow these smallpox corpses upon its soil. Other states refuse to permit them to cross their lines It is probable, therefore, that these corpses will either be buried in the ocean or over seas.

What a revelation of the glories of foreign war! These soldiers went abroad to fight for their country, they died of a loathsome disease on foreign service, and their dead bodies are now denied burial, or even landing, by the states of the United States.—Litchfield Independent.

Farmers haul in logs, they would not have looked at, back 20 years ago. But the syndicate lumber comes high, and many of the farmers do not feel able to buy at present prices.

Independence was not as largely represented at the Washington's Birthday Association as usual mostly, we suppose, on account of its being such a cold day.

Most of the patients who have been having the mumps are up and around. others are afflicted with colds, rheumatism and high taxes. It seems our taxes are much higher than a year ago. There has been a disposition among many of the people during the last two or three years to expand, and high taxes is an annex to the business.

It seems that many municipal and county officers want their salaries increased. The taxes are already quite burdens upon the people, and if they are increased much more, the taxpayers will put in a protest. In my judgement I think we need to go into retrenchment and reform. Our people acquired the habit of being extravagant, living bevond their means. Some seem to think there is no bottom to the public funds.

THE LITTLE COUNTRY PAPER.

It's just a little paper—it isn't up to date;
It hasn't any supplement or colored fashion plate.
It comes out every Friday, unless the forms are sled;
The outside is home printed, with boiler plate inside.
It hasn't any cable direct from old Bombay,
But it says that "Col. Braggins is in our midst today."
It doesn't seem to worry about affairs of state
But it tells that "Joseph Hawkins has painted his front gate."
It never mentions Kruger or Joseph Chamberlain,
But says that "Thompson's grocery has a new window pane,"
And that the "Mission workers will give a festival.
And there'll be a temperance lecture in William Hooper's hall.
It tells about the measles that Hankins had,
And says that Israel Johnson has become a happy dad."
It says that cider making is shortly to commence.
And cites the fact that "Ira Todd is building a new fence."
It mentions Dewey's coming in one brief, paragraph,
And says that "Charles Trimble has sold a yearling calf."
And everything that happens within that little town,
The man who runs the paper has plainly jotted down.
Some people make fun of it but honestly I like
To learn that "work is booming upon the Jimtown pike."
It's just a little paper—it hasn't much to say—
But as long as it is printed I hope it comes my way.

Wright County Newspaper Association at Annandale.

The Wright County Newspaper Association held its regular bimonthly meeting at Annandale, on Monday, March 4. Members present, Buckley, Catlin, French, Nary, Satterlee, Saylor & Barker. The business meeting was held in village council room, a very nice place for such meetings. Considerable discussion of various subjects was had. Among others the question of making the price of subscription for county papers $1.50 per year, after October 1. The next meeting is to be at Monticello, Monday, May 6.

On the arrival of the Soo train at 11:45 a. m. several of the benevolently inclined citizens, among them Editor Satterlee, met the editors at the depot and took them to a good warm dinner, and entertained them until their business meeting, at 3 P. M.

At 7 P. M. the editors, several of them accompanied by their wives, met at the City Hall, a splendid place for the occasion. After God's blessing had been asked by Rev. Dewing, enjoyed one of the finest banquets ever prepared in Wright County. After the last course had been taken care of, W. S. Huntington, made an appropriate speech, describing the characteristics of Wright County editors, etc., etc., after which, as toast master, he called on Village President W D. McDonald, for the address of Welcome. President Catlin, of Delano, responded. Toast Master Huntington then introduced to speak on toasts as follows: Henry K. Kelly, "Our Guests"; Rev. Fisher, "Pulpit and Press"; C. A. French, Monticello, "Evolution of the Wright County Press"; C. J. Buckley, Delano, "Insides. Patent and Otherwise"; M. P. Satterlee, "The Press the Moulder of Public Opinion"; Rev. Plaut, "Our Village". Editor Baker, of Buffalo made a short speech, and Editor Nary, of Maple Lake, excused himself so arduous an undertaking. The evening entertainment was enlivened by music, and by the phonograph manipulated by druggist Williams.

The room was tastily decorated, and covers for nearly a hundred people were laid. Beside each plate was a carnation. The editors, especially seemed to enjoy the eatables.

The entertainment in the hall and elsewhere we understand was through the courtesy of the business men and the Annandale Improvement and Library Association Club. The Improvement club is a wonderful success. Judging from the banquet given, and from the fact that they have purchased a piano and 500 volumes of books, and other reasons. The Business men too seem up to date.

Annandale is one of the nicest villages on the Soo road, (we live on the G. N.) It is a fine summer resort. Good fishing being near at hand, and a fine park where camp meetings have been held for years. The drug store is the finest we have seen in the county. The doctors busy men. Lumber seems in demand, Huntington and Ives supplying many thousands of feet monthly. Three of the clergy were present at the banquet, evidencing the facts that the wants of the soul are attended to, and that those looking after spiritual affairs do not fail to provide for their own temporal bodies when such opportunities present. Three bankers, several merchants, a doctor, hotel keeper, and we don,t know how many other profesional and business men were there. They seem to harmonize nicely, even the editor was not shoved one side. We don't remember having been introduced to any lawyer, but we see, by a card in the Advocate Post, one has an office in the Village Hall.

We think there are many growing institutions in Annandale, but it was our lot to be the guest of an exceedingly flourishing Plant. He has only lived at Annandale a few years but he has built himself a comfortable home. He has built the vestry, and now uses it for mass, to a fine church which he hopes in the near future to complete. His object is to build up a good congregation at Annandale, and abandon services at French Lake and at Clearwater. Our former fellow townsman, Joseph Rousseau, is his architect and builder. If all the members of the Wright County Newspaper Association were as well cared for and entertained, as was it's President we predict some good, warm writeups for the business men and Improvement Club and Library Association of Annandale.

Failed to report Smallpox.

Dr. Charles E. Feller was arraigned in the police court yesterday, charged with failing to report a case of smallpox to the health department. It is alleged that Henry Rogers, now at the detention hospital, called at Dr. Feller's office last Friday, and though the latter saw that the patient was suffering from smallpox, he failed to report it. Feller claims that he did not know that Rogers had the disease. The case was continued until Friday. —Globe.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 1, 1901

The Cuban amendment to the Army Appropriation bill, which had the remarkable merit of being approved as a whole by all the Senators regardless of party, left Mr. McKinley no choice He was compelled to announce the abandonment of his intention to call an early extra session of Congress. The amendment leaves nothing in connection with Cuba to call an extra session for. But his heart is true to Hanna and the Ship Subsidy job, and he will not wait until the next regular session of Congress to get it through, if any responsible excuse for calling an extra session can be discovered in the next four or five months.

Much thoughtless criticism of democratic Senators is heard because they did not prevent a vote on the Philippine amendment — making Mr. McKinley "Ruler of Seas" — to the Army appropriation bill, and very ridiculous stories are being told as to why they did it. Few democrats who will consider the situation as it was will admit the justice of his criticism. It is perfectly true that the democratic Senators could easily have spent the short remainder of the session in discussing this amendment, which is unquestionably bad and vicious legislation. But that would have thrown the responsibility for the failure of the army and other appropriation bills and the consequent necessary extra session on the democrats It was not fear that caused the democratic Senators to avoid that responsibility, but good political sense. The Hanna-McKinley crowd are fairly itching for an excuse for an extra session, because in the next Congress there will be a much larger republican majority in the Senate, in order to pass the Ship Subsidy bill and other jobs: which the democrats have successfully blocked in this Congress, and the democratic Senators declined to play into their hands, knowing that even if they did so it would only make a difference of a few weeks in the date of the act giving Mr. McKinley autocratic civil power in the Pailippines. In exposing the viciousness of the Philippine amendment, which they did throughly, the democratic Senators did all that could be expected of the minority as responsible for legislation.

Senator Allen's denunciation of Admiral Sampson for having written a letter opposing the promotion of war rant officers in the navy because they had not enjoyed the social advantages which he considered requisite for a commissioned officer in the navy was one of the most severe ever heard on the floor of the Senate, but it was fully deserved, and it is hoped will be an effectual bar to any further promotion of Sampson. Mr. Allen said: "If William T. Sampson is author of those indorsements he is a conceited ass and he ought to be marked down as such. We are not bringing up in this country a race of snobs. If I am correctly informed, there was a time when Sampson was no better than Charles Morgan, the gunner. He came from no better stock. I am glad to repeat that we are not raising in the U. S. a class of brass jeweled aristocrats. If this rank and arrant coward is to be believed, the time may never come in this country when a poor boy may attain to such a position as his abilities warrant him in holding. I want to say to Sampson and to his friends that I am responsible for what I say." In the House the matter was referred to by Representative Berry of Kentucky, who said that Sampson was of extremly humble origin himself, and whatever refinement he had obtained was due to his service in the navy, and Sulzer, of N. Y., who after strongly endorsing all that had been said by Mr. Berry, had read a newspaper clipping denouncing Sampson, which he also endorsed.

There was a sensational scene on the floor of the House this week, and nothing but blind partisanship saved Speaker Henderson from being censured by a resolution offered by Representative Richardson, for having exceeded his authority by having a speech on the Philippines which Representative Lentz had sent to the Government Printing office, for publication in the Congressional Record, under a general "I leave to print" order of the House, sent to him instead of being printed, and for turning the same over to Representative Grosvenor, supposedly to be edited. By a party vote of 127 to 115 the House refused to consider the resolution of censure. While the matter was pending and the House was in a great uproar, Mr. Lentz said in a speech demanding why his speech had not been published: "Is my speech to be edited? Is Congress to have a censorship such as exists in the Philippine Islands? I supposed every member had the right to have his speech printed in the Record, but my speech has been with held by some one." Later the speech was handed to Mr. Lentz on the floor of the House, but he declined to receive it, and demaned that it be return ed to the Government Printing Office, where it had wrogfully been taken, in order that it might appear in the Record. He had his way, too.

"Comrade" Hanna should help to settle the wrangle which is on between the G. A. R., in which he now holds a commission, and the Grand Marshal of the Inaugural parade, who has assigned others to the duty of escorting Mr. McKinley to the Capitol to be sworn in. Officers of the G. A. R say they will not parade at all unless they can be McKinley's escort, and the grand marshal says that they shall not be. Gen. Dan Sickles, who was to have been marshal of the veteran division, has asked to be relieved and given notice that there will be no veteran organizations in the parade. The trouble is that the veterans are not showy enough to meet the imperial ideas of Gen. Greene, the Grand Marshal, whose ideas are much more gorgeous since he joined the asphalt trust than they used to be when he was an army officer.

WHEN MY PA WAS A BOY.

My pa is alays tellin' how good he use ter be
Ter alays mind his parents, when he was a boy like me,
Never got in any mischief and alays liked ter werk,
Got all his lessons when at school and never tried ter shirk.

I've alays had my 'pinion of a boy that's awful good,
Who never grumbles when he has ter carry in the wood,
Who never gits in mischief and never wants a gun,
For what's the use of livin' if yer can't have any fun?

But one day pa was talkin' when he thought I wasn't near,
Ter a man he used ter play with, and it made laugh to hear
Him tell about his funny tricks and how he use ter be
A-gittin' in ter mischief when he was a boy like me

He told about the time he let a squirrel loose in school;
He didn't know the thing would run and act so like a fool;
The teacher tried ter find him out, but 'twasn't any use;
And once, he said, he threw a stone and killed a neighbor's goose.

He used ter tease his sister when she had a beau;
Alays liked a circus and liked a wild west show;
Had a dog named Carlo, hitched him to a sled,
Licked a boy for teasin' him, then got sent ter bed.

I tell yer, boys, I'm proud of pa, he's alays full of vim.
And when he was a boy like me there wan't no flies on him;
So when I git ter be a man I'll be like him, yer see,
And tell my boys that I was alays good as I could be.

A Rent in a Handkerchief

By Mary Paton Hudson.

(Copyright, 1901, by the Authors' Syndicate.)

THEY sat out the waltz together, Nirma Devilliers and the man with millions. He had, besides his money, small eyes, large hands and a red face. But the lines of his mouth were gentle and his voice as soft as a woman's. She hated his name. It was Mahafey. This fact, however, gave its owner no grief, for it was an honorable one, and he had done nothing himself to disgrace it. The small pink and white beauty by his side had pretty well shut her eyes to his physical shortcomings, but she winced when she thought of his name. He bent his eyes fully upon her as they sat in the half light together. She had dropped her own and was noting a small rent in her point lace handkerchief that the deft fingers of her lady mother had mended with infinite skill. The bit of web was an heirloom and had belonged to her grandmother in old Virginia, whose family tree along with her coat of arms had hung in the halls of her ancestors at Norfolk-on-the-Sea.

"I HAVE HEARD THE STORY OF YOUR ENGAGEMENT."

Remembering all these things, she shuddered. Then she turned her face calmly upward to meet the honest glance of the man with millions, and her resolve was made. The soft sighing of the stringed instruments came to her like a dirge from the dear dead past with Philip Darcy. The hum of happy voices mocked the memories of those joyous days that would come no more. In the music's pause she heard the man with millions say: "Then I may come to-morrow at three?" She recoiled as if from a blow. He only thought it was maidenly coyness. How quick, she thought, he was forging the chains about her. She shivered, the little figure in pale blue chiffon with its billows of lace and the roses on her breast, as he continued: "Then I may cherish a hope?"

She answered, her hesitating words sounding like pebbles dropped in a shallow stream: "I am sure I do not know what to say, Mr. Mahafey." She hated his name. She wondered how it would look on her visiting cards. Lifting her eyes, she found his own still bent upon her.

Then she thought again of the rent in her handkerchief and Philip Darcy. They were not handsome eyes, but in her heart she knew that they betokened the sturdy strength of his nature. At least she would be safe with him and she could forget that she had carried handkerchiefs with rents in them.

"Nirma, Miss Devilliers," spoke a voice at her side, one she knew only too well, and then: "Why, Japhey, how good it is to see you! I had heard that you were somewhere about. Phil, can hardly believe it true!" "Yes, just got home on a furlough."

The two men grasped hands impulsively. "Ah, excuse us, Miss Devilliers, we were college chums at Harvard." Recalling himself, he said: "Japhey, let me beg this half of the number with Miss Devilliers; I remember that this is our favorite waltz. Wait here; only a turn." She adjusted the roses on her breast, tucked the lace handkerchief in her belt, and they moved off together. She would have been glad of an excuse to refuse to see him alone, but there was no help for it, and she sighed in answer to the music's soft solemn, noting as she went that he had not changed in the year that had gone since they parted and that he had the same impelling force that had made him things of old, save money, come easy to him.

She remembered that she had not seen him since his promotion for gallantry at Manila. But somehow she could not frame words to mention the fact. It seemed ages to her since he went away. "He is a fascinating fellow," the social wiseacres said; then, "whom all women liked, but not a marrying man and too shrewd to wed a penniless girl."

And so he had gone away without a word, and she, whom they said was "too wise, also, to be won by a fortuneless lover," had shed some bitter tears in secret, and then a few months later, with a despairing look at the shabby carpet in her room, and the worn curtains, had turned deliberately aside from rueful memories to win the man with millions.

"A handsome pair," the same gossipers said as she whirled a turn with Philip before they went into the conservatory.

There was a mimic orange grove in where he led her, and then burst forth: "You cannot mean it, Nirma; I have heard the story of your engagement to Japhet Mahafey."

She fingered the rent in her handkerchief; it gave her courage. And it had company in the memories it brought. She remembered the faded carpet in her room, the mended curtains, and all the other things she hated, and then the man with millions.

"I do not know," she answered, while her heart beat tumultuously. She seemed to be able to say no more. She had said the same to his rival.

"But I will not give you up, Nirma. I have come back to take my own." He spoke of Japhet Mahafey, of their long friendship, of his nobility of heart. "If," he said, trying to catch her eye, "you will tell me that you love him better than you ever did me, my darling, I will try to be satisfied. If not, he shall know the truth. I owe it to him as an honorable man."

"You shall not do this thing, Philip," she said, huskily, "for I have made up my mind. There was a time," hesitatingly, "but you did not speak, and now it is too late." Then he suddenly drew her to him and kissed her passionately. She turned and fled, her voice ringing back to him, defiantly: "I will keep my word to Japhet Mahafey."

An hour later and the man with millions folded her carriage wrap about her as he led her down the steps. "I will come to-morroy at three," in his soft voice that had a new and happy ring. "To-morrow at three."

He came at the appointed hour, but he was changed, and she guessed the reason why. His words were few, and his voice gentle, but it lacked the joy of yesterday. He said, and his bearing was full of dignity, a shade of restraint in the presence of the woman who would have married him for his millions: "Philip has told me of your temptation, Miss Devilliers; I—." But Philip himself stepped within the door.

The tiny web of lace fell to the floor. "Japhet," she tried to say, but he was gone.

IN OLD PLANTATION STYLE.

A Southern Silk Mill That Is Ruled by a Husky Negro with a Whip.

T. W. Thurston is a darky of old-time ideas, who has charge of a silk mill at Fayetteville, N. C., reports the Galveston News. There are under his charge over 300 men, women and children of his own race. The mill has always been noted for the discipline of its employes, and a northern newspaper correspondent recently took occasion to investigate and learn the secret of Thurston's success. When asked how he handled his mill hands so well, Thurston said that the first thing necessary in such an institution is discipline; and then when the questioner asked if this was obtained by a system of fines, the answer was: "No, sir! By whipping." The burly negro superintendent says that he accepts no hands for the mill unless they are given absolutely into his control for all the time between six in the morning and six in the evening, and, as such authority may be legally conferred there, he is answerable to no one but himself for what he does. Light corporal punishment is of no avail, in his opinion, so, when an employe is negligent in his work or disobeys any of the ironclad rules, that employe is taken out and given a whipping, no matter what the sex and no matter what the age. Mr. Thurston said:

"No one desires more than I do to see the condition of my people improved; but I have no false ideas as to the present condition of a majority of them. They lack sense of responsibility and are like children where money is concerned. That must be kept in view when dealing with them. My methods may be decried by humanitarians, but I am proving their success, and I believe that some of those boys I am bringing up here will in turn prove means of forwarding the industrial advancement of the colored race."

It seems that the Thurston motto is spare the rod and spoil the hand. If the report is true, the hands have for him great respect, and do not stop to murmur when he says so.

He Found "Bobs."

An orderly who happened not to know the commander in chief, for whom he was bearing a dispatch, asked another orderly in a loud voice: "Where's 'Bobs?'" In reply the cheery voice of Lord Roberts answered: "Here I am, my lad. What can I do for you?"

Among the Sioux Indians there are now 23 churches, constituting the Dakota Indian presbytery. These are in North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Montana. Three years ago there were 1,331 members of these churches, with 16 native ministers, one lay preacher and two assistants.

There yet remain in London of the old taverns seven Adam and Eves, five Noah's Arks and, naturally, connected with that, as many Olive Branches. There are two Jacob's Wells, one Job's Castle and one Sampson's Castle. Oldest of all, but not the least approbate, is a Simon the Tanner, in Long lane, Bermondsey, the seat of the tanning industry in South London.

A New York newspaper recently contained an advertisement announcing that babies at a certain foundlings' home could be had for adoption. In a short time 200 little ones were thus disposed of in respectable families. It is now learned that many of these infants were placed in the asylum by parents comfortably off in order to avoid taking care of the children.

The United States coast and geodetic survey will soon publish an atlas of the Philippine islands, which will contain 30 maps that have been made by Jesuit missionaries in the islands. This atlas will also contain three lists of geographic names, amounting in all to about 6,000, which have been prepared by the various geographers at work in the islands.

Dr. Mayo Smith, the "doctor" of Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad," died the other day at his residence at Colorado Springs, Col. Thousands of people who have laughed at the doctor, as portrayed in Twain's masterpiece will be sad to hear of his passing. He was also an intimate friend of Horace Greeley, and was the first reporter on the New York Tribune.

A department of dentistry has lately been added to the army, but the adjutant general of New Jersey would go still further and add a corps of chiropodists. Why not? The condition of their feet, involving as it does their fitness for marching, is so important to soldiers that it is a matter of wonder that specialists in this line of minor surgery have not been provided before.

A jury at Fentress, Miss., recently brought in a verdict that "deceased came to his death by a stroke of a train, he being in a reasonable state of intoxication." This is about as ambiguous as the Georgia jury's verdict: "We find the defendant almost guilty," and not at all like the frank declaration of a country justice in Maryland that a certain occurrence took place "at a former sitting, when the court was full."

The Automobile Club of America, located in New York city, is out with a challenge to the world for a race from New York to Buffalo, a distance of 450 miles, for prizes to the value of $5,000. One condition is that if a machine at any time falls below a speed of six miles an hour it will be ruled out. The race is to be open to all comers and to all machines. Europe had the first automobiles, perhaps, but America throws down the gauntlet now, and claims the best.

Civilization has not advanced so very far beyond the wilderness stage, after all. Depredations of wolves and bears are not heard of as often as formerly, yet such incidents are not unknown in the remoten settlements where wild beasts still find a home. But it is rather remarkable to note three such incidents, as are related in dispatches coming respectively from Jersey Shore, Bellefonte and Johnstown, Pa. In each of these places within a few days persons have been attacked by wildcats, a species of animal supposed to be very rare nowadays.

Two royal weddings, yet how different! Queen Wilhelmina of Holland married the man of her choice while the hearty congratulations of her loving and loyal people greeted her on every side. When the Spanish princess of the Asturias was wedded Madrid was kept in control by the most rigid martial law and careful military planning. It is due to say, however, that the popular feeling was not aimed against the princess so much as it was an expression of the deep seated general discontent among the people.

A letter from the Manila Hospital Aid society urges the people of America not to forget their soldier boys at the front and to send all the books and papers they can spare. There are 450 garrisoned towns that the society are trying to keep supplied with reading matter, and it is no easy task. Those who wish to contribute books, papers or magazines should address them to Mrs. Charles C. Walcott, Jr., care of Maj. C. C. Walcott, Jr., Manila Hospital Aid society, Manila, Philippine islands. It is a most worthy cause, and one that will require little expense or effort.

SCENE OF SPLENDOR.

Inagural Dance Outdoes Anything of the Kind in History.

Head of the Nation, Vice President Roosevelt, Diplomats and Persons of Every Walk in Life Were Present.

Washington, March 5.—The culminating event of the inaugural festivities was the inaugural ball, held at night in the vast auditorium of the pension office. As a spectacular event it was unparalelled in the history of inaugural balls, in the sumptuousness of arrangement, in the bewildering splendor of decorations and of marvelous electrical effects, and in the countless throng taking part in the spectacle.

The United States Marine band and an orchestra of over a hundred pieces were stationed at one end of the hall and for an hour before the arrival of the presidential party played patriotic airs.

Presidential Party Arrives.

The presidential party arrived at 10:15 o'clock. They were preceded by a glittering array of army officers in full uniform and were escorted to the private offices of Commissioner Evans, which had been lavishly decorated. The president bowed and smiled as he passed through the throng. Senator and Mrs. Hanna, Lieut. Gen. and Mrs. Miles, several of the justices of the supreme court with their wives and a number of the cabinet circle joined the party upstairs. The crowds on the main floor had been pushed back to make room for the grand march, but word came that Mrs. McKinley was indisposed and that the president would remain by her side. The march consequently was abandoned.

Whirl of Gayety.

The band struck up Strauss' "Blue Danube," and the first regret of the assemblage at missing the grand march, with the president and the first lady of the land at its head, gave way before the whirl of gayety on the ballroom floor. Vice President and Mrs. Roosevelt arrived about the time the president came in. After paying their respects to the president and holding an informal levee amid the groups of governors, officers, senators and distinguished officials the vice president and his wife proceeded to the ballroom floor.

At Its Height.

Now the scene was at its height. Under the golden canopy and the dazzling filigree of lights moved the shifting throngs—women in exquisite toilets, dowagers and matrons in rare old laces, buds and debutantes in dainty Paris creations. With them were officials distinguished in every branch of public life, grave supreme court justices, governors of states surrounded by their brilliantly uniformed staffs and aids, ambassadors and ministers in gold lace and decorations, the highest ranking officers of the army, navy and marine corps, senators and representatives, officers of troop A, the president's crack organization, in uniforms of Austrian hussars. As the orchestra and band alternated this ever-moving throng joined in promenade and dance, making a vast kaleidoscopic picture.

Informal Reception.

President McKinley held an informal reception in the upper corridor, Lieut. Gen. Miles, acting as chief of the reception committee to escort distinguished guests to the president.

The presidential party and Vice President and Mrs. Roosevelt left the ball at 12:15 o'clock. Before leaving they partook of a light lunch with a large number of invited guests in the private dining-room. The festivities went on unabated until a late hour.

FAMOUS LAWYER DEAD.

Earthly Career of William M. Evarts Ended—His Services as Secretary of State.

Mr. Evarts was 83 years old. His death was caused by pneumonia. For several years past he had been without the use of his eyes and was otherwise so feeble that he was unable to leave his home. Up to the time of death he was the nominal head of the law firm of Evarts, Choate & Beaman, although for many years he had not been in active practice.

William Maxwell Evarts was born in Boston, Mass., February 6, 1818. His father was Jeremiah Evarts, a well-known philanthropist and editor of the Panoplist, a Boston religious monthly magazine. Young Evarts, after receiving a good rudimentary education, was sent to Yale college, where he distinguished himself as a student, particularly in classics. Among his classmates were several who afterward became prominent, including Samuel J. Tilden, Chief Justice Waite, Attorney General Pierrepont and others. After his graduation in 1837 he entered the law school of Harvard university, where he studied one year, and then removed to New York, where, after two years' study in the office of Daniel Lord, he was admitted to the bar.

Mr. Evarts first became prominent politically in the republican national convention of 1860 in proposing the name of William H. Seward for the presidency. In 1861 he was a candidate before the New York legislature for United States senator. Horace Greeley was also a candidate. After a lengthy contest Mr. Evarts withdrew and Ira Harris was elected.

One of the later famous trials in which Mr. Evarts figured was the Beecher trial of 1874-75, when he was senior counsel for Henry Ward Beecher. His summing up for the defense lasted eight days, and at the close Mr. Evarts was as fresh as when he started.

When the contest arose over Rutherford B. Hayes, Mr. Evarts was the advocate of the republican party before the electoral commission, whose decision gave the seat to Hayes. He became secretary of state in the Hayes administration. In 1881, on retiring from the cabinet, he was sent to Paris as a delegate to the international monetary conference. In 1885 Mr. Evarts was elected United States senator from New York and served one term. Upon his retirement he retired from active law business and had since resided quietly at his New York home.

Mail Saved.

Washington, March 5.—The postmaster of San Francisco has advised the superintendent of foreign mails of the post office department of the amount of mail saved from the steamer Rio Janeiro, which was wrecked at the Golden Gate February 22. There were, it is stated, about 5,000 letters, of which 4400 were for foreign destinations. Two bags of European registered letters and 33 domestic registered letters were rescued.

Proposed Alliance with England.

If the United States and England should form an alliance, the combined strength would be so great that there would be little chance for enemies to overcome us. In a like manner, when men and women keep up their bodily strength with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, there is little chance of attacks from disease. The old time remedy enriches the blood, steadies the nerves, and increases the appetite. Try it for dyspepsia and indigestion.

FAKE HAIR PREPARATIONS.

Do Hair No Good, But Often Cause It to Fall Out.

Many hair preparations are "fake" because they are merely scalp irritants. They often cause a dryness, making the hair brittle, and, finally, lifeless. Dandruff is the cause of all trouble with hair. It is a germ disease. The germ makes cuticle scales as it digs to the root of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing the hair to fall out. To cure Dandruff the germ must be killed. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ, thereby leaving the hair to grow luxuriantly.

Another Proof That It Pays.

What pays? Why, advertising in this paper. A letter from the makers of Cascarets calls attention to the fact that within five years the sales have grown from nothing to six million boxes last year. This goes to show if you have an article of real merit like Cascarets, advertise it properly and liberally and let all the people know about it, it is sure to bring big results. Readers who have never tried this famous remedy are urged to try it, because in this busy, every day life of ours, we all need something now and then to help nature and there is no better medicine in the world than Cascarets to stimulate the liver and bowels gently and naturally into healthy action.

HELP FOR WOMEN

WHO ARE ALWAYS TIRED.

"I do not feel very well, I am so tired all the time. I do not know what is the matter with me."

You hear these words every day; as often as you meet your friends just so often are these words repeated. More than likely you speak the same significant words yourself, and no doubt you do feel far from well most of the time.

Mrs. Ella Rice, of Chelsea, Wis., whose portrait we publish, writes that she suffered for two years with bearing-down pains, headache, backache, and had all kinds of miserable feelings, all of which was caused by falling and inflammation of the womb, and after doctoring with physicians and numerous medicines she was entirely cured by

MRS. ELLA RICE

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you are troubled with pains, fainting spells, depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere, headache, backache, and always tired, please remember that there is an absolute remedy which will relieve you of your suffering as it did Mrs. Rice. Proof is monumental that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest medicine for suffering women. No other medicine has made the cures that it has, and no other woman has helped so many women by direct advice as has Mrs. Pinkham; her experience is greater than that of any living person. If you are sick, write and get her advice; her address is Lynn, Mass.

WONDERFUL CURE OF PSORIASIS.

As a sufferer for thirty years from the worst form of Psoriasis, finally cured by Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I wish to tell you my experience, that others may benefit by it. I was so grievously afflicted that the matter that exuded from my pores after the scales had peeled off, would cause my underclothing to actually gum to my body. After remaining in one position, sitting or lying down, for an hour or two, the flesh on my elbows and knees would split, so thick and hard would the crusty scales become. The humiliation I experienced, to say nothing of physical agony, was something frightful. The detached scales would fairly rain from my coat sleeves. I have read none of your testimonials that appear to represent a case so bad as mine. But as to the cure. I commenced bathing in hot Cuticura Soap suds night and morning, applied the Cuticura Ointment, and then wrapped myself in a sheet. In two weeks my skin was almost blood red in color, but smooth and without scales. Patches of natural colored skin began to appear, and in less than a month I was cured. I am now passed forty years of age and have skin as soft and smooth as a baby's. Hoping that others may benefit by my experience, and regretting that sensitiveness forbids me from disclosing my name, I am yours gratefully,

J. H. M., Boston, Mass., Sept. 30, 1900.

BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

The Palm Given to Dr. Greene's Nervura.

That Grand Jury, the People, Have So Decided.

Used by Hundreds of Thousands in Spring as a Blood Medicine.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is indeed "the World's Great Spring Medicine." It has come to be recognized by almost everybody as the best possible spring medicine to take, and hundreds of thousands of our people use it during the trying spring months, to tone up anew the relaxed nerves, and re-invigorate and enrich the blood.

A spring medicine is a necessity if one wishes to keep in perfect health and vigor during the changes from winter to summer. This grand spring tonic, this perfect spring medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, is exactly what the system needs at this season. It not only purifies, but makes rich, red blood; it not only strengthens and invigorates the nervous system, but re-energizes and revitalizes the nerves by feeding them with renewed nerve force and power. It is not only an aid to digestion, but it creates a regular, natural and healthy action of the bowels, liver, kidneys, which in the spring are always sluggish and inactive.

In fact, it is just what people need to make them well and keep them well during these months, so threatening to the health of all, and when it is considered that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is made entirely from pure, health-giving vegetable remedies, and that people give it more testimonials of cure than any other remedy on earth, no one can doubt that it is the very best spring remedy for everybody to use.

Mr. Gustave Lelbach, of 337 First St., Jersey City, N. J., says:—

"I was troubled with sick headaches, and could not sleep on account of the pains in my head. I was suffering night and day with dyspepsia, could not eat anything, my stomach would sour so. I had to starve myself to have any ease. I had to give up work at last, I was so nervous and miserable, and I was falling away in flesh so that my friends hardly knew me. I tried several remedies, but without avail. At last someone recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I tried one bottle and began to improve. I started in to eat all right; then I picked up my health; my headaches disappeared, and my weakness and sour stomach went away. I used three bottles, and could sleep all night with ease; I used six bottles, and felt like a new man. I can now do a hard day's work without any trouble, and I am as happy as a bird in spring. I was so miserable, always suffering, always in pain, but now I am like a new man."

Use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy this spring, for it is the discovery and prescription of a well-known physician, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th St., New York City, who is responsible for its beneficial action, and who can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter.

ONE DOLLAR PER PILL.

Cincinnati, O., March 4, 1901 (Special).—Miss Netta Hixon is Sergeant-at-Arms of Camp No. 1, Patriotic Order of America. Her home is at No. 1717 Hughes street, this city. She is a very popular and influential lady. For three years she has been ill. Now she is well. She says: "I cannot praise Dodd's Kidney Pills too highly for what they have done for me. I was troubled for three years with weakness, and often had dizzy spells, so that I dared not go out alone. My head would ache continually for four or five days at a time, until life became simply a burden.

"All the medicine I took did me no good, until my physician advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I secured a box, and soon found that my headache was leaving me. I felt encouraged and kept on taking them and getting stronger. The pains gradually diminished, until I had used four boxes, and all trace of pain had gone. I am to-day a strong and well woman, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills. If the price was one dollar per pill, instead of 50c a box, they would be cheap compared with other so-called medicines placed before a suffering public." This is but a sample of the letters received every day by the hundred. They all tell the same story of sickness and soreness, changed into health and vigor by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

Bills are Being Rapidly Introduced and Sent on Their Way by the Committee of the Whole. But Few Have Become Laws.

St. Paul, Feb. 27.—There never has been a session of the legislature since the state was organized when some movement was not sprung to shorten the session and there never has been a session shortened. When we used to have annual sessions, limited to sixty days, there would always be a proposition to shorten it to forty-five or fifty days, and since we have ninety-day sessions, rounded out by Sundays and holidays, until the per diem exceeds $500, there is always talk of making the session sixty or seventy-five days, but so far the per diem has not been reduced. Senator Young offered a resolution yesterday to adjourn on April 5, cutting off twenty days of the session, with a view of having an extra session of twenty days next winter to consider the report of the tax commission. If this should be done it would violate all precedent, and the chances are more likely in favor of this session being continued to its bitter end, and an extra session besides.

The experimental farm and agricultural college were heard from in the shape of a bill appropriating $294,500 for new buildings at St. Anthony Park. A college of pedagogy is created at the state university by a bill appropriating $10,000.

Blair, (rep.), of Le Sueur county, who contested the seat of Mayhood, (dem.) is in with a bill of $1,172.75 for expenses of the contest. This is more than twice his salary if he had been elected originally. As he failed in the contest, it is so much gone to waste, and as Mayhood's bill was over $800, it makes substantially $2,000 for this little divertisment. The house passed a bill reducing the rate of interest upon contracts arising from the sale of state lands from 5 to 4 per cent.

St. Paul, Feb. 28.—Both branches of the legislature did a large amount of talking yesterday, but neither one succeeded in accomplishing much. One of the leading topics in the senate was concerning a bill creating a board of osteopaths. The present medical board permits the membership of osteopaths, but the object of the special board is explained to be that the old school physicians are hostile to osteopathy and will not give the new school a chance. An effort to indefinitely postpone the bill failed, and it was finally left at the point where it began.

The next bill calling forth talk was the one allowing individuals and corporations to maintain telegraph and telephone wires along the highways. The author of the bill said it was to help the farmers in obtaining telephone accommodations, while the opponents claimed that it would allow telephone companies to come into cities without paying anything for franchises. This, too, got so mixed up that it was not advanced in the least. Only two bills were passed by the senate, and those were not of general interest.

In the house the bill which allows prisoners undergoing a life sentence in the penitentiary to be paroled was the subject of much debate. This is supposed to be in favor of the Younger brothers. An effort to indefinitely postpone was lost by 39 yeas to 61 nays, and it will now go to committee of the whole. Another parole bill was introduced which allows prisoners other than lifers at either Stillwater or St. Cloud to be paroled, no matter what their term of sentence may be. As it is now a parole cannot be granted if the prisoner has been sentenced to serve more than five years.

The cigarette war has been waged for years, but a bill offered in the house goes still farther and forbids anyone under 18 years of age smoking or chewing any kind of tobacco. This is a companion piece to the curfew law.

St. Paul, March 1.—The senate yesterday passed nine bills, one of them being a house bill permanently locating the fish hatchery at St. Paul and making an appropriation to buy seventeen acres of additional ground. A senate bill passed makes the counterfeiting of union labels forgery in the third degree.

The bill which is creating the most talk was not considered in the open session. It is known as the telephone bill, and allows the construction of telephone and telegraph lines along public highways without the consent of the towns or cities. It passed the house with the limitations that towns and cities must give their consent, but that has been stricken out in the senate, and now there is trouble.

Senator Gausewitz offered a bill creating an immigration board of five members, with the governor and secretary of state ex-officio. It appropriates $15,000 for the expense of the board.

The senate committee on judiciary has probably killed the bill reorganizing the medical board by allowing Christian scientists to be represented on the board. It is presumed that this addition was made for the purpose of killing the bill.

It is proposed to amend the oleomargarine law by making it read that the product shall not be of the same color as "yellow" butter.

The bill to tax grain in elevators has been killed by the senate tax committee.

Representative Jacobson wants to investigate the purchase of the St. Paul & Duluth railroad by the Northern Pacific, and to that end offered a joint resolution for the appointment of a joint committee of three senators and four representatives to look into the matter and see whether anything illegal has been done.

An amendment was offered to the baking powder law which gives the judge the option of imposing a cash fine or sending the seller of adulterated baking powder to jail for from 30 to 90 days.

The judiciary committee introduced a bill making it contempt of court to disregard a garnishee notice.

A good many members of the house were absent yesterday visiting the normal schools and soldiers' home, and so only five bills of minor importance were passed. One of the bills introduced appropriates $90,400 for new buildings on the state fair grounds.

St. Paul, March 2.—The telephone bill, which has created so much contention, was referred in the senate to the delegations from St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, as those are the cities which would be affected by the bill if it should become a law.

A bill was introduced reorganizing the entire national guard of the state and making three regiments, instead of four.

The senate killed all the pending road and bridge bills, because the new constitutional amendment provides that no money shall be expended for roads until a state highway commission has been created to supervise the expenditure. Another bill introduced places oculists under the control of the state medical board.

Mr. Jacobson's resolution to investigate the sale of the St. Paul & Duluth road to the Northern Pacific was lost by 53 ayes to 40 nays. It requires 60 votes, the same as the passage of a bill. The resolution brought out a sharp debate.

A bill in the house creating a fourth regiment for the national guard was favorably recommended, but Representative Hurd secured a reconsideration, as he opposes the bill.

A bill was introduced raising the salary of the railroad commissioners from $3,000 to $3,600 a year.

The contested election expenses of Blair, who failed to secure the seat from Le Sueur county, was cut down to $790.76 and recommended to pass. The bill of Mayhood, who retained the seat, was cut from $875 to $500, and also recommended to pass.

The pharmacists are asking to have a $10,000 building erected at the state university.

St. Paul, March 4.—The committee of the whole unanimously recommended the passage of the bill providing $1,000,000 more for the new capitol. There seems no reasonable doubt of its passage by both houses. The original bill for the new capitol provided for raising $200,000 a year for 10 years. The new bill extends this plan for five years longer, which secures the additional million.

A new divorce bill was offered in the senate. It provides that no one shall be able to secure a divorce in Minnesota for reasons which would not secure a divorce in the state where the parties formerly lived. This applies to acts occurring before the parties came to the state. It also requires personal service upon the defendants.

Another bill offered forbids the sale of liquor in "blind pigs," "cold storage plants" or "club rooms," and still another provides for counties voting on local option, as the towns already do.

The house killed the bill allowing five-sixths of a jury to bring in a verdict against the other two men. The friends of the bill said the corporations were opposing it, and opponents of the measure argued that it was changing the jury principle which had been in use for centuries.

Representative Peterson is after the telegraph companies again. He offered a bill Saturday limiting the charge for a ten-word message in this state to 20 cents, and 1 cent for each additional word.

An effort will be made this week to hatch the reapportionment chicken, which carves out nine congressional districts. Then there will be music, as there are a good many ambitious members of the legislature who have the congressional bee in their bonnets and want a district which will give them a sure thing.

St. Paul, Minn., March 5.—The congressional reapportionment bill, agreed upon by the committee, was introduced in both houses and made the special order in each house for Friday morning. A combination has been formed which may prove strong enough to carry it through without change, as reported by the committee, though there will be some strong opposition.

Senator Miller renewed his effort to tax the express companies with a bill providing for a 5 per cent tax on their net earnings.

The house was even duller than the senate. The most important bill offered was one making it a misdemeanor to run a theater on Sunday. The same kind of a bill was offered two years ago, but after the legislature was supplied with tickets to go and see for themselves, the bill was not heard of any more. Possibly history will repeat itself.

A bill was passed requiring six months school to be kept in country districts where the property valuation amounts to $35,000.

The effort to cut off twenty days from the session will culminate in a caucus. The movement comes from the senate and is based upon the desire of the senators to act upon the report of the tax commission at an extra session next winter. If there is no extra session next winter a new senate will have been elected before the tax question comes up, and many of the present members may fail to come again. The house seems to be more desirous of securing a full term now, as that is a more ephemeral body and to them a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. If I was to guess a prediction I would guess that there would be no fraction of time that is paid for being cut off from the present session. A good test would be to offer a resolution pledging the members to serve this session through for full pay and agreeing to come to an extra session next winter to revise the tax laws without compensation. When this is done the millenium will begin doing business at the same time.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Minnesota Wins.

Minnesota and not Kansas won out at the national buttermakers' convention. This fact was developed after adjournment. Some mistake had been made which when rectified placed this state in the lead. As Minnesota had 262 entries and Kansas only 29, it is easy to see how the high average of the smaller number of exhibits resulted. J. S. Moody of the Minnesota Butter and Cheese company, St. Paul, received the following telegram from Elgin, Ill.

"Minnesota score, 89.86; wins banner. inform White at once. E. Sudendorf, Secretary."

The Mr. White referred to is B. D. White of the dairy and food commissioners' department. The entries and scores of the various state now stands as follows:

	Average Score.
Minnesota, 262 entries	89.86
Iowa, 184 entries	88.34
Wisconsin, 139 entries	88.13
Illinois, 59 entries	88.94
South Dakota, 37 entries	86.90
Kansas, 29 entries	89.44
Vermont, 17 entries	86.35
Michigan, 14 entries	86.96

Minnesota will get the grand sweepstakes, the silver medal, the banner and a large share of the pro rata money, which means the major portion of $5,000. The silk banner is worth $100.

Will Get an Appointment.

Dr. Cyrus Northrop, president of the state university, is said to be slated for membership in the national commission which will govern the world's fair to be held in St. Louis to commemorate the Louisiana purchase. Representative Tawney has filed the recommendation with the president. Senator Nelson was present and added his assurance that the appointment would be indorsed by the Minnesota delegation. Tawney's bill creates a national commission of nine members who are to receive each a salary of $5,000 per annum. The commission will be in existence four years. It was agreed that Mr. Tawney should name one of the commissioners, so that the recommendation, it is thought, amounts practically to an appointment.

Indians Confer.

Indian runners have brought news of a council of the Red Lake Chippewas, held at the agency, to consider the proposed opening of the west end of the Red Lake reservation. This is the plan to which Congressman Eddy gave his unqualified indorsement, immediately after the re-election, at a meeting of the business men of Red Lake county, held in Thief River Falls. At that time the hostility of the Indians to any scheme for reducing the present reservation was the principal obstacle in the way of the opening of this rich agricultural country. The Indians now offer to sell this land for a uniform price of $2.50 per acre, the money to be at once divided pro rata among the members of the Red Lake band.

Fire at the "U".

Fire at the pharmacy building at the State university did damage approximating $1,000.

The blaze started on the ground floor of the building, and it spread rapidly, finding excellent food in the chemicals stored in the laboratory. The flames were up to the roof by the time the first pieces of apparatus arrived, and for two hours the firemen were kept busy.

Several big lines were used, but that the perishable contents might be damaged as little as possible, Chief Canterbury made use of all the chemical lines at his disposal. The fire burned the roof for a distance of 50 feet and did much damage inside.

Will Resume.

There is a good prospect that the near future will see the resumption of work at the Columbia Heights roller mills. Since the closing of the mills, almost a year ago, improvements to the value of $150,000 have been made.

President Thomas Lowrey is expected home from New York in a few days, and it is likely he will have definite information to give out concerning the reopening of the mills this spring.

News Notes.

The board of directors of the St. Paul Commercial club and decided to accept the proposition of the Germania Life Insurance company to add two stories to the present structure for the exclusive use of the club.

Rural free delivery service ordered established to commence March 1 at Cannon Falls, Goodhue county, Minn., two carriers. Length of route, 51 miles; area covered, 67½ square miles; population served, 920; number of houses on routes, 231.

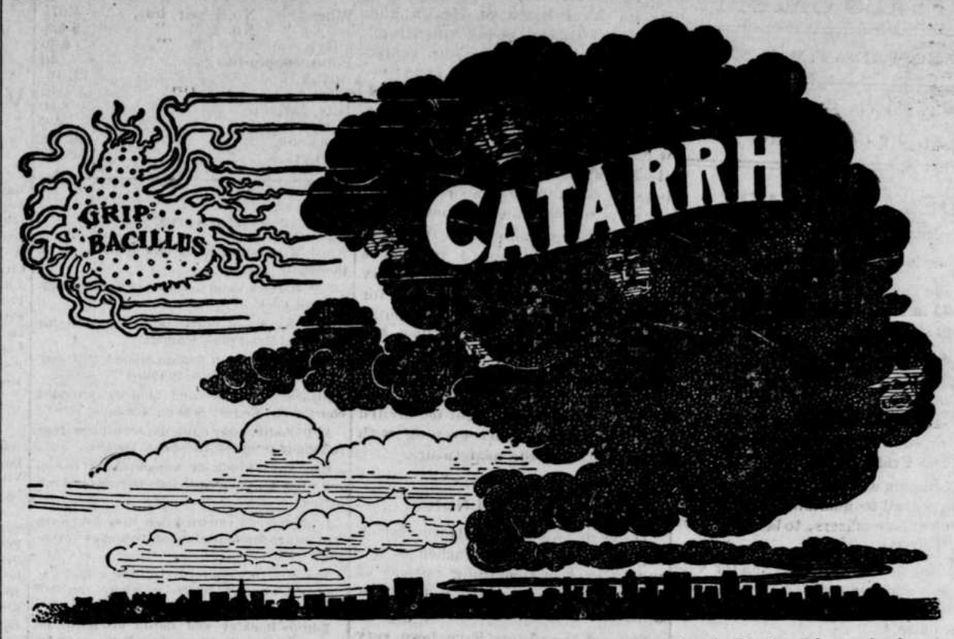
F. Alexander Steward of Minneapolis has been appointed vice consul at Nagasaki.

AFTER THE GRIP COMES CATARRH.



LIKE A TERRIBLE CYCLONE grip bacillus has passed over our country, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, leaving behind it a dark cloud of anguish and despair.

Catarrh follows grip as effect follows cause.

A multitude of catarrh victims will spring up in the trail of the awful epidemic of grip that has just passed over our fair country.

The hope to these people is Peruna.

Most people know this already.

Everyone who has had the least touch of grip, should not fail to take a course of treatment with Peruna.

Peruna eradicates every vestige of the disease and leaves the system in a normal condition.

Hon. Joseph B. Crowley, Congressman from Illinois, writes from the National Hotel, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"After giving Peruna a fair trial I can cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone suffering with coughs, colds, la grippe and all catarrhal complaints."—J. B. Crowley.

Hon. George H. White, Congressman from North Carolina, writes:

"I am more than satisfied with Peruna, and find it to be an excellent remedy for the grip and catarrh. I have used it in my family, and they all join me in recommending it as an excellent remedy."—George H. White.

Hon. J. P. Megrew, Superintendent U. S. Capital Police Force, of Washington, D. C., says:

"Having suffered from the grip, I was advised by a friend to use your Peruna. I also used it for my catarrh, and I can now cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone who is suffering from the grip and catarrh."—J. P. Megrew.

Miss Anna Russell, Past Worthy Counselor, Loyal Mystic Legion, 263 Endicott Building, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"For years I have unfortunately found my system in a peculiarly receptive condition for catarrh when I was exposed in any way to inclement weather. At those times I would be severely afflicted with la grippe and its unpleasant consequences.

"Now for the past year and a half I have used Peruna in such cases and have found that it not only cures me quickly, but it also cleanses my blood and renders me less liable to catch cold. It is the finest preventive of colds that I know of and a very superior tonic."—Anna Russell.

Miss Alice Dressler, 1313 North Bryant avenue, Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"Last spring I suffered from la grippe and was partially cured, but the bad after-effects remained through the summer, and somehow I did not get strong as I was before. In the fall I caught a cold after getting my feet wet and attending a lecture in a cold hall, and I suffered a relapse. An unpleasant catarrh of the head and throat followed, and as I was in a weak condition physically previous to this, it took but little to break me down completely.

"One of my college friends who was visiting me, asked me to try Peruna, and I did so and found it all and more than I had expected. It not only cured me of the catarrh, but restored me to perfect health, built up the entire system, and brought a happy feeling of buoyancy which I had not known for years."—Miss Alice Dressler.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

BUFFALO GAZETTE

DELANO, FRIDAY, MAR. 8, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—Fairday tomorrow.

—The Town of Franklin caucus is to be held in Delano Saturday, Fairday, at one P. M.

—Maple Plain will have a interesting election, voting on a High School, and on liquor license.

—Some kindof a hipnotic performance roped in a few dimes at the City Hall last Friday night.

—A caucus will be held tonight, at the City Hall to nominate a full ticket for village officers, to be voted on next Tuesday.

—Candidates for nomination for Village Marshal and for Recorder appear to be more numerous than for any other office.

—Darv Welker, received this morning a fine Plymouth Rock rooster, from the Bunker Hill Poultry farm at Mankato. He intends to keep pure breed now.

—The Territorial Association, on account of other arrangements held no meeting this week but are to meet with William and Semantha Lewis next Wednesday evening.

—From "Personal Mention" in the Eagle we learn that "Mrs. E. P. Green has recovered from an attack of the grip at Canaseraga N. Y., by the use of Dr. Miles Pain Pills." How happy that must make the Eagle's Delano readers feel.

—W. D. Freeman had a letter a few days ago from his son Ed, Principal of the school at Pellican Rapids, conveythe news that one of the Board of Education of that village, Mr. Mickelson, a merchant who had met with financial reverses, sent his children to Sunday School last Sunday and while they were away from home climbed into the garretand hanged himself.

—The suggestion that a grand celebration of the admission of Minnesota into the Union be held in Delano, on Saturday, May 11, the anniversary of that important event, by the Territorial residents within reach of our Village seems to meet the hearty approval of the people and the press even so for away as Maple Lake, and possibly farther. The event would certainly be interesting. Let those interested communicate with the Delano Territorial Association and help work up a grand celebration.

—A lively runaway was that of Fred Bock's black team on Wednesday. The buggy was about a total wreck. The team was left at Ed. Bock's house, unhitched and walked off up to Henry Bock's when they began to run and made a circle around towards Urban Progreba's when they started back to town running up Bridge to Fourth street where they stopped. It sometimes saves trouble and expense to hitch a team.

—Rockford people were unduly alarmed, we are told, a few days ago concerning smallpox at Delano They were prepared to quarantine against all Delano people. We are informed that on investigation the scare simmered down to some of the Rockford young men who wished to quarantine against some of the Delano Bocks Two houses in Delano are under quarantine, one has a patient nearly ready to be let out, the other is a family of eleven in the house, ten with the eruption. All doing well. If people report according to law at once, and are properly quarantined there is but little danger of a spread of the disease. It is those who try to keep from quarantine that are dangerous to the community.

—If any of our citizens wish to take an interesting trip this summer they should address a letter to Lois A. Smith, Cor. Sec. Dis. Epworth League, City Hall, Minneapolis for information concerning the fare to the Biannual International Convention to be held July 18 to 21, in San Francisco. Tickets can be had good till Aug. 31, for $50. A fine chance to see the country via Kansas City, returning by Salt Lake City or for $9 more, via Puget Sound and the northern route.

—For several days this week people have been inquiring of each other "What is that tank for?" Referring to a large steel tank on the depot platform. Some thought that while the butter makers were at the convention a short time ago they learned of a new tank and had ordered it for the creamery. Others were not sure but that the G. N. was going to have it for a water tank and run independent of the village plant. On inquiry it turned out to be billed to John Larson, a farmer living south of town, and is for a water tank on the farm. The freight from the city was $11.50.

—On Tuesday morning at about 6:30 the citizens of Delano were aroused from their peaceful dreams by the vigorous tooting of a locomotive whistle, to learn that John Longuish's house, kgown as the Casper Enwiller residence, on the west side was on fire Firemen with the hook and ladder were promptly on hand but the place was too distant from water supply to allow the use of hose. The house was completely consumed The occupants, Mr. Sulzbeck and family escaped unhurt The cause of the fire is supposed to have been the falling of a spark from a passing engine, on the G. N. R'y.

—This week's Eagle has her customary slur at the Board of Health and the Health Officer, about "insisting" on having a pest house, in the center of town. The present Board have "insisted" on having one out of town, but could find none If the Eagle has a pest house out of the center of town will she kindly furnish the Board of Health with its whereabouts. Perhaps she could make a "short loan" to the village council to build one.

—Mrs George Bolton last Wednesday afternoon entertained the ladies of the Presbyterian Aid in a very pleasent and hospitable manner for which she has a well known reputation. Later the Auxillary Silver Aid came, and a fine lunch was served, all remaining to spend the evening, and on leaving wishing each other good night, and that they might be invited again to spend another evening with their hostess in the near future.

Public School Notes.

If one or two of the girls would look at the board when the teacher is trying to explain something instead of looking into a mirror they would know a little more about it.

Some of the editors have been very busy for the past week and could not attend to business.

Lotta Sleight has been absent for several days this week.

County Cullings

From the present appearances farmers will soon be able to begin seeding. The ground is in good condition if worked as soon as it is fit, and grain sown early is more apt to get a good start than that sown too late and has not moisture to start it. Farmers ought now test their seed wheat and other grain and be sure they sow seed that will grow.

Leading politicians seem to have thoroughly tired of the bluster campaign plan. Future elections will, doubtless, be run in a more quiet way, and be preceded by less fuss. When people learn to make up their own minds as to what is right and what is wrong and to know which they prefer, and are not detracted therefrom by scheming politicans, politics will be purer, and more honest, reliable men will be elected to fill places of importance.

Trade and Flag.

In 1894 the trade of the United States with Australasia aggregated only $2,639,621, by 1898 it had reached a total of $12,667,422. In '99 there was a slight falling off, but figures so far at hand for 1900 indicate a gratifying increase It is said that this increase is due to the prices and desirability of the American goods offered, and the industry and ability with which they are introduced to the people of that region. No other country, not even the one whose flag was over Australasia, has made anything like the increase in trade that this one has. The situation is referred to because it is such a splendid confirmation of the position, taken by F. S. & H, that the United States does not have to own colonies or to wage wars of conquest to secure trade, nor does our flag necessarily have to wave over the bargain counters that we can load with our products at prices that secure foreign trade as rapidly as we can well take care of it.—Farm, Stock and Home.

Public Ownership.

After an experience of 18 months of city owership of its water and gas plants, the Water ahd Light Board of Duluth reports a net profit of $121,000 over cost of maintenance and inprovements. This fine showing followed a reduction of 40 per cent in water tolls, and 55 per cent in cost of gas to consumers. This is a sample of the usual experience with municipal monopolies of this kind, and the wonder is that the citizens of any town or city in the Union are content to deny themselves the advantages of public ownership of all their public utilities, including street railways. The streets of cities possess marvelous facilities for money making, and that they are willingly and freely turned over to a few private individuals to make colossal fortunes out of is one of the many inexplicable eccentricities of our people.—Farm, Stock and Home.

New Baseball Rules.

The following rules were adopted Thursday, by the National Base ball League:

Doing away with the intentional "fouling off" of pitched balls by a batsman. The first and second foul balls hit by the batsman, unless two strikes have already been called against him, shall henceforth be counted as strikes

Defining the position of the catcher's lines, so that the catcher will have to stand within ten feet instead of ninety feet of the plate. This places the catcher "up behind the bat." through out the game.

Penalizing one ball against the pitcher if he fails to deliver the ball to the batsman within twenty seconds after the latter has taken his position or for delivery elsewhere than to the plate.

Empowering the umpire to remove from the game, and if need be from the grounds, any player guilty of using improper language to another player, captain, manager or spectator. Writ ten proof of the offence must be submitted to the president of the league within twenty four hours, who may, if the proof be satisfactory suspend the offender from play.

Forbidding basemen henceforth from taking his base if hit by a pitched ball. The ball will count as a ball against the pitcher. Several rules conflicting with the changes named were stricken out or changed to conform to the alterations.—Minnesota Daily.

Rice Arrives At 'Frisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 2—George T Rice, editor of the Manila Bulletin, who was ordered deported from the Philippines by General McArthur, was a passenger on the transport Pennsylvania, which arrived this afternoon from Manila. Owing to the fact that some papers, which he had expected to receive here, had not yet arrived, Mr. Rice was unwilling to make any formal statement of his side of the controversy between himself and the military authority.

Mr. Rice will remain here about a week, when he expects to go to his former home at Red Wing, Minn

There he will lay his case before the state officials and Congressional delegation with a view of bringing the matter before President McKinley and also bringing suit against the national government for damages Mr. Rice claims that he was kept in close confinement three days at Manila before deportation. He was under guard all the way across, being allowed the freedom of the deck when outside of port.

Mr Rice went to the Philippines as a member of the Thirteenth Minnesota Volunteers. He is 19 years.—Duluth News Tribune.

DON'T DEEEPEN THE WRINKLES.

Is father's eyesight growing dim,
His form a little lower?
Is mother's hair a little gray,
Her step a little slower?
Is life's hill growing hard to climb?
Make not their pathway steeper;
Smooth out the furrows on their brows.
Oh, do not make them deeper.

There's nothing makes a face so young
As joy youth's fairest token;
And nothing makes a face grow old
Like hearts that have been broken,
Take heed lest deeds of thine should make
Thy mother be a weeper;
Stamp peace upon a father's brow.
Don't make wrinkles deeper.

In doubtful pathways do not go.
Be tempted not to wander;
Grieve not the hearts that love you so,
But make their love grow fonder,
Much have thy parents borne for thee.
Be now their tender keeper;
And let them lean upon thy love,
Don't make the wrinkles deeper.

Be lavish with thy loving deeds,
Be patient, true and tender;
And make the path that ageward leads,
Aglow with early splendor,
Some day thy dear ones, stricken low,
Must yield to Death, the reaper;
And you will then be glad to know
You made no wrinkles deeper.

—St. Paul Dispatch.

GOV. VAN SANT must be one of those superstitious fellows who thinks Friday is a hangman's day. And after precedents had been set for trying to disabuse the minds of people on the subject by appointing other days of the week for that work, the very first opportunity the new governor appoints Friday. He has appointed Friday, March 29 as the day on which Wallert, who killed his wife and four step children, at Arlington is to be hanged.

IT is being claimed that if the Demming bill providing for paroling life term prisoners from Stillwater passes that Cole and Jim Younger may be liberated. At the time the Younger boys were tried for murder the penalty of hanging was not in force in Minnesota. Afterwards it was again made a penalty. What would those favoring liberating the Youngers have said had they been hung, when the law was made so that others charged with murder could be hanged. And if they could not receive the punishment then, why should they claim their liberty now, under a law not in existence at the time they plead guilty.

Temporal Power.

Archbishop Ireland contributes a very logical statement of the reasons why the city of Rome should again be placed under the power of the pope, in temporal affairs, in the current number of the North America Review. Ever since 1870 the pope has had nothing to say in the civil affairs of Rome. The return of the civil authority over the city of Rome to the Catholic church is a very live question with prominent Catholics; not for the temporal power that this would give the pope, for the ruling of one city could certainly never wield a very important influence, or give the ruler an undue power among the nations of the world, but because, as Archbishop Ireland makes very clear, the Catholic church is a church of all nations and therefore, its head, its supreme ruler, should acknowledge allegience to no country and bow to no temporal authority. He should have a territory of his own where no nation could step in and claim authority where no government could claim any rights superior to papal power, and where all nation would be welcome.

Just why the pope should have temporal power over any one place in particular don't appear to most citizens of the United States. Christ went about among different nationalities, and his injunction was to preach the gospel to all men, while He had not a place to lay his head. Why should his successors have more than the Great Master?

BENJAMIN HARRISON President of the United States died at home, in Indianaplois, on Wednesday, March 13. He was 68 years old.

THE English are said to be preparing for the final surrender of the Boers. But though they may by force of numbers capture their bodies, their spirit of freedom won't be squeched at once.

IT is now claimed that another of Aguinaldo's Generals, (a very learned man!) has surrendered. And that it is but a step towards the surrender of Aguinaldo himself. (and they have been trying to make people believe for months past that he was dead!) Strange news comes across the broad Pacific.

Democrats Disgruntled.

Grover Cleveland, it is claimed will move to Massachusetts, to be near Banker Benedict, and with Mr. Whitney try to re-organize the demoratic party. It is too bad for them to waste their time in such a way. The democratic party is all right. It is organized, a nd in a fair way to success. If the disgruntled democrats willbut quit chasing after gold bugs, trusts, and other undemocratic heresies and come home, where tney belong there is every reason to believe that the democratic principles will prevail, and the party come again into power.

If politicians believe in the leading issues of the opposition party they had better join that party and help their views to a triumphant success, and not waste their time trying to convince the people of the country that democrats don't know what they believe in and what they want. Playing Democrat up to election time and then going back on the principles is wrong. Of course there may be an excuse for not supporting men who are unreliable and apt to disregard principles, but with leaders like democrats have had for several years back, who are earnest in their efforts to bring about reforms much needed, and who believe in the constitution of our country, and in supporting the teachings of the Declaration of Independence, Washington's Farewell Address, Lincoln's ideas and other good democratic principles need no re-organization by such strays as the two above mentioned.

Let, the present organization throughout the country be on the alert, Let them see to it that their duties are properly attended to, and the whole party will be on hand when needed. Spread Democratic literature whereever possible. It is not right for anybody to read but one side and judge from that. Hear both sides and form an opinion of your own that can't be shaken without convincing arguments to the contrary. A Democratic government is a government our people prefer and should have. Of course Democrats should advocate a Democratic government. The party should be what the name implies.

Rope Jumping Kills a Girl.

(By wire from Chester, Pa., March 11.)

Pretty 10 year old Catherine Scanlan is dead as a result of excessive rope jumping. She was a pupil of the Morton avenue school, and was considered the best rope jumper in the school.

Several of the other pupils had given her challenges of the late to rope jumping contests and she accepted all of them.

While jumping in one of the contests against another pupil, the other day, she fell to the ground unconscious. She was picked up and taken home, where she died yesterday.—Minneapolis Tribune.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8, 1901

Senator Platt, of Conn., who did not make himself conspicuous as an advocate of the Ship Subsidy bill, is the ostensible author of the resolution for the adoption of a cloture rule in the Senate, but that doesn't blind anybody. The Hanna crowd is behind the movement, the principal object of which is to make sure that the Ship Subsidy bill does not fail when it is next brought forward, as it did in the last Congress. There is a suspicion also that this cloture rule job, if successful, will involve the unloading of the Panama Canal, with its long and dirty record of fraud and theft, on this country, and other reckless jobbery to be paid for by the taxpayers money. It is believed to be the advance move in the most gigantic scheme of public looting in this or any other country. With a cloture rule in the Senate Congress would be a mere machine to register the will of the bosses of the republican party. It was at first intended to try to jam this resolution through at the present session of the Senate, although it has always been the custom to deal with nothing but executive matters at these special sessions, but so determined was the opposition that it was clear the special session would run on indefinitely if it were attempted so the resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules.

Well, well! Teddy has tired of being the whole show already. He glared at the galleries, the occupants of which were applaulding him, and threatened to have them cleared by the sergeant-at arms if the applause was repeated. Realy, Teddy will have to take something for his ingrowing modesty.

Senator Morgan is determined to keep before the people the fact that it is British influence that has caused and is causing republican opposition to Nicaragua Canal legislation. In view of the fact that the Hay-Pauncefote treaty lapsed by limitation March 4, and in line with that determination Senator Morgan has introduced a resolution declaring the Clayton-Bulwer treaty abrogated. The republicans have met this by declaring that the Senate cannot alone abrogate a treaty, and have gone back to 1808 to find a precedent showing that the House must also act and the President sign to bring about the abrogation of a treaty. This is because they do not wish to have Senator Morgan's resolution considered at the present extra session of the Senate. Senator Morgan made a speech in support of his resolution that was one of the warmest heard on the floor of the Senate for a long time, in which he said of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty: "We will make no compromise with Great Britain on that subject. We will make no concession to Great Britain in relation to that treaty. What we shall do with it (and some of our people are opposed even to that), is that we shall declare it abrogated. If the vote on my resolution could be taken today it would inform the President that he has two-thirds vote in the Senate to adopt any compromise he may make with Great Britain. If it is the purpose of Great Britain still to look for delay she will not get it. If it be her determination to pick a quarrel with us about it she will find that the U. S. can muster at least half of the number of men in the last election fighting men. And she will find, when the war terminates, that the steel band which binds the throne in London with Australia and India and passes through Canada will have been rent in twain; and with its severance down will go the empire."

Senators Patterson, of Colo; Dubois and Heftfeld, of Idaho; Harris, of Kans., and Turner, of Washington attend the caucus of democrats held this week to consider ways and means of dealing with the republican scheme for introducing the Reed rules in the Senate and making that body, like the House, merely a machine to record the will of one man. Senators Jones, of Nevada; Wellington, of Md.; Teller of Colo and Allen, of Neb.—Mr Allen will retain his seat in the Senate under the governor's appointment until his successor is elected or the legislature adjourns without electing a Senator, who now call themselves independents, did not attend the caucus but it is believed that they join the democrats in opposing a cloture rule in the Senate. Senator Teller says that whatever may be done at the regular session, he is very certain that no cloture rule will be adopted by the Senate at the extra session. It is difficult to see how one can be adopted at any session without the consent of the minority, as the proposition can be indefinitely debated under the present rules,

The secret of which Senator Carter so unexpectedly talked the River and Harbor bill to death in the closing hours of the recent session of Congress ascertained. He acted for Mr. [illegible] enormous [illegible] wanted the [illegible] to find [illegible] with [illegible] children to [illegible] not [illegible] of the [illegible] Carter's reward will be from the administration to return to the Senate, and failing in that a fat Federal office for himself or the control of Federal patronage in Montona as he may prefer.

Mr. McKinley has stated that he would not again send the nomination of either Schley or Sampson to the Senate for promotion. In that case they will both be retired as rearadmirals, Schley next October, and Sampson three months latter, and Schley will receive no reward for having destroyed Cervera's fleet.

An Emperor in Washington.

There is no political campaign on, nor will there be for some time, so that there certainly was no partisan purpose intended. The purpose of the speaker, an educator and not a politician, was, therefore, to point his countrymen to an impending danger In an address at the Old South church in Boston last Sunday, President Hadley, of Yale University, made this prediction: "We shall have an emperor in Washington within twenty-five years unless we can create a public sentiment which, regardless of legislation, will regulate the trusts."

These words remember came from the lips of the President of an institution of learning said by many to be the greatest in America. Said he further:

"Competition hued to prevent a man from practicing great extortion upon his neighbors, even if he wanted to, and in politics we once had a rough form of relative justice. But today, with our industries organized into trusts and the imperialistic spirit developing in politics, the general development of the principal of trusteeship will become appalling unless we cultivate a higher standard of morality than ever before."

Reader the man who utters these words is not a Bryan, a Towne, a Williams or an Altgeld, but the head of Yale College!—St. Cloud Times.

Drinks Forbidden to Railroad Men.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, March 9.—(Times Special)—The superintendent of the Dubuque division of the Chicago Great Western railroad company has issued a sweeping order to employes which has caused a sensation. In its effect it prohibits them from using intoxicating liquor in any form, or at any time. It applies to trainmen, station agents, foremen and others who hold responsible positions with the company.

It prohibits them from entering saloons or using liquor whether on or off of duty, and the penalty for any violation of this rule is the immediate discharge of the offender. The order also commands all employes to pay their honest debts and any failure to do so will cause their immediate discharge unless a reasonable excuse can be given.

Smallpox is Epidemic.

(Pioneer Press Special Service.)

CENTERVILLE, Iowa, March 12.—Southern Iowa is overrun with smallpox and Centerville is the only city of any size that has not from five to two hundred cases. There are not fewer than 500 case in this part of the state. Ottumwa has over 200, Albia 100, Bloomfield 50, Moravia 50, Mystic 75 and Moulton 25. Centerville has a strict quarantine against all affected towns. All roads and all railway trains are guarded by armed men to prevent suspects from coming here. The whole country is alarmed, as the disease is a malignant form in many places and several persons have died.

Paper Suppressed.

STOCKHOLM, March 11.—A dispatch from Helsingfors, Finland, says that the Halsamatmen, a daily newspaper of that place has been permanently suppressed by the authorities. This is but another step in the gradual Russification of Finland, which the authorities hope to effect by stifling all free speech and criticism of the government by the press. Every one of the Helsingfors journals that has attempted to censure the government has been punished with either permanent or temporary suppression.—Minneapolis Times.

Duluth News Tribune: Mayor Ames of Minneapolis, is said to be eyeing next gubernatorial boom. Will he run on a platform of protection to pugilism?

THE DANDELIONS.

The fields and lawns, but few short days ago
Draped deep in ermined robes of spotless snow,
In Nature's grandest transformation scene
Are wearing mantles made of emerald green,
Well cushioned with green velvet, fold on fold,
Pinned down with buttons made of purest gold.

Sweet dandelions, humblest of the flowers,
Quite unassuming spite of richest dowers
Of Nature's beaten gold, her nuggets spread
On padded carpets with blue skies o'erhead;
Each field a marvel, every simple sod
Bearing in gold the finger-marks of God.

How softly nestles every modest flower
Within the cushioned comfort of its bower
Of fluted grasses, made in perfect mold,
Petaled perfection framed and fringed with gold;
Free to the poorest, without stain or stealth,
Ingots from Nature's mines of golden wealth.

Blithe little blossoms, hiding not away,—
But growing where the happy children play,
Glad to bestow upon the poor man's cot
The same it spreads upon the nabob's lot;
Simple and social, ready to be culled
That human dearth may have its edges dulled.

All hail, sweet blossom of the glad springtime,
Coming so close upon the winter's rime,
Lighting the landscape with uncounted gems
Fit to adorn the princeliest diadems;
Dame Nature's medals given with generous hand,
Tokens that God with kindliest command
Blesses each year anew with love the land.

A LUCKY MISTAKE

From the French of
CHARLES FOLEY.

(Copyright, 1901, by Authors Syndicate.)

ONE of my best friends is a country squire, 20 years older than myself, jovial, kind-hearted, and, albeit a little rough, a man whom it is impossible not to like. Overflowing with the love of his fellow men, he gives to every beggar whom he meets, sometimes before he is asked, and, what is more remarkable, almost always accompanies the alms with a pleasant word often even by a joke. This custom is awkward, when one is promenading with him on the boulevards, and upon such an occasion I once ventured to remonstrate with him for encouraging familiarity from the scum of the earth.

His handsome face looked grave, nay, sad; he was silent a moment; then he said:

"My friend, have you ever known what it was to be hungry, and not possess a sou wherewith to buy a bit of bread?"

"No," I answered, astonished at the question.

"Well, I have; that is what causes my sympathy for the poor creatures. Yes, in spite of the fact that I am now a landed proprietor, and was then strong, young, well educated, and willing to do anything to earn my living. I have known actual misery; bitter, grinding poverty. Society left me to perish with hunger, and it was only by means of a crime that I was able to continue an honest man."

Clearly my face expressed astonishment, for, although I said nothing, he smiled good-naturedly, and proceeded to enlighten my curiosity:

"I will not tantalize you, for I see you are marveling at such a paradox. Well, then, know that from the age of 20 to 26 years I was sorely put to it to gain my bread. When things were at their darkest, after tramping the streets of the cruel city, and seeking through the suburbs, in vain, for work, I sat down to rest one evening at twilight, in the railway station of Poissy. I had not lost my self-respect, and I paid sufficient attention to my personal appearance to prevent me from looking like a pauper, although my clothes were somewhat threadbare. Trembling with fatigue and starvation, I dropped on a bench in a dark corner, too miserable to move. Presently, behind me I heard the pert voice of a waiting-maid addressing some one, evidently a young coachman.

"At first I listened mechanically, but was soon alert, and interested.

"'My lady will not sleep to-night at her house at Hennemont,' said the voice, 'but you must be at the depot, all the same. She will take the train at 12:25, after the concert, as usual, and will arrive here at one a. m. She will not leave her compartment, for she is to go on to Caen, where she will sing to-morrow, in the representation of "The Saviors of Orne."

"'My, but it is a fine thing to be Lolette Rubert, to be a fashionable singer, and to be paid 1,000 francs a night, for four little songs.

"'She says that you must be waiting on the platform, ready to take the bag which she will hand to you, through the window, when the train stops. You must be quick and careful, for the bag will contain the thousand francs for to-night's performance, and her diamonds, which she is afraid to leave in her dressing-room at Paris, and which she will not need for the part she takes at Caen. As for me, I have a holiday until to-morrow afternoon.'

"Both the woman and the boy left, without perceiving me, where I sat in the shadow. My head swam. I was hungry, I had not a sou, and I felt myself in the grasp of an irresistible temptation. I came out of my corner and inquired where Miss Rubert lived. Everybody knew of the popular singer, and I had no difficulty in finding out all I wished to know. Hennemont was a league from Poissy, on a hill. The road lay for most of the way through a thick wood which had once been a royal forest. The coachman was not more than half my size. It would be easy to stop the carriage in the road, overpower and bind him, and flee with the money and jewels before help could come on that lonely road.

"Toward midnight I hid myself in the thick undergrowth, where the road made a slight ascent, and was roughest. I saw the carriage pass on its way to the depot. It was a dark night, and everything favored my enterprise. I heard the train whistle as it stopped. I turned my coat inside out, pulled my felt hat down over my forehead, and improvised a mask by cutting two holes in my black silk neckerchief. I had scarcely done this, when I heard the sound of wheels, and in a moment more the horse was in front of me, where I stood in the road. I seized him by the bridle, and stopped him short. Then, without a word, I threw myself on the driver, who, poor boy, fainted from fright. I tied him with the reins, and, laying him on the ground, proceeded to rob the carriage. What was my astonishment, when, instead of the bag which I sought, I beheld the most beautiful young woman I had ever seen, lying back, insensible, in a corner.

"My well-laid plans had failed, because I could not foresee that Miss Lolette would receive a telegram to the effect that the performance had been postponed, and asking her to sing at a later date. I could not rob a woman; instead I must do my best to help her, at whatever cost to myself. Fortunately I had presence of mind enough to turn my coat back, and to throw my hat and scarf into the underbrush which had been my lair. Then I untied the coachman, who promptly took to his heels. Nevertheless, I could not leave a pretty young woman to die of fright. So I took Miss Lolette in my arms, and with soothing words, and gentle patting of her hands, did my utmost to restore her. Presently she opened her beautiful eyes and, placing one arm around my neck, murmured, softly, in the sweetes of voices: 'My preserver.' Those words gave me my cue.

"As soon as she was sufficiently revived to sit up I offered to pursue the robbers.

"'No, no, do not leave me,' she cried. Thereupon I mounted the box and, having a fairly good knowledge of horses, drove the carriage which I had meant to rob safely to the house of its owner. At the gates of Hennemont we encountered a crowd of servants who with torches and weapons were just setting out, under the guidance of the young coachman, to the rescue of their mistress. At sight of the carriage there was a cry of joy. Miss Rubert introduced me as her rescuer.

"I was tendered the hospitality of the establishment, fed and sheltered, and slept that night in a good bed. The next morning new clothes were brought me. There was an inquiry, without result. My story that the thief was masked was confirmed by the coachman. No mask was found, only a torn handkerchief, and Lolette, satisfied to have lost nothing, did not push the matter.

"What shall I add? I was a handsome fellow in those days, well educated, as I have said, and of good address. The story of my heroism brought me into notice and I soon found employment. I was heartily in love with Lolette and, beginning with gratitude, she soon loved me in return. I married her, not however without confessing my fault, which she readily forgave, since her beauty had conquered me as soon as I saw her. I made her a good husband, and it is the sorrow of my life that she died 20 years after our marriage. Now, doubtless, you will understand why I have so strong a sympathy for the unfortunate."

Eat All You Can, Mother!

An old man whose hair and beard were cut in a chaste, rural design appeared in one of the table d'hote restaurants the other day. He had his wife with him. That was more than the old lady could say of her hearing. She was almost stone deaf, which gave everybody a chance to find out what splendid lungs her husband had.

The meal was luncheon. The price which the old man was asked after he had ordered two meals was 75 cents.

"Seventy-five cents!" he exclaimed. "You don't mean apiece?"

"Yes, sir."

"Gracious!"

He thought it over a minute or two. Then he looked at his wife as if considering whether he should try to get the dreadful news past the old lady's tympanum. Evidently he gave it up. But he did what he could. When the first course came on he leaned over and shouted in her ear:

"Eat all you can, mother! I'll tell you why after awhile!"—N. Y. Sun.

Her Inheritance.

"Your daughter's voice," said the professor, after the first lesson, "really has a fine timbre."

"There," said Mrs. Rocksley, "I always knew it. I've told my husband ever since the day Adeline was born that she took after him. He was in the lumber business when we got married."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Several hundred students of the Maryland university displayed wonderful courage and manliness in driving one freshman from the campus with bad eggs and dead cats. "When will their glory fade?"

The census figures should put a stop to the old story that the Indians are dying off. The five tribes of the Indian territory have more than doubled their population in the past decade and now number 385,155.

Some scientists now claim that the North American continent has been inhabited 60,000 years and that the garden of Eden was probably situated in Mexico. Some of the so-called scientists seem to have mistaken their vocation. They should have devoted their lives to romance.

It is not generally known that one British regiment has been in mourning for more than a century. This is the old Forty-seventh, the Loyal North Lancashire regiment. The officers wear black blended with the gold braid in memory of Gen. Wolfe, who was killed at Quebec.

Among the odd changes brought about by the succession of King Edward VII. is that while Victoria's face on British gold coins looked to the left King Edward's looks to the right. This is in accordance with a long-established custom that makes each successive sovereign face the opposite way on the coins from his or her predecessor.

The present-day tendency to create commissions to examine and license doctors, dentists, architects, barbers, etc., leads the Boston Advertiser to ask why not examine legislators and allow no man to engage in law making without a duly certified license or certificate of fitness. The suggestion will probably strike the average legislator as very impertinent.

It is believed by many that the dry climate of southern Oklahoma and the southern district of Indian territory is going to make all that section the home of the finest grades of cotton. During the season it has developed that the cotton grown in the Choctaw nation was of an extra good fiber, grading above the average and in great demand for export. A great deal has been shipped to Germany and England.

Congressman Hoffecker, of Delaware, says that on the Delaware-Maryland peninsula there are two families named Day and Sunday, the former having seven daughters and the latter an equal number of sons. Five of the Day girls have been married to a quintet of the Sunday boys, another wedding between the families is soon to be solemnized, and Mr. Hoffecker is of opinion that every Day will be Sunday by and by.

The duke of Cannaught, who has been given the position of grand master of the English free masons, an office relinquished by King Edward, is the king's only brother. As a boy he was known as Prince Arthur, and under that title studied at Woolwich, entering when he was 16 and moving forward until at 21 he was a captain. The duke is now 51 years old. From parliament he receives an annual grant of $125,000 just to keep the wolf from the door.

It required 27 years of hard work to measure across the continent the arc of the thirty-ninth parallel of latitude. The length of the arc is 2,625 miles, and it passes through 16 states. Work on the geodetic triangulation to measure the arc was begun in 1872, and the results have just been published. As the establishment of this base line permits the verification of all previous surveys of our territory, it is probably worth all the time spent on it.

Bouillabaise has become popular in New York French restaurants and people with chafing dishes are experimenting upon it at home. The recipe, as given by a French chef, is a wonderful affair, comprising salt, bay leaf, lemon, tomatoes, saffron, white wine and dry toast, along with olive oil, garlic, onions, cloves, peppercorns and lobster, eel or some other kind of fish. It is a wonderful concoction and Thackeray has much to answer for in popularizing it by his famous ballad.

The first industrial and manual training school in the Philippines has begun in the city of Dumanguette, on the island of Negros. The building, which is of two stories, the first of stone and the second of wood, is due to the generosity of H. B. Sillman, of New York, who gave $10,000. The young Filipinos are to be taught carpentering, iron work, etc., and 100 acres of land have been bought on which to teach them agriculture. The school is in charge of Rev. Leon C. Hill, a Princeton graduate. Dumanguette citizens are delighted.

Inclement weather in Washington on the fourth of March has more than once started a movement to change the date of inauguration day to April 30, which was the date of Washington's first inauguration. An amendment to the constitution changing the date to April 30 has twice been formally proposed and has passed the senate, but failed of adoption in the house of representatives. The American people adhere very reverently to the precedents established by the fathers, and agitation for a change of date is not likely to prevail.

The population of Indian territory by nations and reservations, as announced, shows that the population of the territory in 1900 was 391,960, against 180,182 in 1890, an increase during the decade of 211,778. These totals include the entire population of the territory, both Indians and others. No general enumeration of the population of Indian territory was made at any census prior to 1890. The total land surface of the territory is, approximately, 31,000 square miles, the average number of persons to the square mile being 12.6.

FATAL STORMS.

Cyclone Passes Through Texas Killing and Injuring Many—In Other States.

Will's Point, Tex., March 11.—A cyclone passed through the west side of this town at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, demolishing everything in its track. Eight persons are dead and about 20 injured, many of these fatally. Fourteen dweling houses were entirely ruined and a number of others are badly wrecked. The property loss in Will's Point is estimated at $75,000 and in Van Zandt and surrounding country districts at $100,000.

The storm did great damage in the country districts, southwest and northeast of Will's Point, and it is feared that many lives have been lost in the farming communities and villages.

The storm section extends into Arkansas, Louisiana and up the Mississippi valley nearly to Memphis in regions almost without wire or rail. Telegraph companies are finding it difficult to gather details of the storm, but enough is known on which to base estimates of property losses approximating $1,000,000 to the southeastern farming and other interests, and at least a score of persons dead.

Little Rock, Ark., March 12.—Reports from over the state show that the storm which swept over this state Saturday night was far greater than anticipated. Thus far there are 16 deaths reported.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 11.—Dispatches to the Herald from various points in western Michigan indicate that the wind, sleet and rainstorm of Saturday night almost paralyzed the state telephone service. Thousands of dollars' damage was caused by the storm.

Chicago, March 11.—A storm of wind, rain and sleet played havoc with telephone and telegraph wires and poles in this city Saturday night. All suburban lines of the Chicago Telephone company were put out of service. The damage to property is estimated at $240,000.

Owensboro, Ky., March 11.—A cloudburst here Saturday night did great damage. The streets in many places were washed out threatening many buildings.

A BOILER BURSTS.

Terrible Explosion in a Laundry in Chicago Kills Eight and Injures Scores.

Chicago, March 12.—By the terrific explosion of an old second-hand boiler that had been inspected only once in four years the Doremus laundry building at 458 West Madison street was blown to pieces shortly after eight o'clock Monday morning. Nearly two score persons were buried in the debris. Eight bodies taken from the ruins are at the county morgue, while the injured list runs well up toward 50. Eight persons are still missing, and their bodies are supposed to be in the ruins. Abraham F. Doremus, general manager of the laundry, is in the hands of the police. The dead are George Pihl, Catherine Kelly, Minnie Olson, Frank Hannemann, Bessie Kucaba, Katheryne Voss, Martha Jocobi, Emma Sebreska.

The Doremus laundry was one of the sublaundries of the Sanitary Laundry company. It was on the south side of Madison street, between Loomis and Throop streets, and 65 persons, mostly women, were employed in the establishment. As near as could be learned all but four or five of the employes were at their places at eight o'clock.

The shock of the explosion was felt for nearly a mile in every direction. Buildings on both sides of Madison street, in Throop street and Waverly place were shaken to their foundations. Scores of plate glass windows were shattered, while the sashes of smaller windows were left without a piece of glass in them.

CASHIER DISAPPEARS.

Failure of the Niles (Mich.) National Bank Causes a Stir—Receiver Appointed.

Niles, Mich., March 11.—The whereabouts of Cashier Johnson, of the First national bank, which closed its doors Friday, is unknown. The other officials of the bank do not know where he is. The people here who are depositors of the bank are highly excited.

Washington, March 11.—A telegram was received by the comptroller of the currency Saturday morning announcing the failure of the First national bank at Niles, Mich. National Bank Examiner Joseph W. Selden has been appointed temporary receiver.

The following is a statement of the condition of the bank at the close of business on February 5, 1901, as shown by its report to the comptroller: Capital stock, $100,000; surplus and undivided profits, $24,777; circulation, $100,000; dividends unpaid, $885; individual deposits, $387,482; total liabilities, $613,504.

Scale Agreed To.

Springfield, Ill., March 8.—After a deadlock of several days and in the longest convention ever held by the miners and operators of Illinois the state mining scale for the coming year was agreed to Thursday night by subscale committees, when the miners accepted a scale of 42 cents in Williamson county, three cents less than they had demanded. This agreement, however, may be subject to change at the convention next year. The remainder of the state scale will remain the same as last year.

The President's Trip.

Washington, March 11.—The president announced Saturday to a committee of Californians that he would visit the coast this spring for the launching of the battleship Ohio. According to present plans the president and his party, including his cabinet, will leave Washington on April 28 and make a long tour, visiting many points.

Dewey Receives Prize Money.

Washington, March 8.—The treasury department has issued a warrant in favor of Admiral George Dewey for $9,570 on account of prize money found to be due him from the court of claims for the destruction of the Spanish fleet in Manila harbor May 1, 1898.

REJECTS TREATY.

Great Britain Declines to Accept Senate Amendments to Hay-Pauncefote Pact.

Washington, March 12.—The answer of the British government to the amendment to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, made by the senate, was received by the British ambassador and communicated to Secretary Hay. The contents of the document have not yet been made public, but it probably reflects the earnest wishes of the British government to have the Nicaraguan waterway international in character, instead of confined to the United States.

The British answer is a dignified but complete rejection of the senate amendments and it leaves upon the United States government the responsibility for any further action that may be deemed expedient.

Briefly speaking, the amendments to which Great Britain has taken objection are as follows:

1. The United States reserves the right to protect the canal.

2. The acceptance of the amended treaty by the English government will be an acknowledgment that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty is superseded.

3. The acceptance of the amended treaty by the English government will also mean that the United States may go ahead and construct the canal without the ratification of the treaty by other nations.

The effect of the British answer cannot be to restore the life of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, so far as now appears. That document had a distinct limitation within which it could be ratified, and no doubt seems to exist among officials that the period expired when the senate adjourned. The answer is chiefly important, therefore, as making clear the attitude of the British government alongside the attitude of the American government. With the two positions thus clearly defined it remains to be seen whether the United States government will carry on such further negotiations as may reconcile differences and bring about a common ground of action.

INDUCEMENTS TO INSURGENTS

Terms of Gen. MacArthur to Rebels Who Will Give Up Their Arms.

Manila, March 8.—Additional inducements have been made to the insurgents to surrender their guns. Gen. MacArthur has directed all department commanders to release one prisoner for every rifle surrendered. An insurgent who surrenders his gun will be permitted to name the prisoner to be released, provided no exceptional circumstances require this man's detention, in which case another selection will be allowed.

It is rumored in the local press that the Carman case will be referred to Washington and that a statement on certain matters concerning the case will be obtained from Maj. Gen. Otis.

The federalists report that as a result of the negotiations with the insurgent general, Trias, who is in southern Luzon, Trias will probably soon surrender.

Washington, March 12.—The following cablegram has just been received from Gen. MacArthur at Manila:

"Gen. Marian de Dios, four officers, 57 men uniformed and armed, surrendered at Naic. This is regarded as very important and indicating the collapse of the insurrection. The territory heretofore was obstinately defended. The conditions throughout the entire archipelago are very encouraging. Captures and surrender of arms continue. Thirty-one hundred and sixty-eight arms surrendered and captured since January 1.

"MACARTHUR."

STEYN WEAKENING.

He Is Said to Have Admitted That There Was No Chance of Regaining the Country.

London, March 12.—The Times has received the following from Bloemfontein: "Boers who have surrendered here say that Mr. Steyn, in a recent speech at Philippolis, admitted that there now was no chance of regaining the country."

London, March 11.—The Times publishes the following dispatch from Aasvogel kop, March 9: Gen. De Wet has escaped northward by a forced march with 400 men. His objective is believed to be the vicinity of Kroonstadt. Now that Gen De Wet is back in his own country it will be almost impossible to operate against him. Just as soon as he is pressed his commando dissolves, to meet again a few days later. Only a few bands of Boers are now left in Cape Colony.

Bloemfontein, March 12.—Gen. De Wet is reported to be moving northward steadily, at the rate of 25 miles a day, with a view of crossing the railway to the eastward. He should now be west of Kroonstadt. Several small commandoes are in possession of the southeastern portion of the Orange River colony, from which the garrisons of De Wetsdorp, Wepener, Smithfield and Rouxville have been withdrawn.

Indiana Assembly Adjourns.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—The Sixty-second general assembly of Indiana closed Monday night. Among the laws enacted were a primary election law, an anti-lynching bill which forfeits the office of sheriff in charge of the lynched prisoner till he proves to the governor he used all possible precautions to save his prisoner and a law punishing kidnapers for ransom with death in extreme cases and with from ten years to life imprisonment in other cases.

Senate Adjourns Sine Die.

Washington, March 11.—With an executive session of an hour and a quarter's duration the extra session of the senate called by President McKinley came to an end at 1:55 p. m. Saturday and an adjournment sine die was taken. The extra session covered six days and practically no business was transacted except that of an executive character, the president having summoned the senators solely for that purpose.

Declines an Honor.

Berlin, March 11.—It is reported in court circles that Earl Roberts "thankfully returned" to Emperor William the insignia of the Order of the Black Eagle, conferred at the time of the kaiser's visit to England, after noticing the unfavorable comment in the German press upon the bestowal of the honor.

CATARRH THIRTY YEARS.

A Remarkable Experience of a Prominent Statesman.

CONGRESSMAN MEEKISON GIVES PE-RU-NA A HIGH ENDORSEMENT.

CONGRESSMAN MEEKISON, OF OHIO.

Hon. David Meekison is well known, not only in his own State, but throughout America. He began his political career by serving four consecutive terms as Mayor of the town in which he lives, during which time he became widely known as the founder of the Meekison Bank of Napoleon, Ohio. He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the State.

Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman. Catarrh with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unconquered foe. For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against this personal enemy. At last Pe-ru-na came to the rescue, and he dictated the following letter to Dr. Hartman as the result:

"I have used several bottles of Pe-ru-na and feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be able to fully eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing. Yours truly,

"David Meekison."

Many people can tolerate slight catarrhal affections. A little hoarseness, a slight cough, a cold in the head, or a trifling derangement of the digestive organs, do not much disturb the average person in his business. But this is not true of the public speaker or stage artist. His voice must always be clear, lungs perfect, digestion undisturbed. Hence the popularity of Pe-ru-na among the leading actors and actresses of this country. They have come to regard Pe-ru-na as indispensable to their success. Their profession is so exacting that it requires perfect health in every particular. They regard Pe-ru-na as their friend and safeguard. Many letters are received from this class of people.

Miss Carrie Thomas.

Miss Carrie Thomas, in speaking of Pe-ru-na, says: "I have used Pe-ru-na with splendid results. Would not be without it. No money would hire me to have a settled cold or chronic cough, or hoarseness. Catarrh is the most dreadful thing that could happen to one of my profession. Pe-ru-na is my shield and protector against this most undesirable disease."—Carrie Thomas.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Pe-ru-na, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Sciatica

It Is a Good Thing.

Everyone should be glad to say a good word for an article that deserves it, which accounts for the universal endorsement of the Sterling Remedy Co., makers of the famous Cascarets. Within five years the sale of Cascarets has grown from a single box until last year it reached the enormous sale of over 6,000,000 boxes. This is a matter of pride to newspaper men because Cascarets has been very largely and persistently advertised in newspapers for a number of years, and it shows that advertising of the right kind will certainly bring success. All druggists report an enormous demand for Cascarets that is steadily increasing. They are put up in convenient form and the prices are 10c., 25c., and 50c. a box. A 50c. box is enough for one month's treatment. Anyone who has the slightest liver or bowel trouble is urged to give them a trial.

ANCIENTS HAD SENSE.

Dated Beginning of Year from Opening of Spring

When All Things in Nature Start Afresh.

Some Other Things in Which the Ancients Have Given Us Points.

The ancients began their year with the advent of spring. How much more appropriate thus to begin the New Year with the new life of nature in the awakening spring. At this season all processes throughout the natural world start afresh.

The ancients also showed their sagacity and appreciation of the great changes and active processes of springtime, by realizing that this is also the time for renewed life and energy in the human system. They well knew that the blood should be cleansed from impurities and the nerves re-invigorated at this season. Hence the establishment of the custom of taking a good spring medicine.

This most sensible and healthy custom is followed by almost everybody at the present day, few people of intelligence venturing to go through this trying time of change from winter to summer without taking a spring medicine.

The unanimity on this subject is a settled fact; the only question heretofore has been in regard to what is the best thing to take. The people have now become unanimous in their decision that as a spring tonic and restorative, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is pre-eminently the best.

MR. STOUGHTON L. FARNHAM.

Year after year Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy has proved itself the surest, most positive and reliable remedy. Made from pure vegetable medicines, it invariably cleanses, purifies and enriches the blood, making the blood rich and red, and at the same time, by its invigorating effects, giving strength, power, vitality and energy to the nerves.

In fact, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy has proved itself the most perfect of medicines and just what everybody needs for a spring remedy. Try it this spring.

Mr. Stoughton L. Farnham of Manchester, N. H., says:

"Some time ago I was troubled with lassitude and a feeling of fatigue. I did not have the ambition to do anything that demanded unusual physical exertion.

"I was recommended by a friend to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I took two or three bottles and am prepared to say that it did me good. I can recommend it as a tonic, as I know it helped me."

Remember Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is recommended by physicians, in fact, it is a physician's prescription, the discovery of the well-known specialist in nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. 14th St., New York City, who can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

Bills are Being Rapidly Introduced and Sent on Their Way by the Committee of the Whole. But Few Have Become Laws.

St. Paul, March 6.—A portion of the legislature visited Owatonna yesterday to inspect the school for dependent children, and another crowd went to Stillwater to inspect the state prison, so that while there was a seeming air of industry in the legislature nothing was settled concerning which there is any controversy. The senate bill providing for public meetings in school districts to discuss political questions was killed. Senator Knatvold offered a bill extending the primary election law all over the state. A bill to amend the Grindeland law was introduced, requiring all shippers of produce or grain to make complaints within sixty days or be forever barred from doing so.

The senate committee on illuminating oils voted to report the bill for the relief of the Standard Oil company without recommendation, and the finance committee reported a recommendation for its passage. The bill cuts off the fees for inspecting oil.

The house passed all the bills on the calendar, because they happened to be of minor importance and uncontested. The bill to increase the pay of jurymen from $1 to $1.50 was indefinitely postponed.

The action of the republican caucus was in favor of cutting down the session twenty days and adjourning on April 5. It does not follow from this, however, that anything of the kind will occur. The unexpected sometimes happens, but oftener it don't.

St. Paul, March 7.—The senate devoted yesterday to visiting the state university, and only 68 members of the house put in an appearance, the remainder being absent visiting various public institutions in the state. Consequently the legislative business was substantialy nothing. The house passed one bill and discussed quite a number of others of minor importance.

The committee on appropriations introduced a substitute for the Pan-American bill, appropriating $20,000 instead of $50,000 for the exposition. It provides for five commissioners instead of seven, who are to serve without compensation, but they are given $300 for railroad fare and hotel bills.

The officers of the various public institutions are making a combined attack on the committees to defeat the proposed board of control bill. If that should pass there would be a new deal in every public institution in the state.

The senate having passed the resolution to adjourn on April 5, the house is talking of holding it up until the senate passes some of the pending house bills, which might be lost for lack of time if the session should be shortened.

St. Paul, March 8.—A bill was offered in the senate for the relief of divorced wives. If alimony has been awarded the wife which is insufficient to support herself and children, the court may allow her additional alimony, not exceeding one-third of the personal property and real estate of her husband. This does not apply if the woman has been found guilty of adultery.

Another bill offered in the senate permits towns to accept gifts from Carnegie for public libraries. If that bill passes, Carnegie can distribute his millions in Minnesota without opposition.

There is a great deal of trouble over the drainage bills, there being two or three pending in each house and a new one was offered in the senate yesterday. The trouble is that there is not money enough to drain all the lands that require it and each member wants to secure his share of the funds for his district. As some districts will have to be left out entirely it makes the contest over the bills a hot one.

The senate unanimosly passed the bill granting $1,000,000 extra for completing the state capital.

There is to be a big fight over the re-apportionment of the congressional districts. Hennepin county is the storm center. It wants Hennipin county divided on the river, placing East Minneapolis in a separate district with Chisago, Kanabec, Isanti, Anoka, Mille Lacs, Benton, Sherburne, Wright and Stearns counties to make a district. The west side of Hennepin county is to be another district so that Minneapolis could have two members of congress if the outside counties would permit her to take the candidate on the East Side.

The bill appropriating $20,000 for the Pan-American exposition display from Minnesota passed the house under suspension of the rules. Another drainage bill was offered in the house. Each senator and representative from northern Minnesota needs to introduce a drainage bill, or else his constituents will get left.

St. Paul March 9.—The oil inspection bill has passed the senate, with an amendment delaying its taking effect until after the term of the present incumbent (Fred Schiffman) expires. The author of the bill, Representative Hurd, was after Schiffmann's scalp, and consequently, while he gets the bill the other fellow gets the game. The Hastings and Anoka insane asylums cropped up in the shape of a bill appropriating $200,000 for new buildings.

The bill allowing life prisoners to be paroled from the penitentiary has passed the house. The friends of the bill made no concealment of the fact that it was designed to release the Younger brothers. As the senate two years ago refused to pass a somewhat similar bill, there is no certainty that the proposed act will become a law.

Hennepin county received a backset in the house. The new reapportionment bill proposed by Hennepin county, putting the east and west portions of Hennepin county in separate congressional districts, was voted down, and the original bill, as reported by the committee, was passed by 82 to 31.

At the session of the senate the committee bill was also passed, with one or two inconsequential amendments by a vote of 42 to 8.

It is ominous that the house refuses to pass the senate resolution for an adjournment on April 5. Action has been postponed for a week in order to force the senate to pass house bills, and when the week is up some other excuse will probably be found for further postponement.

St. Paul, March 11.—The senate seems to have waked up to the fact that the medical fraternity are asking altogether too much, and consequently killed off a lot of their bills. They have been asking regulations on almost everything, with a view of keeping new men from entering the profession.

The senate passed the house bill appropriating $20,000 for the display of Minnesota products at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo. There are three commissioners and a superintendent to attend to the disbursement.

The reapportionment bill was changed a just a trifle in the senate, and now it has gone to a conference committee to see if the two houses can be brought together. The house seems a little obstinate and determined to stick to its original bill.

The usual baking powder bill bobbed up in the house. It requires all the ingredients to be printed in plain English on the label placed upon each package, and imposes a maximum fine of $100 or imprisonment for 30 days for violation of the law.

The effort to repeal the corrupt practices act failed, and the bill to do so was indefinitely postponed.

St. Paul, March 12.—Legislative proceedings yesterday had no element of interest. The senate sssion began at 2 p. m., but no business of public concern transpired.

At the morning session of the house the Umland bill, providing that divorced persons shall not re-marry until six months after decree, passed, receiving 61 votes, one more than the required number, 18 votes being cast in opposition.

The bill providing for a state highway commission was killed by the house on the advice of the appropriations committee.

At the afternoon session of the house a resolution was offered by Mr. Hurd of Ramsey for a committee of three to investigate the fees received by fee state officers, and particularly the oil inspection fees, the committee to have power to send for papers and persons.

The Hickey amendment to the primary election law, proposing to strike out the section of the Dunn bill requiring the voter to declare his party, was lost in the house by a large majority.

The joint conference committee on the reapportionment bill is scheduled to meet this evening.

The bill authorizing the sale of the so-called "capitol" lands in Kandiyohi county was passed by the house, much to the relief of that body.

GUARD THE ROYAL JEWELS.

When They Are Not in Pawn the Valuables of Monarchs Are Closely Watched.

Royal people are much given to the accumulation of jewels of great price, and they take especial care that these baubles are not stolen. Many of the so-called "crown jewels" which are shown to visitors to the Tower of London are "paste," the real gems being secured in strong vaults in iron-bound boxes. The jewels of the Russian imperial family form one of the most valuable collections in the world. This collection is guarded in a fortified castle watched over by a special detail of 180 retired officers and a body of soldiers. For this service they are well paid. No officer who in his days of active service was addicted to gambling or to extravagance can ever hope to be selected as one of the custodians of the imperial jewels. The czar keeps a portion of his own private jewels in banks in London and Paris, so that in case a revolution should break out in St. Petersburg he would have an "anchor to windward" in the two foreign capitals.

The treasures of the royal family of Italy are hidden away in deep vaults beneath a fort situated on a little island in the Tiber. Protected by the old and muddy stream overhead and the military on the island, the jewels are beyond the dreams of even the most daring and sanguine of burglars.

The prince of Bulgaria is possessed of precious stones to the value of $5,000,000. These he keeps locked in a little castle on the banks of the Danube. King Milan of Servia kept such of his jewels as are not in pawn in London and Paris banks. A ruby necklace belonging to the king is said to be in pawn for $160,000. Some of the jewels belonging to the German imperial family are kept in London banks like those of the czar.

Lives of English Kings.

The four Norman kings of England averaged 55 years, the eight Plantagenets 53. The Wars of the Roses shortened life in the succeeding dynasties, the three Lancastrian kings averaging 43 years, and the three of York only 30. The five Tudor sovereigns averaged 48, and the six Stuarts 52. With the accession of the house of Hanover the average increased enormously, the six sovereigns of the present dynasty averaging 74 years. Their average reign is also the longest, being over 31 years, the Plantagenets being next with 30.

The School Children.

The report of the state department of public institution to the bureau of education, department of interior, for the school year ending July 31, will be sent to Washington very soon. It is substantially as follows:

Legal school age for free attendance, from 5 to 21 years; for compulsory attendance, from 8 to 16 years: number of pupils enroled on the school register (excluding duplicates on the re-enrollment), total 399,207; average daily attendance, 243,224; average number of days the public school were kept, 169; number of buildings used as schoolhouses, 7,803; estimated value of school property, $16,101,029; teachers employes, males, 2,052; females, 8,534; total, 10,586; average monthly salaries of teachers, males, $47.86; females $35.20; average of all, $37.66.

Fell With a Crash.

The heavy steel smokestack on the Cedar street side of the Ramsey county jail in St. Paul fell to the street. For some time it was considered unsafe for Cedar street travel, commission after commission having condemned it. It had long been considered a public menace, but no precautions had been taken to insure public safety. The mass of iron struck the two trolley wires in the center of the street and the air was filled with mud and electric signals, while for a block there was a snapping of insulators and guy wires as the tension increased. An interurban car filled with passengers had just turned from Wabasha street, but the brakes were applied in time.

Gold Excitement.

Considerable excitement has been occasioned by the discovery of gold in the new railroad line at the new location of the village of Tenstrike, half way between Bemidji and Blackduck.

While blasting, the attention of the foreman was attracted to the peculiarity of the rocks which, upon examination, were declared to be excellent specimens of gold. It is stated that nearly four ounces of gold were obtained by several men in one evening as a result of a crude process of washing. Samples have already been sent to the state department for analysis.

There is talk of a company being organized for the purpose of developing the find if it is found to amount to anything.

Loyalty to His Employer.

That young man who consented to have a portion of his blood let out to save his employer, set a remarkable example of heroism. The incident shows what power there is in good blood. There is only one natural way to get good blood, and that is from the stomach. If the stomach needs assistance, try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This wonderful medicine cures dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, and makes rich red blood.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE.

It Hid a Luxuriant Suit of Straight and Very Dark Hair.

The Father of his Country concealed a luxuriant suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now wish the old fashion were in vogue, to conceal thinned hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair nor be bald, if he cure the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff cannot be cured by scouring the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ has to be killed. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparation will. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." There's no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

"Mrs. Pinkham Saved me from an Operation."

Hospitals in our great cities are sad places to visit.

Three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow-white beds are women and girls.

Why should this be the case?

Because they have neglected themselves.

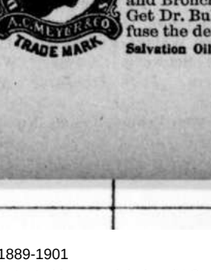
Every one of these patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at the left or right of the womb, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back. All of these things are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb.

What a terrifying thought! these poor souls are lying there on those hospital beds awaiting a fearful operation.

Do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an examination and possible operation. Build up the female system, cure the derangements which have signified themselves by danger signals, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from the hospital. Read the letter here published with the full consent of the writer, and see how she escaped the knife by a faithful reliance on Mrs. Pinkham's advice and the consistent treatment of her medicines.

Mrs. Knapp tells of her Great Gratitude.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have received much benefit from using your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. After my child was born, blood poison set in, which left me with granulated inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I had suffered from suppressed and painful menstruation from a girl. The doctors told me the ovaries would have to be removed. I took treatment two years to escape an operation, but still remained in miserable health in both body and mind, expecting to part with my reason with each coming month. After using one bottle of the Compound, I became entirely rid of the trouble in my head. I continued to use your remedies until cured.



MRS. F.M.KNAPP

"The last nine months have been passed in perfect good health. This, I know, I owe entirely to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"My gratitude is great indeed to the one to whom so many women owe their health and happiness."—MRS. F. M. KNAPP, 1528 Kinnickinnic Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

DELANO, FRIDAY, MAR. 15, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—Smallpox is reported at Rockford.

—The Epworth League enjoyed a sleighride Thursday evening

C. M. Conzet has a nice piano harp will sell, trade or give it to the right party. Call and see it.

—We received this morning the seventh annual report of the Inspector of High Schools, for year ending July 31, 1900.

—The last smalpox patient at the McRoberts house has recovered and fumigation is being done, preparatory to raising quarantine.

—A music recital, the sixth in number, tendered by Miss Isia Kerr took place Wednesday evening at the City Hall, and was well attended.

—The Village election held in the Council room passed of very quietly there being no contest except for Treasurer and Street Commissioner.

—The Township election was held in the City Hall. Considerable electioneering was done for several of the offices, and on the bridge question.

—The St. Cecelia Club gave an entertainment at the City Hall, on Wednesday evening These entertainments are much enjoyed by Delano's lovers of music.

—Election day started in fair, and warm, but afternoon quite a severe snow storm set in, the ground being more deeply covered before morning than at any time during the winter; probably 7 inches of snow falling.

—Undertaker Redmond gave a sleighride to a dozen or so of the married ladies in the village yesterday afternoon. He had a double box bob sleigh load. They were a lively lot, and it was supposed to be the last sleighride of the season. It was certainly a big undertaking.

—On Wednesday evening the Delano Territorial Association met at William Lewis', and enjoyed a pleasant time. The constitution was adopted and new members added to the roll. The next meeting is appointed to be at J. D. Young's on Thursday evening, March 28.

—From last weeks papers we learn that boys throng the platform at the depot when trains arrive and annoy the passengers, snd risk their own limbs and lives, by jumping on and off of moving trains. These things should be stopped: there are laws which, enforced would stop them. While on the subject it might be well to include enforcing the laws prohibiting boys frequenting saloons and indulging in cigaretts and a few more evils. Boys make men and their morals need looking after as well as their bodies. Home discipline has grown too lax in most instances, necessitating the help of village, county or other laws. If children could, properly brought up at home it would obviate so much outside help: often their parents set them bad examples.

Conzet and Darrow have another shipment of 300 of those fine Deer hair sweat pads on the way from E. L. McLain, Greenfield, Ohio, they take no pains in finding the best factory and have them made to order to suit their trade. Don't buy a poor pad when you can get the best for a trifle more it is far the cheapest.

High School Vote.

There were 24 ballots cast for election as follows:

Mayor, Adam Horsch 9, J. P. O'Connor 8; trustees, C. M Conzet 11, I. Gutzwiller, Jr. 9, Ed. Ziebarth 9; recorder, Fred Kespohl, 9; treasurer, L. P. Probst, 17; justice of the peace, R. M. Walter 13; constables, Joseph Merriman, 16, Chas. Belt, 16; assessor, Valentiue Eppel, 12, Marshal, Joseph Merriman, 11; street commissioner, Darv Welker, 10.

Vaccinated By Wholesale.

Charles Sallard was discovered to be afflicted with smallpox in the police court yesterday morning, and before they were allowed to leave the room, the one hundred persons present at the time were vaccinated by the health commissioner and his assistants.

After every one had been vaccinated, the room was thoroughly fumigated. All of the clothing worn by Sallard was removed, and, after being wrapped in a blanket, he was taken up to the jail by Capt. Alexander and E Finn, conductor of the elevator, after which he was given a bath in bichloride of mercury.—Globe.

A Patron's Statement.

C. O. Nygren, of Greenleaf, reports his creamery earnings for 1900 at $504, 44 from 12 cows and one heifer. This is the amont received from the creamery during the year in cash and butter. Allowing the one heifer $24 40 for her milk, the other twelve cows averaged $40 each for the year. His cows are grade Shortborns. He delivered during the year 59,570 pounds of milk, and his varied from 3.6 to 4.1. Mr. Nygren says he fed during the year 3 tons of bran, and an equal weight of ground corn and barley. For roughage he feeds meadow hay and corn fodder. This is a good showing, and one that not every creamery patron can equal. We would like to have reports from other farmers along the same line.—Litchfield Independent.

A Social Event.

A very enjoyable "Wednesday afternoon was given by Mrs. T. B. Rader to a number of her lady friends, at her spacious home on third street, for Mrs. Rhuberg of North Dakota.

The color scheme in pink was uniquely carried out.

The shades were drawn and geraniums were in profusion. The usual game of cinch was indulged in for which partners were selected by corresponding Mother Goose rhymes written on neat cards tied with pink ribbon those representing the gentlemen being numbered.

For two hours the game waxed warm, each striving to capture one of the two dainty prizes offered. Mrs. Knoll won the first prize while Mrs Shrader and Mrs. Wittman were tied for the second, chance awarding it to Mrs. Wittman.

During the game choice candies were served by Miss Vera, while Master Clarence attended to perforating the cards. At the close of the game delicious refreshments were served infour courses, the color being observedas closely as the nature of the viands would permit.

After luncheon Mrs Wittman and Miss Young rendered some choice musicial selections.

The hostess was assisted by Misses Weber, Murphy and Young.

At six o'clock each took her departure with expressions of gratitude to Mrs. Rader and many kindly wishes to Mrs. Rhuberg whose pleasing manner quite captivated their hearts.

JACKSON: At Howard Lake, on Tuesday, March 5, David F. Jackson, aged 86 years.

Deceased was a prominent Democrat and was Post Master of Howard Lake under Clevelands administration. He belonged to the Masonic fratgrnity and the Presbyterian Church.

Andrew Jackson.

The one hundred and thirty fourth birthday anniversary of Andrew Jackson will fall on Friday, March 15.

Jackson was the son of Scotch Irish parents, and was born near the division line of the two Carolinas. He was born to poverty, but had a certain endowment of a certain kind, described by a former schoolmate in a very graphic way. "I could throw him three times out of four," said this relator, "but he would never stay throwed." That presistent refusal to "stay throwed" carried Andrew Jackson through many a hard struggle and finally rewarded him with two terms in the highest position possible to an American citizen.

It has been said that Jackson became President because there was no telegraph to tell him that England and the United States came to terms two weeks before he fought the battle of New Orleans. At any rate he went into office a military hero and came out with a popularity still sufficiently undimmed to account for a great many enthusiastic "Jacksonian Democrats." That his adherence to the policy of spoils for the victors accounts for a good deal of this popularity with throrough going partisans cannot be doubted. However, offsetting his promotion of the spoils evil is his great public service in the suppression of the early nullification movement, and in resisting the "money power" with prophetic foresight of its dangers to the Republic.

Jackson was one of our three Presidents of more than six feet in height. He is one of the nine recorded as re elected His figure is that of a rugged, self-willed, audaciousmaker of history whose imperious abuse of power is discussed to day almost with the same affectionate interest as his patriotic use of it.

And yet it was Jackson—"By the Eternal" Jackson — soldier, duelist, autocratic Democrat though he was, who said upon returning home after setting up a provisional government in Florida in 1841 underauthority far more restricted and limited than that just granted by Congress to President McKinley in the Philippines:

I am clothed with powers which no one under a republic ought to possess, and which I trust will never be again given to any man. Nothing will give me more happiness than to learn that Congress in its wisdom shall have distributed them properly and in such a manneras is consonant to our earliest and deepest convictions. — Thrice a week World.

MICE QUICK TO LEARN.

So Says a Maine Man Who Finds Them Interesting Pets.

Out on Forest avenue is a mouse fancier whose residence, lest he lose caste with his neighbors, is withheld. In a pen he has half a dozen or so ordinary field mice.

"They are the most sociable pets I ever had," he remarked, "and any one of them will rise to attention as he hears my step approach the pen. I have had these young ones about six months. They don't live long when cooped up, and they will come freely to my hand to eat or drink. Some of them are so tame that they will climb to my shoulder and display not the slightest alarm at being touched. They haven't acquired so much faith in all humanity, however, and have refused to trust any one else so far.

"While mice eat a great deal for an animal so small when food is abundant, they can exist for a surprising long time with next to nothing. Any one whose house has been invested with mice and who had passed weary weeks when everything that possibly could serve as food was carefully under lock and key, finally calling to service an active ferret, will appreciate this fact. He is a mighty aggressive and tireless forager after food, not hesitating at walls or similar obstructions, through which he patiently gnaws a path. As a test of persistence in this line I hung a basket of food from the ceiling by a rope and after a week's fast placed a mouse at a hole in the ceiling above the basket. He descended some eight feet or more on a slender cord and safely reached his haven, later climbing up again.

"All of my mice I have taken from nests about the premises and notice that they invariably seek shelter below or behind something, never in so exposed a locality as almost any other animal would select. For a nest paper, cloth or any soft material seems to satisfy, and the exceeding fineness with which it is chopped suggests some mighty artistic work with their teeth."—Portland Express.

A VERY PARTICULAR BIRD.

If the Bathing Dish Didn't Suit Him, He Went Unwashed.

"Birds have as much character as human beings," said a specialist on birds. "Some are the most arrant little aristocrats, while others are regular little plebeians. I had a little fellow some time ago who, despite all my efforts, would not bathe. Each morning when, with his white porcelain tub in my hand, I approached his cage, he would resolve himself into the sulkiest, drearest little ball of feathers you can possibly imagine. I coaxed and pleaded; I even bribed. Bathe he would not. So consistent was he in his determination not to bathe that I named him Tramp. One morning I broke the tub, and in its place I took a shallow blue and white dish of Japanese ware. Tramp eyed me for a moment with all his old hostility, and then as he caught sight of the pretty dish he flew down from his perch with chirps of joy and darted into the water before I could take my hand from the cage.

"I had found the way to his heart, and his morning bath now became a daily source of joy to both of us. But ont fatal morning I broke the blue and white dish. In an apologetic manner I brought to Tramp once more the regulation white bath dish, hoping that his cleanly habits were by this time so ingrained that he would overlook the profane appearance of his tub. Not so. An angry flutter of wings, a threatening little beak, a perfect tempest of shrill cheeps and twitterings and then sulky silence on the topmost perch.

"So it went on till I secured another blue and white dish and then peace and harmony and morning baths again."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

A POKER FAIRY TALE

Manxy Displayed Wonderful Powers of Perception and Analysis, Won the Pool and Saved His Opponent the Amount of the Last Raise.

"Manxy was one of the best poker players I ever saw. He was a good winner and a good loser. He played his cards all the time for everything they were worth and then some more, and he played a game that was simply insoluble."

The board of trade man leaned back in his chair and smiled reminiscently.

"Manxy not only had Hoyle down so that he could recite the poker rules backward and say 'sir' after each word, but he rose to the higher science of the game. He made a careful study of every man around the board, and he never played a card but what he darted a keen, sweeping glance at every player and drew his conclusions as to what they were about to do. If a player had any little tricks or habits that asserted themselves in spite of efforts to repress them, Manxy knew them by heart.

"I will never forget the night he took Carter into camp. Carter was a good, cool, nervy player too. He was an old player and possessed splendid judgment. One night we had been playing several hours, and as it was getting toward daylight we agreed to have one more round of jack pots and then go home. We had our round of jack pots, three of which Carter won, and then decided on one last consolation jack pot, with no limit but the roof and $5 to come in. Carter raised the come in to $20, and everybody dropped out except Manxy and one other player. Manxy called for three cards, showing that he had only one pair or nothing at all; the other man took two cards, indicating that he must have threes of a kind, or else he wouldn't have paid $20 for the privilege of playing any longer, and Carter stood pat.

"That looked bad. Carter had never been known to stand pat on anything but something that was worth while. He must have had something pretty good to raise the come in to $20, and his standing pat argued that he either had fours or else a straight or a flush. He had betrayed a nervous start when he first picked up his hand, and it argued that he had seen something awfully good. Now, Manxy had seen the start that Carter gave and knew his style of play well enough to argue that Carter had seen something even better than a straight or a flush, and that was a straight flush, something that comes once in a great, long while in a poker game. In fact, Manxy came to the conclusion that Carter had a straight flush, and the fact of the matter was that a straight flush in spades, king high, was just exactly what Carter had seen in his five cards when he picked them up.

"Manxy deliberated a long time before he came in with his $20, but he was out $75 or $100 on the game, and as it was the last pot he determined to stand a good bit of money in the hopes of making a recoup. He drew to a pair of tens and caught one more. Manxy started the betting with a $10 bill. The other man dropped out, and Carter saw the $10 and raised $25. That looked as though Manxy's surmise about the straight flush which he thought Carter was holding was good. He deliberated for some time. Then he said:

"'Carter, I think and everybody around here thinks you've got something better than fours. I was playing you for that. But now I'll tell you, Carter, what I'm going to do. I've noticed that your eyesight is bad and that tobacco smoke when it is right in front of your face always interferes for a moment or two with your vision. Just as you picked up your cards I noticed that you puffed a great cloud of smoke out of your mouth and that the cloud of smoke was in your eyes when you looked at your cards. Now, I believe that you think you have a straight flush, but I don't believe that you read your cards correctly. I am going to do something that may seem to be awfully bad poker, considering the hand I have, but I am going to play you for your poor eyesight. I see your bet of $25 and raise it $25 more on the ground that your eyes deceived you. You'd better study your cards before you see my raise.'

"We all waited in breathless silence for a moment, then Carter quietly threw his cards face upward on the table.

"'You're right,' he said quietly. 'I thought I had a spade straight flush, king high, in my hand. What I thought was a nine of spades was a nine of clubs. I lose.'"—Chicago Tribune.

Steer Clear of Smoking Cars.

"I seldom advise my patients to stop smoking, because I know it's a waste of breath to do so," remarked a suburban physician yesterday. "In many cases I do advise moderation in the use of the weed, and when a patient has a weak throat there is one thing that I positively insist upon, and that is that he shall not ride in the smoking cars attached to railroad trains. Breathing that atmosphere for half an hour will do a man more injury than smoking half a dozen cigars in the open air or in a properly ventilated room that is not crowded with other smokers. Smoke if you must, I say, but steer clear of smoking cars."—Philadelphia Record.

Misread the Sign.

"But you haven't first class hair," replied the barber.—Philadelphia North American.

A MAN'S A MAN FOR A' THAT.

By ROBERT BURNS.

Is there for honest poverty.
That hangs his head, and a' that?
The coward slave, we pass him by.
We dare be poor for a' that!
For a' that, and a' that;
Our toil's obscure, and a' that;
The rank is but the guinea's stamp.
The man's the gowd for a' that.

What though on hamely fare we dine.
Wear hoddin gray, and a' that?
Gi'e fools their silks, and knaves their wine,
A man's a man for a' that;
For a' that, and a' that,
Their tinsil show and a' that—
The honest man, though e'er sae poor,
Is king o' men for a' that.

Ye see yon birkie, ca'd a lord,
What struts, and stares, and a' that;
Though hundreds worship at his word.
He's but a coof for a' that;
For a' that, and a' that—
His riband, star, and a' that—
The man of independent mind,
He looks and laughs at a' that.

A prince can mak' a belted knight,
A marquis, duke and a' that,
But an honest man's abboon his might—
Guid faith, he mauna fa' that!
For a' that, and a' that,
Their dignities, and a' that.
The pith o' sense and pride o' worth
Are higher ranks than a' that,

Then let us pray that come it may—
As come it will for a, that—
That sense and worth, o'r a' the earth,
May bear the gree and a' that,
For a' that, and a' that,
It's comin' yet for a' that—
That man to man, the warld o'er,
Shall brother be for a' that.

GEN. BOTHA of the Boer army has, it is reported, rejected the preparations offered by the English General Ketchner for peace. Some of the English press are blaming Gen. K. for initiating the negotations for peace. If these same warlike individuals were nearer to the front it is quite likely they would be still more willing than General Kitchner to initate offers of peace to the Boers. So the Boer war don't seem any nearer over now than when Lord Roberts went home. Except it is over in a bigger teritory; expanded some.

MILITARY rule in the Philippines is expected to give way to civil government about June 30. But it is expected that it will be necessary to have soldiers on hand for emergencies for some time.

MANILA, March 21.—Insurgents have attacked and burned the ungarrisoned village of Ugius in the province of South Ilcos. A detachment of the Twentieth infantry overtook and chastised the marauders.

Col. Schuyler, of the Forty-sixth Volunteer infantry, captured eight insurgent officers and 219 men at the Village at Ternate in Cavite province.

Gens. MacArthur, Wheaton and Bates reviewed the Twenty-nineth and Thirty-second regiments today.

EDITOR RICE, a boy of 19, banished from the Philippine Islands and sent home by Gen. McArthur seems destined to become more widely known than his banisher. The newspapers of all parties appear to disapprove of this action of the authorities of the distant islands, while at the same time they don't appear to think the charges made against the young editor merited any such punishment. If it is true that Rice was offered the chance to give a $1000 bond to not repeat his statements and be allowed to run his paper it would look like rather a severe punishment to banish him as a dangerous man. When he was sent away from the Philippines why wasn't he sent to Guam with the other dangerous men? Why this distinction?

SOME Republicans are already casting about for a candidate for President next term. Of course those who want an Emperor would favor Napoleon McKinley.

Nelson Indignant.

Senator Nelson is reported to be righteously indignant over what looks like an attempt to reward ex Senator Carter for defeating a Republican measure with a federal appointment. Senator Nelson had charge of the rivers and harbors bill in the Senate, and would have skillfully piloted it through had it not been for Carter's iron jaw.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Nelson might nave landed on Carter's jaw if it hadn't been so hard.

JEFFERSON'S DEMOCRACY.

A Classic Before Which McKinley Orations Fall Flat.

In formulating the democratic creed President Jefferson gave utterance to words which will live as classics long after President McKinley's hollow phrases have been forgotten and ignored. Here are some of them:

"Equal and exact justice to all men, of whatever state or pursuasion, religious or political; peace commerce and honest friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none; the support of the state governments in all their rights, as the most competent administrations for our domestic concerns and the surest bulwarks against antirepublican tendencies; the preservation of the general government in its whole constitutional vigor, as the sheet anchor of our peace at home and safety abroad; a jealous care of the right of election of the people, a mild and safe corrective of abuses which are looped off by the sword of revolution where peaceable remedies are unprovided; absolute acquiescence in the decisions of the majority, the vital principle or republics, from which is no appeal but to force, the vital principle and immediate parent of despotism; a well disciplined militia, our best reliance in peace and for the first moments of war till regulars may relieve them; supremacy of the civil over the military authority; economy in the public expense that labor may be lightly burdened; the honest payment of our debts and sacred preservation of the public faith; encouragement of agriculture and of commerce as its handmaid; the diffusion of the information and arraignment of all abuses at the bar of the public reason; freedom of religion, freedom of the press and freedom of person under protection of the habeas corpus and tried by juries impartially selected—these principles form the bright constellation which has gone before us and guided our steps through an age of revolution and reformation. The wisdom of our sages and blood of our heroes have been devoted to their attainment. They should be the creed of our political faith, the text of civic instruction, the touchstone by which to try the services of those we trust, and should we wander from them in moments of error or of alarm let us hasten to retrace our steps and to regain the road which alone leads to peace, liberty and safety.—Minneapolis Democrat.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15, 1901

Mr. McKinley has squally times ahead on the Isthmian canal question. The patronage he has at his disposal is keeping republican Senators and Representatives from publicly talking now, but that will not hold good long. He is accused of having acted in bad faith, in order to prevent the Senate passing the Nicaragua Canal bill, by withholding semi-official knowledge he had before the adjournment of Congress that the British government had decided to reject the amended Hay—Pauncefote treaty and worse yet, he is accused of standing in the ring that is trying to unload the Panama Canal on this government. The last accusation seems hard to believe, but circumstantial evidence is certainly in its favor. Whatever may have been his object — preventing the passing of the Nicaragua Canal bill is the only logical one — he did withhold until the present week the rejection of the treaty from the public. The rejection was not officially handed to Secretary Hay by the British Ambassador until early in the present week, but Secretary Hay admits that the administration knew of it before Congress adjourned. Mr. McKinley's future trouble are not likely to be lessened by his having instructed Secretary Hay, who was so completely bamboozled by Lord Pauncefote in the old treaty, to open negotiations for a new one. It is among the probabilities that the Isthmianana question will split the republican party in the near future, probably during the next session of Congress.

Some idea of the progress of American invention, which is such an important factor in our prosperity, may be obtained from the fact that a single firm of Washington patent lawyers, C. A. Snow & Co., have procured for their clients more than 22 000 patents.

It is evident that the administration isn't altogether satisfied with the reports of the situtions in Cuba, sent to Washington by Gen. Wood and other administration agents, which differ so radically from reports sent by competent and reputable correspondents of American newspapers. In order to get another view of the Cuban situation, Mr. McKinley has sent Senator Proctor as his personal and confidential representative to see what he can find out about the intentions of the Cubans. That Senator Proctor's trip was made unexpectedly by him was shown by the fact that he had called a meeting of the sub-committee of the Senate Military Committee, of which he is chairman, charged with the duty of investigating the alleged connection of Lt. Col. Heistand and a number of prominent War Department Officials with the Philippine hemp scandal, for this week, and that he left Washington without notifying the other members of the committee of his change of plans. After it was learned that Senator Proctor had gone to Cuba, Senator Hawley was made chairman of the sub committee and the investigation, which already shows the earmarks of a whitewash, was started.

Mr William J. Bryan passed through Washington this week, on his way home srom New York, where he went to get pointers for the betterment of his newspaper plant. He declined to be interviewed in politics, but said of the late ex President Harrison: "He was always respected by his political opponents as a clean, conscientious and able statesman. Those who differed from him could criticise his policies, but they could not attack his motives. His conduct after retiring from office was such as to strengthen his hold upon public esteem. The death of such a man is a distinct loss to the country.

Hon. Martin Maginnis paid this high compliment to Montana's new democratic Senator; "This state of Montana could not have settled upon a more suitable man to represent it than Paris Gibson. Mr. Gibson is a man of fine parts and a stanch democrat. He has been the best sort of a democrat all his life. He is now nearly seventy years of age; but is robust and hearty, and in full vigor of his mind. He will make, in my opinion, as good a Senator as the Commonwealth of Montana has ever had."

It seems to be the general opinion in Washington that the failure of the republican legislature of Delaware to elect two Senators will result in restoring that State to the democratic column. Speaking of the failure a well known business man of Wilmington, who was in Washington this week, said: 'The people of Delaware have become resigned. They have been for a considerable period of time with only one Senator in Congress and I suppose they can get along for a while without any. I think that Deleware has learned what it has to expect from the republicans and will be found in the democratic column the next time it has an opportunity."

Senator Depew is known as a smiling conciliator rather than a fighter, but if his own words are to be depended upon he is likely to figure as a fighter if the announced intention of Mr. McKinley to appoint Col. Sanger, of N. Y., Assistant Secretary of War, in spite of the protests of Senators Platt and Depew, be carried out. Speaking of the threats of what the administration would do if he opposed the confirmation of Col. Sanger, which have been heard in the administration circles, Mr. Depew said: "It a fight is to be declared against me in this matter I will be prepared for it, and I will fight it to the bitter end. I do not intend to sacrifice my constitutional right or responsibility through fear of losing favor with those in authority." There are reasons for the belief that Senators Platt and Depew are merely making a big bluff for the purpose of landing some appointments and that they have no idea of making a fight on Sanger.

Sherburne County Times: A. N. Dare, of Elk River Star News, is after the position of Secretary of the Railroad and Warehouse commission with a good showing of getting it. We have thought for some time that Bro. Dare was after something but did not know what. The place is a desirable one and we trust Bro. Dare will be successful.

Globe: Haven't we struck it rich, though, in the Philippines? What a bonanza we have there! The chief arugument in favor of acquiring them was their commercial value. That argument has long been relegated to the rear with last year's birds' nests. They have cost us more already than we can gain from their commerce in a life time.

THE NOTTINGHAM GALLEY.

By JOHN ALBEE.

THE Nottingham Galley, loaded with a mixed cargo of merchandise, shipped in Ireland and England, sailed for New England on a trading voyage the 25th of September, 1710. She was a vessel of 120 tons—a galley in name, not in build—carrying, as was then customary, an armament of ten guns and a crew of 14 men beside the captain, whose name was Jone Deane. She was provisioned for three months. Until the end of October she had good weather and favoring winds, and the captain reckoned that he had covered more than half his distance. In the first week of November the wind shifted to the west, and from that time on the Galley struggled against head half gales, bearing now and then for a day to northwest, which was not much better. By the last of the month they sighted the coast of Newfoundland, which they hugged as closely as they dared. The weather continued heavy, with fogs and rain and frequent thunderstorms, unusual at that season in these latitudes. But the crew was greatly cheered by the "corposants," or St. Elmo's light, appearing at the top of the masts during the storms of thunder and lightning. These lights sailors then, and indeed now, believed to be a lucky omen. The second mate, Richard Endel, a dare-devil, profane sort of fellow, said there was nothing to "them complasents"—that is the way all common sailors pronounce the word "corposants," a Spanish term meaning body of the saints. "Nothing in 'em," says Mate Endel; "n'more 'an a candle wick outen taller."

The first week in December they were off what is now the Maine coast. The fogs followed them, coming on toward evening, and only lifting for awhile at noon. It was necessary to take soundings frequently. The captain became uncertain where he was. Being unfamiliar with the coast, whenever he had a glimpse of it he knew his position no better. But on the 10th of December they were lucky enough to run accidentally into what is now Portland harbor. A small settlement at that time had been begun there, and two or three fishing smacks lay at anchor close into the shore. Capt. Deane dropped his huge anchor and went aboard one of the smacks. Then he learned his whereabouts, his distance and direction from Boston, how to keep off Boon island and inside the Isles of Shoals, and thus make Cape Ann by the shortest course.

The same night, December 10, he made sail, as he was overdue and provisions running low, and bore away for Cape Ann, which he hoped to reach by sunrise. There were in those days no lighthouses, buoys or foghorns and bells to guide or warn navigators. They trusted to the stars, the compass, the lead well greased and a sharp lookout. Before midnight the fog came on again. There was no wind, only a slight air from the eastward, drifting in the fog bank thicker and thicker. The captain set a double watch that night, and left his best officer, Endel, in command, and his longest sighted man, the Old Herring, as the lea bow lookout.

The vessel tetered along, as sailors say, carried by the set of the incoming tide and the faint breeze. It was awfully still, not a sound could be heard save the step of the nightwatch, the lap-lapping of the sleepy waves on the port bow and the occasional flapping of the sails as the helmsman lost the wind and luffed up into it again.

"I swear, Old Herring," said Mate Endel to his bow watch, "this is a jigger of a night to be you don't know where; not a lightning bug in sight. Where be your complasents now, eh?"

"Down a-forard, sir," answered the Old Herring. "I seed 'em under the bulge e'en now."

"Bulge" was the Old Herring's name for the great rounded bows of the Galley, and he had his own name for every part of her.

"Look your eye, sir; there's a-many on 'em running along the trail, a-chasin' anither like sparks agin the hob. That ar' the very bugs, ye call 'em, ye see'd aloft somewhile."

Aloft an' alow,
An' let her blow;
There's a light on the mast.
An' it's down below
So let her blow—
O—ho, O—ho.

The Old Herring sang this catch rather softly for him, for he had a voice like a deck comber in a gale. He was firmly convinced that the phosphorescent sparks of the water as the vessel plowed through it were the very same things as the corposants seen at the masthead, and both are infallible good signs.

Pretty soon the Old Herring called to Mate Endel, who was at the tiller: "Come for'ard, sir," he called, "I hearn somethin'—I hearn somethin' sown—'tisn't like these creepers 'longside; more liken breakers somewheres."

"I hear nothing," said the mate. Putting his hand to his ear he thought he did hear the low, sullen sound of breakers on the right. He ran back to his tiller and put it hard a-port. But he was too late. In a few minutes the Galley was in the midst of the breakers of Boon island, which, however calm the sea elsewhere, forever lash its desolate edges. The set of the incoming tide increased the force of the breakers, and the wind was so light the vessel did not answer her helm; and before the captain and crew could be called she was hard and fast. She lay rather easy at first, but within an hour the sharp ledge ground a hole through her bottom and she filled. It was still dark and little could be made out as to where they were, but they supposed they were on the shore of the mainland. As morning dawned the east wind began to freshen; the Galley was driven further in and the crew could see nothing but the outlines of bare rock. By means of a spar they got out upon a projecting ledge and waited for full daylight to see what was to be done. The weather soon settled everything for them. The wind increased and made it impossible for them to return to the vessel, and before sundown of that short day she had gone all to pieces. The only things they were able to save were a few planks and spars, one small piece of canvas, not much larger than a cheese cloth, and half a cheese.

They began to look about them, and to consider what direction to take to seek shelter and succor. Still supposing themselves on the mainland somewhere, what was their consternation at discovering they were on a bare, bleak island, hardly more than one acre in extent. They could dimly see land on their right, six miles away, a wild, uninhabited coast, at that date, where now is the popular seaside resort of York.

The situation at once seemed hopeless to officers and men; starvation or death from cold and exposure their almost certain fate. They had no means of kindling a fire, and nothing to burn if they had, nor any food or water. At first they tried to cheer each other up, and they prayed to God every day for rescue; four men kneeling to each point of the compass, at the captain's suggestion, and then together. Even the Old Herring and Mate Endel joined in the prayers; the mate silently, but the Old Herring could not pray so mutely; he had to mutter to himself, and often broke out into loud and hearty tones, in language almost unintelligible, yet doubtless plain to his Creator. All the while a watch was kept day and night for any passing vessel. They slept in a crevice of a ledge, somewhat sheltered from the wind, covered only by the bit of canvas they had saved, and so close together for warmth that no one could turn unless all turned. They found a little frozen water in hollows on the higher parts of the island which served to appease their thirst. The cheese was soon gone.

EVEN THE OLD HERRING AND MATE ENDEL JOINED IN THE PRAYERS.

They now subsisted entirely on kelp, the little mucilaginous bladders of rockweed, and mussels, three a day to each man.

On the fourth day the cook, Peter Salter, died. He was never a well man and succumbed quietly to cold and hunger. They buried him at low tide at the foot of the ledges, as there was not a shovelful of earth on the whole island, and covered his body with seaweed and stones.

The strain upon their enfeebled bodies began to affect their minds; famine, thirst and cold combined to change their instincts into those of savages. The weaker men were often robbed of their allotted three mussels a day, and had not the strength to fight for them.

On the last day of December the carpenter died, and the captain had scarcely authority and strength enough left to keep the body from being devoured. Two of the abler men built a small raft and attempted to reach the shore, but were lost. The company was now reduced to 11 men.

On the 4th of January of the new year, early in the afternoon, the Old Herring, who had been somewhat restored in his faculties, Heaven knew how, but his voice quite gone, came to Capt. Deane, pointing his finger toward the northwest. There was a strange, unearthly look in his eyes as he held his hand steadily in that one direction. The captain could make out nothing. He called the others; they all came and stood under the signal. No one appeared to discover anything on the horizon. He still pointed and his eyes dilated as he looked. All at once he threw up his hands and fell on his knees.

It was a sail. Soon all saw it. Slowly it came into view, going westward, and bearing apparently for Portsmouth harbor. The captain ordered the men to scatter over the island and keep moving about, waving anything they could get their hands on, if only seaweed, so as to attract attention, if possible. He himself climbed the spar and shook out the canvas and the bunch of rags. It was an hour before the vessel came distinctly into view. She did not appear to see the signals. At any rate she did not change her course. The shipwrecked men felt this was their last chance of rescue; that in a few days more they must all miserably perish, and they watched with the intensity of doomed souls. The vessel, a small unmasked fishing sloop, was now getting past the point, where, had she seen the signals, she would naturally have turned. When they saw her suddenly change her course and bear down for the island. Then they knew they were saved. They shouted and wept for joy. The Old Herring recovered his voice in an instant. But some of the men, by the sudden revulsion from the long agony, fell down in a dead faint and were so nearly lifeless that they had to be carried aboard the rescuing vessel.

HOW A PUZZLE WAS SOLVED.

When you want a certain article, you want the best make of that article, don't you?

But how to determine which make is best is what puzzles you, isn't it?

And when the puzzle is solved for you, by authority which cannot be questioned, you are pleased, aren't you?

And you would like to hear of one puzzle that has been solved for the people of the whole world, wouldn't you?

Well, we will tell you about that very puzzle, and its solution.

At the Universal Exposition of 1889 at Paris, France, the best sewing machines of the world, including those of America, were in competition. They were passed upon by a jury composed of the best foreign mechanical experts, two of whom were the leading sewing machine manufacturers of France.

This jury, after exhaustive examination and tests, adjudged that the Wheeler & Wilson machines were the best of all, and awarded that company the highest prize offered, the GRAND PRIZE, giving other companies only gold, silver and bronze medals.

The French Government, as a further recognition of superiority, decorated Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, president of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor, the most prized honor of France.

That is how the puzzle of the best sewing machine in the world was fully solved by the most competent authority in the world in favor of the No. 9 and No. 12 Wheeler & Wilson machines.

The No. 9, for family use, and the No. 12, for manufacturing uses, are the best in the world to-day.

And now, when you want a sewing machine, if you do not get the best, it will be your own fault.

Write your sewing machine dealer for the Wheeler & Wilson machine, and if he does not keep them write to us for descriptive circulars, prices and terms.

We have still unoccupied territory.

A Washington dispatch says there are more than 7,000 applications from volunteers and ex-volunteers for the 610 second lieutenancies in the new army. The public hears a good deal about Christian science nowadays, but the first step towards inculcating the science of prayer has been taken by a college in Illinois which has established a chair and provided for a two years' course in the nature, purposes and conditions of effectiveness of prayer, treating it from an historical and scientific standpoint, in order to enable Christian workers and others to better understand its true nature and scope.

Son and Daughter of the General Fail to Reach Bedside Before Death Comes—McKinley Attends the Funeral.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 14.—Gen. Harrison died at 4:45 o'clock Wednesday afternoon without regaining consciousness. His death was quiet and painless, there being a gradual sinking until the end came, which was marked by a single gasp for breath as life departed from the body of the great statesman. The relatives, with a few exceptions, and several of his old and tried friends were at the bedside when he pasesd away. None of Gen. Harrison's children were present. Neither Col. Russell Harrison nor Mrs. McKee had reached the city, although both were hurrying to the bedside of their dying parent.

Many Tributes Paid.

Many tributes to the dead statesman are paid by prominent citizens of Indiana. Among these are ex-Attorney General Miller, John B. Elam, for many years Gen. Harrison's law partner; James Whitcomb Riley, Gov. Durbin, United States Judge Baker and Gen. Lew Wallace. Gen. Durbin issued a proclamation shortly after the announcement of the ex-president's death, in which he paid an eloquent tribute. He ordered all public business suspended on the day the remains lie in state. Many telegrams of condolence have been received by the bereaved widow.

Thirty Days of Mourning.

Thursday morning President McKinley issued a proclamation formally notifying the people of the country of the death of their former chief magistrate, and directing the observance of a period of mourning for 30 days. In pursuance of this proclamation the flags on every public building in the United States, at every army post in the United States, Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines, and on every American warship in whatever quarter of the globe, will fly at half-mast for 30 days.

Special orders have been issued by the war and navy departments ordering all officers to wear mourning for a period of 30 days.

President McKinley arrived from Canton at 6:45 o'clock Sunday morning. He attended the funeral and left the city again in the evening. Among the honorary pall-bearers who officiated were the members of Gen. Harrison's cabinet.

Body Lies in State.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 18.—Escorted by three regiments of infantry and a battalion of artillery, the full strength of the national guard of Indiana, the remains of Former President Harrison Saturday noon were taken from his late home on North Delaware street to the state capitol, where they lay in state until ten o'clock at night, when they were removed once more to his home.

Placed in the Tomb.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 18.—In the center of a hollow square of fully, 15,000 of his fellow-citizens, the remains of Benjamin Harrison were Sunday afternoon interred in the family lot in Crown Hill cemetery. Close by the grave were the members of his family, President McKinley and other visiting dignitaries, while the more intimate friends of Gen. Harrison. Back a distance of 50 yards, behind ropes guarded zealously by a large force of police, stood with uncovered heads, the great multitude.

The Services.

At the Harrison house, before the remains were taken to the First Presbyterian church, where the full service was held, there were brief exercises for the members of the family and more intimate friends of Gen. Harrison. Possibly 150 people were present. President McKinley attended the services. They were conducted by Dr. Niccol, of St. Louis, and Dr. Haines.

A large crowd had gathered to hear the services at the church, and many were refused admittance.

HIS CAREER.

A Brief Story of Gen. Harrison's Life and Public Services.

Benjamin Harrison, the twenty-third president of the United States, was born August 20, 1833, and was the son of John Scott Harrison, the grandson of President William H. Harrison and the great-grandson of Benjamin Harrison, one of the signers of the declaration of independence. He was graduated at Miami university (Ohio) in 1852, studied law in Cincinnati, and in 1854 removed to Indianapolis, Ind., where he has since resided. He was elected recorder of the Indiana supreme court in 1860, and reelected in 1864. In 1862 he entered the northern army as a second lieutenant of volunteers. In 1876 Mr. Harrison was the republican candidate for governor of Indiana, but was defeated by a small plurality. Two years later President Hayes appointed him on the Mississippi river commission. In 1880 he was elected to the United States senate, taking his seat March 4, 1881, and serving a full term. In 1888 Mr. Harrison was elected president of the United States on the republican ticket, receiving 233 votes in the electoral college to 168 cast for Grover Cleveland. Four years later he was an unsuccessful candidate for reelection. Mr. Harrison was married in 1852 to Caroline Lavinia Scott. Mrs. Harrison died in the white house in 1892. Of the two children born by this union Russell B. Harrison is widely known. He served in the volunteer army during the recent war with Spain. The daughter became Mrs. McKee, the mother of "Baby" McKee.

Prior to his formal withdrawal from the presidential arena, Gen. Harrison interested the public by the announcement, on January 15, of his engagement to a niece of his first wife, Mrs. Mary Scott Lord Dimmick, of New York. Her first husband was Benjamin Dimmick, son of a famous Pennsylvania politician, who, marrying in 1887, had left her a widow three months after the ceremony. Gen. Harrison and Mrs. Dimmick were married in New York April 6, 1896. A daughter, who was christened Mary Elisabeth, was born to Gen. and Mrs. Harrison on February 21, 1897.

In May of 1899 Gen. Harrison was employed as counsel for Venezuela in the celebrated arbitration over the boundary dispute with England. He spent months in preparing the case, and made a lengthy speech before the arbitration committee at Paris, and, on returning to this country, remarked that he had never had a case in which he felt so completely on the right side and so thoroughly prepared. The decision, which was a compromise, was a keen disappointment to him. He felt piqued that the court should have made a compromise instead of deciding the case on its merits.

REFORMS PLANNED.

Progress Made by the Philippine Commission—Department of Public Instruction Established.

Washington, March 19.—Quite a number of the acts of the Philippine commission, as promulgated by the military authorities in the islands, have been received at the war department. One of the most important—that for establishing a department of public instruction in the islands—already has been briefly reported by cable from Manila. It provides for a general department of public instruction with a central office at Manila under the direction of a general superintendent to be appointed by the commission at a salary of $6,000 per annum. Schools are to be established in every pueblo in the archipelago, where practicable, and those already established shall be reorganized where necessary.

The act also provides for a normal school at Manila for the education of natives in the science of teaching. It appropriates $400,000 for school buildings, $220,000 for text-books and other supplies for the current calendar year, $25,000 for the normal school, $15,000 for the organization and maintenance of a trade school in Manila, and the same amount for a school of agriculture.

Among the other acts is one declaring all persons in arms against the authority of the United States in the Philippine islands, and all persons aiding or abetting them on the first day of April, 1901, or thereafter, ineligible to hold any office of honor, trust or profit in the Philippine islands. Another act provides for the free admission into the islands of all supplies and materials for the use of the army or navy or of the insular government. Still another act regulates the hours of labor. It provides that the heads of departments and offices in the Philippine civil service shall require of all employes, of whatever grade or class, not less than six hours of labor each day, not including the time for lunch, and exclusive of Sundays and public holidays.

JOINS THE BIG COMBINE.

John D. Rockefeller Transfers His Iron Interests in Michigan to Morgan Syndicate.

New York, March 19.—The report is circulated here that all the interests of John D. Rockefeller in the iron business, including mines, railways and lake transportation lines, are to go into the United States steel corporation. These interests include the Lake Superior consolidated iron mines, which concern has a capital stock of $30,000,000 of which $29,887,448.97 is outstanding. It was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey in 1893 to acquire and operate iron mines in the Mesaba range, Minnesota. The company owns extensive properties in this region and leases some of its mines to the Carnegie Steel company and other large steel manufacturers. It owns the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, extending from Duluth to Iron Mountain, Minn., and embracing about 130 miles of road.

The Lake Superior consolidated iron mines has no direct mortgage indebtedness of its own, but the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway has a bonded debt consisting of $1,100,000 first mortgage six per cent. bonds due in 1922; $2,251,000 consolidated mortgage six per cent. bonds due in 1923, and $2,644,000 second mortgage five per cent. bonds due in 1918.

CASHIER IN JAIL.

Man Who Wrecked a Bank at Niles, Mich., Is Captured in Columbus, O., and Confesses.

Columbus, O., March 18.—Charles A. Johnson, cashier of the First national bank of Niles, Mich., was arrested here Sunday on a charge of wrecking that institution. He was placed in the emergency hospital at the police station because of his physical condition. He was surprised at his arrest, but promptly confessed his guilt and expressed a desire to return to Michigan as soon as possible. He is badly broken in health, much emaciated and very nervous, due partly to the severe nervous strain of the last ten days and to excessive drinking.

Washington, March 19.—The comptroller of the currency Monday received from the temporary receiver of the failed First national bank of Niles, Mich., a preliminary statement of the bank's condition. From this report it appears that the amount of the defalcation will be approximately $150,000, which had been covered up by forged loans and discounts. As the bank will be unable to resume business, a permanent receiver will soon be appointed to close up its affairs.

IMPORTANT SURRENDER.

Capt. Gen. Mariano Trias, Commander-in-Chief of Filipino Forces, Gives Up.

Manila, March 15.—Capt. Gen. Mariano Trias, commander-in-chief of the insurgent forces, with 20 officers, 2,000 men and 119 rifles, has surrendered to Col. Baldwin, of the Fourth infantry, at San Francisco de Marabon, Cavite province. The officers took the oath of allegiance and have been given their liberty. Additional surrenders are promised.

Many Are Homeless.

Memphis, Ind., March 19.—Fifty out of 60 houses in Memphis were destroyed by fire Monday. The flames originated in J. J. Hawes' stave factory. Every business house in the town was consumed. Twenty-eight families are homeless and are being cared for by neighboring farmers. The loss will reach $20,000, with little insurance. Fifteen business houses were destroyed. The hotels and churches were burned. Two large heading and stave factories were totally destroyed. Hawes' flouring mill was saved.

Missouri Town Burned.

Bismarck, Mo., March 19.—The town of Bismarck, with 800 inhabitants, 75 miles from St. Louis, on the Iron Mountain railroad, was almost completely destroyed by fire Monday. Two-thirds of the business houses were burned and nearly half of the residences. Several hundred persons are homeless. The loss is $125,000.

AFTER-EFFECTS OF LA GRIPPE.

THE after-effects of the grip are often disastrous. It is commonly known to the medical fraternity that the numerous ailments and complications which follow the grip are apt to be more serious than the acute stage of the disease.

Some people have the grip very lightly. They may be confined to the house only a day or two and yet a long train of disagreeable, disabling symptoms follow. All sorts of tonics and stimulating remedies have been devised to meet this condition. None of them can compare in results with Peruna.

Every one who has had the grip ought to take a short course of Peruna. Read what the following people have to say about it.

Washington, Feb. 4, 1899.
The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:
Gentlemen —

Congressman Howard.

"I have taken Peruna now for two weeks, and find I am very much relieved. I feel that my cure will be permanent. I have also taken it for la grippe, and take pleasure in recommending Peruna as an excellent remedy to all fellow-sufferers." M. W. Howard.

Congressman Howard's home address is Fort Payne, Ala.

Grip Produces Catarrh.

Henry Distin, the inventor and maker of all the band instruments for the Henry Distin Mfg. Co., at Williamsport, Pa., writes:

1441 South Ninth Street,
Philadelphia, Pa., May 6, 1899.

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Dear Sir:—"I write to inform you that I had a bad attack of la grippe last December which lasted more than three months and which left me with catarrh, when several of my frends advised me to try your wonderful medicine, Peruna. I began with a bottle the first week in March and it certainly did me a great deal of good. I was so well satisfied that I purchased another bottle and followed your directions which you furnish with every bottle, and I am glad to say that it has cured me. I shall certainly recommend the Peruna to all my friends."

GRIP CAUSED NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA.

D. D. Wallace, a charter member of the International Barbers' Union, writes from 15 Western avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.:

"Following a severe attack of la grippe, I seemed to be affected badly all over. I suffered with a severe backache, indigestion and numerous ills, so I could neither eat nor sleep, and I thought I would give up my work, which I could not afford to do.

"One of my customers who was greatly helped by Peruna advised me to try it, and I procured a bottle the same day. I used it faithfully and felt a marked improvement. During the next two months I took five bottles, and then felt splendid. Now my head is clear, my nerves are steady, I enjoy food, and rest well. Peruna has been worth a dollar a dose to me."—D. L. Wallace.

Washington, April 24, 1900.
The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:
Gentlemen—

Frances M. Anderson.

"About two months ago I was taken very ill with la grippe and was obliged to go to bed. I took three bottles of Peruna with very beneficial results and was able to leave my bed in a week, and regained my usual strength very soon. I have nothing but the highest praise for Peruna and recommend it to those similarly afflicted wherever I can."—Frances M. Anderson.

Grip Poisoned Her Blood.

Mrs. T. W. Collins, Treasurer of the Independent Order of Good Templars of Everett, Wash., writes:

"After having a severe attack of la grippe I continued in a feeble condition even after the doctor called me cured. My blood seemed poisoned.

"I also suffered with dyspepsia, and had either to starve or suffer from what I was eating. A neighbor who was using Peruna praised it so highly that she induced me to try it, and I soon found that this was what I really needed.

"I could soon eat my regular meals with relish, my system was built up, my health returned, and I have remained in excellent strength and vigor now for over two years."—Mrs. T. W. Collins.

GRIP LEFT HER BROKEN DOWN.

Miss Alice Dressler, of 1313 N. Bryant avenue, Minneapolis, Minn., writes as follows concerning Peruna:

"Last spring I suffered from la grippe and was partially cured, but the bad after-effects remained through the summer and somehow I did not get as strong as I was before.

"In the fall I caught cold after getting my feet wet and attending a lecture in a cold hall, and suffered a relapse. Catarrh of the throat and head followed, and as I was in a weak condition physically previous to this, it took but little to break me down completely. One of my college friends, who was visiting me, asked me to try Peruna and I did so and found it all and more than I had expected. It not only cured me of catarrh, but restored me to perfect health."—Alice Dressler.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

An Eye for Realism.

The new reporter in his story of the wedding wrote: "The floral display stretched from the chancel rail to the door of the church."

The city editor, in a mild manner, as is the custom of city editors with new reporters, suggested:

"Couldn't you have used a better word than 'stretched?' Say the floral display 'nodded,' or 'twined,' or something like that—some word more suggestive of flowers."

"'Stretched' is all right," replied the new reporter, with the stubborn courage of a realist. "The decorations consisted of six rubber plants, and they had to stretch to go the distance."—Baltimore American.

KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Or Your Hair Will Fall Out Till You Become Bald.

Modern science has discovered that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp in scales, as it burrows down to the roots of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing falling hair, and, ultimately, baldness. After Prof. Unna, of Hamburg, Germany, discovered the dandruff germ, all efforts to find a remedy failed until the great laboratory discovery was made which resulted in Newbro's Herpicide. It alone of all other hair preparations kills the dandruff germ. Without dandruff, hair grows luxuriantly. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Wonderful Yield of Speltz.

Blanchard Bros., Chaffee Co., Colo., write to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., who are the introducers of this remarkable grain and hay food, Speltz, saying: "We have just threshed 182 bus. of Salzer's Speltz from the 100 pounds of seed you sent us last spring. The neighbors all think it is wonderful. Nearly all of the 182 bus. sold at $2.00 for seed. Speltz and Alfalfa are our money makers." Every farmer should try a few acres of Speltz. ALARMING MORTALITY.

Noticeable Among the Weak and Ailing.

Spring the Time Death Reaps Its Largest Harvest.

There is a Way of Eluding the Grim Destroyer.

Every Spring it is noticeable how many people are taken away that we have been accustomed to see in our daily life.

Statistics show that at no other season of the year does so many deaths occur.

Especially large is the mortality among weak and sickly people.

The reason for this is apparent. The body that is weakened by age or disease has much to contend with during the Winter months. Insufficient exercise frequently has been taken. Too much starchy and fatty foods have been eaten. The system has been allowed to become run down, and when Spring comes with its bright, sunshiny days, older people will begin to realize that their vitality has become very low. The same thing is true of people who are naturally sickly and weak.

This is the season of the year when even a strong person feels at his worst. That tired, restless feeling is experienced by too many.

There need not be as many deaths this year as usually take place. A little care will ward off many Spring funerals. If one is weak or ailing they should take time by the forelock and take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. This great medicine has been in many cases, and will continue to be, the means by which the black angel of Death has been driven from the threshold. It dispels the grim destroyer in a scientific way, for it purifies the blood and gives strength and vitality to the nerves. It tones up and restores to a healthy condition all of the great life-giving organs of the body.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy will enable those who take it to throw off little ills that prove dangerous only when they attack a system already wasted and weakened.

From many people, who have experienced benefit from this greatest of all life-lengtheners, comes the following from the famous General Longstreet of 1217 New Hampshire Ave., Washington, D. C. He says:

"It gives me great pleasure to add my testimony with many others for Dr. Greene's Remedy, which I have used with highly beneficial results, and I am able to recommend its virtues from experience. I have used it for catarrh and have derived help."

Mr. Wellington Hynes, Elizabethtown, N. Y., writes:

"I feel it my duty to tell how much good Dr. Greene's Nervura has done me. I was so run down that I could not sleep at night and everything worried me. I had no appetite and could not work, my head ached all the time and there was an all-gone feeling in my stomach, and I was always looking on the dark side of everything. I began to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and in less than three weeks I felt like a new man. I can now do as much work as is expected of a man of my age. I advise anyone who is troubled to take Dr. Greene's Nervura. Do not go to a doctor, but get a bottle of Dr. Greene's Nervura. It is cheaper than a doctor's bill."

The latter part of Mr. Hynes's advice might be profitably disregarded, however, if you should feel you would like the advice of a physician. You can have such advice and have it free if you will write or call on the greatest known blood and nerve specialist, Dr. Greene, 35 W. 14th St., New York City.

FARMING IN WESTERN CANADA

What Has Been Done by Premier Greenway, Himself a Leading Farmer.

Hon. Thomas Greenway, Premier of the Province of Manitoba, one of the foremost farmers of Western Canada, writes an excellent article to the press, from which the following extracts are made:

The writer came to Manitoba from Ontario in the autumn of 1878, and has ever since been engaged in agricultural pursuits. From the day, nearly 22 years ago, when he selected his homestead, he has had unbounded faith in the country as a place where farming can be successfully carried on, if pursued upon proper lines. There is a large number in this Province who should rather be called "wheat-growers" than farmers. On account of the facilities, natural advantages, and therefore cheapness with which wheat can be grown, no doubt many have done exceedingly well by raising wheat only; still, it is far from ideal farming. Not only will such a course, if persisted in, have the effect of causing the land to run out, as has been the experience of those who pursued the same plan in the wheat-producing prairie States to the south of us, but it is far from being the most profitable course to adopt.

This fact is already being demonstrated in Manitoba. Let the farms in this Western country be managed upon the lines which were successful in the Eastern Provinces, and much more can be done here in a given time than was ever done in the East. The probabilities of failure are practically nil. Upon the farm there should be found horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry, according to the ability of the farmer—with respect to his means and the extent of his holding. The wanton waste which has hitherto been practiced by many farmers, that of burning vast quantities of excellent fodder after threshing is done, should cease; it should all be used upon the farm and converted into the old, sensible kind of fertilizer manure, and afterwards be returned to the soil, so that what has been taken from it by the crop may be restored. Although admitting that the great natural fertility of the soil in Manitoba and the success that has attended the growing of wheat for years upon the same land have a tendency to make such a course as the one mentioned tempting, yet, if continued, wheat-growing upon the same land year after year is undoubtedly a mistake.

The writer knows of no country that offers advantages so great to the agriculturist as does Manitoba. The vraious branches of farming can be carried on successfully, as twenty-two years of practical operations and observations of what others are doing have proven. To those desiring to make new homes for themselves, the low price of some of the best lands in the world (although rapidly advancing in price this year) offer still great opportunities. To all such the invitation is cordially given to "Come and See." There need be no poor people here. There is land for all who choose to come, land upon which happy homes can be established, and from which ample resources can be gathered against old age. All that a man needs to achieve competence in this domain is common-sense and industry. With these qualifications he is bound to succeed. For information regarding free homestead lands, apply to any agent of the government whose advertisement appears elsewhere in these columns.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

Bills are Being Rapidly Introduced and Sent on Their Way by the Committee of the Whole. But Few Have Become Laws.

St. Paul, March 13.—The Dunn primary election bill passed the house late Monday by a vote of 83 to 14. State offices are excepted from the operation of this bill, but the bill applies to all other public offices elected in cities and counties. The clause requiring the voter to declare his political party was stricken out. Under the bill there will be no such thing as nominating a candidate from the primaries on the regular election by petition. The bill went to the senate and was referred to the committee on elections.

The house recommended to pass the bill to raise the gross earnings tax on express companies from 3 to 5 per cent. There were various attempts to amend the bill, but they all failed, and chiefly for the reason assigned by the author of the bill, that if more taxes were added the bill would be tied up in the courts.

The lawyers put through the house bill authorizing the state board of legal examiners to try lawyers accused of unprofessional conduct, only five votes going against it.

The bill to abolish days of grace was killed in committee of the whole by a close vote.

The house bill forbidding hyphenated names for political parties was recommended to pass.

The house adjourned at noon to give committees a chance to work during the afternoon.

In the senate the renovated butter bill was sent to general orders, although opposed by the senate committee on dairy and food, which had recommended that it be indefinitely postponed. The new bill requires that the butter be labeled conspicuously as to its true character.

The oil inspection bill, as amended by the senate, was passed. The amendment cutting off the half cent a gallon for inspecting oil in tank cars and that inspected in barrels was regarded a Standard Oil move, and was killed.

The Beltrami and Cass county settlers got the best of the Minneapolis lumbermen, and the tax bills were recommended to pass. Senator Wilson represented the lumber magnates and Senator McCarthy the 18,000 settlers.

St. Paul, March 14.—Representative Hurd was earnest and forcible yesterday when his oil inspection bill came before the house with a series of senate amendments that not only rendered it inoperative for two years, but raised the inspection fees and various other changes. He made a fiery speech and moved to non-concur. That motion prevailed. The house conferees are Representatives Hurd, Wells and Bury. The senate named as conferees Senators Sheehan, Snyder and Chilton.

Sam Peterson got his "mental anguish" telegraph bill on general orders, after the judiciary committee had recommended that it be indefinitely postponed.

J. A. Peterson introduced a bill to create a board of deposit, composed of the governor, secretary of state, state auditor and state treasurer, to decide in what banks public funds may be deposited.

The board of control bill caused strenuous debate in the house on a special order and was not disposed of.

A bill to continue the beet sugar bounty, and appropriating $19,923 therefor, was introduced in the house.

The senate passed the optometry bill, but it will be reconsidered, and may be defeated by the opposition, who favor the selling of spectacles by country stores.

The senate eight-hour bill having been killed, a majority report of the labor committee placed the house bill on general orders. This created a spat, but the bill went to general orders without recommendation.

The bill increasing the pay of the Ramsey county committee from $300 to $600 passed by a vote of 34 to 10, a margin of two votes.

The bill passed creating a grain weighing and inspection station at New Prague.

The conference committee on the reapportionment bill are yet wide apart. Meeker county wants to be taken out of the new Sixth district and break into the Seventh.

April 5 is the last day for new bills. After that bills can only be presented on the request of the governor. In the house 500 bills have been presented so far, and 400 in the senate.

St. Paul, March 15—The senate passed over the calender yesterday, as it only contained only four bills, which are still in the hands of committees, and devote both forenoon and afternoon sessions to general orders. Fifteen bills were recommended for passage by the committee of the whole, only two of which provoked any debate.

These were the bills to establish a state drainage commission and to appropriate $50,000 from the general fund for drainage purposes. The bill was recommend to pass.

The other was the bill to make the village of Reed's Landing liable for $10,000 worth of bonds sold to Russel Sage several years ago.

Senator Stockwell introduced resolutions on the death of Gen. Harrison, which were passed unanimously.

The senate committee on state prison considered the Deming parole bill, in which the future liberty of the Younger brothers is involved, and recommended it for passage.

A bill was introduced by Senator Smith requiring game wardens to procure warrants before making arrests for violations of the game laws. This is a radical departure and it is claimed if the same becomes a law the game wardens might as well quit work.

After two days' debate the house passed the board of control bill by a vote of 73 to 39. The bill now goes to the senate, where there is evidently more sentiment against it than in the house.

Another twist was taken in the reapportionment contest. The conference committees having failed to agree, new ones were appointed, who will try to come to an understanding.

The house committee decided to recommend for indefinite postponement the Deming bill providing for the abolition of the free lunch counter in saloons.

A bill to restore the civil rights to ex-convicts was introduced by Representative Alford.

Representative Bury wants the state to reimburse Lake county for maintaining a smallpox quarantine.

Mr. Sageny introduced a bill providing for direct legislation by the people. Upon petition for repeal or amendment, the matter shall be voted upon at the next general election.

St. Paul, March 16.—The house yesterday passed the board of control bill. Nearly all the amendments proposed to the bill were lost, and the bill stands in substantially its original form, all the radical changes and proposed eliminations having been defeated. The bill now goes to the senate, to be taken up as a substitute for Senator Snyder's bill, now before that body.

The house postponed action on the senate bill to adjourn on April 5 until Wednesday next at 2 p. m. The house at present is in no mood to consent to adjourn before the regular time, unless there be an understanding that business be done. The house has had before it so far 528 bills. Of these, 101 have passed the house, and 42 have become laws. In the senate 395 bills have been introduced, and only 102 of them have been voted on in any way, including those passed and those indefinitely postponed. The mood of the house is to find out if the needed work will be done before it will even talk about an early adjournment.

The house calendar was reached yesterday, the first time in several days. Among the bills passed was that to raise the gross earnings tax of express companies from 3 to 5 per cent. Forty-one bills were on the house general orders when it was reached, 34 house bills and 7 from the senate.

The senate passed a few bills, most of them of minor importance. The bill to prohibit adulteration of liquor passed under suspension of the rules. The measure was urgent because of the vile stuff sold in the northern part of the state.

The senate passed the electric light bill after a "live wire" debate.

The senate adjourned at the end of the day to 8 p. m. Monday.

The conference committee on the oil inspection bill may not agree. The chief bone of contention is the date set two years hence for the law to become operative.

The conference committee on reapportionment has settled the opposition to placing Redwood in the new Seventh district. Now it has the Waseca county controversy to dispose of. Prospects are thought to be fair that an agreement will be reached.

St. Paul, March 19.—Upon the roll call of the senate at 8 o'clock last night only thirty senators responded, but five minutes later Senators Snyder and E. J. Jones put in an appearance, thereby making just a quorum, and business was proceeded with.

There were no committee reports and only one bill was introduced, and after the first reading of a batch of house bills and the second reading of senate measures, the senate went into committee of the whole, with Senator Underleak in the chair.

Fifty bills were awaiting action. Nine of them were recommended to pass, and progress was reported on the others.

The house worked all day yesterday. Few bills were introduced at the morning session and the calendar was taken up and cleared before recess. At the afternoon session the house went into general orders and advanced or killed off the twenty odd bills that had been accumulating for the past six days.

The wine room bill was the most important bill on the calendar. The measure passed the house by a vote of 75 to 5. This bill provides for the removal of all booths and screens other than the front screens from saloons.

The Fust bill to do away with barber schools and colleges was passed.

The three members of the state railroad and warehouse commission will have to worry along, for the next two years at least, on their paltry $3,000 per year salaries.

WHERE WOMEN ARE NEEDED.

According to Recent Census British Colonies Can Absorb a Large Number of the Fair Ones.

According to figures taken from the recent census of the British colonies there is a considerable shortage of women of marriageable age. In two of these colonies—Australia and Canada—there is a chance for 500,000 more to gain husbands and homes.

According to the latest figures the population of New South Wales consists of 720,000 males and 628,000 females. Here is a deficiency of 100,000.

In Victoria the discrepancy is not so marked, but in other colonies the difference is proportionately larger. In New Zealand, for instance, there is an excess of 50,000 males.

Perhaps if the women realized how much they are needed there they would go in bevies. It is said, however, that they are too timid to venture into strange lands and are waiting for the colonists to come and take them.

Students of conditions think something should be done to equalize the sexes, both in the colonies and at home.

First Doubt of Her Love.

She (as her lover is about to start on a journey round the world)—My dear Adolf, will you be true to me when you are far away? Promise me that you will write to me from every town you visit.

He—Oh, Ada, is it love that prompts you to say this? Ada, swear to me, do you really love me, or are you merely collecting foreign postage stamps?—Stray Stories.

Kind of the Kid.

Jones—Come, be honest; when you have to walk the baby don't you swear a little?

Smith—Possibly, but then the baby makes such a noise with his crying that nobody can hear me.—Boston Transcript.

He Had a Check.

Mamma—May, your father doesn't approve of Mr. Kraft's attentions to you. He considers him what he calls "a very smooth fellow."

Mary—So he is, generally, but once or twice when he called he hadn't time to get shaved.—Philadelphia Press.

A Brilliant Success.

A.—How did your automobile journey turn out?

B.—Beautifully! Although I ran over two pedestrians and three bicycles and knocked two wagons into a ditch, my motor was not at all injured and I arrived just on time.—Fliegende Blaetter.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

An Escape Frustrated.

A cleverly concocted scheme for a jail delivery at the state prison was frustrated by Warden Wolfer, and one of the guards P. F. Cunningham at the prison languishes in Washington county jail.

The prisoner who was to be aided in an attempt to escape is Edward Leland, sent from Minneapolis in October, 1899, to serve 10 years for robbery.

The guard received $435 for his share in the work and became associated in the scheme with another guard, who has since left prison. Leland's sweetheart's plan was formed in December. The money was paid in January and the scheme would probably have carried, but for a mistake in manufacturing a key which would not fit the cell room door, where Leland was to pass out early in the morning, when he left his cell to go to work in the dining room.

There was a woman in the case, Miss Ada Hubbell of St. Paul, who is under arrest.

John F. Roberts, an ex-guard at the prison was arrested in Minneapolis.

The plot was revealed by D. F. Dar the abstract clerk who was sent to the penitentary from Minneapolis.

Will Get the Banner.

The handsome banner which Minnesota won at the recent national convention of buttermakers will be delivered to the state. It will be placed on exhibition at the agricultural college.

The banner was first awarded to Kansas through a mistake and was carried home by the Kansas delegation in triumph. A special jollification over the victory occurred in the news of Secretary Sudendorf's error was a decided shock.

Kansas refused to give up the banner until shown that Minnesota was clearly entitled to it. The flag has been sent back to the headquarters of the buttermakers' association at Elgin, Ill.

Secretary Sudendorf has written that as soon as the name "Minnesota" has been inscribed upon the banner, it will be forwarded.

Heroic Rescue of a Child.

Clad only in a neightdress, with the mercury below zero, Miss Mae Oryil, teacher of the school at Itasca Lake, rushed into the burning house and at the risk of her life brought from the building the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Whitney. When she reappeared in the street with the child clasped in her arms, her long hair, which has been badly scorched by the by the flames, was the only covering the girl had.

How she battled her way to the child she does not remember but she kept on in spite of the fact that her nightdress was burned off almost instantly and the flames almost choked her. When she reappeared with the child clasped to her breast and fell fainting in the street, willing hands cared for her.

Land For New Settlers.

The largest single sale of land that has ever been made to a company or individual for other than purely speculative purposes was made by George Purvis, agent for Great Northern lands, the purchaser being H. S. Judson of St. Paul, for the Central Minnesota Land company, of which he is president. The purchase consists of 22,000 acres of Great Northern lands in Polk, Marshall and Kittson counties, and the consideration was $250,000. The company has a thousand agents scattered over the states of Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin, and it is its expectation to turn the land over to actual settlers before the 1st of January, 1902.

G. A. R. Officers.

The G. A. R. veterans of the state concluded their business in St. Paul and adjourned their convension. The election of officers was their chief business. It passed off without friction, the result being as follows: Department commander, W. H. Harries of Caledonia; senior vice-commander, Perry Starkweather of Minneapolis; junior vice commander, Isaac L. Mahan of St. Paul. The honor was suitable acknowledged by Mr. Harries.

Will be Enlarged.

The state fish hatchery will be enlarged to 10 times its present capacity. As soon as the increased facilities have been provided the state will not only breed trout, but croppies, bass, pike and other common varieties of fish. It is proposed so to enlarge the hatchery that the state will be able to stock all of the streams and little lakes of Minnesota with food fish.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

MISS PFALZGRAF

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote Mrs. Pinkham in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—had headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swell, and was generally miserable. Mrs. Pinkham promptly replied with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularity.

Nothing in the world equals Mrs. Pinkham's great medicine for regulating woman's peculiar monthly troubles.

Unavoidable Action.

"Doctor, I'm bothered with a queer pain. When I bend forward, stretch out my arms, and make a semi-circular movement with them, a sharp sting comes in my left shoulder."

"But," asked the physician, wonderingly, "why make such motions?"

"Well, if you know any other way for a man to get on his overcoat I wish you'd let me know."—Philadelphia Times.

MADAM BAVEAS TESTIFIES.

A Distinguished Lady, After Traveling for Six Years in Search of Health, at Last Finds It in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 18 (Special).—This popular resort numbers among its patrons many of the world's most distinguished men and women, but none more so than Madam Isabelle Ellen Baveas, Life Governor of the Free Masons Grand Lodge of England.

Madam Baveas, like most of the other visitors, came here in search of health. She was not disappointed, but her cure was not found in the virtue of the baths, but in a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, a remedy which she found on sale here, and which is being used and with wonderful success by a number of the visitors to Hot Springs. She says:—

"I travelled almost constantly for the past six years in the interests of my Society, and my health gradually became broken down, through the change of food, water, climate, etc. The doctors told me I had diabetes, and advised me to go to the Springs, as they could do nothing for me. While there my attention was called to Dodd's Kidney Pills by a fellow sufferer, who had been greatly benefited by using them.

"I profited by her experience and bought a box, and then another, and so on until I had used seven boxes. It is with gratitude that I state that they cured me completely, and I am now able to take up the duties of life once more. I am very thankful for what Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me, and as a grateful woman shall never hesitate to recommend them to anyone suffering with Diabetes."

The very satisfactory experience of this distinguished woman, should be an encouragement to all similar sufferers.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are 50c. a box, six boxes for $2.50. Buy them from your local druggist if you can. If he cannot supply you, send to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO GAZETTE

DELANO, FRIDAY, MAR, 22 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—Geo. P. Schaffer is putting in additional shelfing to store his spring and summer stock.

—T. S. Kerr, Fred Breushaber and T. D. Wolfendon are at work auditing the village accounts for the last year.

—The Council called a special meeting this A. M. and appointed a new Board of Health consisting of Chas. A. Bronkow, H. O., John Schaust and Frank Collins. Success to the new Board.

—Little Nettie Welker received quite a severe scalp wound last Tuesday, she was rocking in a rocking chair and rocked over striking the back of her head against a sharp corner on the stove. She bled quite freely, but the wound was stitched up and she is making a good recovery.

—On Monday evening the old Village council held a short meeting, then turned the village affairs over to the new council. Mayor Horsch presided as though he was used to the business, and other members participated in the discussion and business before the board. Committees were authorized to purchase a hundred cords of green basswood and some dry wood for the power house.

Streets and Alleys: Kespohl, Conzet, Side walks: Conzet, Ziebarth,
Finance: Lindsley, Horsch,
Claims: Ziebarth, Lindsley,
Streets, grades, bridges: Horsch, Ziebarth.
Fire Department: Conzet, Lindsley,
Electric lights and Water: Kespohl, Horsch,
Poor: Lindsley, Ziebarth,
City Hall and jail: Conzet, Kespohl,
Public Grounds: Kespohl, Horsch.

—A well known Carver County farmer has been making an awful fool of himself for several weeks past by keeping drunk in Delano. Somebody, contrary to law, has been supplying him with the intoxicants to keep him drunk. The village authorities should at once proceed to make themselves cognizant of the facts in the case, and see that the parties supplying such a man with intoxicants for weeks at a stretch, are meted out the punishments made for such offenses against the peace and dignity of the State of Minnesota.

—One of our county papers does Delano a great injustice by printing that all assemblies of citizens had been forbidden. Nothing of the kind has been done. There is but one house under quarantine now, in our village, and the eleven inamates are all well enough to be up and around. Notices have been published that people must comply with the law and report all suspected cases or suffer the penalties provided for failure to do so. If people assist the Health officers in their work instead of decrying them and abusing them, there would be less trouble in keeping the disease under control.

—The Auxiliary will give an interesting entertainment in the City Hall, Friday evening, March 22, all are cordially invited, admission 10 cents. The following programme commences at 8:00.

—An eye witness to the alleged occurrence claims that the outside guard Alva G. Catlin, broke the quarantine lately. It seems to have been another case of petticoats.—Eagle.

The above is a clipping from this week's Eagle. I would like to have a further explanation, in fact I would like to see the proof. The penalty for the above mentioned is something like $25, and such an assertion is criminal in itself if there is no foundation. If the Eagle cannot come out like she had a man for the editor and actually say something, she had better shut her mouth. Why she reminds me of the war news that we receive by the way of the London war office. They asserted that DeWet had only 700 men to invade Cape Town Colony, but after he recrossed the river they claimed they had actually inflected a loss upon the Boers of nearly 1200 men. Why don't the war office come out and tell the truth instead of beat around the bush and throw a slur or an assertion like the Eagle?

So far as the petticoats are concerned (according to the old saying) the Eagle must have had a petticoat scrape of their own that no outsiders have found out and then tries to cover it up by making out that I have "another case of petticoats." A. G. C.

—The Delano Territorial Association meets at J. D. Youngs, next Tuesday evening.

—Read our election returns, the only complete list published. Preserve it for reference.

—The Ladies Aid of the M. E. Church will give a tea Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. A. Knoll.

—The Eagle says the recent village election seems to have left some "sore spots". Of course, and she Old Bird got her share of them.

—Sap is running; Austin Cooper has made several gallons of fine Maple Syrup. He claims it is a very early season for the business.

—The "Luxow" committee is strengthened by the services of an ex-Alderman from Minneapolis, where the streets are paved with asphalt.

—If anybody thinks a cheap nurse and guard for small pox are the best let them consult with the Muckenhirn family. Also whether it pays or not to break quarantine.

—When the new Delano Village Council learned that it could not change guards at the quarantined house without consulting the Board of Health, it promptly discharged the Health Officer.

—Creamery butter will not be in demand when people learn that some creameries receive milk from farms quarantined for small pox unless it is also known that the milk is so handled as not to be infected.

—Delano Fire Department officers for the ensuing year are: Chief, A. L. Mealy; First Assistant, Adam Horsch; Second Assistant, C. L. Belt; third Assisstant, C. H. Green: Secretary, Fred A. Knoll; Treasurer, Geo. Horsch.

—The new Board of Health held a meeting and organized this afternoon. They voted to hire Mrs. C. H. Carleton for 50cts a day to guard the quarantine at Coopers; and to forbid milk being breught from Muckenbirns quarantined for smallpox to the creamery.

—Men who say they don't believe small pox is "catchen" and "don't need quarantining" are poor sticks for councilmen, in this age of enlightenment. One of 'em, we understand, says they hadn't time to hunt up a perminent Board of Health so chose a temporary one.

—Some of our citizens think the Eagle's "Luxow" investigations should be extended back over several years for good rich pickings. And it is claimed by those in a position to know that the ordinance increasing the salaries of the President and council was offered by one of the heads of the Eagle.

—Reports continue to be spread of more cases of smallpox in the town of Franklin. Jos. Matter's family were quarantined Wednesday. Unless people are careful it will not stop until most of the people in the community have had a siege of the disease. All houses where an eruption has prevailed should be thoroughly fumigated and well aired out, and all possible precautions taken to prevent a further spread. It is a safe plan for people to keep away from all houses where any eruption has occurred until the premises have been thoroughly disinfected. People having any suspicious symptoms should remain at home and not go around to give all their neighbors. smallpox. Nobody will thank them for spreading so disagreeable and sometimes dangerous disease.

AS ONE MAN TO ANOTHER.

You know my pa, he always says,
When we have company,
A-pattin' me upon the head:
"This is my son," says he;
"Pr-raps the future president,"
And then, with a wink an' grin,
He'll give my head another pat,
Or pinch my cheeks an' chin.

The other day my pa an' me
Went out into a shed,
Pa—well—he had his hick'ry switch,
An' I just up an' said;
"Pa," but my voice was awful weak,
Says he; "Speak up my son."
"When I am president," says I,
"I'll 'member what you've done,
'An'," here I shouted big an' loud,
"I'll lock you up in jail!"
Then I just turned my back myself,
Expectin' him to whale.

But first I knew, I heard him laugh;
He laughed until he cried;
Then he sat down on the wood
An' pulled me to his side.
An, talked to me a long, long while
'Bout when he was a boy.
An' all the games he used to play,
"Ol' cat," an' "Siege of Troy."
An' now my pa and I are chums.
Pa's broke his switce in two.
When I think what I said that day
I'm shamed, all through an' through.
—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Maple Lake Messenger: Some of the last utterances of the late ex-president Harrison as he lay on his bed were in sympathy with the boers. He says: "Can history show a more memorable fight for independence than that which is being made by the Boers? Boys of 16 even 14 take the rifle from the hand of the mother who remains to pray for then in their lonely home." He concluded by saying "Never has American sympathy failed or been divided or failed to find its voice when a people were fighting for independence." These last words of the great statesman, who only a few days ago was among us in the full vigor of his powers, gave all the solemnity of a voice from the grave.

Maple Plain.

We have just pasesd the second Inagural of President McKinley, and according to newspaper reports it was very elaborate and expensive casting some $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 including inagural ball, trappings, trimmings, and all the paraphernalia. It seems a little expensive. But then the American people can stand anything cyclones and the ten Egyptian plagues not excepted. Why all this prodigal waste of time and money?

"Seeing I am but mortal."

We have also just passed our annual Town meeting. The township high school was lost by a large majority vote.

The Liquor question also got a black eye—but was only 9 of a majority against it; rather close for a temperance town. The following town officers were elected, for the ensuing year: Town Board, Chairman G. A. Mason, Frank Hanlon, Charles Soley. Town Clerk, J. J. Personett. Justice of the Peace, Julius Hardt. Township Assessor J. H. McGary. Constable Ed. Pitsley.

Tax levied for General town purposes $300; for poor $200; Road and Bridges $800; total tax levied $1300. Thirteen is a superstitious number but then it goes all right at the beginng of the 20 century. It was the largest town meeting we have had for some time—there being 217 votes cast.

The law suit that was to come off last Wednesday before Judge Hardt was sent to Long Lake by change of venue.

The Mumps is still making the rounds in these neck of the woods.

Chas Teneyck will build a new barn in the spring.

Most of the boys have got home from the pineries.

Our late snow storm was about the worst of the season, so we are afflicted with bad roads again.

The new town board met last Saturday and transacted some important business.

Quite a number attended the funeral of Mrs Vinsent Cox of Long Lake, last Monday week. Mrs. Cox was one of the early Pioneers of Minnesota.

It is claimed that the number of patrons of the Maple Plain creamery is on the increase.

They say there is about 274 old vets at the Soldiers home in this state and their pension is $6.00 to $24 00 per month, of this the institution takes all but $4 per month. To this the U. S. Government gives $100 for each old vet in the home less one half what the institution takes from them in pension. We understand there is a bill up before the Legislature not allowing the institution to take any of their pension money.

We understand the train of prosperity will not stop at flag stations any more. It will stop at Carnigae, Pierfont Morgan, and all Syndicate stations along the line.

Senor Sixto Topez, who addressed a mass meeting at Independence hall, Philadelphia, mostly Republicans, said in just these words: I cannot understand how any American who justly prides himself upon his country's greatest achivements and upon the principles by which it is sustained how such an American can walk through Independence hall and read that charter of liberty the greatest ever penned And then throw in his lot and his influence with those who are vainly seeking to subjugate by force of arms a people who are intelligent enough to desire independence and brave enough to fight for it. For a Filipino who did not prize liberty above everything else, in the world would not stand up against this mighty nation with its illumitable wealth and power. This seems to be the opinion of one of the Filipinos.

That fellow whocomposed the poem now going therounds of the papers, entitled Minnie Towne. Towne should be presented with a life size cromo and written underneath in Greek, Hebrew andFilipino, this is the first materializedass of the 20th century, no doubt thefellow is all right as to averdepois and mathematical demonstration could trace his genealogy back to the wiggler in his great grandmother's rain barrel. But it would take a pyramid of such brains as his to match that of Charley Towne's. Charley Towne has a brain as a locomotive's head light shining through Egyptian darkness.

Charley Towne is not dead, but still liveth. We know there were many who did not care to hear the speech he made in the U. S. Senate during the last hours he was Senator but it was listened to with much interest.

MR. OR MRS. NATION, WHICH SHOULD RULE?

E. G. WRIGHT, MARKVILLE, MINN.

Mr. Samuel Nation was very strong,
A century old, and more, was he;
Yet, in his domain, an enemy long
Had found a refuge, as we shall see.

An enemy who defied the land
In open, in secret, in every place,
And Mrs. Nation was sure, she said,
That unless he obeyed, naught but disgrace

Could come to the the children, both girls and boys,
Those jewels so precious in every home,
That mean so much, in our earthly joys,
As through this world we are called to roam.

So with prayer to God to strenghten her heart,
She started out right there and then;
With hatchet in hand she made the start,
To behead the serpent, in his den,

With hatchet she stove the beerkegs in,
The costly pictures, and looking glass,
The bottles of whisky, brandy and gin,
You would think when she left that a cyclone had passed.

A Kansas cyclone, it was, indeed.
But more of the same will surely come,
Unless Mr. Nation forgoes the greed,
That is selling the souls of men, to rum.

Our nation we call so bold, and brave
Must build for a manhood, bold and freed.
We must not submit, to be abject slaves,
To so vile a monarch, in our love of greed,

So to Mr. Samuel Nation we say;
You have come far short in attempt to rule,
And your better half must point the way,
For you have become but the rum king's tool

Your scepter of power you should lay aside:
Get rid of your masters; the distiller and brewer,
Let your wife keep house; for a time abide
With the doctors, who deal in the Keeley cure.

REPRESENTATIVE JACOBSON stirred up a tempest in the House a few days ago when he charged corruption in connection with the gross earnings tax bill. Of course an investigating committee was promptly appointed to look up the matter. It is charged now that the investigating committee are awaiting charges! That is waiting for somebody to complain of somebody! This is a poor stand for an investigating committee that wishes to investigate to make. If it wishes to "whitewash" or let go by default the charges of Mr. Jacobson of course keeping still and running a bluff is about the only way out from the looks of things. Why, if charges of corruption hadn't been made, of course there would have been no committee of investigation appointed. As there is a committee it would better for them to investigate thoroughly.

Isn't it kind of strange that so long after Gen. Otis has returned to the United States, and after Gen. Aguinaldo has been reported dead, for months, that there has to be such a big and expensive military force in the Philippines? Isn't it strange that Editor Rice had to be sent home for saying some things were not being done right? Isn't it strange that the most intelligent and patriotic Filipinos must be shipped to Guam? If the "situation is well in hand", if Aguinaldo was really the whole uprising, and is now dead, isn't it strange that war of extermination is still being carried on? Somebody ought to send word to the authorities over there to keep Gen. Funston and his ten men and company of natives at home, and not let them expose themselves to the elements chasing over the country trying to capture the "dead" Aguinaldo. What do they intend doing with the dead body if they should find it? If the war is over the military had better stop work and come home.

A. N. DARE denies being a candidate for Secretary of the Railroad and Warehouse commission; or for that matter any other office. He has concluded to settle down to business as an editor of the Star News, which seems more and more independent every issue since its editor quit politics. Mr. Dare has been to the legislature, been a speaker of the House, was one of the census directors. He has seen considerable politics from both sides, from the inside and the outside, and now that he is on the outside can give the other fellows many pointers. Give it to 'em Bro. Dare, "tell the truth and shame the Devil."

SOMEBODY has proposed a law, that any person, not a lawyer, volunteering advice on legal matters, be punished. This might be a good law. And if it made punishable the giving gratis; of legal advice by lawyers, especially where unasked; and made it a crime punishable by a long term in the penetentiary, of lawyers who give wrong advice, or cite laws out of date, or that are misleading, and who purposely seek to breed discord, among people; or to mislead justices, juries, village councils, and others, it would in some cases be a blessing to communities; and up to date, reliable, intelligent attorneys would have a much better chance, and be of far more value in their respective places of residence.

Away With Such Fakes.

The News has got just one promise to make to its readers this week, viz: "When our present contracts for patent medicines run out no more will be taken." We have arrived at the conclusion that life is altogether too short to "monkey" with these kind of fakes and an editor who does should be made to drink two bottles of each remedy every morning.—Tower News.

The above is clipped from the Duluth News Tribune, and shows a more healthy disposition than has been exhibited for a long time in the minds of a couple of editors at least. Let the good germs grow. It is about time the country press was seeing the immensity of its power for evil among their readers, that is done by their advertising promiscuously all kinds of nostrums and curealls. If people have faith in an editor they think the advertisements in his paper must be of reliable articles. If they buy, and are bit, they naturally lay the blame to the editor, whose greedy disposition to gain money leads him to sell space at large discounts, and sometimes take pay in "drugs" to be palmed off on some confiding neighbor. Let the good determination that has had its inception in Tower go on until the very foundation of the great press pyramid be permeated with the idea that men are of more consequence than is money; that morals are superior to medicines; and that henceforth and forever only advertisements of what is beneficial, and not detrimental to mind, body and soul of the people who come within the influence of the press shall appear in the columns of our country's mighty distributors of intelligence the newspapers.

Le Sueur Sentinel: Four years ago, at Lawrence Kansas, says the St. Paul Globe there was a large wire mill that blew its whistle long and loud when William McKinley was inagurated president. On the fourth of March, just passed, when his second inauguration took place, the whistle was strangely silent. The sequel lies in the fact that the trust had gotten in its deadly work and the Lawrence mill has ceased to be. Still to be consistent the trust should have ordered the watchman to get up steam and sound the whistle for their patron saint.

SIXTO'S SAY.

Aggie's Former Secretary Says Others Will Keep up The Fight.

BOSTON, March 28.—Senor Sixto Lopez formerly secretary of Aguinaldo was informed of the capture of Aguinaldo and was asked if he had any comment to make upon it. Senor Lopez expressed doubt as to the correctness of the report but said that even if true there were other Filipinos besides Aguinaldo who would take the leader ship and that the defense of the Filipinos would continue. The policy of the latter would not be affected. The Anti-Imperialists league has arranged for a mass meeting in Faneuil hall on Saturday evening. Erving Win slow; the secretary, could not be seen this morning.—Pioneer Press.

Why the Boers Refused.

In the British offer to the Boers, unexpectedly liberal as it was in many respects, amnesty was refused the Cape Dutch who took up arms for the republics and who now constitute a very considerable part of the armies of Botha, DeWet and Delarey. That is, the British demanded that the soldiers of the republics abandon to imprisonment and death their comrades in arms who had made the greatest sacrifices for the cause of liberty.

Our own experience in the civil war, indeed the simple teaching of common sense, might have shown the British that they would lose nothing by a general amnesty that would "let bygones be bygones." Certainly they could hardly expect men who have shown such high nobility of character as have the Boers to make terms that would involve a betrayal of their faithful if over zealous, kinsmen and friends just over their borders. Would Englishmen anywhere in the world do that?—Thrice-a-week World.

Small of Mind.

Gov. Van Sant proved again that he was more of a politician than a statesman when he appointed a successor to Hon. S. M. Owen as a member of the board of regents of the state university because Owen was not a Republican. Read what Elmer Adams, a member of the board and graduate of the university, says in his paper, of the charge:

"It is to be regretted that Mr. Owen could not be reappointed. He has been a most valuable man on the board, and the great development of the agricultural college and farm school is largely due to his work and assistance. It is but stating the truth to say that two of the best men on the board of regents were John Lind and S. M. Owen. The retirement of these men is a serious loss to the university."

If the people have not already become disgusted with the narrow partizanship of the man who was not elected governor, they probably will before long.—Waseca Herald.

THE RIVER.

Softly the breath of morning steals faint across the sky,
Silently back to cloudland the chilling vapors hie,
And out of the chaos of darkness another day is won,
While careless of the wonder, the river floweth on.

The day mounts high and higher, the heavens melt to brass;
Along the glaring highway the weary people pass,
Faint with their ceaseless toiling and drooping 'neath the sun,
Unconscious that the river still tirelessly flows on.

The sky fades back to golden then blanches into gray,
With purple shadows creeping across the western way.
The day deeps into darkness, its race is fairly run,
But the great insistent river still pauselessly flows on.

Youth hath its dawn of promise: manhood its stress and strain
When the sun beats hot from the zenith and the goal is hard to gain,
But age and death and twilight come when the day is done,
And we lie at rest unmindful that the river floweth on.

The Afghanistan Mastiff

By Q. K. Underwood.

(Copyright, 1901, by Authors Syndicate.)

GANNON bought the dog from the keeper of a malodorous little shop, where birds, monkeys, cats and other pets were kept for sale. He went there to buy goldfish for his maiden aunt, who lived in the country, and he had no notion of investing in a dog, but such a friendship sprang up between him and the brute that he couldn't resist.

Gannon claims that the dog asked him to buy him as plainly as a person could without the use of articulate speech, but dog owners are as keen to discern and exploit the wisdom of their pets as mothers are to interpret the gurglings of their babies, and allowance must be made for this peculiarity in Gannon. But Jim, as the dog was christened, developed into a remarkably knowing animal. There was no apparent end to his ability to learn, and Gannon's ingenuity in teaching him tricks. Everything possible to a dog of his giant physique, he did, and Gannon set as much store by him as though he were human. He acted as bodyguard for his master, whose office was in Real Estate row, and could be trusted to carry a note to anyone of a dozen or more places. His size, and saturnine countenance insured him respectful treatment from strangers, and his amiability made him popular with persons who knew him. Still he was not a dog to encourage close friendships. He was uniformly affable, but for Gannon alone he seemed to cherish an abiding affection. If they were separated Jim would not eat, and at a word from Gannon he would have launched his big carcass at a wild elephant.

THE WOMAN WAS STARTLED WHEN JIM NUDGED HER.

Their friendship had endured two years when Jim performed the feat that brought him the broad silver collar that he wears. Two highwaymen attacked Gannon, and Jim broke the right arm of one of them, and Gannon shot the other with the revolver that Jim's prisoner dropped. The robbers were criminals of note, and Jim and Gannon got much fame out of the exploit, but neither seemed jealous of the other.

It was soon after this that Gannon saw The Woman. Jim was not with him, and if he had been the result would have been the same. For Gannon lost his heart as soon as his eyes rested on her. Her skin was as smooth and soft as the sunkissed side of a peach, and the gleam of the topaz was in her eyes. Her personality was burned into Gannon's brain and heart. He went to his office with her image just behind his eyeballs. Half forgotten bits of verse and fragments of love songs struggled for utterance on his lips. He hadn't spoken to her. He might never see her again, but she was The Woman. He might marry another, but hers would be the image in his inner heart.

When Gannon saw her next Jim was with him. She was coming from a department store. Gannon gazed on her as long as he could without attracting the attention of the policeman stationed on the corner to discourage the mashing industry. He revolved in his mind divers possible and impossible schemes for forming her acquaintance. He wanted to turn back the hand of time 600 years or so and wear her glove bound to his helm and poke holes in many iron-clad gentlemen for wearing the gloves of other ladies. He wanted to rescue her from a burning building, or be shipwrecked with her.

Jim evidently shared Gannon's opinion that she was a nice woman to know, and not being bound by the conventions of human society, he proceeded straightway to show his approval. The Woman was startled when Jim nudged her gloved hand with his big muzzle, but when her eyes met his she read a friendly intent in them, and gave him a reassuring pat.

"Why, he looks like Hector," she said to the girl with her.

The girl, who was thin, and didn't look healthy, shrank away from Jim, and said: "Please don't. The brute might bite you."

The Woman laughed and walked on. Jim circled playfully around her as though of a mind to accompany her. A whistle from Gannon brought him to heel, and The Woman said to the thin girl: "That man must own the dog. I've half a mind to ask him if he would sell him. He's such a fine-looking creature."

"Why, Ellen! Speak to a strange man on the street? I'm shocked."

"All right, dear, I won't; but I'd like to own him."

"The man?" said the thin girl, whose thinness was partially caused by her temper.

The Woman made no answer, and the two got in a handsome victoria drawn by a pair of nervous bay horses.

Gannon and Jim proceeded to Broadway, and stopped to look at a trick bicyclist in bizarre raiment darting in and out among the vehicles and bearing an advertisement of a dentifrice.

"That feller'll wind up by skeerin' some man's hoss," said a countryman.

"I shouldn't wonder," replied Gannon, passing on with his mind on The Woman. He and Jim were two blocks farther on when the sound of a runaway team's fast-flying hoofs striking the granite pavement came to his ears. Turning, Gannon saw a pair of bay horses tearing down the street with a victoria swaying behind them. The coachman was doing his best, but the horses were beyond his control. As Gannon looked, he saw two ladies in the carriage. One was The Woman!

"Here, Jim!" called Gannon, dashing into the street. "Catch, boy! Stop 'em!"

Among the accomplishments that Gannon had drilled Jim in was throwing a bullock. He did it on a wager to humble the pride of a stockyards man, who claimed to have the best cattle dog that ever headed a steer. It was a pastime that Jim reveled in, and as soon as he saw the runaway horses and heard Gannon's cry, he knew what he had to do. Deploying in the path of the team, Jim waited with every muscle tense, his big red tongue hanging out, and his eyes glowing like fire. He let the horses get within 20 feet of him, then bounding forward to meet them sprung for the muzzle of the nearest. The white fangs sank into the delicate skin of the horse's nose, and the full weight of the canine giant was thrown downward and backward towards the bay's knees. The overcheck rein snapped, and the horse went down with Jim between his legs. The coachman was thrown forward and nearly broke the other horse's back. Gannon and a dozen other men crowded around the horses. Jim was badly hurt, but held to the horse till he heard Gannon's voice ordering him to let go. Then he limped to his owner and wagged his tail feebly but proudly.

"Pardon me, sir; are you the owner of the dog that stopped those horses?" Gannon told the stout old gentleman who had addressed him that he was.

"I want to thank you, sir, and the dog, too. I am Mr. Chesbrough—Nicholas Chesbrough, and those ladies whose lives your dog saved are my daughter and my niece. What is your name?

Gannon gave the stout old gentleman his card, and said he was happy to think that his dog had been of service, and hoped the ladies were not hurt.

"Not a particle; not a particle. Here they are now."

Gannon was introduced to The Woman, and the thin girl, and Jim licked the hand of The Woman with undisguised affection.

"He acts as if he knew you," said Gannon.

"I do believe he is Hector," said The Woman. "I had a dog just like him, and he disappeared two years and a half ago, just before we went to Europe."

"Jim, do you know this lady?" said Gannon.

Jim barked joyfully.

"Possibly he is your dog. If he is—"

"No; you mustn't say you'll give him up," interrupted The Woman. "But you'll bring him to see us, won't you?"

And Gannon did, not once, but often, and now when The Woman goes for a stroll Jim walks with her.

Napping on the Bench.

By the decision in the Illinois appellate court that a judge may take a nap on the bench without invalidating the proceedings a witty rejoinder of the late Senator Evarts is recalled. It was in the state constitutional convention of 1867, and the proposition was to retire all judges at the age of 70. Martin I. Townsend, of Troy, the comparative Round-Head of the bar and stump, told of having seen the venerable Chancellor Walworth asleep on the bench. "The honorable gentleman does not tell us," said Mr. Evarts in reply, "whether he was present as counsel or as a spectator on the occasion of which he speaks so feelingly, but it is well known to the members of the bar that the venerable chancellor never slept when anything was transpiring worthy of his attention."—N. There is only one living ex-president now, Grover Cleveland, who recently celebrated his sixty-fourth birthday. In the latter part of the term of John Adams there was no ex-president, Washington having died in 1799. In the early part of the term of John Quincy Adams there were four living ex-presidents—John Adams, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe.

It is estimated that fully 10,000 "laws" will have been enacted before all the legislatures adjourn. That is to say, the 30 lawmaking bodies, exclusive of congress, that assembled the past winter will have passed and the governors of the various states will have signed that number of good, bad and indifferent bills. Last year there were 13 legislatures in session and they enacted 5,772 new laws.

In these days of advanced civilization many things long considered harmless and innocent are being put on the tabooed list. A New York doctor denounced the matinee habit of society women, a clergyman in that city has attacked progressive euchre, a lecturer at a woman's club meeting has made the rafters ring with his denunciation of ice cream soda, and now a scientist says chocolate creams are full of microbes.

The Spanish-American War Veterans association now has 199 camps in 36 states of the union. Pennsylvania has the largest number, 32; and a number of the states have only one camp each. It is thought the number of camps will be largely increased, for all the volunteers in the Spanish-American war are admissible, and it is the object of this organization to perpetuate the labor of the G. A. R., and it is founded upon the same lines.

A New Yorker claims to have invented a telephone that will do away with telephone girls, and such things as telephone exchanges will be operated on the automatic plan. If the scheme is feasible the patron of the company manipulates a circular switchboard and then presses a button when the desired number comes in sight. If there is a buzzing sound the line is in use and you will have to wait a few seconds. If there is no buzzing you can take down the receiver and find that you have your desired connection.

For 58 years the four congressional districts of Connecticut have remained the same, each consisting of two counties. The new apportionment introduces a new district to the happy family and it being found impossible to cut the state into five districts without giving an undue representation to some portion of the state, the additional member will be elected from the state at large. In almost any other state the additional district would be hailed with delight, and half a hundred politicians would preempt it at once.

The Pacific Mail liners seem to be followed by misfortune as the Rio de Janeiro is the twentieth of that company's vessels to be wrecked and lost. The Rio has been a "hoodoo" vessel for ten years. In 1890 she was in collision with the British steamer Bombay, and was badly damaged; in 1895 she went ashore on the coast of Japan; in 1896 she ran out of coal at sea and had to burn her cabin furnishings as fuel; in 1899 she was in collision with an unknown vessel off the coast of Japan, and now she is wrecked and completely lost.

It is proverbial that American affairs are misunderstood in England. Hence it is not surprising to hear a London paper advising us to "set our face strongly against brutality and encourage boxing." This is just what we have been doing. For years we have not tolerated any brutality, but we have encouraged boxing. Most of our leading cities have given every facility to light and graceful sparring matches, and even when, every now and then, a man was killed and the coroner's jury censured somebody, the manly boxing matches went on.

The largest apartment house in the world is now going up in New York city. W. E. D. Stokes, the builder, is a trifle skeptical himself in regard to the building, and says he does not know whether the structure will be a monument to his skill or to his asininity. The building will be 17 stories high, a block square, and will cost $5,000,000. There will be 2,300 rooms, the dining-room on the top floor will be the largest in the world, and there will be a swimming pool in the basement large enough to accommodate 500 people. It will be completed in 1904.

SWEPT BY A CYCLONE.

Death and Destruction the Result at Birmingham, Ala.—Storms in Other States.

Birmingham, Ala., March 26.—Shortly before ten o'clock Monday morning a fearful tornado, traveling in an easterly direction, swept over the southern part of this city. The number of killed is estimated at 25, of whom five are white. The destruction of property is placed at a quarter of a million dollars. Eighteen bodies had been recovered up to seven p. m., and scores of injured have been removed to the hospitals. Among the dead are Dr. G. C. Chapman, of the firm of Tally & Chapman, who conduct a private infirmary in this city, and the wife and infant child of Hon. Robert J. Lowe, chairman of the democratic state executive committee.

The storm struck the city in the extreme southwestern corner, and plowed its way eastward, leaving a path 150 feet wide through the entire southern section, extending from Green Springs on the west to Avondale on the east, and continued its course until its fury was spent in the mountains beyond Irondale, a small town six miles east of the city.

The altitude of the cyclone was not more than 75 feet. The negro shanties and cottages in the lowlands in the path of the storm were the principal sufferers. The larger residences on the higher grounds suffered but slightly.

Bessemer, Pratt City, Ensley, North Birmingham and other suburban towns were visited by the storm, and in each much destruction was wrought, but no loss of life is reported. Many houses were demolished at Pratt City, including a number of churches.

Milwaukee, March 26.—The heavy rain and thaw throughout Wisconsin for the past three days has caused high water in many places throughout the state, and several business firms have been compelled to suspend operation temporarily at least. Sheboygan, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Saukville and this city are having the worst experience.

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 26.—A cyclone struck the town of Pavilion, a small village 25 miles southeast of Kalamazoo, which wrecked a number of houses, uprooting trees, tore down telegraph poles and did much other damage. One woman who was ill in one of the houses blown down is reported fatally hurt, and many others injured.

REVOLT IN RUSSIA.

The Situation Is Regarded as Very Serious—Public Officials Are Threatened.

St. Petersburg, March 25.—The political situation is so serious that Emperor Nicholas held a meeting of the ministers Sunday to consider the state of public affairs. Threatening letters have been received by Lieut. Gen. Kouropatkine, minister of war; M. N. V. Mouravieff, minister of justice, and M. Sipiagnine, minister of the interior. Renewed demonstrations on a great scale are expected to-day. It is reported that Prince Viazemsky has been disgraced for petitioning the czar to consider the grievances of the students. Lagowski, the provincial official who last Friday attempted to assassinate Privy Councilor Pobodonostzeff, procurator general of the holy synod, is a disciple of Count Leo Tolstoi, and he has asserted that the act was out of revenge for the excommunication of Tolstoi.

According to a special dispatch to the Rossya, the governor general of Kieff, Gen. Dragomiroff, has published a riot ordinance similar to that published by Gen. Klejgels in St. Petersburg, and declaring that the military will be called out unless the ordinance is strictly obeyed.

Passed Election Bill.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—The Wisconsin assembly passed the La Follette primary election bill by a majority of three after a spectacular fight, one member leaving a sick bed and another postponing his son's funeral to vote against it. The bill constitutes the hardest blow at boss rule thus far proposed in the United States. It provides for the nomination of candidates directly by the people at a primary election which is to be held by both parties on the same day. All caucuses and conventions are to be wiped out, and the people will vote direct for the candidate they wish to be nominated for any office.

Deadly Mine Explosion.

Connellsville, Pa., March 26.—The first and most fatal mine explosion to occur in the new Klondike region of Fayette county happened Monday. One man was killed instantly, five will die, and ten are burned and crushed so terribly that it is doubtful if they will recover. The body of the dead man is missing, the injured men have been brought to the Cottage state hospital, and as a result of the explosion the mine is on fire. The cause of the explosion was an accumulation of gas in the heading of the Gates mine.

Damage by Blazing Oil.

New York, March 25.—A river of flaming oil swept down upon the little village of Glen Gardner, N. J., while its inhabitants were asleep Sunday morning, and reduced 11 buildings, stores and residences to ashes. The conflagration was extraordinary in character and in its origin. The village is in a valley along the line of the Jersey Central railroad. The wreck of a train of oil tank cars, followed by an explosion, caused the conflagration. The loss is estimated at from $60,000 to $70,000.

One-Cent Rate Granted.

Cleveland, O., March 22.—An important meeting of railway men was held at the Hollenden hotel in this city Thursday, at which the one-cent a mile rate promised for the Grand Army of the Republic national encampment to be held in Cleveland next September was formally promulgated. FUNSTON'S BOLD PLAN.

Posing as a Prisoner of War He Enters Enemy's Country to Attempt Capture of Aguinaldo.

Manila, March 25.—Gen. Funston is now engaged in a daring project which promises to be the greatest and most romantic achievement of his eventful career. In January, from his hiding place in the province of Isabella, Aguinaldo wrote letters anathematizing the subchiefs who had taken the oath of allegiance to the United States. Later, Aguinaldo ordered insurgent forces in southern Luzon to join him at a rendezvous in Isabella province. The rebel officer intrusted with these orders secretly negotiated with the Americans. On securing necessary information Gen. Funston planned Aguinaldo's capture and, with Gen. MacArthur's authorization, Gen. Funston proceeded two weeks ago to make the attempt.

Gen. Funston, with Surgeon Major Harris; Capt. Newton, of the Thirty-fourth infantry; Lieut. Admire, of the Twenty-second infantry; Lieut. Mitchell, of the Fortieth infantry; six veteran scouts and a company of native scouts, all picked men, embarked on the gunboat Vicksburg and were landed on a remote beach above Baler.

It was arranged that Aguinaldo's emissary, with the native scouts, should pass themselves off as insurgent troops who, having captured Gen. Funston and others, were taking them as prisoners to Aguinaldo.

At the right time, when brought before Aguinaldo, Gen. Funston was to give a signal, when the tables were to be turned and Aguinaldo was to be seized. Six days' march into the interior were contemplated. Treachery was considered possible, but every precaution was taken. The troops in New Vizcaya and New Ecija and the gunbcats Vicksburg and Albany were to cooperate with Gen. Funston's force. The Vicksburg is expected here.

SAYS AFFAIR IS SETTLED.

Waldersee Submits a Report to Berlin on the Anglo-Russian Dispute at Tientsin.

Berlin, March 23.—The war office has received the following from Count von Waldersee:

"The Anglo-Russian dispute at Tientsin has been settled from a military standpoint in a manner satisfactory to both parties at a conference between Gen. Wogack and Barrow. Both guards and posts have been withdrawn and salutes have been exchanged.

"The British declare that no offense to the Russian flag was intended and that the alleged removal of the Russian boundary marks was neither by the command nor with the knowledge of the military authorities.

"The work on the disputed land will not be continued until the governments have reached an agreement as to its possession or until a special understanding has been attained."

St. Petersburg, March 23.—A dispatch from Peking, giving the Russian version of the Tientsin affair, says: "The British military authorities have acknowledged that the disputed land was at the time under the protection of the Russian government, and that three Russian boundary posts had been removed without their knowledge. The difference will now be carefully settled by judicial investigations."

London, March 25.—According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times, wiring Saturday, Count Lamsdorff, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, has agreed with Great Britain to submit the Tientsin railway siding dispute to the arbitration and settlement of Count von Waldersee.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S HAIR.

Its Profusion, at Her Age, Had Always Been a Wonder.

Over 80 years old, Queen Victoria yet had luxuriant hair, which for years was a marvel. The court physician, following Prof. Unna's discovery, treated her Majesty's scalp with a germ destroying preparation which he always kept secret. It is now known, however, that the remedy for dandruff, the germ destroying element, is embodied in Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation on the market that does destroy the dandruff germ. Without dandruff, hair will grow profusely, and falling hair will be stopped. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

NEARLY GONE.

Mrs. Julia A. Mallahan, of Owosso, Mich., Has a Very Narrow Escape —The Doctor Had Little Hope.

Owosso, Mich., March 25 (Special). —Elite Rebekah Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F., of this town, came very nearly losing their esteemed and capable Secretary, Mrs. Julia A. Mallahan. Mrs. Mallahan caught a severe cold last winter, and like many others, failed to recognize the dangerous possibilities until it had settled in her kidneys, and left her with very severe bearing down pains and almost constant back-ache. It almost carried her off. Mrs. Mallahan tells the story this way:—

"I caught a cold last winter, which I neglected until it settled in my kidneys, causing severe bearing down pains and almost constant back-ache. My health had previously been so good, that I paid little attention to these symptoms, until the disease had gone so far, that my doctor entertained but a slight hope of my recovery.

Fortunately, one of our Lodge Members mentioned Dodd's Kidney Pills. Her description of the cures they had effected sounded like a fairy tale, but I sent for a box, deciding to give them a trial. I soon found that she had but half told the story of what they could do. I bless the day I first tried them, and have nothing but the highest praise for them."

Many very valuable lives have been saved by the timely use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and not a few of these have been in Owosso and other neighboring Michigan towns. There seems to be no case of kidney trouble or back-ache that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure.

They are 50c. a box, six boxes for $2.50. Buy them from your local druggist if you can. If he cannot supply you, send to the Dodds Medicine Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

Bills are Being Rapidly Introduced and Sent on Their Way by the Committee of the Whole. But Few Have Become Laws.

St. Paul, March 20.—Each branch of the legislature is devoting its energies to passing its own bills, without giving much attention to the bills from the other house. This is really a wise move, as it gives each house a chance, during the latter days of the session, to actually make some laws by having its own decks cleared and taking up bills which have passed one branch. The present result is, however, that there are not many laws being absolntely enacted, but more than the usual number are in process.

The senate passed the house drainage bill, appropriating $50,000 for drainage of swamp lands.

Four bills were introduced in the senate yesterday, overhauling the health commissioners of the state and making more stringent provision against the spread of contagious diseases.

Per contra the senate killed the bill forbidding the intermarriage of feeble minded and offensively diseased persons.

Among the bills passed by the house were the two which appropriated some $1,200 for the expenses of the election contest from Le Sueur county. Another bill passed prohibits attorneys from advertising to secure divorce cases.

The governor has signed the bill appropriating $20,000 for the state exhibit at the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo, and has appointed H. P. Hall of St. Paul, O. D. Kinney of Duluth and John Morton of Steele county as the three commissioners to have the matter in charge. He has also signed the bills providing for loans to farmers who suffered by storm or drougth to purchase seed grain.

The senate spent two or three hours considering the board of control bill, which has passed the house. They decided to bring the state university under the supervision of the board and adjournod with the rest of the bill in the air.

St. Paul, March 20.—The only bill presented in the house yesterday was a substitute for the meat inspection bill, which it was claimed would destroy the meat industry of the state.

The only bill of importance passed by the senate was one preventing easy divorce.

The senate was due to have an interesting session in the afternoon, but the death of Rev. W. W. Lewis, the senate chaplain, was announced, and the senate immediately adjourned.

The house was the storm center, over the bill increasing the gross earnings tax from 3 to 4 per cent. Representatives Jacobson and J. A. Peterson championed the bill, and Laybourn of Duluth opposed it. The debate was so protracted that an afternoon session was held, when, by a vote of 62 to 51, the house refused to send the bill to the committee of the whole. This virtually defeats the bill. An effort was then made to send the bill to the tax commission, but the speaker ruled that while the subject matter could be sent to the tax commission, the bill itself could not. It was then made a special order for today.

During the debate Mr. Jacobson alleged there had been bribery, and offered a resolution for an investigating committee, which was adopted.

The resolution to adjourn April 5 was postponed until Saturday.

St. Paul, Minn. March 22—The house was still excited yesterday over the gross earnings bill and the charges of corruption made by Jacobson and Washburn. Representatives Mallory, Whitford, Wells, Johnson and Lee were appointed the investigating committee to smoke out the alleged corruption. In accordance with the preliminary vote Wednesday the subject matter of the gross earnings tax on railroads was refered to the tax commission by a vote of 60 to 51.

The bill itself was laid on the table and ordered printed with the amendments so that it is possible it may be heard from again.

The senate had a lively debate over the anti-trust bill but finally passed it with only 2 negative votes. This was the only important bill passed by the senate.

Chaplain Lewis, whose death was announced, practically sacrificed his life in order to discharge his public duties. His physicians forbid his leaving his home but he insisted on going to the senate and the physician threw up the case. It was quite appropriate therefore for the senate to pass a resolution giving his widow the remainder of the pay which would have been due him if he had lived throughout the session. A committee of six was appointed to attend the funeral. Rev. H. A. Chouinaid, of St. Peter, who was a candidate for chaplain at the outset and defeated by Mr. Lewis, was elected chaplain for the remainder of the term.

The senate passed a resolution calling upon the oil inspector to report the names of his deputies and the districts each work in.

The usual buncombe game appeared in a bill offered to limit future sessions to 80 days.

St. Paul, March 23.—The senate passed the board of control bill yesterday by a vote of 40 to 16, with the amendment that the state university and other educational institutions shall be placed in charge of the new board. An effort will be made in the house to strike out this amendment.

Senator Chilton's marriage bill was resurrected and amended so that when parties wishing to marry can secure a health certificate from a physician showing that they are in sound mental condition the ceremony can proceed. In this form the bill passed. The bill reducing interest on state land contracts was also passed.

The corruption investigation in the house is exciting considerable interest, but it looks as if it would not amount to much. It is now alleged that all the talk about boodle was done as a matter of a joke, and the parties supposed to be implicated say they never were offered anything or heard of anything being offered.

The reapportionment bill, which was in the hands of a conference committee, has been finally agreed to, and has gone to the governor for his signature.

The house passed the bill allowing municipal employes to be garnisheed, by a large majority. Quite a number of bills were passed by the house, but they were only of local interest.

St. Paul, March 25.—After almost innumerable delays, the house at last reached a vote on the early adjournment question Saturday. The senate voted two or three weeks ago to adjourn on the 5th of April, but the house voted to make the date April 15. When the resolution reached the senate, that body refused to concur, and appointed a conference committee with a view of agreeing upon April 11th or 12th. The latter date was finally agreed upon. If the full session had been held the date of adjournment would have been April 25.

The oil inspection fight has finally terminated by the agreement of the conference committee to have the bill go into effect after the term of the present incumbent has expired, and now it is reported that the governor may veto the whole thing.

A bill was introduced in the senate appropriating $6,000 for the attorneys for the state in litigating the land grant of the Duluth & Iron Range railway.

The following are the new congressional districts as finally agreed upon:

First District — Dodge, Fillmore, Freeborn, Houston, Mower, Olmstead, Steele, Wabasha, Waseca, Winona. Population, 210,164.

Second—Blue Earth, Brown, Cottonwood, Faribault, Jackson, Martin, Murray, Nobles, Pipestone, Rock, Watonwan. Population, 175,174.

St. Paul, March 26.—The legislature will adjourn at noon, Friday, April 12. The report of the conference made to the senate and house on Monday was agreed to by both branches of the legislature. Now the legislators know where they are at. April 1 will be the last day for introducing new bills. After that date any bill proposed must be accompanied by a message from the governor. April 11 is the last day on which bills may be passed. There are about 1,000 new measures in the hands of the two houses, so there is work in plenty on hand.

The house passed the resolution giving the bribery investigating committee power to send for persons and papers and compel the attendance of witnesses, also requiring the committee to report none but legal evidence. When this committee will meet is uncertain.

The senate bill extending the probation system to all juvenile delinquents under 21 years passed the house under suspension of the rules.

The house cleared up the calendar yesterday, passing several bills, none of them of importance.

The senate did but little work, played horse with general orders and did not touch the calendar. Senator Du Toit introduced a bill to make half of the senators elective every two years and provide for a constitutional amendment to give it effect.

The board of control bill was in the hands of the conference committee yesterday. The general expectation is that, when reported back by this committee, it will be in shape to pass.

The Dunn primary election bill, which has passed the house, is in the keeping of the senate committee on elections. The machine politicians are trying to load it up with amendments according to their desires, and how the bill will look when it comes out is a problem, that makes the probability of the passage of an acceptable bill look doubtful at this time.

Popularity of Name Washington.

Not counting the national capital there are 44 towns and cities bearing the name of Washington. No doubt more communities would have thus honored the memory of the father of his country but for the prohibition of the post office department of more than one post office of the same name in a state. There is in nearly every state a county called Washington. But the most popular use of the name has come to light in the pension bureau. In certain parts of the country a rushing business is being done by attorneys in applications for pensions on behalf of colored soldiers who served during the civil war. The attention of the bureau has been called to one regiment in which, according to the rolls, 28 colored George Washingtons served. A single company shows a membership of 13 George Washingtons by the applications filed.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Big Premiums.

The premiums for the great "breed show" of Shorthorn cattle, to be conducted at the Minnesota state fair of 1901, are announced by officers of the American Shorthorn Breeders' association. The event will be a memorable one in every way and will give a new impetus to Shorthorn cattle breeding throughout Minnesota and the whole northwest. It will also make one of the important features at the next state fair, attracting live stock men, not only in Minnesota, but from the Dakotas, Montana, Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin and other states.

All entries for this competion must be made with B. O. Cowan, assistant secretary, Springfield, Ill., not later than Aug. 15. An auction sale of pure-bred Shorthorns will be held in connection with the exhibition.

AN INHERITANCE IN WESTERN CANADA.

Indian Reservations and Other New Districts to Be Opened Up This Year.

In the Great Saskatchewan Valley, and the Fertile Plains of Assiniboia.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir: The past three or four years have demonstrated to a large number of Americans the value of the grain-growing and ranching lands of western Canada. Tens of thousands have taken advantage of the offer made by the Canadian government as well as of the exceedingly low prices asked for lands by the railway, colonization and other companies. The experience of those who have been settled there for some little time is of a highly gratifying character. So much so that the Canadian government, who has control of the immigration into western Canada, has decided to open up some new districts this year in the well-known Saskatchewan valley, and also in the fertile plains of Assiniboia. These districts are probably the most productive in the entire west and in close touch to largely settled communities, as well as being situated on some of the most important lines of railway. They are within easy reach of markets, schools, churches and other social advantages. In some of these districts lands may be homesteaded as well as purchased outright at very low prices. Now as to what can be done on these lands. The evidence of the settlers in the neighborhood of the lands now about to be opened for settlement (some of them being located in one of the best Indian reservations) goes to show that the very best results have followed even most indifferent methods. Cases are given where farmers having gone there with most limited means, barely enough to erect a small house and break up a little land, have in three or four years' time become prosperous, all debts paid and money in the bank. The soil in the districts mentioned, Assiniboia and Saskatchewan, is a rich black loam, 15 inches to three feet deep. As a settler says: "It appears like the accumulation of decayed vegetation and ashes for centuries (the subsoil is a stiff putty clay)." On this soil it is possible to raise from 40 to 50 bushels of wheat to the acre; oats, 75 to 100 bushels, all of which bring good prices at the local market. For mixed farming these new districts are probably among the best in western Canada. Stock fatten easily on the wild grasses. Hay is plentiful, and prices splendid. Another settler writing to a friend in Iowa says: "The climate is all that could be desired, plenty of rainfall in summer, with no hot, dry winds. On the 28th of September I saw prairie flowers in full bloom, sweet corn, potato and tomato vines that had not been touched a particle with frost, and the winters are milder than those in the state from which I came. After the holidays the winter sets in clear and cold, with plenty of snow for good sleighing; no high winds or blizzards are known. Horses live out all winter and pick their own living, while cattle live all winter in open sheds and around the hay ricks. Wheat, oats and barley are the principal grain crops. Potatoes and all other roots and vegetables do well, the yield being enormous as compared to those in the states. Wild fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries, cranberries, gooseberries and all varieties of currants yield in abundance. As a reader of your valuable paper for a number of years, I feel that I should inform you of the progress and advancement being made in Canada within the past few years and the inducements and advantages that will follow settlement in western Canada. Those who desire information can do as I did, and apply to any agent of the Canadian government, whose name, I see, appears in advertisements appearing elsewhere in the columns of your paper, and when writing ask particularly about the Saskatchewan Valley or Assiniboia Districts. Yours truly,

"OLD READER."

Bows and Beaux.

Nervous Prostration.

A Noted Boston Woman Describes its Symptoms and Terrors.—Two Severe Cases Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I am so nervous! no one ever suffered as I do! There isn't a well inch in my body. I honestly believe my lungs are diseased, my chest pains me so, but I have no cough. I am so weak at my stomach, and have indigestion terribly, and palpitation of the heart; am losing flesh; and this headache and backache nearly kills me, and yesterday I had hysterics.

"There is a weight in the lower part of my bowels, bearing down all the time, with pains in my groins and thighs—I can't sleep, walk, or sit, and blue—oh goodness! I am simply the most miserable of women."

This is a most vivid description of a woman suffering with nervous prostration, caused by inflammation or some other diseased condition of the womb.

No woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is no need of it. Read about Miss Williamson's case and how she was cured.

Two Bad Cases of Nervous Prostration Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM;—I was suffering such tortures from nervous prostration that life was a burden. I could not sleep at all, and was too weak to walk across the floor. My heart was affected so that often I could not lie down at all without almost suffocating. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like magic. I feel that your medicine has been of inestimable benefit to me."

MISS ADELE WILLIAMSON, 196 N. Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga.

"I had nervous prostration terribly, caused by female weakness. I suffered everything; was unable to eat, sleep, or work. After a while I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I really began to improve on taking the first bottle. I continued to take the medicine, and am now better in every way, and feel like a different person. I am simply a well woman."

UNDER THE SNOW.

Ghastly Truths Revealed on the Disappearance of Winter's White Mantle.

Deadly dangers lurk in the ground left bare by the departing snow. All Winter long there have been accumulating deadly disease germs.

These have been protected and kept alive by the covering of snow and now, with the first warm days, these death-bringing microbes are awakened by the rays of the sun, and as the ground dries they are carried to all corners of the community in the dust that is blown everywhere by the Spring winds.

The human body at this time is particularly susceptible to these germs, especially the germs of fevers. The system has been depleted by the foregoing Winter. The blood is sluggish and filled with impurities. The nerves have not recovered from the tension they have been under for the past months. The stomach, the bowels, the kidneys, the liver are all at their worst.

It is therefore, not strange that these germs of disease find fertile ground in which to thrive, flourish and develop into deadly ills.

Spring is the time of year when one should fear an attack of fever, especially when the system is depleted, one should dread any severe illness. The vitality is at a low ebb. There is less power of resistance to throw off disease, and it is on this account that fatalities are so much greater during the Spring months than at any other time of the year.

There is but one way to ward off such dangers, and that is to fortify the human body so that it will become impregnable to the germs of invading disease.

To do this take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will build you up quickly, it will reestablish your waning appetite, it will give you restful nights of sleep, it will give vim and vigor to the nerves, and it will dispel all existing poisons that have accumulated in the body besides counteracting the effects of others that may accumulate.

Following is an instance that will illustrate the wonderful power of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

Sheriff Jonas T. Stevens, who is sheriff of Hyde Park, Vt., says:—"I have used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy especially as a blood purifier. I had a very severe humor on my arms, accompanied by a very bad itching, so severe that I could not sleep nights, causing me great inconvenience by the loss of sleep by the itching. A friend advised me to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which I did with the most satisfactory results, for the trouble has entirely disappeared, and I can now rest comfortably nights and have none of my former misery from the burning, itching sensations."

Remember Dr. Greene's advice will be given to any one desiring the same absolutely free if they will write or call upon him at his office, 35 W. 14th St., New York City.

DELANO, FRIDAY, MAR. ,29 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—Roads this week have been much like mortar beds. Regular spring traveling.

—Spring has arrived. Last Sunday two robins made their appearance; and several crows have been cawing over town. A few gardeners have planted their seeds for early tomatoes.

—George P. Schaffer is having a nice ornamental metal ceiling put in his store. He is surely putting on metropolitan airs now. Hanseman and Coffin are doing the work.

—Complaints are frequent that Delano saloons are running gambling devices, allowing young boys, and older ones who don't know any better, to squander their money and waste their time. The law is plain on the subject and the village officers are sworn to discharge their duties. Let them get a move on 'em: and on the gambling devices.

—People are doing their spring moving and getting located for the summer. Peter Nolan last week moved onto the little farm recently purchased by him and known as the Brothers property, on the Watertown road. Harris Williams moved to the Jenkins farm east of Rockford, and C. W. Williams has moved into the house lately occupied by Harris.

—Fred Brandes, of Leudeman was a Delano visitor, Monday. He was celebrating the 42nd anniversary of his marriage. At the time of his wedding he was living in Pine County near what is now Pine City. His sweet heart and himself went by stage to St. Paul, at $10 each for fare, in search of a priest to marry them. Traveling is much easier, and cheaper now a days and priests more plenty.

—Lafavette Nelson met with quite a serious accident Tuesday while doing some Great Northern bridge work near Dassel. He was at work with an adz trimming one of the big timbers when in some way the adz slipped in his hands and struck his right foot, cutting a deep gash in that member. There was no doctor to be summoned in that village and Mr. Nelson was compelled to remain in this painful condition for several hours.

—On Monday morning at a very early hour Marshal Merriman noticed a strong scent of gasoline. He followed the scent to learn that a stream was running into the river from Cooper's oil tank. He notified Cooper, who soon learned that the tank, which the night before contained 1227 gallons of gasoline, was now empty. It is claimed that a pipe froze and bursted, but did not leak until the warm weather had melted the ice and allowed thegasoline to escape.

—Third Street crossing is a dangerous place, and the railroad company should either have a flagman there, at train times, or require the Cargill Company to move their warehouse, and people to quit piling wood quite so high, near the track. Trains go thundering through town about as fast as they can run; cars are sometimes allowed to come down grade alone, without an engine, and people with teams, or on foot, often have narrow escapes. The village council should see to it that this matter is attended to at once.

—Soon the rattle of the seeder will be heard, drilling the seed for what we hope will be a bountiful crop. We are among those who believe that a seed time and harvest will come, every year, and that in order to reap the harvest we should be on the lookout for seed time and get the grain into the ground at the earliest moment that the ground is in condition. Those who wait for wind and weather, are apt to get left. The ground is made to sow the grain in, and the time when the ground is in condition is the time to put in the seed.

—The Weeping Water Republican, (Neb.) comes to us this week marked No. 1, Vol. XX. It also has a new head. It is one of the oldest and best papers in Nebraska. It wants a new building but claims to be too poor to build now. It seems as if twenty years of faithful services rendered to so large a community as is supplied with news by the Republican, ought to entitle it to a surplus sufficient to procure a new home. If the readers would all pay cash in advance we presume the Republican would soon have a palatial home. Too many read the editor's paper instead of their own for too many years. Pay up and see how much better the paper will read.

—As spring approaches and muddy roads appear the discussion of "good roads" is opened up again. Nothing can help a good live town more than good highways, travelable in all kinds of weather, in every direction. People had sooner drive five miles over a good road to trade, or to sell a load of grain, pork, hay or other produce than one mile over hills, mud and rough roads, they are in less fear of breaking their wagons, injuring their horses or themselves. A good surveyor to establish grades, and to make a note where dirt should be moved and where not, and to specify direstions for making a good road, should do such work for the entire country, then good road bosses should see that the work is done to the lines.

—The ice in the river is breaking and has begun to float down stream.

—The weather bureau predicted a heavy fall of snow on Monday night. But it didn't come in our neighborhood.

—Reports came to town that Peter Schaust had come down with smallpox and his place had been quarantined.

—Quarantine is being raised at J. S. Cooper's today, under the supervision of Dr. J. P. O'Connor. This leaves Delano free from quarantine.

—Some of Delano's book readers have gone through "High Joe" and "Daughter of a Republican" this week. They seem to enjoy them very much.

—Now that the buds are swelling, and the birds are singing and joyous spring has come, it would be in order to hold the annual unveiling ceremonies of the Mayor's Monument.

—As John Dahlgren was driving to the creamery this morning, he took his lightest farm wagon, but found the roads too rough and broke a front wheel down at Third Street crossing.

—The Ladies Aid of the M. E. church had a tea at the home of Mrs. Fred Knoll yesterday afternoon. It is claimed to have been more than usually successful in the object for which it was held.

—The corn market is good now, and good corn brings 40 cts per bushel. Manipultor Philipps has again cornered the Chicago market. Prices are liable to take a tumble whenever the bubble bursts.

—Teachers are to be employed April 20. for the next year. We understand some changes are to be made. Delano deserves a good school. The way to have it is to employ competent and willing teachers pay them living wages.

—On Tuesday three suits of the Minneapolis Threshing Machine Co., against P. H. McNeely, Frank Polingo and C. H. Ferrel were brought before Justice Walter. A continuance for one week was granted in each case.

—John Klapperich, who has been suffering from Empyema for some weeks was operated on Monday, by Drs. Chilton, O'Connor and Catlin. An opening was made between the ribs allowing a large quantity of pus to escape; the thoracic cavity was well washed out; drainage tubes were inserted and the young man left in a much more comfortable condition than before. He seems to be making a good recovery.

—The Delano Territorial Association met last evening at the home of J. D. Young, a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. It was moved and carried That a committee of three be appointed by the president to make arrangements for a celebration of the anniversary of the admission of Minnesota as a state, May 11. President Hoising ton appointed as such committee. J. D. Young, John Cunningham and Dr. Catlin. The next meeting of the society will be at Dr. Catlin's Thursday evening, April 11.

—Farmers who wish to be posted on "Bugs Injuourious to Our Cultivated Plants" should send to the State Agricultural Experiment Station for "Bulletin no 69." These bulletins are mailed free to all residents of the state who apply for them. No. 69 has 274 pages with some fine cuts, and gives remedies for plant distroying insects. Address J. A Vye, Secretary, Agricultural School so you can post up, and talk intelligently on these subjects, and possibly save many dollars worth of grain, trees, shrubs, etc., etc.

—The Eagle true to her buzzard instincts, takes another dig at the Board of Health this week. If she would tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, it would be all right. But it seems impossible for her to correct her reputation, long since established. Her Editor may think it "cute" to place a (?) after "outside guard who had been doing duty (?)", thus: But if he desired to be honest he would, when notified of the mistake, correct it, and not tell the outside guard that it "means nothing". If it "means nothing" how would the Eagle editor like to have his name paraded in the papers as a synonyme of all that is good and honest (?). If the Eagle editor knows of any instance where the outside guard broke quarantine we would like for him to produce his evidence or quit using "(?)" that he says "means nothing". If they "mean nothing" to the Eagle, they may be construed to mean something by other people of sufficient intelligence to know what interrogation points are for.

Howard Lake is now having smallpox and diptheria. It is well for people to be on their guard not to expose themselves or families more than is actually necessary.

Wonder if that Duluth, St. Cloud and Glencoe R. R. isn't the same concern that started in to have an Elk River Mankato Crow River Valley railroad via Rockford, Delano, Watertown and Glencoe a few years ago.

Regulation of the Liquor Traffic as We find it in Delano.

E. G. WRIGHT.

EDITOR OF THE GAZETTE: Having recently visited your town and found that the system of so called regulation of the liquor traffic prevails, I wish to call your attention to what may be to your readers an object lesson. I found six of those institutions called saloons, and was assured that they were well regulated, and that the full amount of money, as provided by law, had been collected. If there is any virtue in the license system this should be discernible in results. For the evidence of what we may call resuts I refer you to a slip cut from your cotemporary paper, the editor of which I found to be a gentleman, and who assured me it was just as described in the Eagle of Feb'y 7. 1901:

If the legislature would quit making new laws and would find some method of compelling public officers to enforce what statutes are already on the books it would do something worth talking about. Gambling devices in saloons are prohibited by law, yet card playing, dice throwing and slot gambling machines are running in Delano right under the nose of the mayor and council. Saloons are open all day Sunday and at all hours of the night. Young boys are encouraged to drink and gamble every where and the rising generation is led to the edge of destruction and ruin by the very men who are sworn to uphold the law. The only wonder is that a few more Mrs. Nations don't get to work.

To make assurance doubly sure I brought this to the notice of not less than thirty of your leading citizens, all of whom, with one accord said: "Yes that is so." I also found that while all seemed to regret the conditions here described a still more lamentable result is that with one accord they seem to look upon it as not possible to be remedied. To the question "What will you do about it?" the one answer was nothing. "We cannot do anything about it." Is this not, indeed a lamentable condition? Does it become an American?

Mr. Editor, is this not a case of utter failure to regulate? And if so, would it not be well to try the following which comes down to us well attested, as being the only remedy worthy of trial? Let us try to honor the great Lincoln by at least trying his prescription as follows:

The liquor traffic is a cancer in society, eating out its vitals and threatening destruction, and all attempts to regulate it will aggravate the evil. There must be no attempts to regulate the cancer, it must be eradicated, not a root must be left behind, for until this is done, all classes must continue in danger of becoming victims of strong drink.

Norwood Times: A representative of the Boer cause was in town Monday appealing for funds. We have not learned of his success.

St. Cloud Times: An Otter Tail county member of the House proposes to send a large portion of the doctors of the State to jail. He has introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor for physicians or surgeons to administer medicines or perform operations when under the influence of liquor.

St. Cloud Times: Of course it isn't right to look a gift horse in the mouth, but the giving of $100,000 each by Pierpont Morgan and J. D. Rockefeller to the Y. M. C. A. of New York, so soon after the formation of the big steel trust, will be sure to strike the cynical as a case of "conscience."

St. Cloud Times: According to Washington gossip, Mr. McKinley wants Congress to authorize him to acquire in his discretion either the Nicaraguan or the Panama route for an Isthmian Canal. Humph! Why not ask Congress to adopt a joint resolution transferring all its authority to Mr McKinley at once?

Waseca Herald: It is no longer fashionable or safe to be a vulgar highway robber or thief, as of old; but the refined highwayman who gets through congress or the legislature a law premitting him to commit these crimes in the shape of sugar bounties, ship subsidies or high railroad rates is a statesman, a philanthropist, a great man! See?

St. Peter Free Press: When shortly before the beginning of hostilities between England and the Boer republics in South Africa President Kruger made the prediction that war against his people would be at cost of life and property that would stagger humanity, a pro English press of this country took particular pains to belittle this statement as the individual opinion of an old, egotistical tyrant, not worthy of serious consideration, and presistently defended, excused and encouraged the destruction of the Boer republics as a political necessity and as a move demanded in be half of advanced civilization. After as tubbornly fought war of sixteen months, however, it became very evident that old Kruger knew the situation far better than his enemies care to give him credit for, and England no doubt would be glad had it never listened to the advice of the gold and diamond mine owners. According to an official table of statistics of casualities sustained by the English forces in South Africa, issued by the war office, the loss from Oct. 10, 1900, to Feb. 1, 1901, has been 14,258 men dead, 1,734 discharged for disability, 937 missing, 16,156 wounded in battle and 40,798 have been invalided home. The total cash expenses have not been given out officially, but are estimated at about three fourths billion dollars. These figures would stagger most any nation, and all in consequence of the resistence of a handfull of liberty loving farmers.

When you move don't forget you cat. Dumb Animals

Sherburne County Star News: The state press is impertinently expressing curiosity as to why the state officers are excepted from the operations of the primary election law. That's easy. The gang then could not control the nominations.

Duluth Herald: Carrie Nation couldn't have caused a greater palpitation among promoters of saloons than the resolution presented in the council last night to limit saloons to 163 till the city attains a population of about 80,000.

Among business men and others the proposition meets with enthusiastic favor and today it is understood that several of the aldermen that were opposed to the plan last night have decided that it is an excellent scheme. Within a short time two Superior Street restaurants will be forced to give up their present locations and seek other stands on account of the financial advantages offered owners of property by breweries. As it is now the saloons are getting many of the choice locations in the business district, and the saloon expansion movement has even threatened the residence portions of the city. At present there is one saloon for every 325 people, and it is said to be sufficient to quench the thirst of even a city composed exclusively of Germans and Kentuckians. Saloonkeepers favor the proposition to limit saloons, but the breweries are expected to put up some strenuous opposition.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22, 1901

Mr. McKinley, Senator Hanna, and Representatives Dick and Grosvenor got their heads together this week and arranged the programme that will be carried out months hence by the republican State convention of Ohio. Of course, the Ohio republicans will thank these gentlemen for having relieved them of all responsibility in the matter of nominating a State ticket, thus enabling them to turn the convention into a ratification picnic. It was decided that the entire State ticket, except Lieutenant Governor Caldwell, should be renominated. He will be turned down because his being the attorney for the State Liquor Dealers Assoiation has got him the enmity of the temperance element. Senator Foraker was not a party to this White House conference, but he dropped in while it was going on asked whether the bossess intended to have the State convention endorse him for reelection. They assured him that the republicans would nave no votes to spare in Ohio this year and that Foraker had following enough to make trouble if he was antagonized. Mr. Foraker then left the Ohio big four to complete their programme.

The deadlock of the powers, in Pekin on the question of the amount of indemnity that shall be demanded of China, is causing the administration to realize that it has been placing too much confidence in Li Hung Chang, that crookedest of all Chinamen. Commissioner Rockhill has asked for new instructions and the administration is in a quandary as to what to say to him.

The death of Hon. Mark S. Brewer, member of the Civil Service Commission, added to Mr. McKinley's worries by making another desirable vacancy for him to fill and for the republican bosses to fight over. So many of the high-salaried positions will be retained to hold-overs that the fight is extraordinarily bitter over everything in sight This has been shown by a cat and dog scrapping over the U. S Commissionerships of the St. Louis Exposition, and the office of Commisioner of Patents, which Mr. Duell has resigned.

In discussing another matter, in a private conversation, a prominent Senator incidentally said of a matter that has been more or less talked about in Washington - the administration's favorite for the republican nomination in 1904: "President McKinley is now serving his second and last term, and everybody is casting about to decide the allimportant question of his successor. In the Senate the reare various gentlemen in whose bonnets the bee is buzzing, but it is evident that the Senator who at present has the best chance of being nominated is Fairbanks, of Ind. Of course it is too early to attempt to pick the winner, but of the Senatorial candidates Fairbanks seems to be the coming man. He is generally regarded as the administration candidate, just as his wife was when she was so easily elected to the office of President of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Everybody who has an axe to grind has an eye on Fairbanks, and is trying to get 'next' to him."

An official of the State Department said of Senator Morgan, whom he had just met leaving the private office of Secretary Hay: "Senator Morgan is a wonderful man, and you can depend upon it he will have ground broken for an American Isthmian canal before he leaves the Senate. I have heard some criticism of his constant talking for the Canal, and this reminds me of a Western senator who blurted out in the cloak room on the republican side, of the chamber, that 'Morgan is dinging on canal again.' He was immediately snapped up by one of the oldest men in the Senate, also a Republican, who said: "Don't you worry about Morgan dinging. We laughed at him when he dinged on Hawaii—and he got Hawaii. We laughed more when he dinged for years on Cuba—and we have just about got Cuba. We are laughing now because he is dinging on the canal and you can depend upon it we'll have a canal. If there were more dingers and fewer ringers in the Senate we would accomplish more.'"

Senator Bacon started this week for the Philippines, where he intends to personally acquaint himself with conditions on the Islands. The information he obtains will be utilized by the democrats at the next session of Congress. As he is a close observer and hard to fool, he will be apt to find out just how things are before he leaves the islands.

The plan of having Rear Admiral Sampson's profile on the medals that are to be prepared by the Navy Department, in accordance with an act of Congress, for presentation to the men who participated in the battle of Santiago, has, it is thought, been headed off. The storm raised by the announcement of the plan frightened its authors.

Secretary Root has found that the politicians have no monopoly in the job of worrying him over army appointments. More than five hundred preachers are after the twenty-three new chaplaincies in the army, which carry the rank of captain and a salary of $2,000 a year and which can be made sinecures if those who hold the commissions are so disposed, and they and their preacher friends are making life a burden for Mr. Root. About every known sect and denomination is represented among those five hundred hungry applicants, and some of the denominations are fighting each other as viciously as rival factions of a political party ever did over the distribution of patronage.

IT MUST BE SETTLED RIGHT.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

However the battle is ended
Though proudly the victor comes
With fluttering flags and prancing nag
And echoing roll of drums,
Still truth proclaims this motto
In letters of loving light—
No question is ever settled
Until it is settled right.

Though the heal of the strong oppressor
May grind the weak in the dust,
And the voices of fame with one acc
May call him great and just;
Let those who applaud take warning
And keep his motto in sight—
No question is ever settled
Until it is settled right.

Let those who have failed take courage,
Though the enemy seem to have won,
Though his ranks are strong if he be in wrong.
The battle is not yet done.
For sure as the morning follows
The darkest hour of the night
No question is ever settled
Until it is settled right.

REPRELENTATIVE STEVENS, of Minnesota, after a visit to Cuba, is reported as being against annexation, or even of an American protectorate of that island. The reason given don't appear to be a very patriotic one. It is because Cuba can produce sugar enough and cheap enough to undersell all rivals in this country, whether producers of beat sugar, or cane sugar. Of course we promised Cuba her independence, and we ought to keep our promise. But if our great American people can buy sugar from Cuba much less than it can be produced for at home why should they not have the privilege of doing so. Why compel thousands of our people to work long hours, at work which don't pay, and for which others have to pay tariff to keep going, when they could put in their time at something profitable and exchange with Cuba for sugar? Free trade the country over would give us God's laws and not man's to do business under.

IF it is true that legislators have been bought up to vote for or against measures by those interested, and against the good of the public, something ought to be done with the legislators. People should at least be allowed to know who the culprits are. If there is no truth in the charges the public and the legislators are entitled to have the facts made plain to all. And the originators of false charges should be put where their acts deserve, where they cannot repeat the offense.

It has been charged that men were bought up to vote against the railroad gross earnings bill; that a fund of $40,000 had been deposited in a certain bank to help legislate through a bill raising the salaries of country officers. At the last session of the legislature. Senator Wilson, who worked so hard then, and again this winter, to get the Younger's liberated, said in a speech, on the senate floor that he had heard reported that $40,000 had been raised for the purpose of getting a bill passed that would liberate them. He said if there was such a fund he knew nothing of it. If there are no funds raised for corruption it would seem very much out of place for an honorable man, to stand up in the Senate, and mention the fact that such reports are about. When the legislators themselves charge each other, and feel themselves called upon to defend themselves against such reports, they must expect their constituents, at home, to become suspicious.

Is $40,000 the price of the votes to put a bill through, or to kill it, as the case may be? $40,000 now to raise the county salaries; $40,000 last year, don't know how much this year, to liberate the Younger's. These charges must be false, or they must be true, and the people deserve to know the facts.

EDITOR GRAVES, of the Broad Axe, suggests that instead of devoting so much time to the army canteen, it might be well to abolish the army. Also that instead of the Minnesota tax commissioners taking a trip "down east" to learn tax laws they might visit New Zealand to advantage.

"ROBBERY of Uncle Sam", is a staring headline in Monday's paper, giving an account of the arresting of seven men in the Philippines for stealing from Uncle Sam thousands of sacks of flour and wagon loads of other supplies. This is giving the army officials rather a bad send off. But what else is to be expected of men sent out to possess themselves of other peoples homes, lands, and freedom?

IT is said that there are now in the United States Treasury, more than $595,000,000 in gold; the largest amount ever there at any one time. And yet people try to make others believe the per capita of money in the country is greater than ever before. Why keep this vast sum locked up? Why not pay off some of the country's debts? Why not get some of the "per capita" among the people who need it?

THE Pioneer Press praises the Philippino men who were honest and true, to Funston. But how about Funston who decieved Aguinaldo, with forged letters, and otherwise? Is it more honorable to deceive Aguinaldo than it was with Jesse James? Betrayers and decelvers as a rule have not been looked upon as the most honorable of men. Who knows what they will do next, or who will next be betrayed by one in that business?

Insane Woman Suicides.

Mrs. Matilda Hilstrom, of Minneapolis, confined in the Hospital for Insane, at St. Peter, procured a cord for holding up a curtain, and hanged herself to a bedpost, last month. The coroners inquest exonerated the attendents from all blame. She is the woman who, a short time ago, killed her daughter, in Minneapolis, by beating her over the head with a bottle.

Betraying their Idol.

As for these tales of Filipino treachery we'll believe no more of them. The trusty natives whose faithfulness made the capture of Aguinaldo possible were the key stone of the arch which Funston builded. We hope they will be given the reward that will gratify them most. They deserve the best for what they did in Luzon and for what they have done in knocking the ground from under those who have rested their case on the coercion of the natives and the universal hatred of the Americans. If these were the conditions, no four "traitors" as we suppose the "anties" would style these fellows, or even one, would have ventured to face the anger of their fellow countrymen by betraying the Filipino idol. It would have cost them their lives or homes, and they could at any time have turned the tables on Funston and become the heroes of their people. This keeping of the faith is the best proof that the Filipino masses, if they ever did want independence are tired of a useless war and ready to condone any act that will bring peace.—Pioneer Press.

Wouldn't the editor who wrote that have written as flattering an article favoring Benedict Arnold when he turned traitor to freedom's cause? The idea of its being a noble deed to betray the leader of people fighting for ther homes and for freedom, especially where that leader is their "idol". Why, such sentiments are unAmerican. They even smack of British ideas.

Anoka Herald: Ten deaths occurred in Iowa last week from the small pox which has been laughed at as "Manila itch," chickenpox, etc. Doctors tell us that the disease will increase in violence as it feeds on strong and healthy people, and the Iowa cases appear to prove the truth of the assertion. Globe: Gen. McArthur cables from Manila that Funston's capture of Aguinaldo was "brilliant in conception and faultless in execution." If it ends the war well and good; but dime novels are full of just such acts of treachery and trickery. Had Aguinaldo kidnaped MacArthur or Funston under similar circumstances, it would be classed as an act of low cunning and daring. Funston's own account of the affair says that when the news of the supposed capture of Americans by an insurgent force reached Aguinaldo he forwarded "supplies and directed that the American prisoners be kindly treated." Aguinaldo was personally seized and pinioned by his own people in the pay of the Americans, as the raiding party was composed of natives, under the command of supposed American prisoners.

DREAM MEMORIES.

I could not catch my dream, it was so fleet:
Only a fragment, yet enough to know
That there are times when earth and heaven meet;
Moments when all of heaven seems below.
O, golden sunsets of the vanished years,
O, radiant flashes of the coming dawn,
Ye show us oft, through mists of blinding tears,
The light that beams a little farther on.

I could not hold my dream; it was so large
It crowded all my present cares away.
My heart was like a heavy-laden barge
Freighted with bliss, with joys that might not stay;
I tried in vain to span, to catch, to clasp
That overflowing rapture of delight,
But, visionlike, it floated from my grasp
And left me in the darkness of the night.

I cannot paint my dream; it was so bright,
So fraught with dazzling radiance to me.
It threw a glamour o'er my 'wildered sight
And left me blinded by my ecstasy.
My longing soul essayed in vain to soar
Beyond the shining path of sun and stars,
But all too soon she languished as before,
Panting and worn, behind her prison bars.

I cannot tell my dream; it was so sweet;
And yet 'twas such as many hearts have known;
Woven with tender memories replete
With words of love, dropped in the years agone.
A fond caress—a dear, familiar tone;
A gentle whisper and a low reply;
It was but these, yet are not these alone
The all of love and life that never die?

AS HE SAW IT

"SAY, Pete," said the city editor to the horse editor, who was engaged in writing a feature story to be headed "Good Things I Have Got That Are Still Running," "you're the only man I've got handy, and I forgot to assign a man to cover that big wedding up at the Umptieth Street church to-night—you know, that good-looking Bigcoin girl and young Mutthead. Suppose you run up there and get the story. Want a spread—two columns at least. Never mind names—I've got all the names we'll use, and the names of the bridesmaids, and the groomsmen, and the society editor wrote the descriptions of the costumes before she took sick. Just you cover the weeps and the soft, low music, and the bride's pallor, and the perfume of the exotics, and that sort of thing. You know the kind of story I want, Pete."

"Say, scratch me out o' this, won't you?" said the horse editor. "I'm not trained for that kind of a sprint. It's 2 to 1 that I'll quit in the stretch."

"Can't help it, Pete—got nobody else to send. Go along, now, and turn the copy in early," said the city editor.

The horse editor went after the story of the wedding with an open mind, and here is a portion thereof as he turned it in to the copy reader:

"The thoroughbreds had another inning at the Umptieth Street church last night, when Miss Bertha Bigcoin and Mr. Willie Mutthead, both of them well known to students of form in these parts, hooked it up in a try for the matrimonial stakes. Talk of this match had been in the air for some time, so that when the bars were let down at half-past seven o'clock last evening a large number of the talent of both sexes were on hand to size up the contenders and speculate upon what the future holds in store for this pair of high-class thoroughbreds. Many of those who presented themselves at the gate had never seen the contestants before, and not a few of them were minus admission badges, at that, but the crush was so great that within 20 minutes after the turnstile began to revolve the ushers were compelled to throw open a free field in the left-hand side of the church for those who would not be denied the opportunity to see the running off of the match.

"The track was soft and holding, a lot of rag carpet having been spread along the middle aisle to offset the natural slipperiness of the course, and there was also a top dressing of flowers spread along the path by little girls togged out in white. Festoons of flowers were nailed all over the sides of the grand stand, and the whole outfit looked in perfect condition for the running off of the swagger event. Every seat below and aloft was taken, and it was one of the biggest bumper crowds that ever turned out in this vicinity to see a similar event decided.

"Before the pair entered in the match came out of the paddock the band up in the gallery played a lot of trembly, fluffy stuff, which visibly increased the ardor of the crowd to have the two entries arrive at the post. The event was carded to come off at eight o'clock sharp, but the pair of thoroughbreds hadn't arrived at the post at a quarter-past eight, and it began to look like an even money shot that the match wouldn't come off. Outside the church bets were freely offered that Mr. Mutthead had bowed a tendon or gone amiss in some way, so that it would be impossible for him to face the starter, and the disappointment of the spectators when half-past eight rolled around, and still no response to the call to the post, was manifest in every countenance.

"At 25 minutes of nine, however, the anxious waiters in the seats were rewarded by seeing the two entries enter the gate. The bride, who was led by old man Bigcoin—who looked as if he'd be able to pick up third money occasionally in the hunter class, if he was pointed that way—appeared, to the critical eye, to be overfine, and there was some decided comment on the subject of the hard workouts this class of thoroughbreds are put through before they respond to the call of the bugle in match events of this character. A description of the bride's colors is given in another portion of this account. Notwithstanding her evident overtraining, she looked fit to run the race of her life. As for the other contestant, he didn't look to be up to a bruising finish."

"He seemed to the critical eye to be decidedly high in flesh, and it looked to be a safe three to one proposition that he wouldn't last the route. He was nervous and fidgety on the way to the post and didn't appear to know exactly what was expected of him, which, however, was natural enough, considering that he had never before faced the starter. It was said, nevertheless, that he had been trained at the barrier on several occasions during the week, which renders it difficult to account for the evident reluctance with which he pranced up to the starting post. He wore blinkers in the shape of a pair of large gold-rimmed spectacles. It may be that the music of the band situated aloft had something to do with the nervousness of the two starters, for it was a foolish kind of music, somewhat frivolously called the 'Long Green Chorus.' It sounded pretty dismal for music that possesses a name connecting it with the good old dough of the realm.

"Every eye was strained to observe the parade to the post, and sundry and divers whispered opinions were expressed as to the respective merits of the all-black and the all-white entries. The excitement of the occasion was so intense that several elderly females were observed and heard to weep as if the one they'd already put their checks on had finished back in the bunch, among the also rans.

"The starter and his assistants were at the post when the two entries and their handlers came up on the rail. Then ensued the usual skirmishing for position, the groom showing a reluctance to break at the fall of the flag, owing, no doubt, to the nervousness he felt. They were pulled up several times and ranged in front of the barrier by the starter, who had considerable difficulty, even if the field was small, owing to the evident lack of knowledge on the part of the all-black entry as to what disposition he should make of his feet. The all-black went almost to his knees several times in the line-up, but finally the flag fell to a ragged start, with the all-white a good two lengths in front.

"The all-white was evidently out with the intention of making a runaway race of it, and she answered every question asked of her with determination and gameness. She was still away in the lead going along the back stretch, the all-black appearing to sulk. Rounding the far turn, however, he began to respond cleverly to the questions asked of him, and, slowly, but surely, he overhauled the leader. Rounding into the stretch it was neck and neck, with the all-white showing evidence of stopping, and when the great question: 'Will you?' was about to be put it was clearly seen by the spectators that the overtraining of the all-white was liable to tell on her, while the superior bone and sinew of the all-black looked as if it was going to carry him under the wire a winner. The critical moment arrived, and when the great question was asked the all-black assumed command and took the lead by replying in a voice that came near curling up the rag carpet in the center of the course: 'I will!' At this point it looked as if the all-black would surely romp home all alone and win in a canter, but, to the surprise of the talent, the all-white responded game and true to the nudges she got, and when it came time for her to declare herself she replied in a tone as firm, if not as resonant, as that in which the all-black had made his bid for the big end of the purse, and from then on it was a ding-dong finish right to the wire. As they passed under the wire nose and nose, the judges couldn't separate them, and thus one of the swaggerest events that has been run off in this neck o' the woods since Hickory Jim was a two-year-old was declared a dead heat and the purse was divided."—Washington Star.

Not So Bad.

"Norah, will you marry me whin I come back from the war?" demanded Mr. Herlihy of his sweetheart.

"It's mesilf that's not prepared to give me answer now," said Norah, with a coy smile. "I'll have it ready when you're coming home, Jim."

"Well, that's not so bad," said Mr. Herlihy, after a moment's reflection. "Just tell me the wan thing now, darlint—will it be yis or no?"—Youth's Companion.

The once great tribe of Penobscot Indians will soon be a thing of the past. The handful now remaining live on an island near Oldtown, Me., where they have a government of their own. They recently held an election and chose a prohibitionist chief, named Attean, by a vote of 25 to 23.

In the future it will cost only two cents to send a letter to Cuba—that is, if it does not weigh more than half an ounce. Previous to a late meeting of the cabinet the postage was five cents, except on letters sent to soldiers. This caused some confusion, and it was decided to make the reduction.

By act of the centennial congress, passed in 1785, one-thirty-sixth part of all the public lands belonging to the United States were set apart perpetually as an endowment for the public schools of the country. Under this and succeeding acts 71,000,000 acres have been granted during the century for the support of public schools and 1,165,000 acres to universities and colleges.

In order to be able to feed the soldiers in the Philippines as they are fed it is necessary to keep a kind of procession of supply ships on the waterways from New York to Manila by way of the Suez canal and across the Pacific from San Francisco. It will not do to store immense volumes of supplies in Manila, for that is a tropical climate, and all food is more or less perishable in so hot a temperature. Therefore ships are going all the time.

A class of 39 young Indians of both sexes has been graduated at the United States Indian industrial school at Chester, Pa. Of the 39 graduates five delivered orations and one declaimed. The class motto—"We find a way or make one"—was the significant emblem that floated above the platform upon which sat statesmen and educators of national fame. All of which seems to show that a better use can be found for young Indians than shooting them.

Microscopical and chemical experts in Chicago have decided after thorough investigation that it is not necessary to disinfect books in the public library. "It is extremely improbable," they say, in a report, "that disease germs should lodge between the leaves of a book and retain their vitality for any length of time under the ordinary circumstances of use of public library books." It is comforting to learn that there is some place where disease-producing bacteria do not lurk.

George M. Randall, a chemist in Lowell, Mass., claims to have discovered a method of producing an artificial fuel resembling bituminous coal, and says he can produce it cheaper than the coal itself can be mined. The new compound is composed of mineral substances now abundantly distributed through the earth. If Randall can do half as much as he says he will accomplish wonders. Most of these Lowell stories ought to be divided by two, and then you should believe only half of what is left.

It is not generally known that on account of the opposition of his children to his second marriage—an opposition he acknowledged to have some justice in it—ex-President Harrison distributed all his fortune among his children, retaining only his house and lot in Indianapolis. He then started out to make a second fortune and made one larger than his first, which he has now left solely to his second wife and child. The action was characteristic of the man and illustrates the stern stuff of which he was made.

Under the national bankruptcy law many curiosities in litigation have appeared, but Frank R. Wessa, of Cincinnati, takes the prize. He owes $100 for rent, provisions and medical attendance; assets, nil. He drew up the papers himself, thus saving a lawyer's fee, and included the United States among his creditors, entering the country as entitled to the $25 fee for making him a bankrupt, although Uncle Sam must go empty-handed with the others. The court clerk refused to file the petition without the $25 fee and Wessa filed it himself.

The bequests made to public objects the past year by American citizens reach the unprecedented aggregate of $62,461,304, distributed as follows: $34,932,644 to educational institutions, $2,961,000 to libraries, $2,145,333 to museums and art galleries, $8,800,605 to churches and $13,621,722 to charities. Those who cannot give should not criticise the giving, yet it is not impertinent to observe that it might do much more good to devote larger amounts to the pensioning of wornout workmen on the same principle as Mr. Carnegie provided for his workmen.

An educational scientist in Washington, not a government employe, is trying to induce the school authorities of Chicago to introduce his "temporal algometer." By this device pressure is applied to a child's temples and gradually increased till the child cries out from the pain. The quicker the cry comes the greater the child's sensibility, and, by the theory, the greater its cleverness, the theory being that brain power is indicated by local sensitiveness to pain. It is such fantastic theories as this that make one wonder if modern civilization is a failure.

IS TAKEN PRISONER.

Plan of Gen. Funston for Capture of Aguinaldo Proves Successful.

Famous Filipino Chief, Together with His Staff, Safely Landed in Manila—Adventure a Desperate One.

Manila, March 28.—Aguinaldo is a prisoner. He was brought to Manila this morning by Gen. Funston, by whom he was captured in Isabella province, about six days' march inland from the east coast of Luzon, north of Baler.

Aguinaldo was captured on March 23, in the country near Casiguran, nine miles from Baler. All members of his staff were taken prisoners at the same time and were brought with him to Manila on the gunboat Vicksburg, arriving this morning. The most rigid precautions have been taken to guard against an attempt at escape on the part of Aguinaldo or of any of his faithful adherents to rescue him.

Started Three Weeks Ago.

Funston started on the expedition which resulted in the capture of Aguinaldo three weeks ago. He had with him a company of natives, and was assisted by Capt. John Newton, of the Thirty-fourth volunteer infantry; Lieut. Admire, of the Twenty-second infantry; Lieut. Mitchell, of the Fortieth volunteers, and Surgeon Major Harris.

The expedition was conveyed by the gunboat Vicksburg and the cruiser Albany to a landing place on the east coast of Luzon, north of Baler.

The rebel chieftain's hiding place was revealed by a Filipino officer, who turned over to Gov. Gen. MacArthur a letter from Aguinaldo. The letter ordered the Filipino officer and other leaders of the insurgent forces in southern Luzon to meet him at a designated rendezvous in Isabella province.

Gen. Funston at once proposed to head an expedition to Isabella province in an effort to capture Aguinaldo. After much discussion Gov. Gen. MacArthur consented, and preparations were begun.

Funston's Adroit Ruse.

Funston's plan of operations was unique. After being landed on the east coast Funston and his four American companions were to play the role of prisoners in the hands of the natives, who were to represent themselves to Aguinaldo as loyal Filipinos. When brought before Aguinaldo the latter was to be seized by Funston's native troops and made a prisoner.

The adventure was a desperate one, as its success or failure depended on the faithfulness of Funston's native soldiers. They were Maccabebes, who have been loyal to the United States almost from the day the American troops landed. They were worthy of the trust imposed on them, as proven by the success of the enterprise.

Funston's plans went through as well as they had been planned. Aguinaldo fell into the trap, was made a prisoner and was brought to Manila in the gunboat Vicksburg, which remained cruising off the east coast of Luzon for that purpose.

End of War Now Near.

Washington, March 28.—The capture of Aguinaldo is a source of great satisfaction to the president and his advisers. Coming so soon after the surrender of prominent Filipino officers reported by Gen. MacArthur and the successful establishment of civil local government by the Taft commission, they feel that the end of the rebellious warfare in the islands is near at hand.

Vital Questions Raised.

Several interesting and indeed vital questions are raised by Aguinaldo's capture. If the insurrection now collapses, as it is hoped it will, it may not be necessary to enlist the full strength of the army provided for in the army reorganization bill. There also is the question of the disposition to be made of the insurgent chief. But it is too early yet for the authorities to decide these questions.

As the leader of an insurrection against the United States government Aguinaldo may be tried and executed, a lesser punishment be meted to him by executive clemency, or complete amnesty be extended. While the question of punishment rests with the military authorities, it is believed the president will make the matter one for determination primarily by the authorities here.

There is also much speculation as to the reward which Gen. Funston may receive for his work. It is considered not improbable that his reward will be a brigadier general's commission in the regular establishment.

Threatened Strike Averted.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 30.—The threatened strike of 143,000 miners in the hard coal region will not take place. At a meeting of the executive committee of the United Mine Workers of the three anthracite districts held in this city Friday it was decided that the men should continue at work. This committee was given arbitrary power by the general convention of miners held at Hazleton in the fore part of the month to declare a strike if the circumstances warranted it. In the opinion of the committee, in a lengthy address issued Friday evening, and which was prepared by President Mitchell himself, the circumstances did not warrant a strike at this time.

FUNSTON'S STORY.

The Daring General Tells of the Capture of Aguinaldo—A Well-Laid and Clever Plan.

Manila, March 29.—Gen. Fred Funston, who on March 23 captured Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, when interviewed Thursday, made the following statement concerning the capture of the Filipino leader:

The confidential agent of Aguinaldo arrived February 28 at Pantabangan, in the province of Nueva Ecija, northern Luzon, with letters dated January 11, 12 and 14. These letters were from Emilio Aguinaldo and directed Baldermero Aguinaldo to take command of the provinces of Central Luzon, supplanting Gen. Alejandrino. Emilio Aguinaldo also ordered that 400 men be sent him as soon as possible, saying that the bearer of the letters would guide these men to where Aguinaldo was.

Gen. Funston secured the correspondence of Aguinaldo's agent and laid his plans accordingly. Some months previously he had captured the camp of the insurgent general Lacuna, incidentally obtaining Lacuna's seal, official papers and a quantity of signed correspondence. From this material two letters were constructed, ostensibly from Lacuna to Aguinaldo. One of these contained information as to the progress of the war. The other asserted that, pursuant to orders received from Baldermero Aguinaldo, Lacuna was sending his best company to President Emilio Aguinaldo.

His plans completed and approved, Gen. Funston came to Manila and organized his expedition, selecting 78 Macabebes, all of whom spoke Tagalog fluently. Twenty wore insurgent uniforms, and the others the dress of Filipino laborers. This Macabebe company, armed with 50 Mausers, 18 Remingtons and ten Krag-Jorgensens, was commanded by Capt. Russell T. Hazzard, of the Eleventh United States volunteer cavalry. With him was his brother, Lieut. Oliver P. M. Hazzard, of the same regiment. Capt. Harry W. Newton, Thirty-fourth infantry, was taken because of his familiarity with Casiguran bay, and Lieut. Burton J. Mitchell, Fortieth infantry, went as Gen. Funston's aid. These were the only Americans accompanying the leader of the expedition. With the Macabebes were four ex-insurgent officers, one being a Spaniard and the other three Tagalos, whom Gen. Funston trusted implicitly. Gen. Funston and the officers wore plain blue shirts and khaki trousers. They carried each a half blanket, but wore no insignia of rank. The Macabebes were carefully instructed to obey the orders of the four ex-insurgent officers.

On the night of March 8 the party embarked on the United States gunboat Vicksburg. It was originally intended to take cascoes from the island of Polillo and to drift to the mainland; but a storm arose and three of the cascoes were lost. This plan was abandoned. At two a. m., March 14, the Vicksburg put her lights out and ran inshore 25 miles south of Casiguran, province of Principe. The party landed and marched to Casiguran. The Americans had never garrisoned this place, and the inhabitants are strong insurgent sympathizers. Having arrived there, the ex-insurgent officers, ostensibly commanding the party, announced that they were on the way to join Aguinaldo between Pautobang and Baler, that they had surprised an American surveying party and that they had killed a number, capturing five. They exhibited Gen. Funston and the other Americans as their prisoners.

The insurgent presidente of Casiguran believed the story. Two of the Lacuna letters, previously concocted, were forwarded to Aguinaldo at Palanan, province of Isabela. Gen. Funston and the others were kept imprisoned for three days, surreptitiously giving orders at night. On the morning of March 17, taking a small quantity of cracked corn, the party started on a 90-mile march to Palanan. The country is rough and uninhabited, and provisions could not be secured. The party ate small shell fish, but were almost starved. Wading swift rivers, climbing precipitous mountains and penetrating dense jungles, they marched seven days and nights, and on March 22 had reached a point eight miles from Palanan. They were now so weak that it was necessary to send to Aguinaldo's camp for food. Aguinaldo dispatched supplies and directed that the American prisoners be kindly treated, but not be allowed to enter the town.

On the morning of March 23 the advance was resumed. The column was met by the staff officers of Aguinaldo and a detachment of Aguinaldo's body guard, which was ordered to take charge of the Americans. While one of the ex-insurgent officers conversed with Aguinaldo's aid, another, a Spaniard, sent a courier to warn Gen. Funston and the rest who, with 11 Macabebes, were about an hour behind. Having received this warning, Gen. Funston avoided Aguinaldo's detachment and joined the column, avoiding observation. The Tagalos went ahead to greet Aguinaldo and the column slowly followed, finally arriving at Palanan. Aguinaldo's household troops, 50 men in neat uniforms of blue and white, and wearing straw hats, lined up to receive the newcomers. Gen. Funston's men crossed the river in small boats, formed on the bank and marched to the right and then in front of the insurgent grenadiers. The Tagalos entered the house where Aguinaldo was.

Suddenly the Spanish officer, noticing that Aguinaldo's aid was watching the Americans suspiciously, exclaimed: "Now, Macabebes, go for them." The Macabebes opened fire, but their aim was rather ineffective, and only three insurgents were killed. The rebels returned the fire. On hearing the firing, Aguinaldo, who evidently thought his men were merely celebrating the arrival of reenforcements, ran to the window and shouted: "Stop that foolishness; quit wasting ammunition."

Hilario Placido, one of the Tagalog officers and a former insurgent major, who was wounded in the lung by the fire of the Kansas regiment at the battle of Caloocan, threw his arms around Aguinaldo, exclaiming: "You are a prisoner of the Americans."

Col. Simeon Villia, Aguinaldo's chief of staff, Maj. Alambra and others attacked the men who were holding Aguinaldo. Placido shot Villia in the shoulder. Alambra jumped out of the window and attempted to cross the river. It is supposed that he was drowned. Five other insurgent officers fought for a few minutes and then fled, making their escape

When the firing began Gen. Funston assumed command and directed the attack on the house, personally assisting in the capture of Aguinaldo. The insurgent bodyguard fled, leaving 20 rifles. Santiago Barcelona, the insurgent treasurer, surrendered without resistance.

When captured Aguinaldo was tremendously excited, but he calmed down under Gen. Funston's assurance that he would be well treated. Gen. Funston secured all of Aguinaldo's correspondence, showing that he had kept in close touch with the subchiefs of the insurrection in all parts of the archipelago. It was also discovered that Aguinaldo, January 28, had proclaimed himself dictator. He had been living at Palanan for seven months, undisturbed except when a detachment of the Sixteenth infantry visited the town. On that occasion the entire population took to the mountains and remained there until the troops retired.

Aguinaldo admitted that he had come near to being captured before, but he asserted that he had never been wounded, adding: "I should never have been taken except by a stratagem. I was completely deceived by Lacuna's forged signature." He feared he might be sent to Guam, and he was quite glad to come to Manila.

Palanan was guarded by numerous outposts and signal stations. During the fight none of the Macabebes were wounded. The expedition rested March 24, and then marched 16 miles the following day to Palanan Bay, where Gen. Funston found the Vicksburg, which brought him to Manila. Commander Barry, of the Vicksburg, rendered Gen. Funston splendid assistance.

Aguinaldo, who talked freely of past events, said he supposed Gen. Trias would proclaim himself dictator, even not knowing that Trias had surrendered. He behaved courteously and gave no trouble.

Gen. Funston says Aguinaldo is above the average in intelligence and has prepossessing manners.

CONGRESSMAN BOTKIN

The Well-Known Kansas Statesman, Cured of Catarrh of the Stomach by Pe-ru-na,

AFTER TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' SUFFERING.

More Evidence of Interest to the Millions of Catarrh Sufferers in the United States.

HON. J. D. BOTKIN, CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE FROM KANSAS.

In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, Congressman Botkin, of Winfield, Kan., whose fame is a national one, says of Peruna:

My Dear Doctor—"It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicines—Peruna and Manalin. I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure. Peruna is surely a wonderful remedy for catarrhal affections."—J. D. Botkin, Congressman-at-Large.

CONGRESSMAN BOTKIN is one of the most influential and best known men in the State of Kansas. Whatever he may say on any subject will be accepted by the people as the truth. So famous a remedy as Peruna could not have well escaped the attention of so famous a man. He not only has heard of the remedy, but he has used it and was relieved of an affliction of twenty-five years' standing. Peruna is the one internal remedy that cures chronic catarrh. It cures catarrh wherever located. This is a fact that the people are rapidly finding out, but there are still a large multitude who need to know it.

Mr. Frank Richter, of Winona, Minn., says in a letter to The Peruna Medicine Company:

"As a remedy for catarrh I take pleasure in recommending Peruna for catarrh of the stomach. I know what it is to be afflicted with this awful disease and consider it my duty to say a word in behalf of the remedy which gave me such relief. Peruna cured me, and I know it will cure anyone else who suffers from this disease. It gives me great pleasure to testify to the curative effects of this medicine. Peruna is a well tested and frequently used remedy, and for catarrh of the stomach is unsurpassed.

"My catarrh was principally located in my head and stomach. I tried many remedies without success. I tried several doctors, but they were unable to cure me. I read of Peruna in the papers and five bottles cured me."—Frank Richter.

The gastric juice is secreted by the mucous follicles of the stomach. When this juice is normal it digests (dissolves) the food without producing any disturbance whatever. If, however, the gastric juice is not normal, digestion causes many disagreeable symptoms. This condition is known as indigestion. Peruna will cure this.

Mrs. Selina Tanner, Athens, O., writes: "I cannot find words to express my thanks for your kind advice. I never once thought I had catarrh of the stomach. I commenced taking Peruna as you directed. My stomach continued to hurt me for about two weeks after I began the medicine and then it stopped. I now have a good appetite while before I was nearly starved."—Mrs. Selina Tanner.

Mrs. Selina Tanner.

Mr. L. O. Marble, of Geneva, Neb., writes:

"I do believe that my catarrh is entirely cured. I have not had any trouble with my stomach for a long time. I am as well as one of my age could expect (seventy years). I have had the catarrh ever since I was a young man, and have doctored for it for years and got very little better, but thanks to you and your Peruna and Manalin I believe I am well of it. I can eat anything now and it doesn't hurt me, and Peruna is the only thing I ever found that will cure the catarrh. I believe it is the only cure for catarrh, and I hope every one troubled with catarrh will try Peruna and be cured."—L. O. Marble.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, president of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

The Time Having Passed for Introduction of Bills, Without Consent of the Governor, Both Houses Have Settled to Work.

St. Paul, March 28.—The railroad gross earnings bill will not down. There was a big contest in the house yesterday over taking it from the table and after a call of the house and a sharp debate it was voted to take from the table by a vote of 57 to 56. It was then made the special order for Friday morning. During the debate the question of investigating the alleged corruption in connection with the bill was taken up, and Mr. Mallory, the chairman, said that the gentleman who made the charges had not come forward to substantiate them.

The bill in the senate to make state hospitals out of the insane asylums at Anoka and Hastings met rather rough treatment. The appropriation of $200,000 for new cottages was stricken out and an amendment adopted placing the institutions under the proposed new board of control. If the bill passes, it will be without an appropriation.

A bill was offered in the senate increasing the salary of the insurance commissioner from $2,500 to $3,000, and the deputy commissioner from $1,800 to $2,000.

The Pan-American commissioners appointed by the governor returned yesterday and appeared in both branches of the legislature and read a report made to the governor, stating that the appropriation of $20,000 is entirely inadequate, and asking that it be increased to $50,000. This would permit of erecting a $10,000 building. The commission recommends the repeal of the $20,000 appropriation unless an increase can be made.

St. Paul, March 29—As the legislative session nears its close every day brings its sensation. Yesterday it was the primary election law in the senate and board of control in the house. The board of control bill passed the house with all of its amendments and now goes to the governor. The bill provides for a board of control consisting of three persons, holding for two, four and six years. The term is really six years but the first ones will all be appointed by Governor Van Sant and every two years thereafter one member will be appointed for six years so that it will make one appointee for each gubernatorial term. This new board wipes out the board of corrections and charities; the board of the state prison manager; the insane asylum, reform school and reformatory boards as very materially clips the wings of the regents of the University. While there was a good deal of opposition at the outset, in the round-up the bill was passed by 86 to 23.

There is a bill pending in the house which places the street railway company under the control of the railroad and warehouse commission. The Twin City Rapid Transit company has desired to appear before the railroad committee in opposition to the bill. The illness and death of the mother of the attorney who was to appear for the railroad caused his absence from the city and an effort was made to give him an opportunity to come before the committee. This request the house refused.

The house committee to investigate the alleged corruption in connection with the gross earnings bill has not begun to do business yet owing to illness in the family of Mr. Washburn, who made the affidavit on which Mr. Jacobson based his charges.

The senate passed a bill taxing express companies 6 per cent on their earnings after they have paid for the railroad carriage.

A bill appropriating $62,000 for the reformatory at St. Cloud was offered.

The bill increasing the salary of the assistant adjutant general from $1,200 to $1,500 was defeated.

The senate seems inclined to do all manner of things to the primary election bill. They first made it applicable to state officers and then added congressional and judicial districts. There was a good deal of contest over these amendments, and the concurrence of the house is very doubtful.

Senator Knatvold offered an appropriation bill fixing the sum of $252,320 for carrying on the state government.

The bill increasing the salary of the fire warden was defeated in the senate.

St. Paul, March 29.—The greatest fight of the session terminated in the house yesterday by the passage of the bill increasing the tax on railroad gross earnings from 3 to 4 per cent by a vote of 78 to 36. This bill was supposed to be irretrievably dead last week, but its friends shrewdly resurrected it, and when it was reached on its merits the members did not dare to vote against it.

The house committee on public buildings reported out the capitol bill giving a million dollars to the new capitol, with the recommendation that it pass. There will be no opposition to it in the house, and it has already passed the senate.

Both houses have passed what is known as the Younger bill. It allows life prisoners, after serving 35 years, to be paroled. The Youngers are the only prisoners at Stillwater corresponding to this description, and they will doubtless avail themselves of the new law by applying to the board of pardons for release.

The senate yesterday thought better of including the state officers, congressional and judicial candidates in the primary election law, and reconsidered the amendment adopted Thursday placing those positions under the law. The bill was then made the special order for next Tuesday.

St. Paul, April 1.—Though there are only eleven more working days of the legislative session, there was a bare quorum present Saturday in either senate or house, and by common consent no attempt was made to pass bills.

Senator Stockton introduced a bill appropriating $384,000 for new buildings for the deaf, dumb and blind, and their maintenance, at Faribault. He took a large delegation to Faribault yesterday (Sunday) to show them what he wants with the money.

After a long discussion the senate recommended a bill to pass forbidding parties who secure a divorce from marrying again for six months.

In the house a bill was introduced repealing the law just passed creating a tax commission. The bill was not taken seriously. The house is getting restive over the delay of the committee appointed to investigate the corruption alleged to have taken place in connection with the gross earnings tax bill and ordered a report on Tuesday. The committee has not held a meeting as yet.

One of the bills offered in the house makes being a habitual criminal a crime punishable by imprisonment. The number of convictions a person has undergone determines whether he is a habitual criminal.

St. Paul, April 2.—The senate did not meet yesterday until in the afternoon, and the entire session was occupied by the introduction and first reading of bills. Only 25 bills were introduced, though it was the last day for the introduction of bills without the request of the governor. Two years ago 55 bills were introduced in the senate on the last day.

In the house only 35 new bills were introduced, which is much below the usual number on the last day. As all of these bills have to be read at length, a very considerable portion of the session was thus occupied.

Strange as it may seem, there was not a bill of great importance offered in either house, with the possible exception of one fixing the maximum railroad rates for transporting grain of any kind, potatoes and coal from any point in the state to St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth.

Governor Van Sant sent in a message vetoing the bill which provides for a uniform system of accounting at the various state institutions.

All interest now centers in the omnibus appropriation bill, which calls for $2,000,000. The committee meets every afternoon to consider the bill and avert if possible the increase of the tax levy.

REMARKABLE PAT HANDS.

Five Full Ones That Contained a Wonderful Combination of Numbers.

Inner club circles have been regaled with a story of a recent sitting at draw poker, in which five well-known clubmen took part, says the Baltimore Sun.

It was at the home of one of the members. Two new packs of cards were brought out, the seal of one was cut and the cards shuffled. From this pack cards were dealt around to select the dealer for the opening hand. This done, the second pack of cards was opened and shuffled by one of the party, who handed it to the dealer, who also shuffled. The pack was then tendered for the usual cut, which was done. A round of jackpots had been agreed upon.

The player who had first say was an insurance man, and he promptly opened. Next was a grain merchant, who raised the opener. A member of the stock exchange came next and he saw the raise and went the limit better. A merchant well known for his aggressive spirit sat next in line and he quietly met all that had been bet and raised the limit. It was now around to a railroadman, who was the dealer. There was a pause, and each player inspected his cards with a self-satisfied air. The railroad man broke the silence by meeting all bets and raising them the limit. Everybody stayed in the game. The dealer asked how many cards were wanted and each player in turn said none. The dealer took none. He made a nominal bet and the call was passed all around.

At the show-down the hand in each case was a full house and, beginning with the first to the left of the dealer, as follows: Sevens and deuces, eights and treys, nines and fours, tens and fives, aces and fives. The railroad man was the winner. He has had the cards as held by each player framed and each player has a photograph of them as a souvenir of phenomenal sequence in a game of poker.

HIS WISH GAINED AT LAST.

Many Years Through Which Attorney General Griggs Waited Patiently to Address the Supreme Court.

After his great speech on the colonial test case had been delivered in the supreme court the other day, and he had received the congratulations of many members of the bar and prominent senators upon his success, Attorney General Griggs told me of his first visit to the supreme court chamber. It was years ago, according to Collier's Weekly, when he was a young and struggling lawyer. He knew no one in Washington except the congressman from his district. This congressman took him to the supreme courtroom, and as the slender young lawyer sat and looked at the nine black-robed justices and realized that they constituted the greatest tribunal on earth, he says he heaved a sigh and said to himself: "Before I die I want the honor of standing just once before that court and addressing it upon a case of law." Little did the young lawyer then think that he was going to have the great privilege not only of addressing the court, but of speaking to it as the representative of the United States government upon the most important question the court has considered in a generation if not in its history.

Small Change.

"You know I feel just like a counterfeit bill," observed a young man to a friend with whom he was walking, stopping in front of a barroom.

"Why?" queried his partner.

"I cannot pass," the other explained, waving his hand toward the entrance of the place.

"Oh," remarked his friend, "don't let that feeling worry you; you know I'm somewhat accustomed to shoving the queer," and he took the man with a thirst by the arm and carried him on down the street.—Memphis Scimtar.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

A Change.

At a meeting of the faculty of the university a change was proposed in the curriculum which, if adopted, will revolutionize the whole system of university work. The amendment was offered by Professor Woodbridge, and recommends the introduction of the semester plan, which prevails so generally throughout eastern colleges.

Along with this change is proposed the abolishment of all degrees except that of bachelor of arts, this to be conferred upon students who have completed forty-eight four-hour subjects during their course. If the proposed plan is adopted, instead of the first two years being required work, the four years' course will be divided into forty-eight term subjects, of which twenty-four will be compulsory, to be taken, however, any time during the four years, and the other twenty-four to be elective, as at present.

The matter was turned over to the committee on curriculum, consisting of Professors Nachtrieb, Jones, Downey, Woodbridge, Hale, Hutchinson and Clark.

Royal Arcanum.

The state meeting of the Grand Council of the Royal Arcanum lodge met in Mankato and elected the following officers:

Representative to Supreme Council—Henry C. Gilbert, St. Paul; alternate, George T. Hughes, Duluth.

Grand Regent—George W. Dunlop, St. Paul.

Grand Vice Regent—W. L. Comstock, Mankato.

Grand Orator—Frank C. Campbell, Minneapolis.

Grand Secretary—George T. Hughes, Duluth.

Grand Treasurer—Robert T. Cone, Minneapolis.

Grand Chaplain—Dr. Buckley, St. Paul.

Grand Guide—Frank L. Palmer, Minneapolis.

Grand Warden—Raby Plank, Minneapolis.

Grand Sentry—M. J. Mullen, Duluth.

The T. C. R. T.

The annual report of the Twin City Rapid Transit company of Minneapolis for the fiscal year ending Dec. 31, 1900, has been compiled and show that the company is in an exceedingly prosperous condition.

Gross earnings for 1900 were $2,839,355.78, an increase of 13.62 per cent, and net earnings $910,341.04, an increase of 23.4 per cent.

After paying dividends on preferred stock, the surplus $705,591.04, and from it two dividends of 1¼ per cent each, amounting to $450,300, have been paid on the common stock, leaving a balance of $255,291.04 to be added to surplus account and for the improvements of the year.

Wins First Place.

Thomas D. Schall, a senior at the state university, won the first place and the $130 prize in the Pillsbury-Dunwoody oratorical contest in the university chapel. He will represent Minnesota next May in the northern oratorical league contest with Nebraska, Colorado, Wisconssn and Chicago. His subject was "A Hero's Mistake."

Raymond L. Dillman, a senior law, took second place on "John Brown." He is entitled to represent the university in the next state oratorical contest Olai A. Lende stood third. Subject, "The Need of Improved Methods of Taxation."

Will Keep the Banner.

Notwithstanding contrary reports, Kansas will keep the banner secured at the buttermakers' convention. Secretary Sudendorf of the association has written the state food department to the effect that it would be too bad to take the banner away after the legislature there had appropriated money for a glass case to put it in and state speeches had been made upon it. He states that another banner has been ordered for Minnesota, which will bear the words "for the highest average score."

Fire at the Prison.

Fire was discovered early in the morning in shop H of W. B. and W. G. Jordan, who operate the prison shoe shops. The cell housekeeper gave the alarm and the heat turned on the automatic sprinklers which prevented the flames from spreading. The damage was about $1,000 and was due principally to water. The blaze is thought to have been caused by spontanious combustion.

What Will Become of China?

None can foresee the outcome of the quarrel between foreign powers over the division of China. It is interesting to watch the going to pieces of this ancient but unprogressive race. Many people in America are also going to pieces because of dyspepsia, constipation, blood, liver and stomach diseases. We are living too fast, but strength, vigor and good health can be retained if we keep off and cure the above diseases with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

INDIAN MISSIONARY'S STORY.

Years of Toilsome Ministry Among the Choctaws.

Little York, Ind., April 2 (Special).—Twenty-five years ago, the Rev. C. H. Thompson left Indiana. For a time he preached in Arkansas, afterwards entering on the regular missionary work among the Choctaw Indians.

For five years, he lived and labored among the full bloods of the western prairies, until on April 5th, 1885, having lost his wife, he left the circuit on which he had preached so long, and commenced traveling missionary work among the Indians of the various Tribes scattered in the West.

This irregular work involved a great deal of travel over the prairies. The drinking of so much alkali water, brought on Kidney Troubles which terminated in Diabetes.

Finally, while laboring among the Creek Indians at Wagoner, Indian Territory, this noble man was stricken down completely. A Chicago Specialist was summoned, and after a careful examination, declared that there was not the slightest chance of his recovery. Besides the prescriptions of the doctors, he tried many other medicines, but all to no avail. He says:

"I had concluded that my days were drawing to a close, when I picked up an Almanac telling of the cures of Diabetes by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I sent for two boxes. I gained strength and spirits from the time I commenced to use them, and so I sent for more. I am now completely cured, and have not the slightest symptom of my old trouble.

"I am 68 years of age. I tell everybody of the wonders Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me. I can certainly endorse them heartily, and vouch that they are all that is claimed for them. They have certainly been a God-send to me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only Remedy that has ever cured Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy and they never fail.

THE HAIR BRUSH.

Breeds Dandruff, Which Causes Falling Hair and Baldness.

Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says that dandruff is as contagious as any other malevolent disease, and that one common source of the spread of dandruff is the use of the same hair brush by different persons. The way to avoid catching dandruff or any other disease from another's brush, is to insist on the use of Newbro's Herpicide. It not only kills the dandruff germ, but it is also an antiseptic that will prevent the catching of any disease whatever through contagion of another's brush.

The Man and the Microbe.

At this point in the fable the Man marveled greatly in that he had not met the Microbe long since.

"In what guise have you traveled, pray?" asked the Man.

"Why, for the most part in the guys who didn't boil the drinking water!" replied the Microbe, candidly.

BUFFALO GAZETTE

DELANO, FRIDAY, APRIL 5, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—Reports are current that some changes will be made in the corps of teachers in the Delano High School for next year.

—Among Victor items, in the Howard Lake Herald, is one stating that: "William Whitesell died of Small-pox at Silver Lake Sunday."

—Hay sells readily for $10 per ton. If the warm weather continues it won't be long till cattle can pick a living where they are allowed out.

—Next Sunday will be Easter, and many things about town remind people of that fact. The display in Wittman's drugstore windows have, probably elicited most attention.

—Our neighbor village, Chaska, has been honored by a visit from two Boer speakers, Messrs. H. D. Viljoen and P. L. Wessels, who lectured in the interests of their fellow patriots in South Africa. They were warmly welcomed.

—Druggest Wittman's calf was bitten Monday, by a small but vicious dog that was accompaning some children by his store. The canine did not tear the pants but demuded two plain spots, of cuticle Al declared the dog must die.

—The principal of the Cokato school, in a letter in the Enterprise, says: "Last year we received the greatest numberof High School certificates of any graded school in the county, a total of 84. This year we have already received 52 and expect fully as many more from the spring examinations".

—While engaged in putting springs onto their lumber wagon with a hay rack on, on the corner or R. R. Ave. and Third Street, as the four o'clock train came in Monday Erick Erickson's team came near getting away and smashing things. The prompt movements of himself and son George soon got the horses quiet, after they were unhitched from the wagon.

—Some of our readers will be pleased to read the following postal card to the GAZETTE editor from Rev. John Doran, formerly of Delano:

EDEN VALLEY, Minn, April 2, 1901.

Dear Bro: My address will now be Colfax, Wash. Kind regards to yourself and family and all inquiring friends. I am moving out to Washington for my health. My boys are going later. Your Bro.

JOHN DORAN.

—At a meeting of a part of the Board of Trustees of the M. E. church last evening Rev. Thompson deposited with the Treasurer $6. collected to aid in reshingling the church; Miss Juha Cunningham pledged $3. for the Aux illary; more is coming. It was resolved to reshingle the church on the north side. John Cunningham was elected to superintend the job.

—Tomorrow will be Fair Day. A large number of horses usually come to town on such occasions. It might come handy for some of them to drink at the costly and handsome fountain on R. R. Ave. If our new council were members of the Humane Society we believe they would try to make it as easy as possible for the poor, dumb brutes to get a good drink while their masters are being permitted to drink more than is good for them; and then drive horses that have stood tied all day home without a drink. Get a move on you, and turn on the water.

—The Village Council held a special meeting Monday evening, in the City Hall, all present. The old council were present, F. H. Lindsley acting as spokesman for them, on invitation of the new council, to hear read the report of the auditing committee appointed to look over last years business. It was a long time before the committee was ready to report, but, finally a member of the committee was brought in by the Marshal, and proceeded to read the report. Several discrepancies were pointed out. One was that 69 orders had been paid, for which no bills could be found. Later it was announced by the Recorder that the old Recorder had handed him 26 of the missing bills since. It was claimed that the water rents stubs showed a shortage of $8.50: Electric lights accounts from Dec. 1 1900 to March 15, 1901, $9.15 or more: that O. L. Billings had paid $5.55, and that Mrs. Mulford had paid for tapping the main and no credit had been given, and several other apparent blunders, some of which the old recorder explained satisfactorily. He offered to explain the others as soon as he could get time to look over the books and papers again, and if there is a dollar missing that can be proved satisfactorily to him that hasn't been accounted for, he will make it good. It appears that books and papers have not been kept as securely as they should have been, and when there was a fire, recently, some of the village property was caught in the fire. All papers should be preserved in the village safe, which should be fire proof, and books should be accurately kept and then there should be no chance for such a disturbance as was threatened lately. The council voted to admonish the depot agent that trains are run through the village at a higher rate of speed than the law allows, and to slow them down a little.

—William Lewis has had his residence reshingled. Wm. Haines and Ole Eckmand did the work.

—Charley Lohmiller has gone into the laundry business in earnest and now has a regular wagon for use on road.

—To-morrow, April 6th, will be Fair day. this being the last before seeding begins it is expected that much business will be transacted.

—The thriftiest farmers in the neighborhood are busy overhauling machinery, seeing that it is in good working order and preparing seed for sowing. It is thought that considerable seeding will be done next week.

—Otto Marr is expecting his son Otto, whose time in the navy has expired, home on the Buffalo. From the Globe we learn that the Buffalo is to come via the Mediterramian route. This will complete a pretty good circle of the globe for Otto, Jr.

—Soon after noon, on Wednesday, while people were busy at dinner, the fire bells rang. The mill was found to be on fire; a blaze running up the southeast corner of the building nearly to the top. The fire companies were soon on the ground and two streams were quickley turned on. In a very few minutes the fire was under control and the mill saved. Quite a lotof flour, sacks, belting and other things were burned or damaged, besides the injury to the building. The men had left a stone jar filled with tar on the stove. The fire companies are given much credit for their prompt and effective work.

—The three lawsuits of the Minneapolis Thresher Co. against Messrs. Ferrel, Polingo and McNeeley were tried on change of venue before Justice Billings on Tuesday. The suits were to collect notes of 50 dollars each given to the Minneapolis Creamery company, who were to build a first class creamery near Montrose, provided that they could secure enough shareholders to make $3200, otherwise the notes given were to be null and void. But it seems that nothing on he notes themselves showed this agreement and they afterwards came into the hands of the Minneapolis Thresher Company who now seek to collect them. Justice Billings found for the defendants in all three cases. The attorney for plaintiff gave notice of appeal.

From Montrose.

MONTROSE, April, 3, 1901

Editor GAZETTE I write you from this town, which, when I was here two years ago, had no saloons; today it has two. I wish to treat this subject from the standpoint of the apparent change of condition in the sentiment. At my first visit the W. C. T. U. had a union here: today it is gone. Many of the temperance people speak with regret of the changed conditions: especially the mothers. The place is not without its compliment of the distress sing incidents which always attend in the track of the saloon when it gets in its regular work. The old time conditions still affect the public mind, and unlike its neighbor town, there is still a spirit of opposition which shows itself in the manner of conversation, showing that the spirit of opposition is not dead, but is only biding its time to yet assert itself. We are having a fair degree of success in disposing of these excellent little books, The Daughter of a Republican, and when that and High Joe are read and the thinking which must come to the subject we hope to see an uprising of the better element, in defense of their rights to live under better conditions than follow in the wake of the saloon. Yours for law and order,

E. G. WRIGHT.

It is expected seeding will begin in another week.

Mrs. Tela Hardy, who came from Montana a short time ago, is still on the sick list.

The boys are now looking for fish, and taking a cold bath now and then. Water is good for inward and outward aplication.

They say Aguinaldo is now captured with seield, buckler, powder horn, including all trappings and paraphernalia. We hope this is so and will put an end to that foolish war.

It seems all the rest of the army officers are now jelous of Gen. Funston. They fear he will cary of too many laurels. It is estimated the Philippine war has cost the following in life and money. Total cost in coin: $202,583,000. Total cost in lives; 3025. Say nothing of those who are diseased and maimed. Who is to get the sroils out of this war, if there is any?

One Death From Smallpox.

Grinnell, Iowa, April 2—Lake City is suffering from the small-pox scourge in its violent form. One death occurred, and there are several more serious cases.

A Cool Reception.

An outfit with Martha and Eliza Wise, prominent in the late Anoka tragedy, as their attractions, were booked at the opera house Monday night but when the troupe arrived and found all their bills torn down and a very decided sentiment against the show, they concluded not to attempt a performance. Mrs. Rubec of the Merchants hotel refused to let them stop at her place and they got out of town very early in the morning.—Elk River Star News.

Small Pox Certainly.

Dr. Bracken was at Little Falls yesterday, where he examined a number of people ill with what had already been pronounced small pox. Dr. Bracken, the head of the state department, pronounced the cases genuine smallpox, and stated that if the citizens did not comply with the orders of the local health department and lend their assistance to the officer in charge to try and stop a spread of the disease that he would be obliged to quarantine the town.—St. Cloud Times.

Cannot Remain in Prussia.

By Cable from Berlin, April 2.

Baron Rheinhaben, Prussian minister of the interior, has issued a decree stringently revising the regulations regarding Americans sojourning in Prussia. The decree says:

"All American citizens of German birth, who return to Prussia in the military service age, after having avoided army service here, will not be allowed, under any conditions, to reside in Prussia permanently."

The decree which dates from 1885, has heretofore been "insufficiently observed," as the present circular puts it.—Minneapolis Tribune.

FARMIN' 'AINT NO GOOD.

In th' summer when I'm mowin'
'Way down in th' medder lot
When th' wind has stopped a-blowin'
An' th' sun is pipin' hot
An' th' locus' is a-screechin'
An' th' spring's dry in th' wood,
Then I thinks I'll go to preachin'
Bein's farmin' ain't no good

Somehow preachin's took my fancy.
Ever since I was a lad,
When I used to drive old Nancy
Down to meeting long with dad.
Preachers never does no stewing'
An' I shouldn't think they would,
In their line there's simplin' doin'
When this farmin' aint no good.

Wimmin folks all put the parson
An' he never does no work;
Pays but half fare on the cars an'
Allus wares a clean biled shirt.
Has his say on Sunday mornin'—
I would talk back if I could—
But th' likes o' me he's scornin'
Bein's farmin' aint no good.

If th' bugs ain't on th' 'taters,
Then I fights the army worm
While them Wall Street speculators
Tun th' hull gol-darn concern.
So, b'gosh, I'm goin, to quit it.
Would ye blame me if I should
Make a break for some ole pulpit,
Bein's farmin' aint no good!

Holsington's Squirrel Shoot.

Mr. Editor GAZETTE: Dear Sir: I have for some time wanted to tell a story of a curious thing that happened in my boyhood days, which is as follows: When I was a boy, perhaps 12 or 15 years old I was sent out to drive up the cows one morning, that were in a pasture adjoining the woods. I took along my little rifle, thinking I might see something to shoot. There was a chestnut tree close by the pasture fence, in the woods, and as it was when the chestnuts were falling, I went there to see if I could get some of the nuts, and while there a ground squirrel jumped upon a log about 10 feet from me, and was looking at me, and I at the squirrel. I thought, what a fine mark the end of his nose would be to shoot at. Well, I took deliberate aim at the end of the squirrel's nose, and fired. I went to the log to see what I had done, and lo! and behold! there was that squirrel skin on the log, lying with the hair side next to the log spread out as smoothe as if it had been placed there by hand. The skin was cut from one end to the other, on the lower part of the body, the legs skin was riped open as nicely as could be done with a knife, and claws were hanging to them, there was no bones or meat on the hide of the squrrel, but the bones and meat I found lying on the ground. A nicer job could not have been done in skinning a squrrel with a knife. Strange things are taking place in this world I am willing to be qualified to the above.

SUBSIDIES UNNECESSARY.

"It is well known that the Burlington Route is selected by the government, and has been for many years, as the route for its through mail service between Chicago and Council Bluffs. The overland mail, sent by the government over the Burlington. This service is performed in special trains, but there is no written contract for the service with the government. It simply has selected and retains what it considers the best, quickest and safest route for its transcontinental mails; nor is any subsidy paid. The Burlington receives only the same rates in force by general law for the carriage of all mails in the country. In a recent debate in the House of Representatives at Washington, upon the question of paying a subsidy to a line of railroad between New York and New Orleans, for keeping up a fast mail service in the South, Mr. Loud of California, Chairman of the committee on postoffices and postroads, in giving his reasons for voting against this subsidy to the southern railroad, paid the following high tribute to the Burlington. He said: "If subsidies are proper, you should not restrict them. If there is any railroad in the country that earns extra compensation from the government, that railroad is the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, from Chicago to Omaha, which runs phenomenally fast trains, carrying nothing but mail; but that company does not ask for a subsidy."—Railway Age, March 29, 1901.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 29, 1901

More crookedness in Cuba! Only a little matter of $40,000 but no doubt as to who got it is giving some prominent members of the administration a bad case of shivvers. A stockholder of the Havana Gaslight Co. has filed charges saying that a person of influence had collected $40,000 from that company for securing 50 per cent reduction in the tariff one crude petroleum used for the manufacture of gas. The War Department is said to be investigating the charge. There are some sensational stories going around about this case, which may or may not be true, and there are some known facts. About the first of the present month the President issued an order reducing the tariff on crude petroleum, to be used exclusively, for making illuminating gas in Cuba, from $1.40 per 100 Kilos to 70 cents, and the order was officially promulgated in Havana on the 18th inst. That order was issued on the recommendation of Gov. Leonard Wood, endorsed by Secretary Root. There the known facts end. Gen. Wood, of course, should be able in the explanation he has been asked to make by the War Department to say why he recommended that reduction, and the gas company stockholder should be made to tell to whom the $40,000 was payed. Meanwhile there are naturally runors as well as fears that Neeley's stealing of Cuban postal funds may be pety larceny compared with other crooked financial work over there by Americans.

What to do with Aguinaldo, now that he has been captured, is greatly puzzling the administration.

Representative Warner, of Ill., brought back the gloomiest sort of budget from his recent visit to Cuba. For instance, he said. "The Cubans will sign anything or do anything just to get us away from their property and when they have the reins in their own hands you can expect the worst. From what I could learn they will assess every body with any money and have a division of the spoils. They will drive all Spaniards and American sympathizers from the island and for a brief period revel in loot. Law and order will become a mockery and a state of anarchy will reign. Of course, we may turn the island over, but it is a crime against humanity to withdraw at this time. When our troops leave the island you will witness a reign of lawlessness that will startle the world and compel us in the name of justice to take matters in our own hands again."

There has been so much humbug about various acts of the McKinley administration that it was a little difficult for Mr McKinley to do any thing in that line striking enough to cause more than a passing coment, but the bit of humbuggery attached to filling the vacancy on the Civil Service Commission caused by the recent death of Commissioner Brewer was a corker. Of course, it has long ago been made apparent that the professed admiration for civil service reform by the administration was cant and hypocrisy of the worst sort, but nobody supposed for an instant that Mr. McKinley would appoint a Civil service Commissioner who had a public record showing him to be in favor of killing the Civil Service commission. Well that is precisely what Mr. McKinley did.

ExRepresentative W. A. Rodenberg, of East St. Louis, Ill., who was this week appointed on the Civil Service Commission, with the full knowledge that the appropriation was to be refused, if the necessary votes could be secured, for the purpose of killing the Civil Service Commission and the law under which it acts. Now, Mr. Rodenberg is a Civil Service Commissioner and, unless the Senate should refuse to confirm his nomination, which is not likely, will draw $3500 a year salary and a liberal allowance for expenses during the remainder of the McKinley regime; and he has had the nerv to say in a published interview that he had always been a friend of civil service reform. Such humbug is disgusting

While Mr McKinley is racking his brains to try to satisfy the demands of the republican bosses for patronage, American interests in China are in a fair way to suffer. According to late advices from Pekin, the other powers are considering the advisability of quietly pushing the U. S. out of the Chinese question by ignoring it in future negotiations. If the U. S. should be pushed out of the Chinese diplomatic door, what would become of the "open door" to American trade in China? Mr. McKinley may find the filling of a few offices a more important question than this is, but when he hears from the American people he will discover what a mistake he has made, but unfortunately that discovery will not make an American trade with China, which is now, in the opinion of those most competent to judge, in jeopardy.

Representative Stevens, of Minn., who has recently been in Cuba, has given the annexation or bust men a hard nut to crack by calling attention to the fact that Cuba can produce sugar at a little more than half the cost of producing American beet sugar and for a great deal less than cane sugar can be produced by our Southern planters, and that it can produce enough of it to supply the market in this country, which means, in his opinion, that the annexation of Cuba would at once kill the entire sugar industry, both cane and beet, of this country. He is opposed to either annexation or an American protectorate.

HOW A PUZZLL WAS SOLVED.

When you want a certain article, you want the best make of that article, don't you?

But how to determine which make is best is what puzzles you, isn't it?

And when the puzzle is solved for you, y authority which cannot be questioned, you are pleased, aren't you?

And you would like to hear of one puzzle that has been solved for the people of the whole world, wouldn't you?

Well, we will tell you about that very puzzle, and its solution.

At the Universal Exposition of 1889 at Paris, France, the best sewing machines of the world, including those of America, were in competition. They were passed upon by a jury composed of the best foreign mechanical experts, two of whom were the leading sewing machine manufacturers of France.

This jury, after exhaustive examination and tests, adjudged that the Wheeler & Wilson machines were the best of all, and awarded that company the highest prize offered, the GRAND PRIZE, giving other companies only gold, silver and bronze medals.

The French Government, as a further recognition of superiority, decorated Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, president of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor, the most prized honor of France.

That is how the puzzle of the best sewing machine in the world was fully solved by the most competent authority in the world in favor of the No. 9 and No. 12 Wheeler & Wilson machines.

The No. 9, for family use, and the No. 12, for manufacturing uses, are the best in the world to-day.

And now, when you want a sewing machine, if you do not get the best, it will be your own fault.

Ask your sewing machine dealer for the No. 9 Wheeler & Wilson machine, and if he does not keep them, write to us for descriptive catalogue, prices and terms.

TO THE FORESTS OF 1857.

Proudly they stood in their native pride.
Sweeping in grandeur far and wide
In solid columns so great and grand
A forest of beauty that shaded the land
The blossom of maple gracefully hung
Os'r shaded bowers summer songs were sung
Proud oaks tottered toward the blue
Kissing the sunlight when the woods were new.

Through dense forests flowed gently a stream
Wandering likeone in a dream
Man had not muffled its sweet rippling song,
Half bidden in beauty it sparkled along
The beautiful deer with timid fawn
Came to kiss its face at coming dawn
Here the mother bird built her many a nest
And cooed her young on its fair broad breast.

When twilight shades had gone to rest
And the light of the wildwood died in the west
With gladsome hearts and spirits bright
We would sing the hours far into the night
Around the campfire under the moon
Stars never looked more lovingly down
Friends never gathered more kind and true
Than those we met when the woods were new.

The brow of the wildwood has changed since then
The branches now bow to thousands of men
The cabin has gone that so proudly stood
With its home like beauty in the quite wood
True bands of affection links many a town
Through shaded scenes comes tumbling down
A cloud of strength has shaken the dew
That lingered long when the woods were new.

Changed the wild scene we loved to meet
Gone are the friends we were wont to meet
The wild woodbine they have severed in twain
Songs that were sung will n'ee'r be sung again
And the breezes that sweeps 'neath summer sky
Kiss forests blossoms that mark where they lie
And the heart long since hath bid adieu
So the scenes 'erst loved when the woods were new.

Foreign Sugar.

The people of the United States paid $100,250,874 for foreign sugar last year. All this imported sugar, and more too, might just as well have been produced in the United States—Minneapolis Tribune.

Yes, of course that much sugar could be raised, under adverse circumstances; and have cost the people of this country even more than a million and a quarter of dollars, including the tariff, protective tariff; at the same time taking out of some other business to which better adopted, a lot of people who did earn their money by other means than making sugar, It would also have cut down the revenues, now so necessary, to defray expenses of "benevolent assimilation" of sugar producing countries.

The people of this country might have produced the coffee, the tea, and the banannas for home consumption instead of buying them had the tariff, the protective tariff, been made high enough, to warrant the building of hot houses, and the importing of expert laborers. What is the use for us to pay for bringing these articles from distant foreign lands, when we "might" raise them at home; of paying, tariff, protective tariff, and even war tax, on some articles, that "might" be "produced" in this country: in the real United States, not its "benevolent assimilations." (For they, some of them have a tariff coming and a tariff going; worse than foreign lands, on whose goods import duties are collected but where we may go to sell without paying a tariff to start from this country?

Protective tariffites are hard to please. They insist on high protective tariff enough to raise revenues on which to run the government. Then complain that the people are paying it rather than raise their own sugar. Sweet isn't it?

BRYAN'S paper the Commoner, has withstood the constant fire of opposition sheets for three months. They have ridiculed the name, they have made fun of the size, and they have got left. Now that the Commoner is to be enlarged look out for the cry that Bryan is growing rich out of his newspaper. Its anything to beat Bryani with some folks.

THE original Gainsborough picture, lost for half a century, has been found by Pinkerton detectives, and returned to England. If the myriads of Gainsborough hats had only gone along what a relief it would be to people who go to church on Sunday, and care to see the preacher; or who attend meetings of any kind in this country, where big hats are the principle objects in view.

THE Boer War seems no nearer ended than it did a year or two ago. We have been told by paders almost weekly, for years past that the Boers were about on the point of quitting. In fact in the first place, the same authorities insisted there was but a "handful" of them anyway. If that story was true for a starter England should be ashamed of herself for having lost so many men, and so much money wrung from her people trying to grasp the "handful" of Boers and their alls; principally the rich mines. There might be one ray of hope that the war will soon end. The English people are growing tired of the war.

Oath of Allegiance.

Aguinaldo has taken the oath of allegiance and promises to be very good Now if Towne will show equal good sense, the insurrection will end.-Annandale Advocate Post,

General Funston might happen round and see what he can do for Mr. Towne.

Small-Pox.

Small-pox has, for several years, prevailed over a large part of this country. For a quarter of a century, or more, only insolated cases had occurred, and, owing probably to vaccination, most of these were in a light form; consequently but few physicians in regular practice, up to the beginning of the present outbreak, had ever seen a case. This gave the disease a good chance to spread. Being, generally in so light a form as not to oblige those affected to go to bed and in many instances, not to stop work, people, were unable to appreciate the necessity of care not to mingle with those having the disease, and often times did not even consult a physician. And where they did, the doctors never having seen a case, disagreed as to the nature of the eruption. Under these circumstances it is no wonder the desease has become so prevalent. The wonder is that so few cases have occurred, and in so light a form.

Now, that most physicians have become posted up on the disease, have seen cases, and know the necessity of quarantining against its spread, and the people have had experience in most communities, it ought to be much easier to suppress any outbreak, if the authorities grasp the situation at once, and promptly discharge their duties in the matter.

The most to be dreaded are light cases, where the family insist that the patients "are not sick at all" although they are broke out worse than you ever saw anyone before, and the patient is allowed to mingle with others, to go out among neighbors, or the patients themselves visit neighbors, or receive visitors.

The proper thing is for afflicted persons to be quarantined; thoroughly isolated from others, unless it be an attendant who has already had the disease, if such can be had, and who uses all due precautions not to allow anything that may spread the disease to be brought from the patients quarters to the outside world, and who uses a gown, rubber coat or some such protection when visiting the patient, barely enough to wait on him. People who want obey the rules and regulations laid down for the prevention of the spread of smallpox when it is in their families should, for the safety of the community, be placed under guard and kept away from other people.

Thomas Jefferson.

Thomas Jefferson, patriot and statesmen, the third President of the United States of America, was borne at Shadwell, Albemarle county, Viginia, on April 2, (O. S.), 1743. He was the most conspicuous defender of democracy in his day; and is now quoted, by all liberty loving men, as authority on that subject. He was a leader in the Revolution. He wrote that grand instrument, the pride of every liberty loving person who reads it, the Declaration of Independence. He was a firm believer in its principles, and defender of the rights of the people. The preamble:

"When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to desolve the political bonds which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of natures God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation."

with which the battle cry of feeedom starts out, is, itself, an inspiration to those who feel its need in every clime. There is nothing small about it. It is as comprehensive as the globe itself, and the Declaration:

"We hold these truths to be self evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights: that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate, that governments, long established, should not be changed for light and transient causes." etc. etc.

when first promulgated were sweet to the minds of men in the American colonies. The instrument bearing these terms was adopted by the Representatives of the United States of America in general Congress assembled on July 4, 1776, and the spirit of '76 was arroused, the country was bound together in defense of their rights and against all opposing powers.

The words of that world renowned declaration are as dear to the hearts of the home loving people of all lands to day, as they were to our patriotic predecessors on this, our native, or adopted soil.

Coupled with these patriotic declarations of the people's rights, we have the injunction of Jefferson, that: "We are likely to preserve the liberty we have obtained only by unremitting labors and perils." This warning given to his fellow citizens a few years after peace had been obtained, and at a time when he feared our new republic was being drifted into a monarchical form of government, can as appropriately be pondered over by the citizens of the United States of today, and the threatening clouds disbursed, as they were a century ago. The fact that a cycle of a hundred years has been run is no cause for slacking our watchfulness. "Eternal viligance is the price of liberty." Every voter especially should weigh well the signs of the times, and not be caught napping; bought for gold: or in any other way made to dispose of his birthright.

While we celebrate the birthday of the leader of democracy, the respected of his countrymen of all parties, let us remember not only his determined fight for the liberties of all men, but his warnings to guard well what we have.

HECUBA

By Rossiter Johnson.

YES, old chum, I will tell you all about it.

It was a great procession, and I stood at the northeast corner of —— street and watched it as it swept along up the avenue with an even stride, and at intervals with a monotonous song. I was not altogether comfortable; for it was one long, moving column of enthusiasm, inspiring almost equal enthusiasm in two stationary columns on either side of the way, and it was enthusiasm for a ticket that I did not intend to vote.

I busied myself with counting the ranks and making large allowance for the boys that were apparently under 21.

Suddenly my counting came to an end—I forgot what total I had arrived at, cared no more for the banners and mottoes, and was deaf to "the noise of the captains and the shouting." By one of those movements that occasionally take place in a good-natured crowd there was a little whirlpool where I stood, everybody within two or three yards was moved to a new spot on the pavement and all relative positions were changed. With this change suddenly loomed up in front of me one of the most delightful visions of my life. She was taller than most of the men that stood near her, and was perfectly proportioned. Her dark brown hair was rolled into a smooth, solid mass at the back of her head, and balanced it perfectly above shoulders that seemed to have the strength of a man's without losing the beauty of a woman's. She wore a dormer-window hat, ornamented by a single rosebud, with just the least touch of jauntiness, and the October sunlight fell athwart one of those faces that words can never portray and the painter can seldom do more than attempt. It might be said that it was almost Grecian, and it must be said that it was wholly American. But the chief glory was in the expression, and as I edged around to one side and the other, through an arc of 240 degrees, I saw it from many different angles, but discovered no abatement. I have seen perfect profiles on plain faces and handsome faces with pitiful profiles, but here it was impossible for light and shadow, by any change, to betray a fault or a weakness, for there was nothing to be betrayed. She could have stood as the comprehensive model for womankind, whose separate excellencies might be caught by one and another of her sisters, but who in her entirety was not likely ever to be duplicated.

Twice only in my life had I seen a similar vision, and these two visions were but pictures of a moment; yet they never have faded from my memory. They are nameless, but immortal. The third such, far more impressive, more real and yet more romantic, was—who was she? When the procession disbanded and I was walking slowly home some fragment of consciousness rose and said: "What is she to you?" Thereupon I named her Hecuba—and Hecuba she is and will be to the end of time.

When the crowd dispersed after the last troop had passed I watched her as she climbed into an omnibus.

"Now, why," said I to myself after dinner, "should you think a second time of Hecuba? You know absolutely nothing about her, except that her personal appearance is remarkably fine, and her politics remarkably faulty. Not so. Every lover of a fine art knows there is something in it which he cannot describe, and perhaps cannot even account for; and we all know that here and there, as we go through the world, we come upon a person whose evident qualities are not to be summed up by any words that the dictionary affords. I wish I could see Hecuba once more, but I never shall—and yet the world is small."

For weeks I found myself looking intently at every stage that happened to pass me on the avenue, as if I had expected to recognize a friend inside. I could not pass the entrance of a photograph gallery without stopping long enough to scan every portrait that was displayed beside the door.

My religion was—well, the fact was, I feared it was becoming too narrow. A man should always try to broaden himself, especially in his moral nature, and should listen occasionally to the services of other churches than his own. Yes, I must broaden my religion, and so I attended a different church every Sunday for many weeks. They were a little tedious, all of them. Occasionally I saw in the congregation some person that I knew, but no one particularly interesting.

It was near the close of the season, and I was telling myself how much I had been disappointed in the elevation of the stage when I went one night to see "As You Like It." The lights are a little dim; I will just sweep the circle with my glass, lest I might have some old friend in the house and overlook him.

Ah! there's Hecuba! She sits beside a middle-aged lady on the opposite side of the house. The play has but just begun. I will slip down to the box office and see if I can buy a seat on that side. No, that would be a little silly. I'll stay here and depend on the glass. Scan the lady's features closely next time the lights are turned up. Oh, yes, she is evidently Hecuba's mother. What a fine-looking woman! Evidently the people on either side of them are not of their party; so probably she is a widow, and this her only daughter.

It was perhaps six weeks later when I went out for a long walk one Sunday afternoon and was caught in a shower. The first shelter I could find was a building where a mission Sunday school was being held with open doors. A young man in the porch bade me welcome. The auditorium was rather somber. When my eyes became used to the scant illumination I looked about me, and there, only three seats ahead of me, teaching a class of boys, was Hecuba. What sang the genial Mark Lemon? "Oh, would I were a boy again!" I would not spend Sunday afternoons going in swimming or playing marbles; I would go to Sunday school with great regularity. But you cannot fool the almanac. Yet I might become a teacher here. I will ask the superintendent if they need more teachers. The gamin harvest truly is great. And how it must broaden a man's spiritual nature to teach every Sunday afternoon in a mission chapel. True, I don't know much about the Scriptures myself, but would not that be a good way to learn? Yes, teaching others is the surest way to acquire knowledge.

I lingered after the services to ask the young man in the porch all about it. Hecuba passed out, with an umbrella in her hand, opened it on the steps and rapidly walked away. Oh, if that umbrella had only been mine instead of hers! But there's the luck of it.

I have always been particular about my hands, but have neglected them somewhat of late. I ought to be especially particular now that I am proving my religion—"neat hands and a pure heart." That doesn't sound quite right; I'm a little weak on Scripture quotation, but shall be stronger when I have taught the Sunday school class. I must stop at a manicure's on my way downtown. Here is one, with the name on a modest sign—"Mme. Nidivear"—probably assumed.

A very pretty reception room for patients. "Take a seat, sir. The operator will be at liberty in a few moments."

Certainly—and I look around, examine everything, as I always do in such ceses, though I am not a professional detective.

What is this rolled parchment on the little side table? Unroll it—it is not tied, and can hardly be anything private. Ah! a graduation diploma from one of the best of our colleges for women, issued to Hester Nidivear. So that is not an assumed name, after all; and the manicure sent her daughter to college—why not, in our free land? Good for her! Look at the date of the diploma—but I must not tell that; however, it was recent. Books on the centertable indicate that somebody here knows what literature is.

"Your turn, sir"—and I walked into the little operating-room. Nobody there. I take the patient's chair, and pull off my gloves to hasten matters, for my time is valuable to-day.

A slight rustle of skirts; the operator has come in. I look up, and do not quite faint away. It is Hecuba! What am I to do? Do! why, have your hands made presentable, you simpleton. Of course, that's exactly what I came for.

Hecuba was as dignified in wielding the knife and the polisher as when she handled the Bible or the opera glass.

So I regain my self-possession and gently fish for Hecuba's story.

Briefly, her mother had died suddenly four weeks ago. She had been a widow several years, and always earned a good income, but never accumulated any money. She had given her daughter an education, and now Hecuba had taken her mother's place in order to do the like for her younger brother. The money was wanted at once, and this was the quickest way to earn it.

"That is the boy's picture on the opposite wall?"

"Yes."

"And the sword that hangs over it—that looks historic."

"It was our great-grandfather's. He was an officer in the revolution—in a Connecticut regiment."

Let me think the situation all over as I walk away. First, the romance of it. I remember cutting from a newspaper last year and placing in my scrapbook an exquisite little poem signed Hester Nidivear. One of the best French poets was a barber, and one of our own was a dentist; after the beard and the teeth, why should not the nails have their turn at poetics? Second, the sense of it. My great-grandfather also took part in the revolution, but he wore no sword; he was only a private. Better a private under Washington than a colonel under Cornwallis, I have always boasted. And after the war he pared the hoofs of horses before nailing on the shoes. Rule of three: As the human hand is to the horse's hoof so is—um, I fear I rank a little below her. Where am I? I do not know where I am. Oh, Hecuba!

Now, old chum, perhaps you can guess why I have not married. But it is not certain that I never shall.

SUBSIDIES UNNECESSARY.

"It is well known that the Burlington Route is selected by the government, and has been for many years, as the route for its through mail service between Chicago and Council Bluffs. The overland mail, sent by the government over the Burlington. This service is performed in special trains, but there is no written contract for the service with the government. It simply has selected and retains what it considers the best, quickest and safest route for its transcontinental mails; nor is any subsidy paid. The Burlington receives only the same rates in force by general law for the carriage of all mails in the country. In a recent debate in the House of Representatives at Washington, upon the question of paying a subsidy to a line of railroad between New York and New Orleans, for keeping up a fast mail service in the South, Mr. Loud of California, Chairman of the committee on postoffices and postroads, in giving his reasons for voting against this subsidy to the southern railroad, paid the following high tribute to the Burlington. He said: "If subsidies are proper, you should not restrict them. If there is any railroad in the country that earns extra compensation from the government, that railroad is the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, from Chicago to Omaha, which runs phenomenally fast trains, carrying nothing but mail; but that company does not ask for a subsidy."—Railway Age, March 29, 1901.

The density of population in the United States is now the greatest in the District of Columbia. There the number of inhabitants to the square mile is 54,645.30.

Dr. H. F. Gray, of Los Angeles, heads a syndicate that has purchased 5,000,000 acres of agricultural lands in Mexico and has obtained permission from the Mexican government to establish Mormon colonies. Quite as remarkable as the wrecking of the Pacific Mail line steamship Rio De Janeiro just at the entrance to San Francisco harbor on February 22 is the total disappearance of the wreck. Divers have explored large areas of the bottom of the sea at the point where the wreck is supposed to have occurred, but not the slightest trace of the illfated ship has been found.

A Bible student calls the attention of a New York newspaper to the fourth verse of the second chapter of the book of Nahum, which reads: "The chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one against another in the broad ways; they shall seem like torches, they shall run like the lightnings." The correspondent sees in the modern trolley car a fulfillment of this prophecy.

The private letter books of Robert Morris, the financier of the revolution, which were lost for several generations, were brought to light in Washington recently, and have been deposited in the congressional library. Another acquisition by the library is the original manuscript setting forth the various decrees by which the titles were conferred on Columbus by the pope for the discovery of America.

A report issued by the census bureau states that there are now 31 beet sugar factories in successful operation in this country — nine in Maine, eight in California and 14 in other states and territories. All of these factories are doing fairly well, but they have been established at considerable cost in the way of bounties, etc., and the industry can hardly be said to be beyond the experimental stage.

One of the striking things shown by the last census is the remarkable increase of tenant farming. The percentage of farms operated by tenants showed a considerable increase by the census of 1890. For the whole country this percentage has increased in the last ten years nearly twice as fast as the per cent. of the population of the nation, four times that of the purely agricultural population and twice that of the farms operated by their owners.

Near Rio Grande City, Tex., an immense deposit of unknown gaseous substance has been discovered. Pieces of it ignite quickly and give out a strong flame, which lasts for a remarkably long period. It is said by scientists that the substance is either an unknown mineral or ordinary clay highly charged with natural gas. In either case the value of the deposit as fuel is immense, as it covers many thousands of acres and is of immense depth.

Gallantry is not yet a lost art, and there is still honor among thieves, according to a story that comes from Paterson, N. J. The burglars who visited the home in that city of Mrs. Garret A. Hobart, widow of the vice president, left behind a note of apology, which read: "I humbly beg your pardon. I do not wish to rob good folk. Burglar." The note also bears an inscription testifying to the esteem in which Mrs. Hobart is held and to her charitable work in Paterson.

A report shows that in the last 20 years the sales of stamps by the post office department have increased about threefold, although in the same time the increase in population has been less than 50 per cent. This is the more surprising because even two decades ago the Americans were known as a race of letter writers and used the mails probably more than any other people upon the face of the globe. Evidently the letter-writing habit, like many other habits, grows upon the victims, but in this case there is no cause for alarm.

The "Lousiana purchase" comprised the territory now embraced in the states of Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, a large part of Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wyoming, and the Indian Territory and Oklahoma. The "purchase," by the census of 1900, contained 14,572,189 inhabitants, 1,037,735 square miles, 165,878,356 acres under cultivation, worth $3,193,461,299, and farm products and live stock worth $1,876,184,431. Its mineral products last year were worth $259,909,128. It cost $15,000,000.

The scheme to check the migration of country boys to cities is admirable in the abstract and depressingly difficult in the concrete. Migration from rural to urban life was the most striking phenomenon of the last century, which witnessed the decline of agriculture in the old world and the development of manufactures. The hour is at hand when sociology and benevolence will press upon humane consciousness in the new world the prudence of persuading boys to quit the congested industrial centers and seek independence in cultivation of the soil.

WRECKED BY THIEVES.

Safe of an Indiana Merchant Blown Up But Little Booty Secured.

Frankfort, Ind., April 8.—Burglars at Michigantown, east of this city, early Sunday morning, wrecked the safe in a brick building occupied by C. A. Marshall, a merchant, and after a desperate running battle with citizens, in which Marshall was slightly wounded and one of the robbers probably fatally shot, escaped with a small amount of booty. The safe contained several hundred dollars in cash and many valuable papers, and all was practically destroyed by the force of the explosion. The big steel vault was blown out and across the room, and a drawer containing a package of bank bills was blown in an opposite direction and the bills torn into a thousand pieces. It is not thought the robbers succeeded in getting to exceed $50 in cash, the other money being so destroyed that it could not be found or taken. The property damage to the safe, building and goods will probably reach $3,000.

Chardon, O., April 5.—A gang of half a dozen robbers early Thursday morning blew open the safe of the Citizens' savings bank here, and after a desperate fight with Night Watchman Pomeroy and a citizen, succeeded in making their escape. It is believed the robbers secured less than $200. One of the robbers was wounded. Early Friday morning two men were arrested at Willoughby, charged with the deed.

BILL FINALLY KILLED.

Last Hope of Parole for Younger Brothers Vanishes When Freedom Seemed Within Their Grasp.

St. Paul, Minn., April 8.—The bill to parole the Younger brothers, now serving sentences of life imprisonment in the state prison for the bank robbery and murders in connection therewith at Northfield, Minn., 23 years ago, was Saturday finally killed by the house of representatives. The bill had gone to the governor for his approval, having passed both houses in an amended form, but a question of unconstitutionality arose and the bill was Friday recalled from the governor to remedy this defect. The house first refused to amend the bill, and then, by a vote of 53 to 50, indefinitely postponed the bill. The fight for the pardon or parole of the Youngers has continued without rest for the past 20 years, and this has been the nearest to success that they have yet reached, their friends in Missouri having been assured of their release under the provisions of this bill which has thus been killed after being in the hands of the governor for his approval.

WILL FIGHT TO A FINISH.

Boers Show No Indication of Tiring of the War—Kruger to Visit United States.

London, April 8.—The Pretoria correspondent of the Morning Post, who warns his countrymen against hoping for an early termination of hostilities or believing the stories that the Boers are tired of war, says: "It becomes daily more evident that the Boers intend to fight to a finish. Many are surrendering, but they are men of no standing. The real fighting men are still on commando, and, although the recently successful British operations tend to bring the end nearer, it is evident that the Boers must be completely crushed before a general surrender is probable."

According to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Hilversum, Mr. Kruger, who has just arrived there, has expressed an intention to go to the United States in June, and to visit Washington, Boston and Chicago.

Wants Negro Criminals Banished.

Macon, Ga., April 9.—Bishop Henry M. Turner, of the African Methodist church, who has been conducting services among the negro churches here for the past two days, openly advocates the banishment of negro criminals. He thinks the United States government should send all negro criminals to Africa. He deplores the fact that this country has no steamship lines to Africa. He thinks southern ports in the United States would profit a great deal by the commerce that would thus be built up.

Printers Taboo Strikes.

Chicago, April 9.—Word was received from Indianapolis, Ind., Monday night that the referendum vote of the subordinate unions of the International Typographical union had resulted in the adoption of the arbitration agreement between the unions and the National Publishers' association, by which strikes, lockouts or boycotts in the great daily papers of this country will be avoided in the future. In all 16,074 votes were cast, of which 12,544 were for the proposition and but 3,530 against.

Will Be Rededicated.

Springfield, Ill., April 8.—The board of commissioners of the national Lincoln monument have decided upon Thursday, October 15, this year, as the date for the rededication of the monument, which has been rebuilt at a cost of $100,000. It is proposed to make the event one long to be remembered in this city and state. President McKinley will deliver the principal address of the day. Gov. Yates has been authorized by the commissioners to invite the president.

Broke the Record.

New York, April 6.—The steamship Rhein, which arrived here Friday from Bremen, broke the record as a passenger carrier. Besides her crew, which numbered over 400, she had 2,502 passengers. Of the latter but 53 came in the cabin. The highest number of passengers of the third class which had previously arrived at this port on a single steamship was 2,200.

Flood Scare Over.

Boston, April 9.—The flood scare all over New England, due to rising waters under the influence of nearly five days of rain, has died out, for reports indicate that a change for the better will come soon. The losses will be heavy, no doubt, but nothing to be compared with some of the freshets of recent springs.

A GIGANTIC SCHEME.

Plan of John Claflin to Consolidate Large Retail Dry Goods Stores About Complete.

New York, April 9.—The Journal of Commerce says: It may be stated on authority that the plan to consolidate large retail dry goods companies on which Mr. John Claflin has been at work for some time, has now been definitely completed and a syndicate has been organized to finance it. This would seem to indicate that the securities of the new company will be offered for public subscription. J. P. Morgan & Co. are the head of the syndicate and will, it is understood, underwrite the issue. The capital of the new concern will be about $20,000,000, including the common and preferred shares and bonds.

The names of the companies which will be taken into the new company have not yet been officially stated, but friends of Mr. Claflin feel confident that his two New York stores, namely, the Adams Dry Goods company and McCreery's Twenty-third street store, will be included, while there is some talk that Lord & Taylor's two New York stores and also the Joseph H. Bauland & Co., of Brooklyn, may be invited into the new concern.

MONEY FOR KING EDWARD.

New Civil List Fixed at About £470,000—Labouchere the Only Dissenting Voice.

London, April 5.—The report of the committee appointed to consider changes in the civil list recommends that the new civil list be fixed at about £470,000 as follows:

Privy purse, £110,000; salaries of household and retired allowances, £125,000; expenses of household, £193,000; works, £20,000; royal bounty, alms and special services, £13,000, and sundries, £8,000.

The report recommends an annuity of £20,000 to the duke of Cornwall and York, £10,000 to the duchess of Cornwall and York, and £6,000 to each of the king's daughters. The queen's annuity, in the event of her surviving the king, is increased to £70,000, and an annuity of £30,000 is provided for the duchess of Cornwall and York in the event of her surviving the duke.

The proposals for the civil list show a net increase of £67,000.

Mr. Labouchere, the sole signatory of the minority report, thinks that no increase is necessary.

REJECTS PLATT'S PLAN.

Vote in the Cuban Constitutional Convention Is Unfavorable to the Amendment.

Havana, April 8.—As indicated would be the case, the Cuban constitutional convention voted Saturday not to accept the Platt amendment reciting the relations which the United States declares should exist between that country and the Cuban republic. The convention first rejected the compromise measure proposed by Senor Giberga. Senor Quilez' motion to accept the Platt amendment was then taken up and defeated by an overwhelming majority, the vote being 24 for rejection and only two for acceptance. The two minority votes were cast by Senors Quilez and Giberga. The recent growth of sentiment against the Platt amendment is attributed to the attitude of the conservative element in reference to making concessions and to serious errors committed in handling the situation by the authorities.

Plot to Kill Loubet.

London, April 9.—A dispatch to the Evening News from Paris says that the French detectives were privately informed of a projected attempt to assassinate President Loubet during his coming trip. Extraordinary precautions have been taken everywhere, and the usual police protection has been doubled. Outsiders have been excluded from the railroad stations. Ten thousand soldiers have been detailed to maintain order during the French president's stay at Nice, where stringent orders have been issued to rigorously suppress the slightest hostile demonstration.

Stolen Picture Found.

Chicago, April 6.—After being carried through England, America and the continent of Europe for 25 years, taken back and forth in a false-bottom trunk between warehouses and safe deposit vaults in a dozen cities, the famous Gainsborough portrait of the duchess of Devonshire, stolen in London in 1876, has been found in Chicago. The great painting had been cut from the frame and stolen to be used as a weapon to secure the release of one of a band of English forgers, and its whereabouts was revealed by a convict on his deathbed.

Elected to Congress.

Bangor, Me., April 9.—The special election in the Fourth Maine congressional district Monday to choose a successor to Hon. Charles A. Boutelle, resigned, resulted in a victory for ex-Gov. Llewelyn Powers, of Houlton, the republican candidate, by a majority estimated at slightly more than 2,000 over Thomas White, democrat. In September Mr. Boutelle's majority in the district was more than 10,000.

Merrimac Blown Up.

Santiago de Cuba, April 8.—Fifteen hundred pounds of dynamite were used by the authorities of the port Saturday afternoon in blowing up the forward superstructure of the sunken United States collier Merrimac, which has long impeded the entrance to the harbor. The explosion was plainly heard in the city, five miles away.

Rebellion Breaks Out.

Peking, April 9.—The rumors which have been current during the past few days of the outbreak of a rebellion, headed by Gen. Tung-Fu-Sian (former commander of the northern army) in the provinces of Mongolia and Shen-Si, have been absolutely authenticated.

Will Curtail Army Strength.

Washington, April 8.—The army will not be recruited to the maximum strength of 100,000 men. The president is determined, after careful investigation, that an army of 75,000 men will be sufficient to meet all present needs, and that will be the limit.

"I Followed Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Now I am Well."

A woman is sick—some disease peculiar to her sex is fast developing in her system. She goes to her family physician and tells him a story, but not the whole story.

She holds back something, loses her head, becomes agitated, forgets what she wants to say, and finally conceals what she ought to have told, and this completely mystifies the doctor.

Is it a wonder, therefore, that the doctor fails to cure the disease? Still we cannot blame the woman, for it is very embarrassing to detail some of the symptoms of her suffering, even to her family physician. This is the reason why hundreds of thousands of women are now in correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can give every symptom, so that when she is ready to advise them she is in possession of more facts from her correspondence with the patient than the physician can possibly obtain through a personal interview.

Following we publish a letter from a woman showing the result of a correspondence with Mrs. Pinkham. All such letters are considered absolutely confidential by Mrs. Pinkham, and are never published in any way or manner without the consent in writing of the patient; but hundreds of women are so grateful for the health which Mrs. Pinkham and her medicine have been able to restore to them that they not only consent to publishing their letters, but write asking that this be done in order that other women who suffer may be benefited by their experience.

Mrs. Ella Rice, Chelsea, Wis., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For two years I was troubled with falling and inflammation of the womb. I suffered very much with bearing-down pains, headache, backache, and was not able to do anything. What I endured no one knows but those who have suffered as I did. I could hardly drag myself across the floor. I doctored with the physicians of this town for three months and grew worse instead of better. My husband and friends wished me to write to you, but I had no faith in patent medicines. At last I became so bad that I concluded to ask your advice. I received an answer at once advising me to take your Vegetable Compound, and I did so. Before I had taken two bottles I felt better, and after I had taken five bottles there was no happier woman on earth, for I was well again. I know that your Vegetable Compound cured me, and I wish and advise every woman who suffers as I did to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Believe me always grateful for the recovery of my health."—MRS. ELLA RICE, Chelsea, Wis.

$5000 REWARD Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the above testimonial is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission.—LYDIA E. The Twentieth Century.

The twentieth century began January 1st, 1901, and will end with 2000. People did not begin to reckon time from A. D. 1., but waited until about the 550th year of the Christian era. Dandruff, Which Is a Germ Disease—Kill the Germ.

Falling hair is caused by dandruff, which is a germ disease. The germ, in burrowing in to the root of the hair, where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out, digs up the cuticle in little scales, called dandruff or scurf. You can't stop the falling hair without curing the dandruff, and you can't cure the dandruff without killing the dandruff germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of e Solons' Doings.

The Time Having Passed for Introduction of Bills, Without Consent of the Governor, Both Houses Have Settled to Work.

St. Paul, April 3.—The senate spent an hour passing two bills and killing several others. The bills passed were to amend the general laws of 1889 relating to state and county tax levy, and to reimburse Nobles county in the sum of $2,000 for expenses incurred in stamping out infectious disease. One of the bills killed was for allowing teachers to be pensioned.

The senate then took up the primary election law and worked on it untill 6 p. m. There were a multitude of amendments offered, most of which were voted down. The bill was considered section by section, and the senate was working on the fourth section when it adjourned.

An evening session was held to hear railroad attorneys argue against the gross earnings bill raising the tax from 3 to 4 per cent. It is the popular impression that the bill will pass.

The house indulged in a general slaughter of bills, and in the aggregate $250,000 of appropriations were killed. Among the bills killed was one fixing the salary of members of the legislature at $500 per year. Among the few bills passed was one allowing the soldiers at the soldiers' home to retain $8 per month out of ther pension money, instead of $4 as at present.

St. Paul, April 4.—After devoting the greater part of yesterday the senate passed the house primary election bill by a vote of 45 to 12. The act goes into effect Sept. 1, 1901.

Jepson's county option bill was killed.

Gov. Van Sant asked for the introduction of a beet sugar bounty bill in the senate, the house having killed a measure of that sort on Tuesday. Senator Wilson presented the bill.

Senator Sweningsen's now famous opteometry bill has passed the senate.

The committee on taxation recommends the passage of the gross earnings bill.

The bill authorizing boards of county commissioners to employ persons to discover property withheld from taxation, and known as the ferret law, was killed in the house. The bill to do away with the three days of grace met the same fate.

The Haugland blind pig measure was reconsidered by the house and passed.

St. Paul, April 5—After two hours debate yesterday the senate passed the bill raising the gross earning tax to 4 per cent by a vote of 53 to 8. The senate itself did not expect this result, but a motion to pass the bill under suspension of the rules prevailed. The house will unquestionably concur with the senate amendments, so that the bill is as good as finally passed. The three great measures of the session, namely: establishing a board of control for the public institutions, the primary election law and the gross earnings bill have now passed both houses. The house could not quite agree with all of the senate amendments to the primary election law and a conference committee was appointed which adjusted the differences in a short time.

A bill has passed both houses which allows a wife who has secured a divorce and alimony to levy upon the earnings of her former husband, where he has no real estate.

The attendance in the senate was very light in the afternoon, notwithstanding which a good many bills were passed which had no opposition, though it required two or three roll-calls to get the absentees out of the cloak rooms in order to secure the constitutional number of votes required.

The house had nothing exciting on hand and most of the time was spent in committee of the whole. There were a few tilts between members, as usual, but a large number of bills were passed from committee of the whole to the calendar for final passage. A lengthy insurance code bill was offered by the committee on insurance as a substitute for the bill which was introduced early in the session.

The attorney general has given an opinion that the new board of control law does not apply to the state university and Normal schools. An amendment was put in the bill making it directly apply to those institutions but it was then forgotten to amend the title and as the constitution requires the title of every bill to correctly represent what the bill itself contains, the attorney general makes this decission.

St. Paul, April 6.—The senate passed a good many bills yesterday. One of them allows district judges ther expenses when away from home attending court. Another requires railroad companies to keep agents at all stations where the business amounts to $8,000 or more per year. Other bills which passed were requiring suits against commission merchants to be begun within a year after cause occurs; requiring corporations filing amendment increasing capital stock to pay a fee on the capitalization. The rest of the day was devoted to debating bills in committee of the whole.

While it was supposed that the primary election law was completed on Thursday by the conference committee, in order to guard against any question being raised as to its legality, both houses passed it over again yesterday, and it now goes to the governor.

Each house is trying to indulge in a little sharp practice on the other, and so whatever is done in the house, for instance, pertains to house bills, as the house resolutely refuses to put any more senate bills through until the senate passes some of the bills which have been sent to it from the house. The senate is pursuing a similar policy, so that it will not be surprising if a good many bills, concerning which there is no contest, should pass one body and fail to pass the other.

The house put in the larger portion of the day in committee of the whole, devoting itself entirely to house bills. The million-dollar capitol bill has been on the general order list for five days, but as it is a senate bill it has been put over every time it was reached.

St. Paul, April 8.—The cigarette bill forbidding the sale of cigarettes was amended in the senate to include chewing gum as well, and then indefinitely postponed.

The house bill appropriating $1,210 to pay Blair and Mayhood their expenses for the Le Sueur county contest finally passed the senate, after considerable criticism.

The Paris exposition awarded some medals to Minnesota buttermakers and then charged $650 before they will deliver them. This seems a good deal like buying your own honors, but the senate passed a bill Saturday appropriating that sum in order to secure them for the winners.

The committee appointed to investigate the charges of corruption made by Representatives Jacobson and Washburn, in connection with the railroad gross earnings bill, reported that while there was sufficient smoke to warrant an inquiry, there was no real fire. In other words, they found no actual corruption. Representative Laybourn of Duluth followed the report with a resolution censuring Messrs. Jacobson and Washburn for having made the charges. This resolution made something of a sensation, but went over until today under notice of debate.

The bill designed to release the Younger brothers on parole was recalled from the governor by the house for the purpose of amendment. Chief Justice Start, of the pardoning board, is counted as permanently hostile to the parole and the attempted amendment was to substitute State Auditor Dunn for Chief Justice Start on the board. The amendment failed, and then the whole bill was indefinitely postponed. Now it is claimed by attorneys that the postponement was unconstitutional and that the bill has become a law by having been, constructively, in the possession of the governor long enough to become a law without his signature. When the legislature is in session the governor has three days to approve a bill or veto it, and if he does neither it becomes a law anyway. He had the Younger parole bill in his possession two and one-half days when the house recalled it, and the legal point is raised that one branch of the legislature had no right to recall a bill which had passed both bodies.

St. Paul, Minn., April 9.—The omnibus appropriation bill was introduced in both houses yesterday, ordered printed and made special order for 10 o'clock Wednesday. It carries appropriations amounting to $2,737,000, which is $600,000 more than two years ago. Very few get what they hoped for. The university asked for $650,000 and got $282,000. The state fair asked for $100,000 and got $37,000. The Pan-American commissioners asked an increase from $20,000 to $50,000 and get an increase of $10,000. The school of agriculture asked $150,000 and got of $78,000. The St. Peter insane asylum gets $94,075, the Rochester $84,100; Fergus Falls $335,000; Anoka $119,600; Hastings $141,100; a total of $773,875. The normal schools gather in $222,500, Winona receiving $44,500; Mankato $36,000; Moorhead $70,500; Duluth $20,500, and St. Cloud $51,000. The school for the feeble minded at Faribault must have made a great impression on the committee which went down there on Sunday to investigate for it is given $274,000. The state reformatory gets $122,700 and Soldier's home $28,500. Printing for two years costs $113,400.

The senate devoted nearly the entire day to the passage of bills. One bill passed allows for the increased population of towns and cities by permitting the anexation of adjacent property where the owners desire the same.

The million-dollar capitol bill is now through both houses. The house put on an amendment declaring that no contract which makes the cost of the building exceed $3,000,000 shall be valid. The senate concurred in the amendment and the bill now goes to the governor. This bill was introduced early in the session, and though there has been no opposition to it from start to finish, it passes within four days of the last day of the session.

SMOKERS HAVE A HOT TIME.

Devotees of Tobacco in Corea Get Three Hundred Lashes for Indulging in the Weed.

The Anti-Tobacco league should extend the sphere of its operations to Corea, where it will meet the cooperation of the official classes to a degree scarcely to be hoped for in these western latitudes. Here, on the authority of the Seoul paper, is the literal translation of a proclamation which was issued in the middle of December by the local magistrate:

"Behold! Smoking grass (Corean for tobacco) is a species of food, but in smoking one has to hold up a long pipe obliquely and swallow fire—how can it be without injury to his hygiene? Furthermore, one generally drops live ashes on the roadside.

"Should they be taken up by the god of wind, grass roofed, low huts will in a twinkle of an eye be a prey to the flames. That is the reason why an inferior official, like myself, issues herewith an order strictly prohibiting you, the people, to fool with long pipes and to swallow fire.

"Should any of you dare to violate this prohibition, I shall show no hesitation to confiscate the long pipe and the pouch of the offending party. When your offense deserves to be further dealt with you shall receive 300 lashes."

F. Squires and Nels Hartman. Mail messenger service No. 241 and No. 101 to be discontinued. Postoffice at Valley Creek to be discontinued. Mail to Afton, Minn.

Probably Murdered.

A man, whose name is believed to be A. Nelson, was found dead on the rear steps of the Mankato house, Minneapolis, and there is every reason to believe that he was murdered.

The man had been slugged in the alley, directly in front of the door. The body was dragged a distance of fifteen feet and placed on the steps with the motive in view of covering up the deed for a time. The man had been dead over an hour when found. After the body had been taken to the morgue a piece of paper was found in a pocket, upon which was written the name "A. Nelson."

The motive of the murder could not have been robbery, for $5.65 was found in the man's pocket.

Not in Favor.

The action of the Minneapolis park board, in attaching a string to its deed of the land at Minnehaha to the United States for the construction of a dam and lock, does not meet the approval of the government engineers.

The resolution of the board has been returned to them, and is accompanied by the recommendation of Maj. Lockwood to the government, the gist of which is that they want "the whole thing or nothing." The deed to the land must be clear, or the government will be forced to condemn the property, and thus secure undisputed posession.

Commission Appointed.

Shortly after Governor Van Sant signed the board of control bill he appointed the following commissioners:

S. W. Leavitt, of Litchfield, for two years, president.

W. E. Lee, of Long Prairie, for four years.

C. A. Morey, of Winona, for six years.

These men formed the commission that was appointed to investigate the board of control system and their appointment did not surprise the politicians.

A Generous Gift.

John B. Gilfillan surprised the board of regents of the state university with a gift of $50,000. The regents are to be trustees of the sum and its income is to be used only for the purpose of assisting students to enter or get through the university. It may be given or lent.

This is the first gift of the kind ever received by the university and is greatly appreciated. The $50,000 should yield $2,500 annually, which judicially placed, will assist many needy students to get an education.

Shirt Waists.

In all probability the Minneapolis letter carriers will be supplied with shirtwaist uniforms this coming summer. Such a change has been brought about in Detroit through the co-operation of the postmaster and the letter carriers' association. The pattern decided upon is a dark gray negligee with a patent opening for the suspenders so they will not be visible outside. Gold buttons and a black tie complete the outfit. The hats are of straw with a band to match the shirt. The postoffice authorities here have been considering the matter and favorable results are expected.

Easter Greeting

To the afflicted.

IF every one in the world were healthy and happy what a glad day Easter would be. But the sun rises every Easter morning on a multitude of sick and afflicted. The Easter lilies gladden the hearts of the sick and well alike.

But to the sick something more than the Easter lily is necessary to bring that hope and cheer which every one expects on Easter day. The well need no physician, but the sick need a remedy.

Nearly one-half the people in the United States are suffering from some form or phase of catarrhal ailment. These ailments take different forms at different seasons of the year. In the springtime catarrh assumes a systemic form, producing nervousness, lassitude and general languor.

Systemic catarrh deranges the digestion and through deranged digestion it impoverishes or contaminates the blood. Thus we have blood diseases and nervous derangements through systemic catarrh.

Peruna is a specific for these cases. No other remedy yet devised by the medical profession is able to successfully meet so many phases of spring ailments as Peruna.

A First Class Tonic.

Wm. A. Collier, Assistant Paymaster U. S. N., writes: "I have taken Peruna and recommend it to those needing a first-class tonic."

A Great Tonic.

Hon. M. C. Butler, Ex-U. S. Senator and Ex-Governor of South Carolina, writes from Edgefield, S. C.: "I have been using Peruna for a short period and I feel very much relieved. It is indeed a wonderful medicine and besides a great tonic."

Splendid for the Nerves.

Robert B. Mantell, the famous actor, writes from New York City: "Peruna is splendid and most invigorating—refreshing to the nerves and body."

For General Debility.

Hon. Jno. V. Wright, of the Law Department, General Land Office of Tennessee, writes: "I wish everyone who is suffering with general debility or prostration could know of Peruna."

A Spring Tonic.

Mrs. D. W. Timberlake, Lynchburg, Va., says: "There is no better spring tonic than Peruna, and I have used about all of them."

A Good Tonic.

Captain Percy W. Moss, Second Arkansas Volunteers, writes from Pargould, Ark.: "I find Peruna a very good spring tonic, and will readily recommend it at any time."

Builds Up the Entire System.

Miss Jennie Johnson, 3118 Lake Park avenue, Chicago, Ill., is Vice President of Chicago Teachers' Federation. She writes: "Peruna restores the functions of nature, induces sleep and builds up the entire system."

Makes Steady Nerves.

D. L. Wallace, Charter Member International Barbers' Union, 15 Western avenue, Minneapolis, Minnesota, writes: "I now feel splendid. My head is clear, my nerves are steady, I enjoy my food and rest well."

The Best of Tonics.

Hon. W. C. Chambers, Chief Justice of Samoa, says: "I have tried one bottle of Peruna and I can truthfully say it is one of the best tonics I ever used."

A Grand Tonic.

Mrs. Gridley, mother of Captain Gridley, of the "Olympia," writes: "I used Peruna and can truthfully say it is a grand tonic."

For Overwork.

Mr. Tefft Johnson, a prominent actor of Washington, D. C., writes from Fourteenth and "I" streets: "In the effort to improve a condition impaired by overwork, I have found nothing that has done as much good as Peruna."

For a Worn-out System.

Mrs. Catherine Toft, President "Valkyrien Association," 5649 Cottage Grove avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes: "I often advise Peruna in cases of a worn-out system and a broken down constitution."

BUFFALO GAZETTE

DELANO, FRIDAY, APR. 12, 1901.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE VILLAGE OF DELANO.

DELANO DIARY

—Frank Roban purchased the Klich property he has been occupying, on Tuesday.

—A couple of young ladies "made the train" and "came up" from the city this week.

—Gardens are more numerous, and being put in earlier than usual this year. A few nice fresh vegestables come quite handy occasionally.

—All old soldiers are requested to meet at the office of E. H. Farnham, on Saturday, April 13, at 7:30 p. m., to arrange for a proper observance of Decoration Day.

—"Bumpus" Jones is now manager of the new base ball team (under 15 years of age) and expects to defeat anything in this section of the country in their class. The Crickets made a good record at that age, so can the new team. Success to the boys.

—The M. E. church, through the kindness of its friends has been enabled to reshingle a part of it that needed it badly. A neat well kept church looks better than one that is allowed to run down in appearance, and is a far greatter credit to the village.

—Mrs. Cooper, an M. E. Deaconess, connected with the Asbury Hospital delivered a lecture on her work and solicited subscriptions for the building of a new home for the institution, in Minneapolis. She is a very good hand at the work in which she is engaged, and was listened to attentatively by a fair sized audience.

—Chas. S. Hawker met with an accident this forenoon. He left his team standing with the harrow in the middle of the field and undertook to chase some cattle out of the enclosure. In some way he slipped, and fell, striking his sholder on the ground in such a manner as to dislocate the head of the humerous. Drs. O'Connor and Catlin were called and reduced the dislocation.

—The M. E. S. S Easter exercises at the church Sunday evening were held at the League hour in order to get through early for the Lecture by Mrs. Cooper which had been advertised for 7:30 p. m. The Sunday School acquitted itself creditably, under the circumstances. The audience appreciated the efforts of the little fellows. A collection to aid the S. S. work was taken up.

—Services at the Catholic church, day and night, during the week have been attended by crowded congregations. Two of the largest priests in the country, one said to weigh 310 lbs, the other 12 lbs less, belonging to the Friscans order have been preaching to the people, in Polish, German and English. They have given much good instruction and advice, which if followed, will raise the moral status of Delano and vicinity materially. Many protestants attended the meetings and speak well of them. One noticeable feature of the services was the strict attention given during the entire services, by big and little, young and old.

—We understand that teachers for next year are to be employed at a meeting of the board of Education to be held on April 20. It is to be hoped that a first class corps of teachers will be the result. Our village is entitled to a good school. The pupils are here. If they are thoroughly interested in becoming educated there should be no obstructions in the way. If parents interest themselves in their children; see that they are punctual and regular in attendance, and that they are doing their best to learn their lessons instead of gadding about the streets and the depot and other places at night, their would be some gain made. Only teachers capable, interested, and whose lives are good examples can do best as instructors. The parents' expamples are followed to a large extent, and should be for good. Let us have a good school. Let us advance, not retrograde.

—It is pretty generally understood that chickens in a garden are the same as wild game, whether or not such is the fact. Several of our citizens who are gardening are acting on this idea, and the "game" is getting so it is very good at running, and dodging. But the gardeners are getting up muscles, and learning to throw: "practice makes perfect" and they are having lots of practice. It seems it will only be a matter of time when some thoroughbred fowl will fail to get out of the way of the brickbats, stovewood sticks, or other missels, and somebody who has been trying to raise garden, will have chicken for dinner. It is surely no worse for the gardener to eat a hen that has fattened on his vegestables, than it would be for the hennery man to feast on fowl composed of his neighbors lettuce, raddish, currants and other garden stuff. A few flowers look well about the yard, but it is hard to have them in the same enclosure with chickens that scratch, or get down and roll in the finest flower beds. There are a few dogs, and a good many cats about town too, whose presence don't help their owners, or their neighbors gardens.

—"April showers bring forth May flowers" and we are getting 'em today; the showers.

—Mr. Wyndoch, Sr., has moved back onto the farm with his son Joe. Mrs. Casper Janikula occupies the Wyndoch house.

—Third street crossing is very unsafe. The Cargill elevator should be taken away or a flagman kept at the crossing at train times.

—Albert Eppel has sold his Third street residence to John Tischler. Albert intends building more commodious quarters in the next block north.

—Spring moving is going on. Mr. Went, went to Sioux Falls last week. Sims' restaurant is to return to the Mulford building, Len Deidrich to move into his own house again.

—If "the Mayor's Monument," the drinking fountain "warranted to run all winter" on Ry. Ave., should happen to be opened up before the 4th of July, it might be a convenience to a few people who have horses.

—What's happened to the Eagle? Has she gone back on the government; refused to follow the flag; became a copperhead, Aguinaldo, traitor, or is she only a little Bull headed? She has had enough Capt Van Sant, and "de gang" and pins her faith wholly upon "Bob Dunn"; that is for this week.

—Senator Chilton's bill obliging people to procure a physician's certificate of sound mind before they can be married, seems likely to become a law. If, in giving these certificates, physicians take into consideration the number of feeble minded, in families of men who drink too much intoxicating liquors, they will, doubtless, be of considerable use in helping many young men to sober up, and to live temperate lives for a time, at least. If any man needs to be prohibited from marrying it must be he that makes a beast of himself by strong drink.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES.

There was a lot of fuz flying about the Grammar room Tuesday.

John Progaba was absent from school a couple of days this week.

County Cullings.

From the Advocate Post we learn that the Minneapolis Journal has been giving a write up of the Annandale Improvement club. The Journal editor must have happened round that way, for the Wright County Newspaper association was once there and its members havn't got through yet praising the club. The club was organized in 1898 with 17 members and now has a membership of 60. They have bought a piano for the hall. They have a library of 500 volumes and are in a flourishing condition and are a credit to the village. Other villages ought to copy after Annandale.

Howard Lake must be a fine summer resort. The board of health has issued orders that: "Those leaving the offal of dead frogs, fish or other offensive matter along the lake shore or in the village streets or lots to putrify and decay producing a stench, will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law." Think of such a village as that! And in Wright county too! The Board of Health is justified in carrying out its plans to prevent such a state of affairs.

Politicians in Wright county seem to have wearied of the expensive and humiliating campains of the past, and to have about made up their minds to put up good, capable, reliable men for each office on the ticket at the next election and see what merit instead of money can do. It would be a much wiser plan; if both parties would do that we are sure of good officers.

Revivalist Sunday with a singer named McKinley are holding services in Wright county towns. They are highly spoken of, and are said to have crowded houses at every service. Wright county needs considerable reviving.

The county editor who gives a dollar to church or charity does more in proportion to his means than Carnegie when he donates a million. There are scores of men in every village and city in the land who out-Carnegie Carnegie every week of their lives and they don't do any blowing about it either.

Only Three Recruites.

RED WING, Minn. April 5.—The United States recruiting station which has been conducted here by Capt. Wilder, Sergt. Boyce and Private Rose has been removed to Duluth. Only three enlistments were secured. These were George Peterson and James Harlan, this city and August Nelson, Lake City.—Minneapolis Tribune.

This is not a Republic.

A London dispatch says that a few hours before the reception of a recent deputation, King Edward VII asked the Lord Chamberlain what dress they would wear. "Frock coats, your Majesty," replied the Lord Chamberlain. "For the last time then", said King Edward, "in the future, uniform or court dress must be worn. This is not a republic."

If the representatives of a republic were as jealous of the Jeffersonian simplicity which should characterize a republic as the King of England is of the trappings of a monarchy, the crowned and the uncrowned, the monarchist and the republican, would have a more profound respect for republics and their pretensions than they now do.—Commoner.

Commoner: The fact that Aguinaldo has already been killed several times ought to be taken into consideration by the administration in fixing the remainder of his punishment.

Commoner: When Benedict Arnold aided a foreign government in its effort to overthrow American Independence, he was universally condemned by the colonists. We shall have to forget those days before we can grow enthusiastic in praise of the Filipinos who joined in the plot to capture their general.

Minneapolis Times: Mr. Towne may have hung his head for his country, but let us hope he has not hung his harp on the willow.

Minneapolis Democrat: The United States is the first country in the world to make open provision for paying spies, this having been done in the case of the Philippines. All other countries have the decency to veil such work.

Prohibition Wright.

EDITOR GAZETTE: Last week we wrote you from Montrose. This week from a different point of the compass. The people of this town may be said to be all M. P's. which does not in this case stand for Members of Paraliament (though just how soon some of its citizens may have to represent the borough in that direction, no man can tell), but just simply stands for Maple Plain.

These M. P's. are quite an independent set of people in fact (live in independence if not in prosperity) and owing to the close proximity of that beautiful body of water, Lake Independence, it may be; orto some inate sense of Americanism, they still refuse to obey the mandate of the powers that be, to put in the legalized saloon, and of course must have a blind pig (of course they must) and yet search for the critter fails to locate him, and the leading M. P's. declare that he has wondered away and got lost) perhaps he has gone back to his mother the legalized saloon). These people, like the people of the U. S living in the late rebellion, seem to be divided in their allegiance, for in the late election the better classes only won the battle against the enemy of law and order by eight votes. Only one of the citizens, and he a very old man can remember when they had a saloon, and like other localities they seem to have grown somewhat egotistical and self righteous and content themselves in expending their temperance efforts wholly within their own town, leaving the cranks to fight out the battles with the enemy outside. While the town is strongly republican it may be some comfort to a democratic editor like yourself to know that the Hart of the town is democratic.

We have sold a goodly number of that wonderful little book "The Daughter of a Republican", and loaned out "High Joe," a few copies here and there.

Lest this letter get too long I will close by saying that Maple Plain is growing in spite of the fact that it has no saloon and no blind pig. Yours for law and order,

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5, 1901

Mr. McKinley and Boss Hanna have again had their heads together over Ohio politics. They don't like the returns from the municipal elections in the state, and they especially dislike the election of Tom L. Johnson to be Mayor of Cleveland. They recognize that Mr. Johnson's successful re entry into the politics means trouble and a lot of it for the republican machine in Ohio, and that it may also turn out to be a factor in the national political area, as it is an open secret that Mr, Johnson only became a candidate for mayor as a stepping stone to a nomination to something higher. They believe that Mr. Johnson will be a central figure in the state campaign this year, whether he becomes the democratic candidate for governor or the democratic candidate to succeed Senator Foraker, and they fear him and his known personal popularity in the State. And they are not alone in fearing him. Col. W. O. Tolford, of Columbus, which also elected a democratic mayor, who is a republican and has something of a reputation as an expert on the currents of Ohio politics, and who is now in Washington, said: "Mayor elect Johnson will start with an advantage now for higher places. He is very clearly in line for the democratic nomination for governor this year. Nobody believes he can carry the state, but he may make trouble in the legislature. And if he can even reduce Gov. Nash's majority for the re-election to a small figure he will be a powerful factor in the democratic National Convention. He surely is a vote getter."

According to whispered gossip around the War Department, Mr. Meikiljohn, who is in Washington, he says to attend to some private matters and others say to see if he cannot get hold of another federal salary, and Secretary Root had a bitter quarrel, during which the former accused the latter of having prevented his election to the senate by forcing him out of the position of Assistant Secretary of War while the Nebraska legislature was in a dead lock, and Secretary Root retorted by saying that the duties of the Assistant Secretary of War were in Washington, and not in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Again Pierpoint Morgan! That man seems determined to control everything in sight and a lot of things not in sight. While officials deny the story that Mr. Morgan, during his recent visit to Mr. McKinley, offered to buy out the Panama Canal Co. and complete the canal, giving the U. S. government any concessions it might desire as to the control of the canal in time of war, with private capital without cost to this government, provided, that Mr. McKinley would pledge this government to kill the project for the construction of a canal over the Nicaragua route, it is generally believed in Washington that Mr. Morgan did make some such offer to Mr. McKinley and further that it is being considered. The story is plausible, and if true would explain much of the mysterious opposition to the Nicaragua Canal bill which costantly cropped out in unexpected places while the late Congress was in session. It is known that Mr. Morgan's relations are close with the big railroad interests that opposed Nicaragua Canal legislation, as well at with the capitalists who compose the socalled American Panama Canal Co., which is believed to have been organized for purely speculation purposes. Another thing that adds to the plausibility of the story is that the State Department, in its negoatitions with the Columbian minister and the president of the Panama Canal Co., clearly shows its recognition of the posibility of the Panama Canal passing under American control. Since it was started by De Lesseps the Panama Canal Co. has been not one swindle, but a series of gigantic swindles, which have made rascals millionaires and thousands of hottest French investors paupers. With that record open to all it is not conceivable that the American people will ever endorse any connection of this government under any circumstances or conditions with the Panama Canal Co.

The administration has once more revived the story that the Sultan of Turkey is about to pay those long standing American missionary claims. Like all its predecessors, the new story says that this time payment is cock sure, owing to the cleverness with whichour diplomats have got the Sultan bound. Common decency ought to keep the administration silent on this question until it can announce that these claims have been paid. It has allowed itself to be bluffed and bamboozled by the Sultan to an extent that has made this government the laughing stock of the world.

It looks as though the administration were shifting the responsibility of dealing with Aguinaldo upon Gen MacArthur's shoulders. At least that is the inference from its having suppressed Gen. MacArthur's cablegram telling how and why Aguinaldo took the oath of allegiance to the U. S.; also the instructiong sent to MacArthur on the subject. It is an old game. If everything goes right, it will be announced that Gen. MacArthur was acting under instructions from the administration; if there is a slip anywhere that results in public condemnation, it will be said that Gen. MacArthur acted on his own discretion and made a mistake. In other words, its a case of heads, McKinley wins, tails, MacArthur loses.

HOW A PUZZLE WAS SOLVED.

When you want a certain article, you want the best make of that article, don't you?

But how to determine which make is best is what puzzles you, isn't it?

And when the puzzle is solved for you, by authority which cannot be questioned, you are pleased, aren't you?

And you would like to hear of one puzzle that has been solved for the people of the whole world, wouldn't you?

Well, we will tell you about that very puzzle, and its solution.

At the Universal Exposition of 1889 at Paris, France, the best sewing machines of the world, including those of America, were in competition. They were passed upon by a jury composed of the best foreign mechanical experts, two of whom were the leading sewing machine manufacturers of France.

This jury, after exhaustive examination and tests, adjudged that the Wheeler & Wilson machines were the best of all, and awarded that company the highest prize offered, the GRAND PRIZE, giving other companies only gold, silver and bronze medals.

The French Government, as a further recognition of superiority, decorated Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, president of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor, the most prized honor of France.

That is how the puzzle of the best sewing machine in the world was fully solved by the most competent authority in the world in favor of the No. 9 and No. 12 Wheeler & Wilson machines.

The No. 9, for family use, and the No. 12, for manufacturing uses, are the best in the world to-day.

And now, when you want a sewing machine, if you do not get the best, it will be your own fault.

Ask your sewing machine dealer for the No. 9 Wheeler & Wilson machine, and if he does not keep them, write to us for descriptive catalogue, prices and terms.

THE OPTIMIST.

'Tain't no use to frown and growl;
Won't make burdens lighter,
Grumblin' at th' weather won't
Make th' clouds grow brighter
Ain't no use t' make complaints
'Bout way things are comin'—
Better laugh an' hustle on,
Cheerful tunes a hummin',

Clouds may lower dark aroun';
Clear skies come tomorrow.
Look behind th' clouds today
An' bright linin' borrow.
Moanin' ain't no way t' keep Adverse winds from blowin',
Pull your belt annother notch
An' keep on a goin'.

Life may seem a barren waste
Skurcely worth th' tussles;
But things come to him that waits
If he waits an' hustles.
Flowers that you hope t' grasp
Often turn to thistle—
Pick the stickers from your hands,
Smile a bit an' whistle.

Smiles an' song an' cherry words
All was made f'r givin';
He who sows them far an' near
Finds that life's worth livin'.
Though things may come rough today,
Don't give way t' sorrow;
Trust in God an' patiently
Bide th' glad tomorrow.

—The Commoner.

THE three commissioners naimed Tuesday, by the Supreme Court, to codify the general laws of the state are Hiram F. Stevens, chairman, St. Paul; Daniel Fish, Minneapolis; Thomas J. Knox, Jackson. The work must be completed by Sept 1, 1902.

THE President has appointed a new Attorney general to supersede Griggs. The new man is Philander C. Knox, attorney for Carnagie, and a member of the new steel trust. Of course he will look after the interests of trusts in general.

TRIALS of the parties arrested in Manila for defrauding the government out of stores passing through their care, are being held. It seems that editor Rice who has been deported for publishing something reflecting on some of the authorities, didn't begin to get to the botton of the business of cheating Uncle Sam or his soldiers.

FORMER Congressman from the Sixth Minnesota district, Melville R. Baldwin, of Duluth, who has been to Alaska and engaged in business in Seattle, shot himself in his room, in Seattle, on Tuesday evening. He had met with financial failures, and had been sick with grippe is given as the reason for the rash act. He leaves a wife and two sons at Duluth. He was about 62 years old.

An Ideal Republic.

An ideal republic would be that, where the government was fair, honest, unselfish, impartial, pure. Where all the officials were intelligent enough to know what their duties were, honest enough to account for everything, faithful enough to attend to their business as it should be, at the proper time, and in a courteous and gentlemanly manner.

In a republic like the United States where the people, by ballot choose their own officers, the voters, themselves must be uncorrupt, and uncorruptable. They must be intelligent, honest, pure, if they would have a government possessing these qualifications. The government of a republic is not apt to be better than its people desire to have it. Water will not raise above its fountain head. Neither will a government rise above its people.

Men should be chosen for their fitness, for their adpatibility to certain positions. The best men for the places should always be selected; men who will have not only personal or local interests, but who are broad minded enough to work for the interests of the whole country, and the whole people, should be elected to Congress, or to other national positions. A man so narrow as to see nothing but the financial advancement of a few of his influencial constituents in his own state to the disadvantage or expense of two-thirds or perhaps all of the people from other states in the Union is a little to hidebound for a good Congressman or Senator while a man who can see nothing constitutional but what is for the benefit of the party to which he belongs and nothing unconstitutional unless it is to the aavantage of his party, is not a good man for the Supreme Court of the country. He is not likely to be a just judge.

In selecting a competent man for President or Congress, or for other office of honor, trust, or profit, it is right to have a choice as between the principles which mark the deviding line between the parties. The best men for the place should be selected by both parties. That is each party should pick its best man for the position. If they fail to do so, and the opposition has an honest reliable man, no complaint should be made if the best man gets the place.

But the idea of throwing party principles and good men aside to vote for a brother in the church, or in the lodge, or because he is of the same nationality, as the voter is apt to upset many political ideas. It is not best for any one clan, clique or religion, or even of one poltical faith to be too largely in the ascendency, or too long in control of the government. It tends to make a monarchial feeling. Those in control get to think that they cannot be defeated; that anything that they may do, will be looked upon as for the good of and that they will be continued in power. While those who have year after year, been outvoted in their beliefs, grow more or less fainthearted; many going over to the side of the majority, not because they believe in their doctrines but because they think they can do better financially, or socially.

Pure, intelligent, honest voters will make and perpetuate an honest, intelligent, pure government, of the people, by the people, and for the people.

Political Paradoxes.

Why have a protective tariff to keep foreign goods out of the country, while insisting on a gold dollar with which we can buy them anywhere?

Why subsidize steam ship lines to carry foreign goods to our ports, while we have a protective tarriff to keep the goods out?

A Warning that Should be Heeded.

Processor Max Kassowitz performed an important service when he voiced a most emphatic warning against the dangers that lurk in the practice of administering alcohol as a "tonic" to children. Professor Kassowitz's remarks were addressed to the anti alcohol convention at Vienna, but they have been widely discussed in this country.

The practice of giving wine, beer and whiskey to young children and even to babies in arms is an alarmingly prevalent one. Many parents administer these stimulants to their children under the erroneous impression that they are strengthening. The consensus of medical opinion is that the reverse in the case. They retard the growth of the child, impair its digestion and derange its nervous system. With physical and mental power thus weakened the child, if it is spared to grow up falls an easy prey to strong drink.

Alcohol is a drug useful as a medicine, perhaps, under certain conditions but in the hands of the ignorant or careless it is a most dangerous drug and should not be administered except on the advice of a physician.—Minneapolis Times

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 12, 1901

Did Aguinaldo bargain for his own capture, for a price, and have the American people been made the victims of a colossal official bunco? That is a staring question, but circumstances have caused it to be asked in Washington, since the cable news re-reported Aguinaldo to be buying diamonds and jewelery, and it is decidedly pertinment, too. Diamonds cost money, and if Aguinaldo has been buying them, where did he get the money? Any money that was found at his head quarters when he was captured would, if usual methods were followed, have been confiscated as contraband of war and turned over to the U. S. Treasury. None of the many detailed statements of Aguinaldo's capture have said anything about the capture of any money, yet it is presumably certain that he had some. All these things, and more, have been talked about in connection with Aguinaldo's purchase of diamonds. It may be all straight, but as one high army officer who was in the Philippines until recently, put it, "There seems ample ground for the suspicion that there has been 'something doing' between Aguinaldo and the men who handle the secret service funds of this government in the Philippines." the same officer said: "it would not surprise me at all to learn that the Filipino who was supposed to have betrayed Aguinaldo was acting under that wily chap's orders all the time, and that the capture was all carefully arranged in advance by Aguinaldo."

If it be possible to get a square deal with the administration, in rivalry with the Morgan steel trust, latter may find itself knocked out of several million dollars of government money. The Carbon Steele Company, of Pittsburg, has sent samples of heavy armor plate to the Naval ordinance proving grounds, below Washington, with the request that it be subjected to the severest tests. This armor plate was made by an entirely new process and it is claimed to be in every way as good, if not superior to the armor plate which the government is paying the Morgan steel trust $455 a ton for, and it is offered for $150 a ton. If the tests substantiate that claim, and the government buys the new armor it will save something like $790,000 on each of the nine battleships now under contract. But when the pull of the Morgan trust is taken into consideration that "if" is a formidable one, as it is certain that the big trust will not let more than $7,000,000 get away from it if there is any way to prevent. So it will not be surprising if the tests of the new armor plate should be followed by an unfavorable report although it is said to have stood every test required before samples were submitted to the government.

Although the legislature that will choose his successor will not be elected until next year, Senator "Billy" Mason thinks he put in some good licks this week, when a number of Illinois men were in Washington to attend the unveiling of the equestrian statue of Gen. John A Logan. Last year it was generally understood that Mr. Charles G. Dawes was to be the McKinley candidate for Senator, but that was when Senator Mason and Mr. McKinley were on the outs. Now Senator Mason sing's Mr. McKinley's praises everywhere, and when asked whether the McKinley influence will be used against his re election, smiles in a knowing and satisfactory way says he guesses not. Illinois democrats who have recently been in Washington have not been disposed to do any blowing, but most of them believe that there is an excellent fighting chance to elect a legislature that will send a democrat to succeed Mason, and say that they are trying to do it.

A Washington man who has just returned from the Philippines, where he spent a year, doesn't enthuse over the islands as a place for Americans to go. He said: "I have had all the Philippines that I want. After a twelve months sojourn over there I am frank to say that I do not believe it any country for a white man. It is a rare thing to find an American that does not wish to get back to the States as quickly as possible. The spirit of discontent and the desire to get away find expression in the army that has been sent to subjugate the islands, and the U. S soldier that is satisfied with his lot is an exception. The climate is bad in that zone whenever a man gets sick there is no bracing or recuperative quality to the air, and recovery to health is exceedingly slow. My belief is that the capture of Aguinaldo will not put an end to our troubles in the Philippines; there will be plenty of revolutionary leaders to keep up a desultory warfare, and the chances are that the fighting will go on for the next ten years."

Gov Allen, of Porto Rico, probably under orders from Mr. McKinley, has issued a general denial of the recent stories alleging suffering among the poorer natives of the island because they have no work, and charges that the stories have all been instigated by one native editor, who is disgruntled because he was not given an office. It is a little odd how ever, that one Porto Rican could have been able to influence a score or more of reputable American newspapers to send glowing descriptions to their pa-

Mr. Justin Valleau's Secret

By Matt Crim.

IT WAS in the dining-room of a boarding house on the upper side of Washington square that Judith Daly first met him. She had moved into the house that day, and, being early at the dinner table, eyed each newcomer with a mixture of curiosity and hope, always seeking the ideal friend. No ideal could be evolved from that commonplace multitude, she quickly decided—when the old man entered. He attracted her attention instantly, for snowy hair lay in thick waves upon his head, and a pair of fine black eyes looked out from under heavily marked white brows. He was slight of figure, and his skin was wrinkled and yellow as parchment.

He sat down at Judith's left hand, making a fine courteous bow to those about the table as he did so; then he drew a paper from his pocket and began reading. It was a New Orleans paper, and Judith felt a little thrill of pleasure. Could he, too, be from Louisiana? She was tempted to ask him, for her two years in New York had not made her so much of a cosmopolitan that she felt indifferent to even a chance meeting with some one from her old home. But she held her peace.

For several days they met at dinner, and Judith's interest in the silent, lonely old man deepened. There was something pathetic, even appealing, in the reserve holding him aloof from the coarser people around him. From the landlady she learned that he was only a table boarder.

"Where does he live?" she inquired.

"That I don't know," replied the brisk little woman. "Two years ago he came to me and I saw that he was a gentleman. I am quick now in recognizing the lady or gentleman, so I asked him no questions. He only takes his dinners here, and he pays his bills and makes no complaints; no, never."

Of his occupation or personal history Judith could find out nothing. She had no family ties herself, and reasoned that her interest in the old man sprang from sympathy. Then she had known some Valleaus once, when a child, a boy and his mother, who lived in a remote parish. She had played with the boy during one summer when yellow fever raged in New Orleans, and she had been sent away. Perhaps this old man might have once known them, too—might, in fact, be a relative.

One evening he heard her tell an inquisitive neighbor that she came from the south. His eyes kindled with interest, and a slight color tinged his sallow face.

"The south?" he questioned eagerly. "Did I understand you to say the south?"

"Yes, a Louisianian."

"Is it possible? Why—why, that is my native state."

"I am from New Orleans."

"And so am I," beaming upon her with a genial glance, his reserve melting like magic. "I felt attracted to you from the first, and your voice charmed me."

They talked eagerly, Judith delighted that the ice had at last been broken. The old man's face appeared animated, the glow of his eyes giving a certain youthful expression to his features.

"How long have you been here?" he inquired, at length.

"Two years."

"And I have been here for more than 20." He sighed audibly, and for a moment his face gloomed over. "Yes," he repeated, half to himself, "more than 20 years."

Judith listened amazed. Twenty years meant nearly all her life, and to think he had spent that length of time in New York and still remained so distinctly provincial.

"So long? You must love New York?"

"Love it? I loathe it!" he exclaimed, with sudden, passionate energy. "It is so big, so noisy and dirty, and so unfriendly."

"But fascinating and full of all activities, intellectual and otherwise."

"It may be for the young, but give me New Orleans. Think of the repose, its beauty, its old houses, its fine gardens, with their roses, magnolias and oleanders, the very air breathing fragrance and romance."

His eyes kindled again with an evanescent glow, his voice dropped to a low, dreamy tone.

"But it is here one finds the market for romance," Judith argued, practically.

"I found none for mine," he replied, shrugging his shoulders.

The acquaintance between them progressed rapidly, although for weeks they met only at the dinner table. He always went away the moment the meal was concluded, vanishing mysteriously into some realm unknown to Judith. He lived somewhere down below Washington square, she knew, for she watched him from her window one night.

When he discovered that she was alone in the world he seemed to constitute himself her protector and adviser.

"I have no family either," he explained.

"Then you are not related to the Valleaus, of Union Parish?"

His fork dropped with a clatter; over his face flashed an indescribable look.

"I—oh, no; never heard of them."

"I don't think they really belonged to Union Parish, but moved up there from the city."

"Valleau is a common name, very common name, you know."

"This was only a widow and her son. They owned a plantation."

He raised a glass of ice water to his pale, shaking lips.

Mr. Valleau gave his confidence up to a certain point, but beyond that his reserve could not be broken. It seemed that before the war he had led an ideal sort of life, spending his winters in New Orleans and his summers on a plantation. He possessed no training whatever for business, and when the necessity for bread winning came he didn't know what to do.

Then it occurred to him to go to New York and find a publisher for a book of poems, the work of many a meditative leisure hour. They would retrieve his fortune. But they didn't!

"Oh, if I might only see them," said Judith.

He smiled grimly.

"I burned them years ago. And deservedly. They fooled me utterly. I thought them emanations of genius, but in my hour of need all their wit and beauty vanished."

The friendship between them deepened as the days went by. Enough of the freshness of youth still lingered in his nature to make him sympathize with her pleasures, her hopes and plans for future work. And a fine, quaint humor penetrated much that he said to her.

"How fearless and independent you are," he said once when she casually mentioned crossing Brooklyn bridge alone one evening.

"I quail a little sometimes, but there is really no danger. Hundreds of other women do the same thing every day."

"But it isn't right, it isn't right. Home is the place for woman. Society is going all wrong, all wrong, these days."

They went out a good deal together, to theaters, concerts and art exhibitions; and it was delightful to compare notes and find that their tastes in everything harmonized so well.

"I have not had so much pleasure in all the years I have been here," he said one evening. "If you knew."

"Judith wished that she did know,

feeling always that he kept something from her. But in all their intercourse he never even touched upon his occupation, nor told her where he lodged. And she knew that it was not a careless oversight, but intentional reticence. Could pride keep him silent?

It was a typical winter afternoon, snowy and cold. Judith Daly sighed a little disconsolately as she came down from the office where she was employed, and started across City Hall park to take the Broadway car. She was tired of being poor and working for her living, but as she came in sight of the lame, decrepit old beggar who stood on the corner her conscience smote her for her discontent. He had been a familiar figure on that corner for years, through winter and summer, sun and storm. The snow powdered his shabby old hat, the wind whistled icily through his long white beard. She knew just how cold he must be in his thin clothes, and put her hand in her jacket pocket for something to give him. She had often dropped coins into his tin cup, never waiting to take one of his cheap pencils he had for sale, or to hear his mumbled thanks.

But just before she reached his side that time he dashed his cup and pencils to the ground and darted out into the street. A party of Hungarian immigrants was crossing the street; picturesque and dirty, and loaded with packs of bedding and wearing apparel. A child had been caught under the shafting of a van.

Judith could not tell afterward how it all happened, but presently the shrieking of the women was silenced and the child lay sobbing on his mother's breast. But the poor old beggar! Judith's eyes were drawn from the happy, chattering mother and her friends to the middle of the street, where half a dozen men were lifting a prostrate figure.

"What has happened?" she cried.

"Oh, he thought he'd play the hero and save that brat. He's got his full reward for being such a fool," said a cynical bystander.

They were bringing the limp figure straight toward her, and Judith retreated a little to make away. But what strange transformation was being wrought in his appearance? The long silvery beard had slipped from his face, leaving it pitifully bare.

"Ha, a disguise!" exclaimed one spectator. "All these beggars are frauds."

"Is he dead?"

"Oh, quite."

"To think how many times I have given him money!"

"Yes, it is disgusting."

They turned away, but Judith, who was almost as white as that poor face on which men gazed contemptuously, pressed through the crowd. The shock of it turned her blind and dizzy for a moment. Then a hot, smarting pain pierced through and through her heart as she realized that at last she knew Mr. Valleau's little secret. She spread her handkerchief over his face.

Concord, Neb., has accepted Mrs. Carrie Nation as the law and the prophets. She will run the town for a year, and her "say so" will have all the force of statute law.

Rumor comes from California that the prune crop has been cornered, but this will not reassure several million boarders in this country until they hear that a Chinese wall has been built around the corner.

As a sign of the times it must be apparent that the crown business is not what it is cracked up to be. Emperor William is being made a daily target for scrap iron. King Edward is having social discord, an earthquake is rumbling around the sultan and everybody is taking a shot at Czar Nicholas.

James and William Moore, the millionaire promoters of Binghamton, N. Y., have started a novel philanthropy to aid worthy publications by taking long-time paid-up subscriptions. The other day they subscribed for one of their local papers and paid up 219 years in advance, their remittance being a check for over $1,400. Not a bad habit for subscribers to get into.

A Russian clergyman whose church is located at Woods Run, Pa., has been making a census of his countrymen in the United States and finds that there are in all only about 600. These, he explains, are real Russians, and do not include many thousands who, though speaking the Russian language and belonging to the Greek church, are merely of Slavic blood in partial degree.

The Massachusetts commissioners of prisons suggest the commitment of common drunkards for indefinite periods and their employment in gainful labor for the state. They point out that payment of a fine does not make a man any the less a drunkard, nor has it much, if any, reformatory effect, whereas, in their opinion, the plan they suggest would aid in reclaiming them.

Andrew Carnegie is reported as saying that if he knew how a theater should be managed as well as he does a library he would endow one with no loss of time. Andrew should not allow a trifle like that to stand in the way. Hundreds of people know just how a theater or a newspaper ought to be run, and will be glad to impart the information free to Mr. Carnegie any time.

An official report to the Ottawa government states that the establishment of verified boundary lines shows that the valuable placer gold mining districts in what is called the Big Salmon river country are in Alaska, and not on the Canadian side of the line, as has been supposed for the last two years. When a few more knotty points are solved the Alaskan boundary dispute will be practically settled.

By a vote of 542 to 1 in the French chamber of deputies a resolution was adopted the other day that the famous declaration of the "rights of man" shall be posted in all the schoolhouses. This revival after a hundred years of doctrines which made such a stir in the world a century ago is significant of the ferment now going on in France. As to the outcome, it will be time enough to discuss that a hundred years hence.

Stolen kisses may be sweetest, but they are also the most expensive. A jury at Indianapolis has awarded Lilian Bonnifield $1,500 in her suit against James C. Wheat for $2,000 damages, the charge being that Mr. Wheat, while postmaster, was rude enough to embrace and kiss her against her will. When James saw that Lillian did not relish his taking a kiss he should have been gentleman enough to return it at once.

Representative Roth has introduced a bill in the Pennsylvania legislature to encourage marriage. According to the terms of the measure all bachelors over 40 years old when they marry must pay $100 for their marriage license, the money to be used for maintaining a free home for old ladies who have not had a suitable opportunity for becoming married. It is also provided that any bachelor who goes outside the state for a bride must pay the state $100. How proud his constituents must be of this great statesman Roth!

Police Judge William C. Daly, of Indianapolis, has introduced novel whipping methods in his court. When 12-year-old Jimmy Hildeberg was arraigned before him the other day for malicious mischief, Judge Daly sentenced him and then suspended the sentence upon condition that the boy's father take the lad into one of the jury rooms and give him a good whipping. In regard to the matter he says: "This is a permanent institution in my court. I am going to stop the juvenile cussedness, and the offenders will be made to feel the lash."

Chicago women, in convention assembled, resolved that "pie-making is not a lost art." But are they right? No longer than 115 years ago, in Connecticut, a woman who succeeded in making a mince pie and covering it without disclosing the seam between the bottom and the top crusts was put to death for witchery. There is no statute in force to punish the making of leaden foundations for the restaurant article called pie, but if the practice continues some punishment ought to be provided along the lines of the Connecticut blue laws.

REPLIES TO ALLEN.

Commissioner Borda Takes Exception to Some of the Public Utterances of Governor of Porto Rico.

New York, April 12.—Replying to the public utterances of Gov. Allen of Porto Rico since his arrival in Washington, Wenceslao Borda, Porto Rican commissioner, makes the following statement:

"The questions at issue between Gov. Allen and the commissioners are two: First, whether his administration of Porto Rico has been conducive to the prosperity and welfare of the island, and, second, whether the Hollander revenue law was such a measure as should have been hastily and without a hearing approved by the chief executive of Porto Rico. Gov. Allen has gone out of his way to attack personally the commissioners when he says that the members of the so-called commission are foreigners—one a Spaniard, one a South American and one an Englishman. We fail completely to see how this assertion, even were it true, could affect the merits of our case.

"Gov. Allen states Porto Rico has never before, in its history, been so prosperous, that more persons are employed to-day than ever before, that the sugar crop will yield 100,000 tons. He gives, however, no facts or figures to substantiate these assertions. They are, therefore, mere statements of an interested official. There is no more truth in them than in his first affirmation that we were tax-dodgers, objecting to the payment of our just share of taxation, and that the rest of the Porto Ricans were well satisfied with the situation.

"Now comes a Porto Rican labor leader, Santiago Iglesias, with a petition signed by 6,000 workingmen, which declares that the condition of Porto Rico could not be worse. These people certainly are not tax-dodgers. Gov. Allen is apt to believe that everybody who criticises his administration is bad, but he cannot call his new critics tax-dodgers, whatever else he may call them, since they have nothing that can be taxed.

"That Porto Rico is not as prosperous as he would like the people of the United States to believe is eloquently and conclusively shown by the customs statistics. It is misleading to compare the exports and imports of this year—that is to say, the production and consumption of the island—with that of the years of the war and hurricane. The contrast should be made, to be fair, with the fiscal year just previous to our occupation of Porto Rico, and with the present fiscal year, which, according to Gov. Allen, is also a normal one. The exports during the former year amounted to about 19,000,000 pesos, or $11,400,000; the imports to about 18,000,000 pesos, or $10,800,000—a balance of trade in favor of the island of 1,000,000 pesos, or $600,000. The exports from May 1, 1900, to February 28, 1901, were $5,814,083, and the imports $8,100,000, a balance of trade against the island of $2,285,917, which is wholly unsupportable and spells ruin when it is recalled that our circulation is less than $2,000,000 and that Porto Rico has lost her credits in the commercial world.

"Gov. Allen states that never have there been so many laborers employed as at present. He fails to offer grounds for this belief. He also says that the sugar crop will amount to 100,000 tons. He cannot know this to be a fact, as it has not yet been gathered. The sugar planters of the island estimate the crop, if favorable weather continues, not higher than 70,000 tons."

TO ACT AS ARBITRATOR.

King Oscar to Adjust Claims in Samoa of United States, Great Britain and Germany.

Washington, April 12.—King Oscar of Norway and Sweden has accepted the post of arbitrator on the Samoan claims of the United States, Great Britain and Germany, although it has been made known that his illness thus far has prevented his giving active consideration to the subject. The German case has been made up and is now at Stockholm. The United States case is about completed. The British claims probably are in Stockholm by this time, although definite word has not come as to that. King Oscar will have general charge not only of the determination of the amount of the claims, but also will have the more important determination of what claims arose as a necessary result of the military operations during the last uprising in Samoa.

Russian Students Shot.

St. Petersburg, April 15.—The hopes of reform which attended the appointment of Gen. Vannosky as minister of public instruction have been blasted by the first act under the new administration. Two students in Kieff university, named Piratov and Podgoretzvi, having been sent to the military barracks for discipline on account of some act obnoxious to the university authorities, protested against the punishment and refused to obey orders. They were at once tried by a summary court-martial, condemned to death and shot, two hours later, on the same afternoon.

Flood in Kansas.

Wichita, Kan., April 13.—The Arkansas river is out of its banks. Policemen are guarding the ends of every bridge to keep people from crossing. Two bridges are under water, the approaches to two have been washed away, an island went under water after its inhabitants escaped, and the night force at the waterworks are imprisoned in the middle of nearly a mile of flood. For five days rain has been falling continually, and hundreds of thousands of acres of farm lands are under water.

Plague at Canton.

Peking, April 12.—Robert M. McWade, United States consul at Canton, China, reports that 10,000 deaths from the plague have occurred there during the past six weeks and that there are 13 cases of smallpox on board the United States monitor Monterey. Only one death has resulted on the Monterey and other cases of smallpox are progressing favorably. The meetings of the foreign ministers at Peking have been postponed at the request of M. de Giers on account of the Easter holidays.

Drainage Canal Flow Cut Down.

Chicago, April 12.—Federal authorities have ordered the flow in the Chicago river reduced from 300,000 to 200,000 cubic feet a minute. Word to this effect came from Washington to the sanitary commission Thursday. The board will act immediately upon receipt of the official order and the current will not be increased before the channel has been widened and deepened and existing obstructions to navigation have been removed.

Mrs. Nation Fined.

Kansas City, Mo., April 16.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, who was arrested Sunday charged with obstructing the street, was arraigned before Police Judge McAuley Monday morning, fined $500 and given until six o'clock in the evening to leave the city. The judge warned Mrs. Nation if she was found in the city after that hour she would be arrested and placed in jail. She agreed to leave town, and 15 minutes later boarded a street car for Kansas City, Kan.

BAN ON AMERICAN BEEF.

British Government Decides to Use None But Home-Grown Product for Army Contracts.

Washington, April 12.—The department of agriculture has received a dispatch from a prominent packing company of Chicago announcing that they have just been advised that the English government has excluded all beef except home-bred, from the British army contracts. This, it is stated, is to be effective June 1 next.

Washington, April 13.—Secretary Hay has cabled to Ambassador Choate an inquiry into the reason for the order of the British government, a measure which excludes the American refrigerated beef heretofore used. This action is taken at the instance of the department of agriculture.

London, April 13.—The British war office confirms the report that it is going to try the experiment of supplying the army with only home-grown beef. The experiment will extend six months, from June 1.

The director of contracts, a major, said to a representative of the press:

"The new rule applies only to refrigerated beef hitherto bought in the open market in London. It will not seriously affect the American trade, as the total weekly supply for the army is only 200,000 pounds, which is barely two per cent. of the weekly imports of refrigerated beef into England from the United States. Mr. Brodrick's action was taken long before the New Orleans proceedings. It is quite absurd to suppose that any idea of retaliation prompted the order, which was due to a natural desire to help some of the home industries. The difference in price is very trifling, and we are making that up by giving Tommy Atkins frozen mution two days instead of one day weekly. If the plan is satisfactory our supply problem will be greatly simplified, for we often have complaints and disagreements over refrigerated beef. You must not suppose that we now use no home-grown beef. Aldershot and some of our other camps are almost entirely supplied with home-grown beef. We have hitherto used refrigerated beef as an addition to our rations, rather than an integral part. We have no prejudice against American firms, and we do not believe they will miss this trade to any extent, even if it is decided to continue the experiment."

TRADE REVIEW.

A Better Tone Is Shown in Most Lines for the Week Just Ending.

New York, April 13.—R. G. Dun's Weekly Review of Trade says: "The tone of general business has been better this week. Marked activity in the distribution of merchandise is reflected in the gains of 45.9 per cent. in bank clearings at New York, compared with 1900 and 20.8 per cent. over 1899, with gains of 13.5 and 10.8 for the same periods at leading cities outside New York. Even the textile markets show pronounced gain. Activity in the metals division has taken pig iron production to near record figures, and some dealers do not see how production of partly finished forms this year is to be made to meet the demand. The government report of the condition of wheat on April 1 is the surest possible basis upon which expectation of continued commercial prosperity could be founded. Stringency of money is local in New York and does not alter reports from most of the larger cities of favorable conditions in collections. Railroad earnings in March were 7.4 per cent. larger than last year, and 32.4 per cent. over 1899, according to practically complete returns. Speculation has been unusually heavy in foodstuffs, the local market averaging over 2,000,000 bushels of wheat daily. Prices receded sharply from the top point of two weeks ago, wheat losing about 4 cents for spot. Realizing sales were accelerated by expectation of a high percentage of winter wheat condition in the official report.

"Failures for the week numbered 203 in the United States, against 193 last year, and 24 in Canada, against 41 last year."

Bradstreet's says: "Crop and trade advices alike continue favorable. The seat of greatest strength is in the iron and steel trade, while textiles evince the most irregularity. Despite the unquestionably quieter tone of export trade in manufactures it is to be noted that Americans are still reaping some advantages from their superiority in certain lines of iron and steel. Retail trade has been helped by better weather in most sections, and, while spring jobbing is smaller at several markets improved retail trade conditions are expected to help reorder business. Northwestern trade advices are quite cheerful and large numbers of buyers are in the towns. On the Pacific coast Alaskan trade is active and general trade from nearby points is good. At the east trade is better at retail, while wholesale lines are quiet."

Schley Ranks Sampson.

Washington, April 12.—Of special interest to officers of the navy is an order issued Thursday by Secretary Long announcing their relative positions on the Naval Register. Admiral Dewey, by the order, is the ranking officer of the navy. John Adams Howell is the senior rear admiral; W. S. Schley is No. 5, and William T. Sampson No. 7 on the list of senior rear admirals. Frank Wildes is the ranking captain.

Killed at a Crossing.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 15.—A party of four people, while crossing the tracks of the Lehigh Valley railroad at South Wilkesbarre at an early hour Sunday morning, were run down by the Buffalo express going north. Three of the party were killed and one injured. The dead are: Morris O'Connell, Mrs. Morris O'Connell, Mrs. Frank Cranmer. Injured, Frank Cranmer.

Big Mills Shut Down.

Lowell, Mass., April 15.—The 2,300 operatives of the Massachusetts cotton mills here were notified Saturday not to return to work until April 22. The entire plant will be closed on account of the dull market. The Tremont and Suffolk cotton mills have laid off three-fourths of the operatives for an indefinite time. In all 6,000 operatives will be idle in this city this week.

Passes Through the Straits.

Detroit, Mich., April 15.—A special to the Tribune from Mackinaw City says: The steamer Pentland was the first boat to pass the straits of Mackinaw for the season of 1901. She was bound down and passed into the North channel at 11 a. m. for Lake Huron. It is believed she will get through safely, as the ice is soft.

Is Found Guilty.

Des Moines, Ia., April 12.—Mrs. Margaret Hossack, of Indianola, wife of a wealthy farmer, was found guilty Thursday morning of the murder of her husband on the night of December 1, and sentence was fixed by the jury to life imprisonment in the penitentiary. The evidence was all circumstantial.

Becomes a Law.

Austin, Tex., April 12.—The governor has approved the Barratry bill, one of the most important acts of the Twenty-seventh legislature. It imposes heavy fine and imprisonment on lawyers who foment suits against railroads and other corporations or who advance money to clients to secure such cases.

THE BOER OUTLOOK.

Capt. Hassell Says It Is Brighter Than That of the English—French Reported Taken.

New York, April 16.—A special to the World from Washington says: Capt. John A. Hassell, who commanded the American scouts in the Boer army in the first part of the war, but is now here, says:

"The Boer cause, while it cannot be said to be bright, is brighter than that of the British. The Boers have just as good a chance to win now as the Americans had before the sudden turn of good luck which resulted in the surrender of Cornwallis.

"The winter season has just begun in South Africa, and from now until September the British soldiers will have a hard time.

"The Boers are making their winter quarters in the Lydenburg range, where the English will not dare tackle them, for they would have to cross the low, marshy country to get there, and they have to import every pound of fodder for their horses. The problem is not only one of sustaining the lives of their men in the marshy veldt, where chills and marsh fever wind up in deadly pneumonia, but it is a problem of sustaining horseflesh.

"I lived 12 years in South Africa and know all the country better than any Boer did before the war broke out, my business, that of engineer, carrying me over all of it.

"It is hard for the Boers to get recruits, but in spite of England's precautions recruits, and valuable ones, are getting in every day. For every Boer killed by the English nowadays half a dozen recruits straggle in from this country and elsewhere.

"The Boers do not propose to fight any big, pitched battle at present. They will simply worry the enemy everywhere they can, and about August and September you may look for a resumption of general action on a large scale."

London, April 16.—It is said that a private telegram has been received here to the effect that Gen. French, with 500 British troops, has been captured by the Boers while his force was enveloped in a mist on the hills. The war office here knows nothing about the rumored capture of Gen. French and entirely discredits the report.

Bloemfontein, April 15.—It is reported that the health of former President Steyn has broken down. It is also said that he has advised all Boers on commando to surrender immediately.

CHANGED ITS MIND.

Cuban Convention Reconsiders Its Rejection of the Platt Amendment for the Time Being.

Havana, April 15.—The Cuban constitutional convention has reconsidered its rejection of the Platt amendment and decided neither to approve nor reject it until a commission goes to Washington to reach the "best possible agreement" with President McKinley and reports back to Havana.

Chicago, April 15.—A Tribune special says many senators and representatives declare if the Cuban convention remains firm in the rejection of the Platt amendment it will mean annexation of the island. Friday's action at Havana may be withdrawn when the islanders find the United States will not modify the terms. The president is unable to change the present proposals.

Havana, April 16.—At Monday's session of the Cuban constitutional convention five delegates, Senors Diego Tamayo, Capote, Berriel, Portuondo and Lorente, were appointed a commission to go to Washington to lay before President McKinley the desires of the convention regarding the future relations between Cuba and the United States. The commission was instructed to confer with Gov. Gen. Wood regarding the date of departure and the best conditions for an interview with the president.

Liabilities Are High.

New York, April 13.—William E. Coffin, of this city, who was a former partner in the banking house of Coffin & Stanton, which made a general assignment in 1894, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court Friday. He schedules his liabilities at $4,150,907 and assets at $25, which is cash in bank. The secured claims amount to $2,986,172. The largest creditors who hold no security are the city of Santa Cruz, $332,000, and the city of Ironwood, Mich., for $115,000, these sums being due the respective municipalities on contracts for bonds purchased.

First Cable Raised.

New York, April 12.—Accompanied by the screeching of whistles and the cheering of thousands of spectators on both sides of the East river, the first cable of the new East river bridge was raised from the bed of the river Thursday and drawn taut by a powerful engine until it was 120 feet above the surface of the water. Thousands viewed the raising of the cable from the shores, while many tug boats, yachts and craft of all kinds ran up near enough so that those on board could witness the work.

Decision on Divorce.

Washington, April 16.—The United States supreme court Monday decided a number of cases involving the validity in one state of divorce decrees granted in other states. The court held practically that in cases in which the decree is granted in states where the husband and wife have made their legal residence it is valid in any part of the United States, but that in other cases in which there is no legal residence in the state in which the decree is granted they are invalid.

Losses of Live Stock.

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 16.—It is reported that the Swan Land & Cattle company, which ranges large herds of cattle in eastern Wyoming and western Nebraska has lost more than 2,500 head of cattle during the severe storm of the past ten days. Jack Edwards, a large owner of sheep in Wyoming and Oregon, lost 7,000 head of sheep near Kimball, Neb., out of a band of 14,000.

To Succeed Baron Fava.

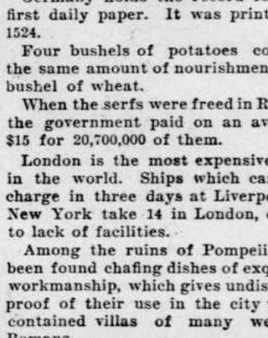
Washington, April 16.—The state department has been advised through the American ambassador at Rome and the Italian foreign office that Baron Fava will be succeeded as ambassador from Italy to this country by Marquis Obizzo Malispina di Carbonara, at present minister for Italy at the Argentine republic. The marquis has had a widespread diplomatic experience and served in Washington as one of the attaches of the Italian legation about ten years ago.

DO YOU FEEL LIKE THIS?

Pen Picture for Women.

"I am so nervous, there is not a well inch in my whole body. I am so weak at my stomach and have indigestion horribly, and palpitation of the heart, and I am losing flesh. This headache and backache nearly kills me, and yesterday I nearly had hysterics; there is a weight in the lower part of my bowels bearing down all the time, and pains in my groins and thighs; I cannot sleep, walk, or sit, and I believe I am diseased all over; no one ever suffered as I do."

This is a description of thousands of cases which come to Mrs. Pinkham's attention daily. An inflamed and ulcerated condition of the neck of the womb can produce all of these symptoms, and no woman should allow herself to reach such a perfection of misery when there is absolutely no need of it. The subject of our portrait in this sketch, Mrs. Williams of Englishtown, N.J., has been entirely cured of such illness and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and the guiding advice of Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass.



MRS. JOHN WILLIAMS.

No other medicine has such a record for absolute cures, and no other medicine is "just as good." Women who want a cure should insist upon getting Lydia E. MOTHER AND DAUGHTER.

The Wife and Mother-in-Law of Mr. Charles Keys.

Clarissa, Minn., April 15 (Special).—No family in this vicinity is better known or more universally respected than Mr. Charles Keys, the local School Teacher, and his estimable wife, and mother-in-law. For a long time, Mrs. Keys has been in ill health. Recently, however, she has found a cure for her ailments in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I cannot speak too highly of Dodd's Kidney Pills, or of what they have done for me," said Mrs. Keys.

"My life was miserable, my back always ached, also my head. I was troubled with Neuralgia in the head and face and suffered extreme pain, but thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills, all those aches and pains have vanished like the morning dew, and it now seems that life is worth living. I consider Dodd's Kidney Pills a God-send to suffering humanity. They may rightly be named the Elixir of Youth.

"While speaking of my own case and the wonderful benefit I have received, I might also add, that my mother, who is now an old lady of 74 years and who lives with me, has been troubled more or less with aches and pains, as is natural with one of her advanced age. When she saw what Dodd's Kidney Pills had done for me, she commenced to use them herself, and she says that they have done her more good than any other medicine she has ever tried.

"This testimony is given in the hope that others who may be afflicted as we were, may see and read it, and be benefited by it."

What Mrs. Keys states in her letter can be verified by reference to any of her many friends in this neighborhood. Dodd's Kidney Pills have already a wonderful reputation in Todd County.

Nothing has ever cured Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Dropsy but Dodd's Kidney Pills.

SOFT, GLOSSY HAIR.

It Can Only Be Had Where There Is No Dandruff.

Any man or woman who wants soft glossy hair must be free of dandruff, which causes falling hair. Since it has become known that dandruff is a germ disease, the old hair preparations that were mostly scalp irritants, have been abandoned, and the public, barbers and doctors included, have taken to using Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. E. Dodd, Dickinson, N. D., says: "Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp from dandruff and prevents the hair's falling out, but promotes a new growth. Herpicide keeps my hair very glossy."

THE BEST HE EVER SAW.

A Missourian Pronounces on the Farming Possibilities of Western Canada.

Just at present considerable interest is being aroused in the fact that a few new districts (of limited acreage) are being opened out by the Canadian Government in Saskatchewan and Assiniboia (Western Canada), and any information concerning this country is eagerly sought. Mr. W. R. Corser, of Higginsville, Lafayette Co., Mo., was a delegate there during last summer, and writing of his impressions he says:

"I found surprising yields of grain of all descriptions. One farmer I visited threshed of 175 acres:

"600 bushels of wheat from 15 acres, 40 bushels to acre.
"600 bushels of barley from 10 acres, 60 bushels to acre.
"15,000 bushels of oats from 150 acres, 100 bushels to acre.

"The samples were all No. 1.

"I also saw a considerable number of stock. Swine do well and there is no disease amongst them. They are a good source of income to the farmer. The cattle on the range beat anything I ever saw. Fat and ready for beef, fully matured and ripened on the nutritious grasses of the prairie. I am firmly convinced that this country offers better facilities for a poor man than any I have ever seen."

Information concerning these lands can be had from any agent of the government, whose advertisement appears elsewhere.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

The Legislature Adjourns and the Members Depart for Home. The Closing Scenes Wild and Hilarious.

St. Paul, April 11—The omnibus appropriation bill went through both houses yesterday as it came from the committee. In reality this great measure was determined by four or five men. The joint committee composed of the finance committee of the senate and appropriation committee in the house numbers 32 men. This committee referred the preparations of the bill to 11 out of the 32. All the hearings of parties wishing appropriations were before this sub-committee of 11 and that committee in turn allowed about five members to do its work. When it was finally gotten together the whole committee was called together, though only about half of them responded, and no suggestion of a change was made. So too, when it came into the house it was again accepted and went from the house to the senate and the senate passed it as it came from the house, so that about five men have decided on how over two million dollers shall be expended. Of course there are a large number disappointed and in reality the tax levy should have been restored to the figure named by the last legislature and the present legislature thought it important, on political accounts not to restor it to the figure named by their predecessors. And that is why there was such scrimping and so many disappointments.

As was expected the senate passed the resolution asking the attorney general to ascertain whether the consolidation of the iron roads in St. Louis county had been contrary to law. The senate had a spasm over the house bill appropriating $650 to buy the medals awarded Minnesota butter makers at the Paris Exposition but finally passed the bill.

Senator Miller introduced a bill, with the consent of the governor, authorszing the attorney general to investigate any corporation in the state at any time, with power to compel the attendance and responses of witnesses. The bill was passed under suspension of the rules.

Aside from the omnibus appropriation bill, the most important action in the house was the passage of what is known as the Torrens land transfer bill, designed to give cleaner titles to real estate than present laws permit. As it has already passed the senate, it now goes to the governor for his approval.

A bill has passed increasing the salary of the assistant adjutant general from $1,200 to $1,500.

St. Paul, April 12—Considering that yesterday was the last day that bills could be passed there was a surprisingly small numbers of measures on the calander. There were only 14 in the senate while usnally there is nearly a hundred. All but two of them were passed but none were of general interest. One of the bills defeated was for the publication of history of the Minnesota troops in the Spanish war. Twenty-five years from now, when most of the participants who could tell the history are dead, such a bill will probably pass. On unsuccessful effort was made to re-consider the bill appropriating twenty thousand dollars for the beet sugar bounty, which was defeated Wednesday.

The senate resolution instructing the attorney general to investigate the consolidation of the iron roads in St. Louis county and prosecute if the law has been violated, was held up under notice of debate and may be defeated entirely. The Duluth members bitterly opposed it. Sherman Smith's bill fixing the salary of members of the house for their two years term at $750 and members of the senate for their four years term at $1,500 was pussed by the house. The senate has already passed a resolution re-electing all the officers and appointees of that body, except committee clerks, for the expected extra session next winter.

A large number of bills were killed in the house, many of them being appropriations which had been provided for in the omnibus appropriation bill. The bill providing for re-embursing the owners of diseased animals, when killed by the health authorities and appropriating $13,000 for that purpose, was among the killed. There is so much hurley-burley and confusion incident to the closing hours that it will be hard to tell until the journel is made up to-day what measures have really been passed or lost. Every bill on the house calendar was passed by five p. m. and the evening was devoted to passing or killing senate bills and concurring or rejecting senate amendments.

St. Paul, April 13.—Thursday night was a wild one in the legislature. No bills could be passed after midnight. The house was well up with its work but the senate was considerably behind. In the house a good deal of bad blood was engendered in a contest over the so-called Knatvold primary election bill which passed the senate. It provides that delegates to the state conventions shall be chosen by senatorial districts instead of counties. Futile efforts were made to amend the bill and finally it was left lying on the table.

Representative Roberts tried to get rules suspended to bring up another bill but Mr. Jacobson insisted on an amendment to Robert's motion bringing up the primary election bill again. The outcome of it was that in the heat of the affair at a few minutes past ten o'clock Jacobson moved to adjourn and the motion carried by a very heavy majority. Then the house went wild for a few minutes. Books, papers, waste paper baskets, etc., went flying in the air and many members joined the pages in wild yells. This preciptate action on the part of the house brought grief to a great many.

The house had absolutely completed all the business that was before it, and no new business was ready unless it was ordered from the table, but the senate was in session with a good many senate bills under consideration so if the house had taken a recess for half an hour instead of adjourning, there would have been considerable business sent over from the senate. The adjournment killed, at one fell swoop, every senate bill pending in that body.

While this was going on the senate had decided to call the roll, and as each senator's name was called allow him to take up one bill and endeavor to pass it. After the house had adjourned there was no use of calling up anything but pending house bills, and the senate, indignant at the action of the house, did not seem to care whether any house measures were passed or not. The roll of the senate had been about half called when the house adjourned, and from that time bedlam reigned supreme. When a senator's name was called and he arose to name his bill, he was bombarded with wads of paper, books, waste paper baskets, and even cuspidors, so that sometimes it was five minutes before he could name his bill. The roll call that followed was amid noise and confusion, the air being literally filled with flying sheets and printed bills and other missiles. Several efforts were made to adjourn before the names of all the senators had been called, but they were voted down. Senator Young's name was reached at five minutes to 12, actual time, but he had no bill to offer, and then the senate immediately adjourned. Taken as a whole, it was the most boisterous night ever seen in a Minnesota legislature.

The meeting of the legislature yesterday was, as usual, only a perfunctory affair. All bills must be enrolled and signed by the officers of both houses before the legislature adjourns, and consequently time was simply killed by speeches and offering of resolutions, to enable the enrolling clerks to finish their work. In the senate an effort was made to pass the park memorial to congress, asking for a national park in the Cass lake region, but the Duluth senators were too strong and killed it.

In the house the exciting episode was an effort to expunge from the records the resolution censuring Representatives Jacobson and Washburn for accusing members of corruption in connection with the gross earnings bill. This was opposed by Representative Laybourn of Duluth, who had offered the resolution, and he won, so that the resolution stands on the journal. The speaker was thanked by resolution, and the newspapers also, and at 12:30 an adjournment sine die was taken.

MINNESOTA STATE NEWS.

Arbor Day.

Gov. Van Sant has designated Friday, April 26, as Arbor and Bird Day. His proclamation is as follows:

"The legislature, with the object of subserving the best interests of the people, have wisely authorized and directed the designation each year of a day for the planting of forest trees and the beautifying of private and public grounds. Pursuant thereto, I, S. R. Van Sant, as governor of said state, do hereby fix and appoint Friday, the 26th of April, 1901, as Arbor and Bird Day, and do most earnestly request the universal observance thereof. It is especially desirable that suitable exercises be had at all public and private schools, colleges and other educational institutions, that the youth may be taught to appreciate the beauty and utility of trees and shrubs, and the importance of preserving the harmless birds that make Minnesota their home. I therefore earnestly recommend that all our people devote at least a portion of said day to the planting of forest trees and shrubs, to the end that our home and public grounds may be made more pleasant and attractive. Let the object and spirit of the day be met through hearty co-operation in the pleasant duties which the law invokes."

Lucky Purchase.

Warden Wolfer of the penitentiary is making a record as a lucky buyer, and if he continues his recent success he will be considered as a strong man on the bull side of the market. Among the receipts of the state prison reported since the new management took hold is one item listed as "profit on 1,000 bales Manila hemp bought at 7⅞c, resold at 9c, less discount and commission. Profit, $2,898.11."

Creameries Increasing.

State Dairy Commissioner McConnell says reports indicate the construction of 100 new creameries this year. The state has 782 creameries at the present time. Hinkley and surrounding towns are taking a special interest in the dairy industry. The pastures have been restored in the burned district and several new creameries will be established. Many abandoned creameries are being refitted.

ISSUES AN ULTIMATUM.

Japan Notifies China That Russia Must Leave Manchuria—Indemnity Proposition Made.

London, April 15.—Japan has issued an ultimatum to China that Russia must be ejected from Manchuria, the alternative being that occupation of that province shall become international instead of solely Muscovite. While directed to Emperor Kwang Hsu, through Li Hung Chang, the ultimatum is undoubtedly meant for St. Petersburg. It is the serving of notice on the czar that he must abandon Manchuria or fight.

London, April 16.—"The Chinese imperial court, through the Chinese minister at Tokio, has thanked Japan for assisting China to resist the Manchurian convention," says the Shanghai correspondent of the Standard, "and has asked for Japanese aid and support in any future contingencies."

Judge Taft's announcement of the appointment was greeted with shouts of enthusiasm from the delegates and spectators. Gen. Delgado was recommended by Gen. Hughes, his subordinate officers and the natives, as honest, capable and popular. His salary will be $3,000 gold, the highest of any provincial governor. Lieut. Thompson, of the Thirty-eighth regiment, was appointed treasurer. The other officials are natives. The province contains nearly half the population of the island of Panay, estimated at 1,000,000 persons.

DISMISSES THE SUIT.

Decision in the Case Brought at New Orleans to Prevent Shipment of Mules to South Africa.

New Orleans, April 15.—Judge Parlange in the United States superior court Saturday handed down a decision dismissing the suit brought by the Boer representatives here to prevent the shipment of mules and horses out of New Orleans to the British army in South Africa. The decision is a lengthy one.

Judge Parlange holds that the transactions between citizens of the United States and the British government were conducted under the order of private citizenship and that the courts had absolutely no jurisdiction to interfere. The horses and mules, the court said, were bought in a neutral territory.

It being at the price the secretary some time ago announced would cause him to accept offers of sale of short-term bonds it was accepted at once.

Aged Mormon Dead.

Monterey, Cal., April 13.—George Q. Cannon is dead. The end came early Friday morning. The patient breathed his last without a struggle. He slept considerably Thursday and the forepart of Thursday night. A bulletin was issued about midnight stating that he rested easy, and the change for the worst came apparently without forewarning. The deceased was about 75 years of age.

DAN GROSVENOR SAYS:

"Peruna is an Excellent Spring Catarrh Remedy---I am as Well as Ever."

HON. DAN. A. GROSVENOR, OF THE FAMOUS OHIO FAMILY.

Hon. Dan. A. Grosvenor, Deputy Auditor for the War Department, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., says:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from one bottle of Peruna. One week has brought wonderful changes and I am now as well as ever. Besides being one of the very best spring tonics it is an excellent catarrh remedy." Very respectfully, Dan. A. Grosvenor.

Hon. John Williams, County Commissioner, of 517 West Second street, Duluth, Minn., says the following in regard to Peruna: "As a remedy for catarrh I can cheerfully recommend Peruna. I know what it is to suffer from that terrible disease and I feel that it is my duty to speak a good word for the tonic that brought me immediate relief. Peruna cured me of a bad case of catarrh and I know it will cure any other sufferer from that disease."

Miss Mattie L. Guild, President Illinois Young People's Christian Temperance Union, in a recent letter from Chicago, Ill., says:

"I doubt if Peruna has a rival in all the remedies recommended to-day for catarrh of the system. A remedy that will cure catarrh of the stomach will cure the same condition of the mucous membrane anywhere. I have found it the best remedy I have ever tried for catarrh, and believing it worthy my endorsement I gladly accord it."

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, orator of Reservoir Council No. 168, Northwestern Legion of Honor, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2535 Polk street, N. E.:

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, Minneapolis, Minn.

"I have been troubled all my life with catarrh in my head. I took Peruna for about three months, and now think I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures when all other remedies fail. I can heartily recommend Peruna as a catarrh remedy."

The spring is the time to treat catarrh. Cold, wet winter weather often retards a cure of catarrh. If a course of Peruna is taken during the early spring months the cure will be prompt and permanent. There can be no failures if Peruna is taken intelligently during the favorable weather of spring.

As a systemic catarrh remedy Peruna eradicates catarrh from the system wherever it may be located. It cures catarrh of the stomach or bowels with the same certainty as catarrh of the head.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

POOR LITTLE JOHNNY! AND HIS "TUMMY"!

Small boys, and many times large ones, and occasionally girls, too, big and little, suffer terribly from convulsive pains or "cramps" in the bowels and stomach—pain so violent that it "doubles up" the ones attacked, and makes it impossible for them to stand up.

Some people call it colic, but most honest, plain-spoken people call it "belly-ache" and very properly, for the seat of the trouble is in the bowels, and caused by the violent efforts of the bowels to rid themselves of something which doesn't belong there. The small boy usually gets it from over-eating or from eating forbidden fruit, and suffers mostly in the summer time.

It's spring now, and "in times of peace, prepare for war." Let the boys and girls and the big folks, too, for that matter, clean out the clogged channels filled with winter bile and putrid undigested food, strengthen the 30-feet of bowel canal, liven up the liver, and "summer bellyaches" will have no terrors, because they won't happen. The way to make the body ache-proof is to use CASCARETS, gentle, sweet, fragrant CASCARETS, the perfect system cleaners and bowel strengtheners. For fear that anybody in the family should ever be attacked by belly-ache, keep a box of CASCARETS in the house always, and remember that all pains and troubles in your insides are —Carleton College carried off the honors in oratory at the inter collegiate contest, and will try what they can do in the inter state meet.

—Look carefuly over the law supplement accompanying this issue of the GAZETTE. Some of the laws may be of especial interest to you.

—Most farmers in this vicinity have their small grain in the ground and are glad of it. The late fellows are apt to be the sorry ones in harvest time this year.

—The Buffalo people claim that Rev. Sunday who held a revival at the County Seat last week was one of the best they ever heard. The meetings are pronounced a success.

—The two priests that held mission services at the Catholic church here last week are to hold services at Waverly next week. They are sure to have big audiences at every service.

—The week of mission services at the Catholic church closed Sunday evening. The Friscan brothers that held them will long be remembered by many Delano friends who have heard them.

—C. C. Rice, who was operated on in a Minneapolis hospital recently, died Saturday. His remains were buried at Monticello. Mr. Rice once represented Wright and Sherbune counties in the legislature.

—It is a wonder farmers in this neighborhood don't plant more beans. They are a paying crop, and about as sure a grower as anything on the farm. Beans are good nourishing food and most people are fond of them. They can be planted in rows and plowed and tended about as easily as corn. Plant some beans.

—Saturday Pete Dick's team took a lively run from Weise's grainery to Bridge street through the alley, then out River street to Eppel's farm, leaving the wagon box and rear wheels on Bridge street. Mr. A. Merrystone had his wagon broken by being struck by the front wheels, in front of Green's store.

Maple Plain.

Good morning Mr. Editor: A fine spring morning after the adjournment of the 56th Congress, and our State legislature. "One sweetly solemn thought comes to me o'er and o'er." To think the 32 legislature of this state has adjourned to meet no more.

Mr. Editor to whom shall I apply to take lessons in base ball playing, and bicycle riding. There is more money in tomfoolery now days than there is at raising wheat at 65½ cts per bushel.

Who said Mckinley or Bryan regulated the prices of corn and pork? That's another big fish story. Farmers would like to know who regulates the price of lumber, fence wire, nails, class, the Cuban itch, and the Philippine small pox. Over $200,000,000 to prosecute a war of conquest and subjugation against the Filippinos, and nothing in it for you and I. but death and taxes. Knute Nelson in his speech at Buffalo, week before election, last fall, "We have gained the Philippine Islands by conquest and they are ours," And we might add, yes, the Islands of Sulu including the Sultan, slaves, plurality of wives and concubines, What a glorious inheritance. Read Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation, and also the 15th amendment to the Constitution of the United States: "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any state on account of race or color, or previous condition of servitude." Then why float the United States flag over the Island of Sulu, the Sultan and his slavas? We have always been a democrat, and always have opposed involuntary servitude. The war of the rebellion saved the Union, and liberated 4,000.000 slaves. Knute Nelson also said in his speech at Buffalo, that Aguinaldo was the Democratic George Washington. Whose George Washington is he now? They have got him what do you propose to do with him? We do not want him, have no use for him. It is claimed by some of the leading papers that he was bought for a price and that his capture was only a brass band affair: There was no powder smoke in the transaction, and a ship was in waiting just a few miles a way to carry the captured chief inside the American lines. Some say this was all done to boom the price of American products. Good as far as it goes but that is not war.

The man of money now a days seems to be thepeer of everything else. His sword of defence is his bank checks and capital stock. For a price he buys honor: influence, and whips our law making bodies into line at his will. Money is a good thing to have if properly used. But now a days it seems to be the germ of all sin and iniquity.

Despotism if not Imperialism.

The world does not believe that this country is in danger of imperialism—that is if the word is used in its strict sense, meaning a system or state of imperial government. It is impossible to conceive of the United States as anything but a republic in the fullest sense of the word.

But it must be admitted that acts of purely despotic power committed by military officers of the United States are becoming too common—and, what is worse, receive neither rebuke nor punishment from the President, who is sworn to uphold the Constitution, with all its guarantees of personal liberty and of freedom of speech and of the press.

It is a fact that Gen. MacArthur deported from the Philippines a citizen of the United States and suppressed his newspaper for printing a criticism of the administration of the customs service at Manila which the present exposure of frauds there more than justifies.

It is a fact that Governor General Wood, of the army in Cuba, shut up and sealed a newspaper office without trial, simply by his personal edict, because it printed a cartoon which was personally offensive to him.

It is a fact that GovernorGeneral Wood, by another edict, imprisoned two editors because he thought they had published a libel.

We venture to say that with all the outrageous acts of the Imperial Government against the freedom of the press in Germany, and on account of lese-majeste, Kaiser Wilhelm has never dared to disregard all phases of the law and justice and all respect for public opinion as flagrantly as Gen. Wood has done in these cases.

And yet it is often said that the Emperor is crazy! And yet Cuba is held, by a sacred pledge of Congress unanimously passed, to be "free and independent!"—Thrice-a week World

Our United States Army and Militia.

[By FRANK E. FARNHAM, Esq., of Peabody, now a member of the Massachusetts bar, and formerly of The First Massachussets Heavy Artillery during our Civil War.]

Geo. T. ANGELL, Esq., President &c

I am so refreshed by the regular perusal of your little paper that I desire to add my testimony in aid of your crusade against war, and the spirit of war, now so universally cultivated by the so called civilized nations of the earth.

Having served three years in our Civil War and having taken part in some of the fiercest conflicts of that war, my conclusions in regard to the subject are not wholly those of a theorist.

The result of my observation, investigation and experience has led me to believe that the standing army of the United States should not exceed ten thousand in number and that all of the militia systems of the several States should be abolished.

This conclusion will doubtless be pronounced a radical and dangerous one by the many who have given little thought to the subject, and by the few who profit by the present antiquated ineffective and demoralizing system, but I have some reasons for the reasons that are in me.

I say: "antiquated, ineffective and demoralizing" advisedly.

The system of the regular army of the United States, of which our State militia are but weak imitations, was copied from the European systems in vogue in the early part of the last century when a commission was sent from the United States to investigate the military systems of Europe preparatory to establishing a military system here.

Our present regular army at West Point were the results [West Point with its records of caste hazing, etc.], The element of military caste, taken from the European system, where the officers were nobles and the privates serfs, was peculiarly grateful to the South, which dominated the commission referred to, as indeed it did the whole nation at that time.

In this system the elements of individuality and manhood were eliminated from the makeup of the private soldier, He was reduced to a mere fighting animal, without ambition, judgement or any rights which the officer was bound to respect.

When an army of such soldiers comes in contact with manhood and brains, fighting for a principle, or in self defence, the result is as graphically portrayed by Conan Doyle in his article of the October number of "McClure's:" "The ratio of effectiveness is perhaps ten to one in favor of the system of which the Boers furnish the latest and most surprising example."

Wars of aggression do not develop armies of this noble class, the vital element of principle being lacking. Such wars do develop soldiers of fortune, mercenaries, cruelty, robbery and rapine, and all the horrors that spring from a combination of whiskey and bloodthirstiness.

As a rule with nations, as with individuals, self defence alone justifies bloodshed.

Our Civil War was no exception to this rule, though the Union forces were gennerally the attacking party. It struck blows first only to prevent the South from destroying the nation.

The providence of military art, then, is simply to defend the art of nations. All the glamour which is thrown over conquest; all the pomp an circumstance of war; all the glory of conquerors is false and injurious to the interests of the human race, and we commit a most serious error in placing before our youth the false and gory tales of slaughter which constitute three fourths of our school histories. This cultavation of the brutish instincts of mankind, which are always to be represed, not encouraged, results in the general worship of military heroism and the growth of that war spirit is always anxious to test its prowess upon some weaker nation.

But what would this iconoclast offer in place of our military system, and what should take the place of the militia which has been our boast?

Just this: have done with all the meretricious trappings of war, the tinsel paraphernalia of parades, the sergant majors, the generals for a day, the pipe clay and red tape, the nurseries of dissipation and disease known as "musters," and substitute a state law compelling all young men, say between the ages of 21 and 35, to meet at least one day in a year in their respective localities, under just such government as is used in civil matters, and practice marksmanship—[arms and perhaps prizes, to be furnished by the State].

A national school, on a plan suited to the country and the age in which we live could furnish a class of engineers, strategists, etc, necessary to direct the million of effective defenders of our land when necessary.

In this way we should constantly have such an army as to make the conquest of the United States, even by the combined efforts of all other nations, an impossibility.

Such an army would give us full power to defend our own rights, and would deprive us of the power, and in a great measure of the disposition to take away the rights of others, and would be a great step toward that millennium of universal peace on earth and good will to man which you, Mr. Editor, so courageously advocate, and which all just and true men hope for.

SUBSIDIES UNNECESSARY.

"It is well known that the Burlington Route is selected by the government, and has been for many years, as the route for its through mail service between Chicago and Council Bluffs. The overland mail, sent by the government over the Burlington. This service is performed in special trains, but there is no written contract for the service with the government. It simply has selected and retains what it considers the best, quickest and safest route for its transcontinental mails; nor is any subsidy paid. The Burlington receives only the same rates in force by general law for the carriage of all mails in the country. In a recent debate in the House of Representatives at Washington, upon the question of paying a subsidy to a line of railroad between New York and New Orleans, for keeping up a fast mail service in the South, Mr. Loud of California, Chairman of the committee on postoffices and postroads, in giving his reasons for voting against this subsidy to the southern railroad, paid the following high tribute to the Burlington. He said: "If subsidies are proper, you should not restrict them. If there is any railroad in the country that earns extra compensation from the government, that railroad is the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, from Chicago to Omaha, which runs phenomenally fast trains, carrying nothing but mail; but that company does not ask for a subsidy."—Railway Age, March 29, 1901.
